Like that, around 3 hours passed when the cleaning was almost finished. Yu IlHan ignored the people who were absent-mindedly staring at the fortress and was about to Warp away. However, Helièna grabbed his hand lightly at that moment.

[Darling, it seems like they have something to say.]

“What?”

When Yu IlHan looked down, he did definitely hear the people shouting something. He really wished to ignore them but..... he shrugged his shoulders and lowered the Guardian fortress. The closer he became, the clearer he could hear them.

“Please don't leave us!”

“Please stay by our side!”

“Oh, Lord God, please!”

“.....What?”

God? Him? Yu IlHan became absent-minded for a moment since he could not understand when Helièna finally burst out laughing. He stared at Helièna and spoke.

“I’m a human though.”

“We do not mind how you think you are. To us, you are God.”

“Please save us!”

“More than this?”

“Oh God, please!”

They were complete thieves alright. Of course, he knew their urgency, and their hopes to grab onto a piece of straw if necessary, but Yu IlHan wasn’t in the leisure to play Sim City in another world.

“I’m sorry, but you need to protect this world on your own. I came here looking for something else but it was no longer here, I’m planning to leave now.”

“Then please take us!”

Yu IlHan replied coldly.

“I’m in a world that’s incomparably harsher than this place. Even if you follow me, what awaits you is even harsher suffering so endure in this place.”

“But isn’t God in that place?”

“Please save us!”

“God, please!”

The people eventually got on their knees and put their heads on the ground, which made Yu IlHan dumbfounded. He somehow felt like he felt something similar not too long ago.....

Helièna only smiled suspiciously. Yu IlHan was agonized for a moment, but he couldn’t find a way to stop the people who were courting death so he could only reply like this.

After that, Yu IlHan had travelled many other worlds as well, but a portion of them had already met its doom, or were heading towards one. The majority of the survivors wished to go under Yu IlHan, and he brought them back to Earth, even while not understanding why.

Kang MiRae and company experienced the same thing, and the ones that were brought to Earth by them bowed their heads towards Yu IlHan and the others even while moving slowly due to the effects of the magic formation.

“Weeeeeeeeeeee shhhhhhhaaaaaaaaaaaaaaalllllllll lllllllllllooooooooooooooooooyaaaaaaaaaaaaaalllllllll-”

“.....Well.”

Yu IlHan shrugged his shoulders while looking at the people who acted like clowns.

Four days later, Yu IlHan finally became able to reactivate the Hourglass of Eternity. The number of worlds he had been to in the meantime was 42, four of which had met its doom.

At this point, the number of people from other worlds numbered over one hundred thousand.

Chapter 276: Why Only Me? – 2

“What the hell is this? There are over a hundred thousand people from other worlds!”

Liera peeked over Yu IlHan’s shoulders to look at the figures of people who filled a certain region of Earth, before making an expression that suggested she couldn’t believe it. Yu IlHan shrugged and replied.

“You guys brought them back too.”

“That’s true, but.....”

“It’s funny to see them move so slowly altogether~. Mr. IlHan, can’t you control the speed of the time? The speed!”

“Hiing.”

All of Yu IlHan’s companions had gathered in one place. Liera was alright, but when more people started to stick to him to ‘supplement their Yu IlHan vitamins’, Yu IlHan got annoyed and shook them all off before checking with ERta.

“There aren’t any people who are resisting the magic formation other than us, right?”

“At first, yes. However, after some of them realized that we were moving too rapidly, there were some that noticed the magic cast over Earth. Of course, that does not change anything, but there are exactly three people who have regained 40% of their normal movements by resisting.”

The three referred to Carina Malatesta of Magia, Michael Smithson of Metal Knights, and Takagaki Asuha of Magic Dragon.

Looking at them, Yu IlHan realized that they had achieved their 4th class in such a short time. Considering that Han YeoRang, the leader of one entire world, was at 3rd class right now, their realm of achievement was shocking.

“Why is that?”

“Perhaps it’s because just resisting against this magic is a tremendous achievement. Normally, even 4th class being shouldn’t be able to endure it. People of Earth are really strange.”

“Michael Smithson, before, he was a guy with no guts at all, but I guess he’s progressed a lot. Humans sure are interesting.”

[*Sigh*, I can’t believe that we’ll need to defend Earth, which will become the center of attention of all universes with those maggots. Darling, do something about it.]

“I’ll try.”

Yu IlHan called the three. As they were late in their reaction, it was difficult to have a conversation with them, but he pushed his patience to his limits and told them. The contents were simple.

“Do you guys want to train within the Hourglass of Eternity with us?”

“Of course! (2.5 times slower)”

Takagaki Asuha replied immediately, while Carina Malatesta and Michael Smithson looked at each other for a little before nodding their heads.

“Okay. (2.5 times slower)”

“I shall (2.5 times slower)”

Having gotten their answers, there was no need to hesitate now. Yu IlHan created a barrier that surrounded the two fortresses, his companions, the three clan masters, and finally the Dragon’s Army that hadn’t been affected by the magic in the first place.

“Wow, the range is so much larger than before~.”

“The effect of the magic doesn’t disappear even within this barrier. Hm, but the pressure on my body is a little less now.”

Kim YeSeul was surprised while looking around inside the barrier. However, the most surprised ones were the clan masters that entered the barrier with them.

“Fuu, I can finally move better now!”

“Ooh, you can speak faster now.”

“Phew.”

They were able to resist the magic to a certain extent, and now that they were inside a God-ranked artifact which could also resist the effect of the magic, they could move at normal speeds.

“Eeeeeek.”

After Michael Smithson gained complete control over his body, he immediately turned his head around to Yu IlHan and shouted his lungs out.

“Just what did you do to Earth, mister Unique! I think I get it, but still!”

“I couldn’t help it since Earth was developing too fast. You understand me, right? Though, I do not really need your understanding either.”

“Uaaaaaaaah! This guy irritates me as always!”

Meanwhile, Takagaki Asuha shouted towards Yu IlHan with glittering eyes.

“Amazing, Lord Susanoo! Now you can manipulate space and time!”

“No, this is the power of my companions…….”

“Amazing! I knew you were the reincarnation of the god Susanoo!”

“Hey, you aren’t listening are you?”

“Aaah, Lord Susanoo……!”

Although a seedling could be seen from her before, it seemed like she now harbored something like religious faith towards Yu IlHan, after she watched him leap through dimensions and cast a magic on a global scale. That heavy gaze, the same gaze he saw from elves, and the gaze that could not simply be called admiration!

“Lord Susanoo, so cool.”

He made a groan and turned his head around to see the final one, Carina Malatesta, and saw that she was taking a deep breath.

“Why are you taking a deep bre.....oh.”

“Fuh!”

“Miss Malatesta? Kugh!”

Before Yu IlHan could stop them, Carina Malatesta assaulted Michael Smithson. ‘Assaulted’ without causing much physical damage, but rather by knee-kicking him on the abdomen to make him fall down and ‘assault’ him from the top with a kiss. As there was a paralysis magic within the knee-kick, he couldn’t resist at all.

“Uhp! Uhhhhp!?”

“Stay still.”

“..... Looks like she had a lot of stress piled up.”

Yu IlHan decided to leave the lioness Carina Malatesta and the pitiful rabbit Michael Smithson alone for a while. The ones that were watching the passionate scene that occurred as soon as the barrier opened also coughed awkwardly and turned away their gazes.

“Then let us do our own thing.”

“Dad, what do I do?”

“Mir just has to eat dragon meat and bathe in the Cradle of Miracles. If you get bored, practice your skills too.”

“I can do that!”

Yu IlHan took out the Cradle of Miracles in one corner of the barrier and filled it with Echjar’s blood. He explained to his companions that were absent-mindedly looking at the glowing Cradle of Miracles.

“From now, we will all share this Cradle of Miracles. There are a lot of people, so when bathing, many of us should go in at the same time according to gender. The children belonging to the Dragon’s Army are small so more of them should fit.”

[Mixed bathing with darling? How marvelous.]

“Didn’t I just say ‘according to gender’?”

He shushed Helièna and continued explaining.

“Although I’m not sure about this yet, there is a high probability that the Cradle of Miracles may lead us into the realm of higher existences. Even if weren’t the case, I believe you can acquire new abilities if you succeed in resonating with the dragon’s blood within the cradle. So everyone should go in periodically.”

“Yes.”

“Understood.”

The next thing they had to do was of course, training. The only place they could train without worrying about the flow of time was the barrier made from the Hourglass of Eternity.

“To think we acquired 2 months that amounts to less than a second on the outside, it really is an amazing artifact.....”

“Well, I’m not sure about if it’s really just two months.”

Yu IlHan denied Kang MiRae’s mutter that she voiced out in surprise. He looked at the Hourglass of Eternity. After the barrier had been activated, the Hourglass had flipped and the sand was now falling down once again. However, the speed was very slow, and it definitely didn’t look like it would be flipped again in just two months.

“It’s just as you see. The slow magic cast over the entire globe made the cooldown time of the barrier slow down. That is why I thought that the slow magic may even affect the barrier’s duration time and..... and it seems like I was spot on.”

Muttered Liera. Yu IlHan lightly nodded and agreed with her. Erta still found this absurd.

“That magic worked against a God-ranked artifact!? At this point, I’m even wondering how we can move so normally within the effects of the magic!”

“Well, through sheer tenacity and stubbornness.”

“You’re wrong if you can explain everything with just those two words!”

“You guys always explained me with the wrong things though.”

Erta was frustrated after she heard Yu IlHan’s words and flailed her arms around – she looked quite cute doing that.

“But it really is like that!”

“Yeah, and that goes for now as well.”

“Uuuuuuu.....!”

He couldn’t help it since that was the truth. One may think that non-life-forms may endure better against this magic than the life-forms, but that wasn’t true as the higher monsters that were late 4th class were all affected without exception.

Just as Erta’s mind was about to be tangled into a mess, Yu IlHan raised his thumbs up with a uselessly fresh smile.

“Have more confidence in your tenacity!”

“Shut up!”

[And so?]

Helièna, who regained her calm relatively faster than the others, looked at Yu IlHan and asked.

[This barrier, how long do you think it’ll last?]

“Just looking at the state of the Hourglass now, around a year and a half.”

[The barrier can be activated once every two months, so under the assumption that darling will keep patrolling other worlds, we would have several more opportunities to be inside this barrier before Earth becomes a higher world.]

“Well, yeah.”

[Darling..... really amazing.]

This was the first temporal advantage Yu IlHan had gained ever since he lived a thousand years alone on Earth, as he had to move around very busily after the 1st Great Cataclysm. Inside the barrier, he at least had the time to train his skill proficiencies and work on his crafting!

When Yu IlHan was about finished with explaining the duration of the barrier and what they all had to do, Carina Malatesta finally let go of Michael Smithson, seemingly satisfied.

“Fuu, tssp.”

Even though she had just assaulted a man, she licked her lips calmly, which looked very scary. Looking at Michael Smithson trembling below her, Yu IlHan felt pity for him for the first time.

“M, Miss Malatesta.....”

“Call me Carina, okay?”

“.....Carina.”

“Very good. Our family only allows parents, teachers and family to call us by our name. Now that my family are all scattered across other worlds and my teacher is in another world, the only one that is allowed to call my name on Earth is you. Please remember that.”

“I, I understand. Please call me Michael as well.”

“That’s the answer I wanted, Michael.”

Carina Malatesta’s figure that won what she wanted with force was very bright. Perhaps it was the few years of separation and suffering that had made her strong! In the past, Michael Smithson had romantic feelings towards Kang MiRae, but looking at things now, it seemed that Carina Malatesta’s bold approach was quite effective.

Only after she fished up a man’s life, did she look back to Yu IlHan once more.

“Although my greetings are late..... thank you. Mr. Yu IlHan. Thanks to you, I could finally meet the one I love.”

Carina Malatesta seemed to have completely thrown away the haughty rich-lady demeanor of before as she bowed her head politely towards Yu IlHan. However, Yu IlHan was more joyful towards her heartfelt words rather than her change in attitude.

The burden that remained inside him after hearing that if there was really a need to protect Earth, had finally disappeared a little.

“Well..... glad to hear that I helped you.”

“There should be a lot of others like me. Ones that are suffering due to the loss of their loved ones, ones that were separated from their close friends, as well as people who have lost their parents and children.”

Carina Malatesta’s eyes glistened.

“So, please let me help you so that those people can all reunite together.”

“Of course. .... Of course. Please take care of me from now on.”

“I shall now follow you as leader from now on. Please give me any orders.”

After hearing that Yu IlHan pondered for a little before looking around to Takagaki Asuha and Michael Smithson as well to speak.

“Then I shall have you guys level up first. Your levels are still way too low.”

“I’m also 4th class now, though, I should still be lower than you..... But level up? How? There are no monsters here.”

Yu IlHan turned around. The place his gaze headed to was none other than where Erta was.

“Erta, you can summon monsters in here, right? The ones on Earth.”

“Saying such irresponsible things again..... Of course.”

“So you can’t do it, well then.”

Just as Yu IlHan was about to go with Plan B, Erta gave a confident smile towards him and spoke.

“I can naturally do it.”

“Hey, you’ve gotten better at fooling others?”

“Well, I was fooled a lot by a certain someone until now.”

Even the exchange of deals that occurred between the angels when he was still an Angel’s Partner finished smoothly. Erta raised her hand after turning around to the clan masters who had expressions of shock.

“Well, then. Can you all prepare for battle?”

“Wait, the three of us have never fought together bef-“

“That much.”

When Erta swung her hand as if to cut Micahel Smithson’s excuses off, a gigantic monster appeared in front of the three of them. It was a demonic monster that was definitely within the late 200s! From its vibrating body, it was definitely a vibration demon.

“You can just do it now.”

“You devilllllllllll!”

[Kuoooooooooooooooooh!]

Like that, the curtain to year and a half of barrier life had smoothly been raised.

Chapter 277: Why Only Me? – 3

Yu IHan watched as the clan masters fought against the demons with a satisfied smile.

“Hm, very smooth.”

[Kwhoooooooooooooooooh!]

“Smooth!? You think this is SMOOTH!? Yes, right now! We’re ‘smoothly’ dying!”

Michael Smithson despaired. It felt like the tentacles that battered against his shield would pierce him along with the flimsy thing at any moment. Yu IHan tilted his head and called for Na YuNa.

“Miss YuNa.”

“Okay, I won’t let them die. Just enough so that they don’t die.”

“Devil! DEVILLLLLLLL!”

[Krhaaaaaaaaaaaaaahk!]

Normally, the three would not be able to go against the demon by themselves. However, the holy maiden with unbelievably good looks and ability backed them up so they were boosted to a point where they could just barely be able to confront it with the three of them!

“Wow, I can see their coordination and strength increasing.”

“It’s a good thing. If the others were able to resist even a little against this slowing magic, then I’d be able to bring them here and train them.”

“Don’t be too hurried about it, and let’s raise them up first, son. We have plenty of time now.”

“That’s true, I guess…….”

He couldn’t look after them forever. Yu IHan left the three to Na YuNa and Erta and turned around. He still had a lot of other things to do.

“Then should I have a wonderful crafting time now?”

[But why are you looking at me, master?]

“Well, you probably know the reason more than I do.”

The Flying fortress experienced a lot of things in its growth. Thanks to the growth potential it had as a God-ranked artifact, it could use the records it had absorbed now to enhance the functionalities of its artifacts by boosting their durability or the like.

However, just that was not enough. Using the materials from countless higher existence’s remains in Yu IlHan’s inventory, he would be able to make it grow and reach greater heights!

[Any more is impossible, IT’S IMPOSSIBLE!]

“The first will be ‘Thousand Eyes’. You know what I’ll do, right!”

[You insane master!]

Yu IlHan gathered all the remaining feathers of angels and fallen angels and started crafting 900 more mirrors. Mystic had grown until now, and she should be able to control a thousand mirrors at once!

[I can’t, I cannot do it.]

“No, you can do it. If you don’t, you won’t be able to endure in the upcoming war!”

[Tyrant! You tyrant!]

Since he had experience making those before, he didn’t require much time while making those mirrors. Yu IlHan’s working speed that became faster and faster the more he made them was enough to attract the attention of others that entered the barrier.

“Don’t look at me and do your own thing everyone.”

Yu IlHan made 900 mirrors in under 14 hours. Then, he seemed to ponder on something before making another four of them. He used all the remaining materials to make four of the biggest and baddest mirrors!

[Why four? Is it because 1,004 (Angel)?] (T/N: 1,004 sounds the same as 'angel' in Korean) "No, it's because the enemies would be surprised if they see four more even though it's called 'Thousand Eyes'."

[.....Yeah, I did kinda expect it to be something like that.]

Hundred Eyes to Thousand Eyes – the transformation in the scale and power of the artifact changed the rank as well. From Chaos to Demigod!

Yu IlHan was slightly disappointed since he was aiming for God rank, but since the Flying fortress was upgraded as he had originally intended to, he decided to leave it there.

"Then what more should I add?"

[Master? Isn't your trust in me a little too high.....?]

"I know precisely what you can and cannot handle so don't worry about it."

[That makes me even more worried though!]

The majority of the higher existences belonging to the Destruction Demon Army were those that evolved from monsters, and a lot of the time, their blood and flesh contained extreme poison. Moreover, all of them had unique properties and when mixed with others, the level of poison sometimes evolved to something else.

Finally, they were the poison from higher existences, and naturally worked against higher existences as well. Among the Destruction Demon Army members, there were many that attacked their enemies with the poison they possessed. Of course, Yu IlHan had the evolved version of Extreme poison resistance, Falling Down, so wasn't affected by any of them!

Yes. The second method to upgrade the Flying fortress was poison. There were plenty of Destruction Demon Army bodies in his inventory, so he had enough materials as well.

"There are too many samples..... should I try mixing them as I go along?"

[How are you going to test the toxicity?]

Yu IlHan replied with a smile at Mystic's very reasonable question.

“Simple, I just need to eat it. Falling Down contains Extreme poison resistance, so if I eat poison, I can train Falling Down as well, isn’t it killing two birds with one stone?”

[Such a perverse plan. Oh, it’s nothing new since it’s master, I guess.....]

First he classified them according to the type of poison they had, and squeezed their carcasses dry of blood. Like that, he acquired a total of several millions liters of blood of a few thousand different types. At that point, Yu IlHan believed in his instinct and just randomly started mixing them.

“No, this is too weak. This too, and this one is too weak as well”

[Don’t throw it on the ground! The fortress is dissolving!]

“This is weak too..... and hm, is this a little stronger?”

He put aside the mixtures that showed strong capabilities, then mixed them with each other, and with weaker ones as well. It was literally finding the most toxic poison in the infinite possibilities. Yu IlHan’s work flowed on like that.

What was shocking was that when he got used to mixing the poisons, his hand movements became absurdly fast!

[You aren’t normal!]

“Yes, I’m not normal!”

[Don’t be so proud of it!]

Three or four poisons appeared and disappeared every second. The weaker poisons were thrown away, the stronger poison was mass produced, and new poison, with the stronger poison as the base, was produced again.

There wouldn’t be so many poisons being created and destroyed in a single place throughout the entire history of the universe. No, in the first place, there was no precedent of someone killing so many higher existences with poison in their bodies!

“I came to see what IlHan was up to and..... why do I see hell in one part of the Flying fortress?”

“Liera, I get that you want to watch, but right now I’m busy, so go spar with the others or something.”

Tens of thousands of jars of different colored poison boiling alongside each other looked frightening, and Liera approaching him could be said to be an act that required a lot of courage. Even she could not approach him past a certain distance.

“IlHan, that thing over there that’s twitching by itself.... is poison right?”

“Don’t worry too much. It’s just that a strand of life is about to be born in the poison.”

“How is that a small issue!?”

“I can stop it, it’s fine.”

Monsters being born from mana was a common occurrence, and therefore, monsters being born in highly concentrated mana poison was not rare either. Yu IlHan stirred it to mercilessly trample on the sign of life and drank a ladle of it.

“Hmm.”

The moment he inhaled it, a spicy smell that was perhaps what a thousand-year-old mature fart would smell like hit his nose and his larynx, and the strong wave of hot poison that came along with it twitched like an eel and messed up his digestive system.

When Yu IlHan opened his mouth as he couldn’t bear it, a thick green burp came out. A thousand years of love may suddenly disappear when one saw this.

“I give it a 10/10 death points.”

“.....Are you alright?”

“Well, yeah of cou-.”

Just as he was replying, a completely unexpected text appeared on his eyes.

[You have mastered the skill, Cooking. You are proficient in all kinds of cooking containing magic and mana. Water and fire attribute resistance and attack power increase by 30%.]

“Huh.”

“What is it?”

Yu IlHan looked at the ladle on his hand silently before shrugging his shoulders. Although it was quite surprising, this wasn't the first time something like this happened if he thought about it. In any case, his ability to come up with poisons increased, and his fire attribute and water attribute controls became stronger as well. So it was a good thing!

Liera sensed the change that occurred to him and asked him in confusion.

“IlHan, I feel like you've become stronger just now.....?”

“You'll be frustrated if I say it so I'll keep it a secret.”

“.....?”

Of course, not that anyone would eat poison just because the final element in training the Cooking skill was poison!

He sent Liera off before combining poison again. And after around three days, he acquired three types of poison that he liked, and made about 20 liters each. Although this was extremely little in quantity compared to what he started with, Yu IlHan thought that this was a success.

“Looks like if I get the affinity right, I may just be able to kill 6th class being with this too.”

[The corpses of the Destruction Demon Army are so thin..... even though they didn't reach the peaks of their worlds just to become some materials for poison!]

He created and installed additional traps using the poison on the Flying fortress, and applied poison to most of the blades that existed inside the fortress.

The evilest part about this poison was that it contained slight hints of magic cooking in it. Normally, it would be worse than any extreme poison, but it would transform as soon as Yu IlHan wished for it and would attack the enemy! Not only could this prevent allies from being killed by the poison, it would also become possible to drive back the enemies efficiently.

“Above all, I can deceive the enemies, making them think that this is just some run of the mill ,weak poison.”

[You’re the evilest, master!]

However, Yu IlHan’s evil plans had just begun. After he created the poison, he used the dried out bodies of the Destruction Demon Army to reinforce the Flying fortress! As a result, the outer wall of the fortress became stronger, all artifacts became sharper, the weapons in the mansion were reinforced, and the number of traps increased as well.

Even after all that, there was not much difference in the information about the Flying fortress.

“Still no good.....? The Flying fortress is the first one that made me dance so much!”

[You want to transcend the God-rank, right, master? It’s impossible so give it up.]

“Of course, I should give up if it’s impossible. But I haven’t tried the impossible until now!]

[You’re being too stubborn!]

If the Destruction Demon Army didn’t work, then he would only use the remains of higher existences from other factions! He upgraded the Flying fortress using angels, fallen angels, and garden gatekeepers. The already absurd power of the Flying fortress continued to increase.

Hundreds of 5th class magic stones were added, and the holy region was enhanced as well. Right now, there was no meaning in counting the number of artifacts anymore.

Despite that, the Flying fortress stayed at God rank.

[I said it’s impossible.]

“Fuu.....”

Only then did Yu IlHan accept reality. Wasn’t even the Heaven’s Army unaware that there was something above God rank? It was no wonder since Yu IlHan, the master of blacksmithing and mana crafting, couldn’t do it either after all this time!

[You'll give up now, right?]

“Yes, now I should.....”

Muttered Yu IlHan with a depressed voice.

“Do the impossible.”

[Are you going to tell me that you didn't do the impossible until now, master!?]

“Of course.”

Yu IlHan nodded seriously and raised his hand in the air. At that moment, a body that filled one region of the barrier, appeared.

“Impossible refers to a situation where I have to invest this guy's remains.”

[,,,,,,My god.]

That was none other than a Chief Gatekeeper of the Garden of Sunset, Kelatuke.

Chapter 278: Why Only Me? – 4

[Really..... how did I manage to kill this guy?]

“That’s what I want to ask you. It really is horrible now that I look at him again. I’ll be instantly crushed if I went against this guy head on.”

[Well, he was considerably strong even among the 7th class ones. If it was me, I couldn’t have killed it one on one. It was only possible because Natière was there as well.]

Helièna was having a bloody fight with Liera until just a moment ago, but when Yu IlHan took out Kelatuke’s body, she didn’t lose the opportunity to appeal to him and flew towards him. She wanted him to pamper her since it was thanks to her effort that he acquired this body.

“Yes, thanks. Thanks to you, I have another opportunity.”

[Ufufu.]

In the past, he was affected by Helièna’s charm, and fought with the 8th wing of Brilliant Light, Natière in vain and in the end, took his own life. However, the magic power remaining within the body was enormous and the body had repaired itself, and right now, it had completely recovered and made people wonder if he was really dead.

“For now I need to..... dismantle this.”

[You look more serious than ever before, master..... Sometimes, I envy your useless passion.]

“Don’t say it’s useless.”

Yu IlHan raised the Eight-tailed dragon spear and put on a fire. This was the translucent flame that Yu IlHan only became able to use after receiving the blessing of the goddess of fire, and with the effects of all sorts of titles and skills as well!

The compressed flame that stayed at the tip of the spear was very faint, just enough to be visible, but the power it contained was frightening. Just this could be the reason why Yu IlHan could receive the blessing of the goddess of fire.

[I can feel the energy of dragons as well.]

“This is Blaze enhanced by Dragonic blood, plus Orochi’s flame, the purple flames, as well as the Eternal Flame put together.”

[If the Heart of Fire that master possesses is added to this, I think you may be able to enhance it even further.]

“Let’s talk about that after I finish this.”

He held the spear by the end of the shaft and pierced the blade into Kelatuke’s head. If he was alive, even that would have been hard, but right now it was unable to resist. The blade went in smoothly like it was cutting tofu. Yu IlHan raised it little by little while taking deep breaths. Blood scattered everywhere, but he caught them all using the container he had prepared beforehand.

“Good, I think this will work.”

His speed with the spear became faster. The gigantic armored shark over hundred meters in size showed more and more of its inner flesh when Na YuNa shouted in joy.

“Mr. IlHan! I want shark’s fin soup~!”

“If I boil soup with this guy’s fins, it would be enough to feed all the people who entered the barrier.”

“Dad, I’m hungry as well.”

“Didn’t you eat a lot of dragon meat!?”

“Shark meat looks tastier!”

Yu IlHan was dismantling Kelatuke with the intention of reinforcing the Flying fortress, but the rest of his companions only wanted to eat shark meat.

In fact, shark meat was very good as a food ingredient if you left aside the fact that it rotted pretty fast, but Kelatuke’s meat had a lot of mana and would not rot even if it was left out for 100 years. Somehow, as a cook with level 100 Cooking, Yu IlHan also had the urge for shark sushi.

“..... Well, I have no need for the flesh so should we eat it?”

“So we’re eating it.....”

Yu IlHan cleanly separated all of its bones and the metallic armor, cutting the soft fins and flesh into chunks suitable for making sushi. He cut the fins into pieces to boil it into soup, cut the flesh into sashimi and thicker slices, grilled it, boiled it, etc..... looking at the cooking Yu IlHan, Kang MiRae and Na YuNa somehow felt a sense of defeat.

“I still can’t make doenjang-guk.....”

“Dad, quickly! Quickly!”

Cooking also became faster when he got used to it. Yu IlHan used a mere three hours to cook enough shark cooking to feed even the 8 thousand children of the Dragon’s Army. Since he used the Cradle of Miracles to cook, the toxicity was not that high either!

“.....My.”

“Kyaak, so delicious!”

Kang MiRae and Na YuNa were feeling awkward, but all that flew away after tasting the shark meat food, and they started focusing on the cooking. The others were the same.

“Son, how did you get the fishy smell out?”

“A drop of breath works wonders against shark’s smell!”

Even Kim YeSeul admitted her defeat!

[Kelatuke didn’t become 7th class to end up as a bowl of shark’s fin soup.....]

“Life would be no fun with a set destination.”

[It should be more fun than becoming sushi at least..... ah, so delish. Darling really can do anything.]

Kelatuke's body was very huge, and even though they had their fill, more than 95% of the body was remaining. Yu IlHan cut apart the flesh into suitable pieces and stored it inside his inventory, and finally started on upgrading the Flying fortress.

"Mystic, what do you think this fortress lacks as the main system?"

[Well, common sense?]

"Not the one that you lack, but what the fortress lacks."

[Materials?]

"It was my mistake to ask you. The answer is defensive power."

The Flying fortress had the ability to cast a barrier over itself at the expenditure of mana. If it came down to it, the barrier also protected the fortress from the shock when it smashed into places to attack. However, in Yu IlHan's mind, that was not enough when attacking higher existences. Barrier cast by mana could easily be ripped apart even by him as well!

"So, now I'm going to enhance the barrier with the metallic armor."

[Such an absurd thing again.....]

To say it again, Kelatuke's body was ginormous. Of course, it was no problem to envelop the entire fortress with the armor he possessed.

Yu IlHan first mana crafted each of the metallic scales so that it became transparent, and installed scale shooters on the outer perimeter of the Flying fortress so it could naturally launch scales and cover the Flying fortress when the barrier activated. It was a device that reacted to a certain type of mana, and it was a very delicately designed engine, but to the master of magic engineering, this kind of device was as easy as pie.

"Of course, it's also possible to just shoot the scales with the launcher, and it can also shoot out the scales from the barrier when the stress on the barrier is too high."

[That's not the end, right? There's no way you would stop at just there.]

Of course, there was one more part left. It was the enhancement of the barrier itself! If rotation was applied to the barrier, the armored scales on top of it would spin like mad like a drill, and once the Flying fortress charged forward in that state, it would literally grind apart anything on its path!

[That's not human!]

"Yes, I'll stop being human. No, I'll surpass all humans! Mystiiiiiiic!"

[Stop being so light hearted at such a serious moment!]

Yu IlHan had to consume a considerable amount of 5th class magic stones for this process. As all the work was done under meticulous planning and design and with over-the-top materials, success was predestined! The most frightening drill across all universes came out of it.

[Annihilator's Flying fortress was complete.]

And it finally happened – the 'it' that Yu IlHan had been waiting for.

[Annihilator's Flying fortress]

[Rank – Eternal]

[Durability – 100,000,000/100,000,000]

[User restrictions – Yu IlHan]

[Options –

1. Recovers durability by absorbing the mana and life force of nearby enemies.

2. Automatically shoots down all entrants without permission.

3. Grows by absorbing records of various beings.

4. Flight enabled. Sudden acceleration, sudden levitation, sudden falling enabled.

5. All items within the fortress as well as the fortress itself is treated like the user's equipped item. The ones in party with the fortress's user may receive protection from the fortress, and will be treated like a member of it.

6. 20% increase in defense power and attack power of all artifacts in the fortress.

7. 20% increase in defense power and attack power of all artifacts in the fortress.

8. Able to attack and defend using a special barrier.

9. Chances of miracles increase within the holy region.]

[A creation that surpassed technology, records, and miracles. It is not yet complete due to a single missing piece, but it will be completed soon.]

[You have created an Eternal-ranked creation. You have acquired the title, 'Surpasser'.]

"Hm?"

Finally, our dear Flying fortress! Became a rank higher than God! Yu IlHan wanted to cry tears of joy.

However, the title that he acquired after making the Eternal ranked treasure tugged at his mind. Surpasser? What did he surpass? What was the ability of the title? There was nothing that he could understand about it.

[What is it, darling?]

"No, it's nothing."

Even if he wanted to explain it to the others, the only one that acquired this title was him. They would not be able to understand.

Although it was slightly different from what he had expected, he had succeeded in upgrading the Flying fortress so he decided to leave it there.

However, Mystic, grabbed him just as he was about to turn around.

[Master, I feel strange.]

"Why, is the common sense you didn't have about to appear or something?"

[I feel like I need to cough but it's stifled! Uaaaaaaaaaah, so frustrating!]

Yu IlHan thought that the 'missing piece' was what made her frustrated. However, if he knew what it was, wouldn't he have completed it immediately? He shrugged his shoulders and asked.

"Should I tickle you or something?"

[No, what did you do to the fortress! I'm frustrated! I feel stifllllllled!]

Even after that Mystic screamed about being stifled for quite a while, but there was nothing Yu IlHan could do. He asked Orochi to do something, but Orochi only sighed and replied like this.

[When a woman is frustrated and angry, it's best to just leave her alone rather than asking why. That's the best way to minimize damage.]

"Ooh, aren't you wise?"

[Master's an idiot! Orochi's even more of an idiot!]

When he told the others that the Flying fortress was now of Eternal rank, the others were confused at first, but then become shocked at the fact that there was a rank above God at all. Even the most experienced one, Helièna, made an awkward expression.

[Eternal? It's the first time I heard of that, darling. I've seen quite a few blacksmithing masters in my life..... but even they couldn't make anything better than God ranked.]

"Perhaps we're witnessing the birth of an item that had never existed since the conception of the Akashic Record."

[The first..... perhaps. Fufu, I'm happy that I can spend this time with darling.]

"You aren't the only one here. I'm here as well, and IlHan is mine."

The upgrade of the Flying fortress was finished successfully. Although he did spend all of Kelatuke's metallic armor, the results were good so Yu IlHan was satisfied. Moreover.

"I'm glad that I didn't have to do the impossible-impossible. I still have his bones!"

[There's still something left.....]

However, Kelatuke's bones had another use from the beginning. Yu IlHan piled them up on one side of the barrier and took out a portion of Echjar's bones on another. Then, he took out Echjar's DRAGON HEART, and the Heart of Fire as well.

"From now, don't approach this side."

He warned the others with a firm voice, and took off everything, including the gauntlet made from Chaos Will's remains as well as the Infernal dragon body. Orochi asked him.

[Do you think you can make it now, master?]

"Yes."

Yu IlHan nodded without hesitation, before taking out an anvil and a hammer and taking a deep breath.

He had enough materials. He also had a clear objective known as the Eternal rank.

Now, it was finally the time to complete his ideal armor.

1. The crafting scene is getting a little long, but this is the most important crafting process in the entire storyline so I cannot skip it. I'll try to make it as interesting as possible!

A whopping $722 in just one night.....

The queue is now $622. Good on you donors.

Btw, the guy I mentioned yesterday (the one that keeps donating 100$ whenever queue runs out) donated YET AGAIN. Sheesh, are you really fine with doing that?

Chapter 279: Why Only Me? – 5

“Orochi, could you migrate to the Eight-tailed dragon spear for the time being.”

[I shall.]

Orochi’s thought-soul completely moved over to the Eight-tailed dragon spear. Yu IlHan separated the spear from the armor and put it on one side, before summoning the Eternal Flame on his palm.

“We’re now going to melt and combine the most expensive materials across the multiverses, you ready?”

Eternal Flame had experienced countless materials, absorbed even more records and evolved past its limit several times under Yu IlHan’s guidance. It showed a confident movement, effectively burning away whatever doubts Yu IlHan had left.

“Good…….”

Yu IlHan raised his head. In his two eyes were the ginormous bones that seemed like they would fill the entire barrier. As the two had different properties, he wasn’t going to try alloying them to make an armor that brought out both of their advantages.

“First will be the inner armor. I’m going to make a thin layer of armor using Kelatuke’s bones and the Heart of Fire.”

[So this will be the fire.]

“Yes. And the second will be the outer armor. I’m going to melt Chaos Will’s gauntlets again and add Echjar’s bones and heart to make a sharp and sturdy armor.”

[So that will be the dragon portion. Well, master definitely is currently closer to fire than dragons. However, master, did you not say that you will reach the realm of higher existences through dragons? If so, then why did you not make the inner armor dragon-related?]

“Thanks for saying that, but a dragon’s power is one that needs to be emitted outwards. Moreover, I cannot abandon either kind of potential when I become a higher existence..... and above all, fire and dragon are fundamentally not that different either.”

[..... I am inexperienced and cannot comprehend anymore, so do as you wish.]

Orochi gave up on understanding Yu IlHan’s dialogue. The most destructive and direct power representation was indeed fire..... but Orochi could not understand any more than this. Yu IlHan realized that Orochi had given up and spoke with a bitter smile.

“You cannot stay as a thought-soul lower existence forever. To control and operate this armor, you also need some growth.”

[That’s it!]

At that time, Mystic suddenly shouted.

[I get it now! The league of the Flying fortress was raised, but I stayed the same. That’s what’s making me so stifled!]

“Then you can grow too, duh.”

[How?]

“Well, wouldn’t it be fine if you absorb any kind of records you encounter?”

[No, that’s not enough. There needs to be a more fundamental solution.]

Mystic raised her voice. Her voice was passionate as if she would dance a samba with the Flying fortress.

[Master needs to grow! Only then could we follow!]

“Don’t shift the blame to me.”

[But it’s the truth! So become a higher existence or whatever it is already!]

“Fine, I get it so be quiet for a moment. I’m doing something important.”

Upgrading his gear was a necessity even if it was in regards to becoming a higher existence. Yu IlHan made Mystic quieten down and started melting the Infernal dragon body and Kelatuke’s bones. The Infernal dragon body was a material that would be used in both the inner and outer armor, and right now, he had to extract the fire part of it.

Of course, this wasn't so easy. Even Yu IlHan's best flames could not bring out a change in the two metals.

[Is it really possible?]

"It will still be impossible later if it's impossible now. I might as well do it now."

Until now, Yu IlHan had never spent so much time on one item while crafting and smithing, but this time was an exception. Since the materials were too good, he couldn't be half-hearted about it, and he had to transfer all the powers of fire that the Infernal dragon body had into the new armor without allowing a drop in quality.

"Fuu....."

Eternal Flame became stronger and brighter. The flame that once reached the extreme in size now started to get smaller, and it became more and more translucent, before becoming invisible to the naked eye.

[It's a curious fire no matter how many times I see it.....]

"Succubus, you're sparring with me. Where do you think you're going!"

[Fu, I only wanted to watch the piece of art..... You damned violent ex-angel.]

Yu IlHan could no longer hear the others. He only focused on the flames; the flames and the material that the flames needed to melt – he could not take his eyes off the two.

"Eternal Flame, this is the armor you'll reside in."

Yu IlHan whispered to it. It was a very soft voice.

"So focus, while thinking that you're making your own house."

Eternal Flame burned up as if to reply to him. It flickered its tongue, and burned more while becoming more attached to the material. At that moment, Eternal Flame grew once again and the Heart of Fire that he had already taken out to use later started to resonate with the Eternal Flame!

The moment no one other than Yu IlHan could recognize the Eternal Flame anymore, the Infernal dragon body and Kelatuke's bones finally started melting.

'Good, there's resonance. Let's do the mana crafting here as well.'

Melting wasn't everything. He had to keep the cast of the Infernal dragon body, and had to compress the power that Kelatuke's bones contained and fill the Infernal dragon body with it.

Now that the Heart of Fire had activated, this process was no longer just blacksmithing, and it was mana crafting, and with Eternal Flame, it was simultaneously soul enchant as well. Yu IlHan thought that perhaps creation was like this, before technology developed and it started branching out.

[Fufu. Ex-angel lady, aren't you gonna spar?]

"Shut up for a sec, succubus....."

It was not easy to ignore Yu IlHan that was working so vibrantly and at the same time, nobly. It wasn't just Helièna and Liera either. The others that were sparring, training skills, eating dragon meat, or fighting against monsters, they all stopped what they were doing and gathered around him.

"Amazing."

"It's amazing even though I don't know what's amazing about it!"

An aura of translucent flames was enveloping Yu IlHan and they could not see his figure clearly, but they could see how amazing his work was.

The ginormous bones belonging to Kelatuke decreased in size as time went on, and the sturdy Infernal dragon body glowed brightly and changed state from material to immaterial before being dismantled. Eternal Flame burned with all its power in order to mix the two that were never supposed to be combined.

[My house.]

A bright clear voice of a girl could be heard. Yu IlHan instinctively realized that it was Eternal Flame's will. After repeating several evolutions, she had finally become able to communicate. (T/N: Eternal Flame is 'she' from now)

[I'm going to make the hottest house!]

“Yes, that should do.”

Replied Yu IlHan in satisfaction. Eternal Flame realized that her master had understood her words and burned even brighter in joy. Of course, the speed at which Kelatuke’s bones melted accelerated accordingly.

The Heart of Fire was also being melted, albeit rather slowly. Every time it melted a little, the entire region of space was bathed in a tinge of red.

Eventually, the terrifying heat had formed a barrier, and no one except the Eternal Flame, and Yu IlHan, who had received the blessing of the goddess of fire, could keep their consciousness within it. Orochi was no exception and had to leave the barrier hurriedly.

[I will leave for a bit. .... Damn, you can’t even hear me, can you?]

The barrier that formed around the Heart of Fire decreased in size. As the barrier decreased in size, so did Kelatuke’s bones. The bones were not being destroyed, but were being compressed while retaining their original properties. It had found a cast that could contain its high league.

Yu IlHan finally picked up his hammer. Then, he put the separated half of Infernal dragon body and Kelatuke’s bones into one place before hammering down on them. He imbued all his mana and flames into his strikes to temper those items.

[Can you feel it? Mana crafting and Soul enchant are being mixed with Blacksmithing. Aah, it’s a mere piece of armor but it’s being treated better than me. I’m so envious. If I could receive darling’s sweet hands like that, it would be fine if I melted into a puddle of blood.....]

“I said shut up, succubus. You’re disturbing me.”

Yu IlHan eventually closed his eyes. Eyes being open had nothing to do with the work right now.

He could feel fire; the breathing fire; the will of the Eternal Flame; the space that became one with the fire to burn; the bones that colored and transformed; and the half of Infernal dragon body that sucked every one of them from the center.

[You have discovered a realm of crafting that cannot be defined with technology. The majority of advanced fusion skills, resulted from the fusion of technology, are recorded in the Akashic Record, but the techniques that possess a league that cannot be recorded cannot be given a level, and may just exist by itself.]

[What you have discovered is the realm of Genesis. You have fused the powers of Blacksmithing, Mana crafting, and Soul enchant into one to transform 'The Chaos that cannot be mixed nor separated' into 'Birth'. You have realized the realm of 'Creation.].

[You have earned the title, 'Creator'. All of your creations will be given special and unique options.]

Yu IlHan opened his eyes. Kelatuke's bones had all but disappeared. The figure of the Heart of Fire was nowhere to be seen. The Eternal Flame was still burning on Yu IlHan's palm, but this was not its whole but a mere fragment, and the main body had already moved over to her new house.

A single set of armor floated in front of him. It was an armor that was entirely red in color. It looked very similar to the Infernal dragon body, but was completely different.

It was alive. Yu IlHan could instinctively realize what this realm of 'Creation' he had reached after seeing it.

[I like it very much!]

Shouted Eternal Flame inside the armor with a voice that didn't contained even the slightest bit of negativity. It was very clear, yet passionate – a voice that was close to contradiction. It was very charming.

[I'm going to protect master!]

"Yes, I'll leave it to you."

A tired voice escaped Yu IlHan as he had poured his everything into the creation just now. However, he was very satisfied, his heart felt full. He had the thought that he had finally properly made what he really wanted to.

He now walked a path that no one had tread on.

[Soul of Fire was completed.]

[Soul of Fire.]

[Rank – God]

[Defense – 17,900]

[Durability – indestructible as long as the energy of fire remains]

[User restrictions – Yu IlHan]

[Options –

1. 200% increase in fire attribute resistance and attack power.
2. Imbues the power of fire to all skills and amplifies them by 100%.
3. Raises the league of all fire-related skills.]

[The purest, hottest, and sturdiest flames created by a human that had transcended humanity. A miracle that was given birth after matter, soul, and mana came together with one will.]

He turned his head around after checking the information on the armor, when he saw that the dragon part of the Infernal dragon body had formed a lump. Now, that would form the new outer armor with Echjar's bones, Chaos Will's gauntlet, as well as DRAGON HEART.

In other words, he had only done half of the work. The armor was incomplete.

“To think I'd have to do such a tiring job once again.....”

[I'm happy, I'm happy!]

Eternal Flame only rejoiced while controlling the armor to jump around in midair without knowing what was going through his mind.

He could wear that immediately but..... Yu IlHan let her be for a while. When he looked at the others, they were looking back at him with absent minded gazes.

“IlHan, you.....”

“Even your hair is red now.”

After hearing Liera’s words, he immediately stroked his hair to check.

“Whot!?”

It was true After he had received the blessing of the goddess of fire, Yu IlHan’s eyes had turned red, and now that he had created the Soul of Fire, even his hair was dyed red now.

“What the hell? When did it grow so long?”

What’s more, it even grew down to his waist! Yu IlHan was shocked and immediately tried to cut them, but Na YuNa immediately threw her body and clung to his waist.

“Long hair is cool as well so leave it! Leave iiiit!”

“But it will be annoying in battle so I’ll cut it short…… hm?”

The moment he thought that he wanted his hair to be short, the long hair shrunk back down again. Na YuNa’s two eyes had question marks in them. Yu IlHan thought.

…… Just what the hell am I turning into?

Chapter 280: Why Only Me? – 6

“Mr. IlHan~. Make it longer again! Longer! You were so sexy just now!”

“I don’t like being sexy so I’ll keep it short.”

“Noooo! Idiot! Idiot~!”

Yu IlHan realized that his hair now had the properties of fire. Well, fire was immaterial and could be manipulated to alter its size at will, so it wouldn’t be strange even if his hair had such properties. In other words, a part of Yu IlHan’s body had transcended the realm of matter.

He had reached the midpoint between lower existences and higher existences. He instinctively realized that.

“Hm, it seems like I can aim for higher existences in this field.”

“Congratz on getting many ways to become a higher existence.”

“But..... hm.”

Fire and dragon, rather than pursuing just one of them, it would be better in the long term to fuse the two together to pave his way to the realm of higher existences.

Although he was surprised at the unexpected gain, he quickly reorganized his thoughts in his heads and returned his hair as the same as before. Now, it was the time to make the other armor part – the outer armor – that contained the power of dragons.

“Come here.”

[Yes.]

Yu IlHan took off all the clothes he was wearing and put the Soul of Fire on his body. It was custom made for him and had the pure properties of fire so even when he wore it, it gave him a comfortable sensation as if he wasn’t wearing anything at all.

“I don’t think the outer armor is a problem with this.”

[I'm happy!]

Eternal Flame repeated the same words like a child that just started to learn a language. Yu IlHan laughed and lightly tapped on the armor before picking up his hammer again. A flame blossomed on the tip of it very naturally. Yu IlHan and the Eternal Flame has already deeply synchronized, and it was a foolish thing to attempt to differentiate between the two anymore.

“Orochi, it's your turn now.”

[I thought I was being melted along with the spear last time.....]

“I'm going to melt the spear as well. It's time to throw away the name of Eight-tailed dragon spear.”

[.....Is that for real?]

“Didn't you see what Eternal Flame was capable of just now? You just need to do that yourself.”

[I thought you'd use Echjar.]

“I'm going to switch you with him once I become able to control him at will. You just need to take care of it until then.”

Yu IlHan still didn't have the power to manipulate the violent 7th class dragon to his will. Orochi made a bitter laugh when he heard Yu IlHan's honest words.

[Then I can only do my best. Although, I'm fine with that and will not complain.]

“Then should we start?”

[Understood.]

Eight-tailed dragon spear, half of the Infernal dragon body that became an armory to numerous weapons, Chaos Will's gauntlet, Echjar's bones, and his DRAGON HEART as well – treasures that would shock worlds just by themselves gathered in one spot.

“Fuu.”

Yu IlHan slowly closed his eyes and simultaneously activated Mana crafting, Soul enchant, and Blacksmithing to enter the realm of creation. Since he had already done it once, he was more proficient with it now.

[Kraaaaaah! You dare to do that to my body, and my heart!]

“You just shut up, Echjar.”

Although it was impossible to control him, shutting him up was no problem. Yu IlHan utilized all his powers as a Deathgod to bury Echjar deep inside his consciousness and continued working.

Echjar’s ginormous bones glowed in red and started decreasing in size. Orochi’s thought-soul left the Eight-tailed dragon spear and moved to the remaining half of Infernal dragon body, while Yu IlHan melted all the other materials with fire while simultaneously activating Dragonic blood.

‘I’m going to forge a body that can bring out the power of dragons to the best. It’s an easy thing, and it should be one.’

[Master, focus!]

Everything melted down, and Echjar’s DRAGON HEART reacted. The mana crafting process commenced successfully.

“Orochi.”

[I shall try.]

Yu IlHan raised his hammer before striking down. The outer appearance of the armor appeared for a brief moment before being buried into chaos again. However, Yu IlHan did not get disappointed. This meant that Chaos Will’s gauntlet had efficiently been melted in.

“I do not plan to entrap or suppress the power of dragons. Transform and roar as you wish.”

[That’s what I wished for.]

Orochi and Yu IlHan’s senses melted and mixed into one. Although he was one with the Soul of Fire right now, his training in manipulating thought-souls were not for nothing and he could adapt to it without much problems. The soul enchanting process was smooth as well.

“Good..... Very good.”

There was resonance. The power of dragons that always reacted when Yu IlHan entered the Cradle of Miracles had awakened again from the stimulation of the materials here. A violent wave rippled through Yu IlHan's body. If he couldn't endure even this, he may as well give up the dream of becoming a higher existence.

"Let's start working then!"

He struck down with the hammer. The Eight-tailed dragon spear snapped perfectly, before being melted by translucent flames and being absorbed by the remaining half of Infernal dragon body. Now, it was time to utilize the power of Blacksmithing to cast it into a shape.

[Fuu..... Haaah.]

"Fuu..... Haaah."

Yu IlHan and Orochi's breathing synchronized. The more he hammered on, the louder Echjar's bones screamed in pain before being compressed. The size of DRAGON HEART also decreased in size as time went on and enhanced the materials with its magic power.

With such complex processes happening simultaneously, even Erta and Helièna who were very well versed in magic could only watch the breathtaking scene without being able to comprehend much.

"I'll give up. I can't understand a thing.....!"

[Watch even if you cannot comprehend anything, lady. The figure of darling stepping onto a new realm, the records that are not recorded.]

The only non-draconic material here, Chaos Will, was the last one to cry out within it. That had to be used in enhancing the characteristics of dragons, and in unchaining the restrictions in strength. Yu IlHan transformed that power and lead it. He used the mana from DRAGON HEART to form the power into that of a dragon's to make it one with the armor.

[It is starting, master.]

"Yes. ....It's starting."

He struck down with the hammer.

He struck down with the hammer.

He struck down with the hammer.

The DRAGON HEART completely melted down. The momentary surge of horrifying concentration of mana was all focused on Yu IlHan, and he synchronized with that mana using the power of Dragonic blood and poured it into his hammer.

Despite the mana of dragons that rippled so hard enough to put his heart in pain, his movements did not change at all. The armor tried to take form but then dissipated again, tried to agglomerate before dispersing again. Echjar's bones completely enveloped the armor and was melted together with the rest of it.

"I think I saw that before. It looks like ink being diffused in water~."

"Shh."

He struck down with the hammer. Just once, a sonorous sound of hitting metal could be heard. The dispersing energy and mana that seemed like it would fill the entire barrier was instantly compressed and formed itself into an item in the shape of an armor.

An armor that embodied the reddish-black, sturdy scales of a dragon. It was an armor that looked like a sized up version of Infernal dragon body.

"Fuu."

Yu IlHan heaved a short sigh and dropped his hammer. Even though the hammer was made from top-grade materials, it could not endure two consecutive process of creation and ended up as a half molten mess. He was only glad that it held out until the end of the process.

"It's finished."

[It is indeed.]

Green text appeared in his eyes.

[Body of the Human Dragon was complete.]

[Body of the Human Dragon]

[Defense – 25,500]

[Durability – 50,000,000/50,000,000 (regenerates as long there is a single fragment left.)]

[User restrictions – Yu IlHan]

[Options –

1. Amplifies the power of dragons and increases recovery rate by 300%.
2. Raises the league of all skills related to dragons.
3. Freely transforms the figure of the user by consuming mana, and may transcend the realm of matter.
4. Can freely summon all weapons etched onto the records of the user. Half of the defense is added to the weapon's attack power.]

[An armor that allows for the coexistence of one's human and dragon nature, created by a human that had a deep understanding of dragons.]

[I can finally understand what Mystic meant.]

Orochi, trapped in the Body of the Human Dragon, complained.

[I feel very stifled, master. Please do something about it.]

“You're saying the same thing.”

[Uhihi! Good for you! You ignored me and now you are in the same situation since you were so arrogant!]

[It frustrates me so much that I'm in the same state as that woman.....]

“But it's not over yet.”

A dual core only had meaning when they worked together. The Heart of Fire that is controlled by Eternal Flame, and the DRAGON HEART operated by Orochi had to gather around the hardware known as Yu IlHan to be truly considered complete.

“Orochi, you know what to do, right?”

[Ugh, I do.]

When Yu IlHan flicked his finger, the Body of the Human Dragon floating in the air transformed itself into a black fog. Chaos Will's properties had been implemented on a new level after borrowing the powers of dragons!

The fog swirled across the air and enveloped Yu IlHan that was wearing the Soul of Fire. It materialized again and naturally settled on top of the Soul of Fire, when Orochi, Eternal Flame, and Yu IlHan became one.

As if having waited for that moment, a few lines of text quietly appeared on Yu IlHan's eyes.

[The Eternal-ranked artifact, Flamesoul Dragon body, was complete.]

[There are artifacts that are perfect by themselves, but may transcend perfection by merging with other items. 'Soul of Fire' and 'Body of the Human Dragon' belong to such a case. Artifacts that cannot be complete with the two artifacts and the user had formed a perfect harmony to be reborn into an Eternal-ranked artifact.]

[An additional effect is added to the Flamesoul Dragon body.]

[The equipper of the armor become the master of all flames and dragons. It can amplify the power of fire and dragons, bestow power, and may take away the power as well. However, the league of the user is still low and thus, the ability cannot be activated to its full extent.]

"Fuuuuuu."

Yu IlHan, who had gone through a simple awakening process through the imperfect fusion with the artifact, heaved a deep breath. Inside it was all the power of fire and dragons. Some call it 'Breath'.

There was someone who was looking at him with a dumbfounded gaze, and it was none other than Yumir.

"Dad ended up becoming a dragon!?"

"Not yet."

"Then when are you becoming one?"

"I don't know either."

“Anyway, amazing! Dad is amazing!”

Yu IlHan softly embraced Yumir as he rejoiced with glittering eyes, before he shook his hands at the others that had their gazes fixed on him.

“Alright. Show’s over. Go do your things now.”

“When I look at how you work; I feel so useless.”

“If you don’t want to die uselessly later then please continue doing those useless things.”

There was still a lot of time until the barrier was dispelled. He had the urge to just dive inside the Cradle of Miracles and never come out again, but he couldn’t do that since he wasn’t the only one that needed it right now.

“There are also other things that I need to do before I leap into the realm of higher existences.”

Yu IlHan called out his spear and poised himself. He summoned a reddish-black spear made from the energy of fire and dragons. It was made with the Eight-tailed dragon spear as the base, but was also the strongest and sharpest spear he could remember and make, and as such, was a completely different spear.

“Anyone wants to spar with me?”

“But I need to train in the Great Cosmos-severing Spear…….”

“Hiiiiik.”

Everyone shrunk back in fear when they heard the words ‘Great Cosmos-severing Spear’. Wasn’t that the skill that raised his martial might to a whole new level? Only Helièna reacted, but unfortunately, she was a magic combatant and was not proficient in close combat, and therefore, was unsuited to be a sparring partner.

“I can’t help it I guess.”

Yu IlHan nonchalantly muttered and let go of the spear before taking out the remaining body of Echjar. Although the fundamental parts were all robbed off, the grandeur of the remains was still very great.

He uttered amazing nonsense in front of the remains.

“I can only revive Echjar and fight him.”

[You dare when you made me into this!]

“Although the league would be significantly lower, the abilities of the physical body won’t be that different so rest assured.”

[YOUUUUUUUUUUUUUUUUUUUUU!]

“I’ll free you if you win against me. So just listen to me now.”

[T, this rude and poor lower existence dared to look down upon this Echjarrrrrrrrrrrr!]

Echjar who was provoked to no end by Yu IlHan let out a roar. Yu IlHan nodded in satisfaction after feeling that.

Now that his equipment was complete, there was no way he could lose against that simpleton Echjar. Moreover, he could also snap his morale by physically winning against him and put him under his rule, so what was two birds with one stone if this wasn’t! The reason Orochi had to go inside the Body of the Human Dragon was all to fight Echjar and bring him to his knees!

“Well, then. I’ll revive you into a cute lil’ thing, so wait a moment.”

[C, cute!? L, ‘lil’!? YOUUUUUUUUUUUUUUU!]

Yu IlHan picked up some random dragon bones to make a new hammer and approached Echjar’s body. The training session that only Yu IlHan took joy in, had begun.

- 1. Yu IlHan got a boost in confidence after making the armor!
- 2. I’ll make Echjar into a cute lil’ origami!

Translator’s notes

Looks like some donor doesn’t like to read translator’s notes and dumped another $50 on me. So this makes $672 now (today's two chapters are sunday regulars and doesn't count against queue).

Meanwhile, this (and the last) chapter took me so long to translate because the contents sound so profoundly stupid. I couldn't understand much. I translated pretty much literally. If Koukouseidesu had a hard time editing it, I don't blame him.

Also, I'm pretty sure he said to the elves that they 'won't see him(Echjar) alive again in the future'. Well.... there goes that I guess.

KKS – The stuff was so profound that it was mostly correct :^)

[Graaaaaaaaaaaaar!]

An Ice demon roared loudly. When it extended its left arm out, a stream of pure energy that froze everything in its path was exuded.

“Carina!”

“I know!”

When Michael Smithson shouted while redirecting the arm with his shield courageously, Carina Malatesta, who aimed for that moment, cast restraint magic to tie the demon down.

“Hhp!”

When the ice demon was firmly held in place, Takagaki Asuha suddenly appeared from behind it and tied its neck with her whip. However, that lacked the destructive ability to finish it off!

“Hhaaaaaaap!”

“Still not enough, kugh!”

“Charge, Michael!”

The battle with the demon only ended after another 30 minutes of cruel battle. If Na YuNa didn’t bless them once midway, there would’ve been another dangerous moment.

“pant pant..... I guess we just barely won that one.”

Michael Smithson, who had it the hardest since he was in charge of defense, broke off the ice off his shield and panted heavily. Carina Malatesta wiped the sweat off his forehead with a handkerchief. Ignoring their flirting (she got used to it by now) Takagaki Asuha checked her level.

“Although it’s definitely insanely hard..... I levelled up again. I’m already at level 250!”

“How is it still so hard even though we’re levelling up so fast?”

Erta gave a simple and clear explanation as she prepared to summon the next monster.

“Because the levels of the summoned monsters increase as you three increase in level.”

“You devil!”

“A devil? That’s quite nice to hear after having been called an ‘angel’ to death!”

Erta’s refreshing smile was angelic!

“Perhaps anyone who get involved with mister unique transforms into terrifying beings.....”

“I’m afraid we might become like that someday.”

Erta snorted after hearing their words.

“You three are still far from catching up to him.”

“Well that’s of course.....”

Michael Smithson subconsciously nodded his head. Where his gaze headed to. A gigantic dragon and a single human were fighting it out.

[I’ll kill youuuuuuuuuuuu!]

“How do you intend to do that? When will you ever catch me? I think it’ll take a shorter amount of time for me to die of old age and be laid in my grave than being caught by something like you!”

[Kraaaaaaaah!]

“Roar louder! You can’t even scare an earthworm with that!”

[Yu llHaaaaaaaaaaaaan!]

“Your steps are so weak and wobbly that someone might see and think you’re an infant! Should I sing a lullaby?”

Watching Yu IlHan as he drove the frightening dragon into a corner even while not forgetting to inflict copious amounts of mental damage, they felt like they were worse than ants. And the one that revived that frightening dragon was Yu IlHan himself!

Carina Malatesta asked with an absurd face.

“How long has it been since Mr. Yu IlHan started fighting that dragon?”

“Let’s see. There’s around a month until the end of the duration of the barrier, so I guess they’ve been doing that for an entire year and three months.”

“Without sleeping even once?”

“Other than when bathing in the Cradle of Miracles. He indeed never rested nor slept.”

Michael Smithson became silent. Right now, Yu IlHan was dashing left and right through the air, clearly still filled with vitality even while swinging his spear. The fear-striking flash that seemed to split the universe itself whenever he swung the spear hitting the dragon made him realize that Yu IlHan was not the slightest bit tired.

“We used the Cradle of Miracles until now too.....”

“But resonance is not something that’s easy. But that shouldn’t be the only thing.”

Although Yu IlHan was indeed very exceptional, training for such a long period of time without sleeping wasn’t something that could be easily challenged just because one had the capabilities to. It was only possible because of his strong mental fortitude.

Although it was frustrating, Michael Smithson admitted that he was inferior to Yu IlHan for the first time.

“I do not think he’s in the right in all things but..... There’s at least one thing to admire about him.”

“You can also become stronger.”

“No, Carina. I do not want to be greedy like that any longer. I’m sick and tired of trying to grab everything and failing to do so.”

He heaved a short sigh and raised his shield again. The rugged breath had also calmed down.

“I will become a shield that protects you. I won’t be greedy for everything, and only polish what I can do to the extreme.”

“If that’s what you wish…… my love.”

“Yes, yes. Have a happy love life.”

This couple was so flirtatious alright! Whatever they did eventually reached a pink-colored ending!

Takagaki Asuha, who had to watch the two flirting for more than the past year, looked away from them and towards Yu IlHan. He was what drove her forward. He was driving a terrifying dragon that she could never even dream of fighting, to a corner! Even though he denied it, he must be the reincarnation of a god! She was happy just watching like this.

“Ah, aah.”

When she realized, Erta was staring at her lightly.

“If you wish to be of his help, you don’t have time to rest so leisurely, no?”

“Of course. I’ve levelled up just now, so I’m fine physically. Please summon the next monster. .... if possible, above that couple’s heads.”

“That sounds interesting.”

It wasn’t just the three clan masters. Yumir, Kang MiRae, Na YuNa, Kim YeSeul, Liera, Helièna, Kang HaJin and even the Dragon’s Army were doing what they could within the barrier. The year and a half that lasted for not even an instant – Earth’s battle force was being upgraded at lightspeed.

Of course, the one with the most growth was of course Yu IlHan.

[Krhoaaaaaaaaaah!]

Roared Echjar. His body no longer had a heart, nor any spines or ribs – heck, he was missing flesh and blood as well – but with Yu IlHan’s divine-tier Blacksmithing and Mana crafting, he could revive it with the power to overwhelm any 6th class beings.

[You..... what is it that you want!]

“You should know already.”

However even with the overwhelming strength, Echjar could not win against Yu IlHan. Echjar had the advantage when he was first revived, but as Yu IlHan adapted to the Flamesoul dragon body throughout the fight, the situation was eventually reversed.

[I will never submit to you! It is not my loss even if I lose against you with this inferior body!]

“What are you saying? You lost to me the moment you died. This is only the process of snapping your morale.”

[You defeated me with a cowardly method! Had I retained my original power, I would not lose my life to the likes of you!]

Yu IlHan snorted.

“You defeated your enemies with curses, and you call me a coward, eh? You are a wimp unsuited to be a dragon.”

[Krhaaaaaaaaaaaaaahk!]

“It’s not the strongest that wins, it’s the victor that is strong. Didn’t I say so? I’ll free you if you win against me. And you nodded your head at that time. And now that you lose so easily like this, you’re coming up with excuses? Were you really born a dragon?”

[T, this coward.....!]

Orochi, who had also heard those lines for like the millionth time now, muttered powerlessly.

[You’re so evil. I think my morale is going to be snapped before his.....]

“I need to trample on him a little more.”

Yu IlHan leapt several times in the air as he said that. Wherever he went, his spear drew the air, and the Great Cosmos-severing Spear that followed it once again struck Echjar’s injured body.

[Krhaaa, it's painful! It's PAINFUL!]

“You're so pathetic! Why don't you just commit suicide instead? If you have the pride of a dragon, then why don't you just do that!”

[Krhaaaaaaaaaaah!]

Once, he was called the Dragon of Despair, Echjar. He swung his tail to attack Yu IlHan, but as Yu IlHan had recorded all of its movements in the past, it only looked like he was acting cute. In fact, he even traced the movements of the tail and flew towards where the tail would lose its force, and grabbed the tail when it completely lost its power and twisted it apart.

[Kugh, Khaaaaaaaaak!]

At that moment, Echjar cried.

[I..... lost.]

He admitted defeat for the first time. After such a long period of battle, his mentality had finally snapped before his body did.

[I will acknowledge you as the master of dragons.]

Unsatisfied with his tone of voice, Yu IlHan twisted a little harder and checked again.

“Say that again.”

[Khhhh! I acknowledge you as the ruler of us dragons!]

Yu IlHan let go of the tail and floated upwards. At that moment, new text engraved itself on Yu Ilhan's retina.

[Although not complete, you have received the declaration of defeat from the thought-soul of the strongest dragon in existence, the Dragon of Despair. The records you possess as a dragon become enhanced. The power to rule over dragons activates a little more.]

There was no way the high and mighty 7th class dragon would admit defeat just because Yu IlHan beat him up a little. It was all possible because he had acquired the qualifications as the ruler of dragons by completing his armor.

In any case, Yu IlHan had achieved what he had set out to do. Now, Echjar was his.

“Good, then you’re on my side as well from now.”

[You finally did it, you malicious master.]

The Rule skill at the level of mastery covered Echjar’s entire body. With both his body and mind tattered, Echjar threw away the pride it had piled up over countless years and agreed to become Yu IlHan’s subordinate.

“Echjar, let’s get along well from now on.”

[I acknowledge you as my master..... so you must become the strongest.]

[‘Echjar’ has become your subordinate.]

He finally succeeded in all of his objectives that he aimed to fulfill within the barrier. Yu IlHan’s lips curved into a smile.

“Good, then let’s switch your places now.”

[That body of the terrifying dragon is uncomfortable in itself but..... I guess I can’t help it.]

[Fuu..... for me, this is more comfortable.]

There was no need to hesitate anymore. Yu IlHan immediately activated ‘Creation’ to switch Orochi and Echjar.

Echjar would be able to adapt better to the Body of the Human Dragon that contained his very own essence, and Orochi would also find the simpleton 7th class dragon’s body a better fit than a God-ranked artifact.

“Orochi, what should we do? Leave the body as it is?”

[It is insanely uncomfortable. Make it a humanoid form instead, master.]

“Good, leave that to me. I’ll compress the power without losing any of it.”

Just as Yu IlHan was about to commence his last piece of work in the barrier, Mystic, who stayed obedient until now, raised her voice in complaint.

[Master, me too! I also want a body!]

“You..... can just wait a little more.”

[You’re too much! You idiotic master! I also want a body like Orochi! A cute and little girl!]

[Haha, brat. Go break dance or something with that gigantic body of yours.]

[Orochi you idiooooooooooooooot!]

Mystic's young-sounding voice filled the barrier. Yu IlHan laughed and picked up his hammer.

There was still a month left until the barrier was dispelled, plenty of time to create another masterpiece.

“Everyone stop what you’re doing and gather up.”

Yu IlHan shouted.

When his voice that carried with it an air of assertiveness filled the barrier, yet in a fashion that was hardly domineering, the ones that were struggling inside the Cradle of Miracles, the Dragon’s Army that were having a large scale fight, Yumir who was practicing his skills, Takagaki Asuha who just killed a demon, as well as Liera and Helièna who looked like they had a fight to the death, but were actually sparring, all stopped what they were doing. Yu IlHan explained to them.

“The barrier will disperse shortly. The moment it breaks; the effects of the slowing magic will increase greatly so we need to be prepared for that.”

“Ugh, there was that, wasn’t there?”

[I wanted to adapt to my body better.....]

“I’ll tweak it in the future so don’t worry about it, Orochi.”

[That sounds very unsettling since it’s you who’s saying it.]

“What was that?”

Yu IlHan cleaned up the various equipment within the barrier and collected the Cradle of Miracles. Although he couldn’t reach the realm of higher existences during this time, he had an enormous harvest, so he decided to leave it at that.

Even excluding him and Yumir, a few people, including Liera and Helièna succeeded in resonating with the power of dragons, and the outlook for the rest of them was anything but bleak.

“Ah, the barrier.”

“I can feel my body becoming heavier.”

“.....its breaking.”

The moment Erta, who was sensitive to mana, said that, the barrier of time that looked like it would last an eternity shattered in vain. The majority of the people who spent a year and a half within the barrier, felt dizzy after feeling the flow of time that started again.

“My god, it really was less than an instant.”

“Uuugh, I feel extremely heavy now.”

Although Yu IlHan did warn them beforehand, the slowing magic cast over Earth wasn't something that could be avoided just by being aware of its existence.

The three clan masters could now move normally under the effects of the magic, thanks to their training in the past year and a half but they had to clench their teeth due to the overwhelming pressure. They even had the urge to just let go of everything and go with the flow of magic!

“Our clan will be confused if they see us.”

“Just with you three acting at your normal speeds, it would help them recognize the existence of the magic. By then, they would be able to grow as well.”

“This is hellish.....”

However, they knew that this was what was best for Earth, they could not complain anymore. Yu IlHan handed the three a ‘few’ weapons and other equipment that he had made in his spare time in the barrier.

“Arm your clan members with these. They're legend-ranked for the most part, but well, they should suffice.”

“I'm frightened myself by not flinching despite the appearance of several legend-ranked artifacts..... I'll gladly take the items though.”

“Thank you, Lord Susa, I mean, Yu IlHan! I shall loyally serve you in the future as well!”

“Well no, I don't need another loyal servant.”

Since he had already told them the code of action, there was no need to hesitate. The clan masters all quickly went to their places.

They had a lot of talent in the very beginning, so they should be able to endure in this insane Earth and in the future as well. That went especially for Carina Malatesta and Michael Smithson who had to protect each other. As for Takagaki Asuha..... Yu IlHan didn't want to think about her for the time being.

“Well, then. Should we keep doing what we were doing before?”

[Master, do I really go around like this?]

The one that called out to him was of course, Orochi. Orochi, having been enchanted to the body that was ‘slightly’ modified from Echjar’s remains, could proficiently control the body now, but it seemed like he had become embarrassed after exiting the barrier.

[To think that I have to walk around in this embarrassing form...]

[Embarrassing form?! It transcendentally surpasses your original body of a lower existence!]

Echjar, enchanted in the Body of the Human Dragon, shouted as if to curse Orochi, but Yu IlHan ignored that. Echjar did not know what Orochi meant. What Orochi meant by ‘embarrassing’ was not referring to the physical body.

“You’re embarrassed since you can’t control the body properly yet, aren’t you?”

[That’s it. These muscles, these bones, these flesh – they’re all leagues above mine. I can still feel creaks here and there.]

[Fu, at least you know your own place.]

“Shut up, Echjar.”

If Yu IlHan could freely use creation and subordinate every single one of them, he wouldn’t have fought with Echjar for over a year. Even Orochi, who had hung out with him for years and eaten many, many thought-souls had difficulty controlling that body. How better would any others do?

“Do your best. I believe in you.”

[I’m honored.]

[Master is horrible! You’re horrible!]

He checked the state of his companions, and then the state of Earth. Of course, not that anything much would have changed since not even an instant had passed.

In fact, as the three clan masters killed the demons that spawned on Earth for quite a while, the density of high-level monsters had decreased as well. Of course, they'll keep appearing in the future, but now that there was a system that sucked the mana out of Earth and sent it to Dareu, there would hopefully be no more cases of a massive monster outbreak.

"Well, then. Let's get to work."

"You damn workaholic~!"

Before the barrier broke, Yu IlHan gave them an occasional break. Thanks to that, everyone was in their normal conditions, so there would be no drawbacks in acting now. Kang MiRae's expression darkened after Yu IlHan declared the resumption of work.

"Then do we need to be apart again?"

"That's what will happen. .... Should we reorganize the teams?"

"No, it's fine."

"MiRae. Youuuu."

Kang MiRae swiftly rejected Yu IlHan's proposal. Since the two had to stay as leaders of the two teams, and therefore, she could not go with him, she would take the opportunity away for others as well! Na YuNa clung to her with narrowed eyes, but her expression was very firm.

"The Flying fortress was enhanced as well, so you also need to train to get adapted to the holy region too, YuNa."

"Such a sneaky excuse! You just made a sneaky excuse just now!"

"His Majesty... I cannot protect His Majesty by his side....."

"Calm down, Paté! The undead are going berserk!"

[Fuu, it's the same teams again.....? If it's masters wish, I shall follow. Fuu.....]

The reactions from his subordinates weren't that good either. So many people didn't want to be apart from him! Well, it was an emotional thing, but Yu IlHan felt like he was losing his sense of identity and felt awkward. If he called himself a loner now, then he'll get beaten up, probably.

"Dammit, we all became stronger, so can I at least go to IlHan's side?"

"I don't know what will happen, so please."

"What do you mean by 'what will happen'? There are only trash!"

Liera also grumbled. No matter how long she was with him, a lover's heart made her wanted to be by his side at all times.

"Will it really be two months until we meet again? This is not some fairy tale."

"It's better than meeting once a year. Next time, let's take it a little slow."

"Gaaawd, did I quit being an angel to do this?"

"It's because I trust in you the most. I'll switch you out as soon as Orochi gets adapted to his new body."

".....Really?"

"Really, I promise."

"Then okay..... Kiss me here. Quick."

Liera only got off Yu IlHan after getting his confirmation and a kiss. Then she got on the Flying fortress along with the others that all glared at her.

When Mystic left for another world without being able to acquire a body until the end, there were four people on the Guardian fortress – Yu IlHan, Kim YeSeul, Helièna and finally Orochi with Echjar's body. It was a strange composition of members.

"My son's popular alright."

"I don't need it though....."

"Mom's new dream is to make a baseball league with my grandchildren!"

"You mean nightmare."

[Fufu, if you leave it to me, I can do my best.]

"That's reassuring."

Welp, this was bad. He put her mother in his team to restrain Helièna, but somehow, the two were getting along better as time went! Yu IlHan looked at his next hope that was Orochi. Orochi avoided his gaze.

[My new body sure doesn't listen properly to me.]

"You....."

Perhaps he had to call Liera back right now? Yu IlHan seriously pondered, but he still drove the Guardian fortress anyway. His destinations were the other worlds where survivors of the Front Line Alliance may live. Once he gathered them all, it would be the turn for other big clans.

"How many more people would come with us.....?"

[Well, I'm curious about how many more moths are there too.]

"Hey, watch your words."

[I only wanted to say that darling is as bright as the sun.]

"Hmph."

'Thanks to you, I could finally meet the one I love.'

Yu IlHan remembered Carina Malatesta's words. He wanted to believe that there were more that thought like her, and had the same intentions and will as her.

There were those that wanted to return, and those that wanted to protect them. If that was the case, shouldn't he at least give them the opportunity? He couldn't let himself play on the palms of others for so long.

"We still have a lot of places to go to, so let us hurry."

".....Yes, we should."

Yu IlHan looked down at the slowly flowing Earth as well as the ones that were moving on top of it, before activating his Warp skill.

At that moment, a new thought twitched in his mind, but he quickly buried it deep inside his head since it was too embarrassing. Only Helièna had sensed a change in his expression and let out an adorable smile.

After that, the group travelled to many other worlds. Worlds where everyone lived peacefully, worlds where everyone fought desperately in their own ways, worlds where the fighting had ended, worlds where they found a way to communicate with the monsters, apocalyptic worlds, dying worlds, dead worlds.

Yu IlHan's Record skill greedily found and sucked new records, and numerous people were saved by Yu IlHan as well. More 'moths' that wished to protect Earth joined, but the ones he encountered the most weren't them.

"Please take us in!"

"We plead you!"

"Oh, Lord God, please be with us!"

They were the ones that were struggling to survive in a world where mankind had lost hope. The moment they found a new hope known as Yu IlHan, they tried not to let him go.

"Ooooooh, Supreme being! We shall follow you!"

"You damned SIMPLETONSSSSSSSSSSSSSS!"

If it was once or twice, he could cope with it, but when the same thing happened for the seventh time, he ended up exploding.

"How many times do I have to tell you that Earth has it WORSE! Huh? Even if you come to Earth like that, you'll die with the slightest tickle!"

"But we cannot endure in this world with our power any longer! Even if that place is dangerous, it's better than this place where there is no hope!"

"Don't bullshit me. A false hope is much more cruel than despair!"

Even when Yu IlHan over-exaggerated the situation on Earth, the ones that lost their worlds did not back down, and Yu IlHan had no choice but to take them back to Earth.

"God dammit. Why are there so many doomed worlds!"

"Well, that's because there are countless worlds, and the people of Earth were scattered across those countless worlds."

"I feel like I'm collecting dragon balls..... ugh."

Amongst the doomed worlds, there were surprisingly worlds where elves took the role of mankind. Majority of elves died to the monsters that became stronger after several Great Cataclysms, and only the extreme minority survived. And somehow – they might have realized that Yu IlHan had the status of an emperor in Dareu – stuck to him and did not get off.

“You will lead us well if it’s you that receives the love of countless elves!”

“Damn! You damned things!”

“Your Majesty!”

“Why the hell am I your ‘Your Majesty’!”

Like that, Earth was prospering, in a way that Yu IlHan didn’t intend for it to. Yu IlHan’s sighs increased as the days went by as well.

“How many days was it again until I can use the barrier?”

“Hm, around 5 days?”

“I think there will be at least two more doomed worlds…….”

Yu IlHan creased his expression and activated his Warp skill. But when he arrived at the destination, he tilted his head.

“There are no angels in this world either.”

“There aren’t?”

“Yeah, but the one before didn’t have any angels in it, right?”

[There was none before that either, even though it was a world filled with vitality.]

[There was none before that one either. Of course, it was a world that prospered without master needing to do anything, though.]

Yu IlHan absent mindedly thought that some internal conflict was happening within the Heaven’s Army.

The War of the Wall of Chaos was not too long ago, but it looked like these higher existences were up to something again. How the hell did they manage to endure until now with the pace at an incident erupts? A curious thing…….

“Well, I won’t care about it.”

[You’ll have to face it one day, but for now, do as you wish, darling.]

“Well then. Let us look for people to take back.”

[Master.....]

Time passed. Yu IlHan and his companions had another ten or so training sessions within the barrier of the Hourglass of Eternity. Despite that, Yu IlHan could not reach the realm of higher existences. He still lacked the decisive element.

Yu IlHan finally reached the conclusion that he had to gather records of more higher existences.

Chapter 283: I Will Prepare – 1

[That's insane.]

Mystic became serious.

[Is there really a need for master to proactively get involved with them?]

“I wanted to avoid getting involved with them for as long as possible, it would have been the best if I never needed to.”

Once Earth became a higher world, the seal on it would be lifted. However, Yu IlHan had the subclass Dimensional Traveler, once he activated his Dimensional ruler skill, he could prevent other higher existences from entering Earth. Yu IlHan was only preparing for cases where the Dimensional ruler skill could not impede the invasion.

And so, he thought that he wouldn't be caught up in the conflict for the foreseeable future.....

“But if I want to stop the really scary guys, I think I have to become stronger, much stronger.”

[Just how strong are you going to become? You're already comparable to the majority of 7th class beings!]

“It's because that is not enough.”

In the end, the Cradle of Miracles only stimulated the energy inside him, and did not allow him to reach greater realms. No, it probably was, but the speed was so slow that it would take him more than just a millennium or two to become a higher existence like that.

“I need more samples.”

[So, what are you going to do specifically, darling?]

“I'll participate in whatever the higher existences are doing.”

It had been approximately ten months since he did not meet with the angels belonging to the Heaven's Army. Yu IlHan and the others were going around various worlds to gather the people of Earth, and take in the mankind of doomed worlds other than when they were training inside the barrier. From some time ago, neither Yu IlHan's group nor Kang MiRae's could feel the presences of the angels no matter which world they went to, not to mention other higher existences.

However, Helièna suddenly said something completely unexpected.

[That's likely to be darling's fault.]

"My fault? Why?"

[Didn't the information about the main headquarters of the Army of Brilliant Light leak thanks to you? Did you really think that they would stay passive?]

"But the headquarters of the Destruction Demon Army is also known to everyone, isn't it?"

[Of course, all the more reason for a mess. They should be having a blast by now.]

A smile of satisfaction appeared on Helièna's lips. Even while thinking about how Helièna's smile could be so evil, he was afraid of himself that got used to it.

"Then do we need to go to the HQ of the Army of Brilliant Light?"

[That's a no, darling.]

Helièna immediately replied.

[Visiting a world ruled by the leader himself is completely different from visiting a higher world. You can only go after you have, at the very least, become a higher existence. I like destruction and murder, but I would really prefer if darling didn't die. I'll die with you if that happens.]

".....Okay."

Yu IlHan treated the main headquarters of each faction lightly until now, but it looked like there was something that he didn't know about until now. It was alright within the Heaven's Army, though..... Hmm?

".....Now that I think about it, I never felt a being that transcended 7th class while I was in Heaven. Is that because I cannot sense God?"

[Well, perhaps God does not exist after all?]

“Helièna, don’t speak nonsense. God exists. ....Though, I cannot be sure about whether he really exists in Heaven.”

Liera’s reply to Helièna felt dejected for some reason. She herself had her suspicions as well. Yu IlHan reached the conclusion that probing any further was not a wise thing to do.

“If the main HQ is no good, we can settle for the branches.”

[That’s a good idea. Higher existence factions become stronger according to the number and size of the worlds they own. And so, they should be entering a phase where they nibble away at each other’s worlds prior to the big war. Meaning, there is likely to be a war of unprecedented and truly epic proportions in the near future.]

Helièna’s voice was getting agitated as she replied. Yu IlHan was slightly afraid of her now since she looked like she preferred that outcome above all else, and asked carefully.

“Then wouldn’t they weaken each other out if we just wait? They’ll quit their focus on Earth too.”

[What are you saying, darling? This is all a war for Earth, you know? Their final objective is Earth.]

Yu IlHan was silent for a moment. He felt very perplexed. Until now, the back story about this world was always skipped without much attention, but it seemed like he couldn’t just pretend to not know about it anymore.

“Talk about it, Helièna.”

In the end, he asked.

“Just what is up with Earth so that makes all those damned bastards aim for it?”

[There was a prophecy.]

“That damned prophecy again.”

[So what happened was.....]

Just as Helièna was about to speak, she looked around. A month and a half remained until the barrier of the Hourglass of Eternity dispersed for the eleventh time. Everyone else was focused on training or hunting monsters while those that gathered around Yu IlHan were Helièna, Kim YeSeul, Kang MiRae, Na YuNa, and Liera.

[I want to talk with darling alone, so can everyone else leave?]

“What are you going to do? I’m never letting you do anything suspicious.”

Liera desperately rejected that, but Yu IlHan shook his hand.

“I’m only going to listen to her story so don’t worry.”

“That sounds interesting. Is it a story that I can’t hear?”

[No, it’s meaningless for anyone other than darling to hear it. It’s best for only darling, who’s the ruler of the Earth, to hear it.]

“Then I guess I can’t help it. Girls, let us give them room for now.”

Kim YeSeul slowly nodded her head and made the others back off. The girls, lead by Liera, protested a lot, but they couldn’t help but back off in front of Kim YeSeul’s soft yet subtly menacing hand gestures.

[Then.....]

Helièna checked the surroundings two or three times again, and even proceeded to make a simple barrier before finally turning around to Yu IlHan and speaking.

[The prophecy came from the Garden of Sunset. Have you heard the rumor that the leader of the Garden of Sunset possesses prophetic powers, darling?]

“I guess I did.”

Yu IlHan nodded after glancing towards Liera who was looking at him beyond the barrier. He had heard from her, during the war for Dareu.

[Yup, his power should be real. It was also him that said that I will eventually stand next to the Fifth God as well.....]

Helièna’s blushing cheeks and meek demeanor was very adorable. She was embarrassed of her emotions even while saying that.

Just this made her look pure and naïve, but ‘pure’ and ‘naïve’ were words that were the polar opposite of Helièna, and Yu IlHan ended up thinking that all girls were horrible liars.

[That’s why everyone is wary of the movements of the Garden of Sunset. But from some time onwards, the leader started focusing his attention on Earth, which hadn’t even experienced a Great Cataclysm yet.]

“How did you know that?”

[It was me who found that out. The leader of the Garden of Sunset is a man, and I could seduce any kind of man at that time! I also heard about the prophecy of the Fifth God from him then. Oh, I did have to run away right after hearing that.]

Yu IlHan’s head ached. One of the reason Earth was caught up in a series of massive incidents was because of her? No, if she didn’t know that, Earth may as well be playing on the top of the Garden of Sunset’s palms, so did he need to thank her?

[Darling..... are you mad? I’m sorry, but that was before I got to know you, darling.....]

So this was why she made everyone back off? Perhaps she didn’t want to tell them that she was involved in making Earth what it is now. No, perhaps she didn’t want to show the others her own figure apologizing to Yu IlHan.

Dammit, Yu IlHan sighed and nodded his head.

[Then..... The prophecy goes like this – The world ‘Earth’ will eventually surpass the world known as ‘Heaven’.]

Helièna shut her mouth. Yu IlHan tilted his head and asked.

“That’s it?”

[Yes, that’s it.]

“What the hell? They’re aiming for Earth for such a petty reason!?”

[That’s enough for them, darling. Do you know why the Heaven’s Army is so strong? It's because the record their worlds possess is enormous. That is why the power limitations of the Heaven's Army and the limitations on their number is superior to the other factions.]

"..... Sure."

The war for higher worlds happened because of that? Perhaps the reason the Destruction Demon Army, who only wanted destruction, aimed for the Heaven's main headquarters because of that as well.

It made sense. And that made him more frustrated. He finally accepted why he acquired the Record skill.

[Anyway, after I learnt that, I spread the information everywhere. .... Can you ask me why?]

"Why? For the Destruction Demon Army?"

[No, because only when all the factions got caught up with Earth would I have a chance to meet you darling.]

Yu IlHan became silent. Well, indeed. If the matters surrounding Earth didn't become so big, he would have never come into contact with Helièna.

"Huh?"

The moment he realized that, his forehead twitched.

The leader of the Garden of Sunset prophesized about the Fifth God, and Helièna had spread around the information to agitate all of the factions after finding out. Wasn't that too natural?

"Were you....."

[Yes. I was used by the leader of the Garden of Sunset. He used me as compensation for telling me the information that I will eventually come into contact with the Fifth God. Of course, it was much later when I realized that.]

That simultaneously implied one more thing. Rather than just aiming for Earth, the leader of the Garden of Sunset.....

"Intended for my growth? Before I was even born?"

[Yeah, that's the conclusion I arrived at. The Garden of Sunset, the leader at least, wanted to make you a God.]

“The reason I could become strong, although it was very annoying, was because I was dropped out on Earth. Then he even foresaw that I will be left alone?”

[Probably? .....Or perhaps, he may have intended for that.]

Yu IlHan was dumbstruck. What was the Heaven’s Army and the Garden of Sunset’s agenda to interfere with his growth and his life? They just decided to make him a God? And started fighting over Earth all on their own.....

It felt very unpleasant. He especially didn’t like the word ‘prophecy’. That was cheating. He could just say ‘I saw this coming’ or ‘I knew this would happen’ no matter what the outcome was!

Muttered Yu IlHan while gritting his teeth. Whatever they wished for, Yu IlHan would do his own thing. And if possible, in a way that they didn’t expect as well.

[Now, I spoke about almost everything I could, darling. ....What are you going to do?]

“What do you mean what am I going to do, I’ll just continue doing what I was about to do.”

Yu IlHan’s voice that replied to Helièna was freezing cold.

“We’re stealing higher worlds.”

[That’s not what darling originally was going to do though!?]

Shouted Helièna in shock. Yu IlHan ignored her and gathered everyone.

Pancosmic Loner(-ㄹ) was seriously pissed now.

Chapter 284: I Will Prepare – 2

There was a month and a half left until the barrier made by the Hourglass broke. Yu IlHan did everything within his power to prepare for war. With ‘Everything in his power’ referring to spending all of his piled up materials to create items – from personal equipment to disposable weapons and munitions used in war!

He upgraded all the equipment that his party members had, made backup weapons, and added additional equipment to the already terrifying Flying fortress and the Guardian fortress, long before he had time to check his own skills and stats.

[Yu IlHan(Human?)]

[Main Class – Hell Bringer Lv 299]

[Sub Class – N/A, Dragon Rider, Dimensional Traveler]

[Title – Pancosmic Loner, Untouchable, One hit for me; one hit for you, Creator of Myths, Not two hits, nor three hits but one hit, A thousand in one hit, Dragon slayer, Dragon’s ally, The Quickest, Hero of Fire, The Frog that leaped out of the well, Blessing of the god of smithing, blessing of the goddess of fire, Surpasser, Creator]

[Active skills – Falling Down(Deathgod, Soul enchant, Blaze, Death collector, Transcendent regeneration, Extreme poison resistance, higher curse resistance) Lv43, Mana crafting Lv Max, God Force(Superhuman strength, Critical hit) Lv79, Rule Lv Max, Dragonic blood Lv96, Warp(Leap) Lv58, Dimensional ruler Lv69]

adaptation Lv59, Fleet command Lv 66]

The first thing his eyes saw was the sub class – at first, Yu IlHan had the sub class ‘Angel’s Partner’, but as the contracts between all his previously partnered angels were cancelled, he lost the qualifications of the sub class. And it took another half a year for the class to completely disappear.

There was a time he thought that he would be able to acquire a new sub class once that one disappeared, but it seemed like not everything went his way. The Akashic Record had kept its silence on that matter.

This wasn’t something that happened often, so there was no one that could advise him about in either, and in the end, Yu IlHan could only leave the sub class blank for the time being. This wasn’t something that he could solve with his effort. He could only wait for another opportunity to arrive.

“But my skills really grew a lot.”

He had used the Hourglass of Eternity ten times before that, so the amount of time he spent inside it would amount to about 15 years. Breaking that up, he spent 30% of his time soaking in the Cradle of Miracles, and trained with the Great Cosmos-severing Spear in the majority of the remainder, so his Great Cosmos-severing Spear had reached level 85 now. The growth of his other skills weren’t that far behind either.

It wasn’t only that. In the process of awakening his dragon powers, his stats uniformly rose, and the more he got used to manipulating the power of fire, his magic stat increased as well, so now, he would be on par with 6th class beings based on pure stats alone.

Yu IlHan thought that he might not be able to call himself a human anymore after he checked his status. Though, this was nothing new. Even his face that reflected light with the shiny surface of the armor had no traces of his previous self.

At that moment, he became scared.

Is it really me that is in this place? Perhaps it was someone else that is not me? Am I just dozing off and dreaming inside a classroom in university and nobody has noticed me? Such absurd thoughts rose rapidly and made Yu IlHan's mind messy.

"Liera."

"Yes, IlHan."

His lover that watched over him ever since they first met, replied naturally as if she knew that he would speak to her. Liera's gentle and calm eyes pacified Yu IlHan's raging emotions. He lost his strength in his shoulders and asked in a truly stupid voice.

".....In your eyes, have I changed a lot?"

"Well, it would be a lie if I said that you didn't?"

Liera made a bitter smile. She saw through his intentions when he asked that.

Liera too had several occasions when she was like this. When she realized that she had reached the peak of a world, when she became an angel under the guidance of Heaven, when she fell in love, when she became a high angel, and when she returned to a lower existence and stood by Yu IlHan's side – all of these moments were times when she couldn't believe her own existence and doubted her experiences.

Yu IlHan licked his lips.

"Liera, I....."

"I know what you're worried about. But IlHan, you don't need to worry."

"Why?"

"Changing ..... is the biggest proof that you're alive. And in that you will discover, that only you can be you."

Those were words that Liera could say only after observing numerous people during the course of her lifetime and winning against herself to become a higher being. When Yu IlHan became silent, she added with a smile.

"And I loved the you before the change, I still love you after the change, and my feeling will remain the same for the you of the future. Isn't that enough?"

".....No, it is enough."

Yu IlHan thought that it was quite underhanded for her to suddenly speak like that, but it was also the truth as it resonated with the feelings in his heart.

She wasn't blessed by the god of love for nothing. Even while grumbling, he opened his arms and hugged her tightly.

"Thanks, Liera."

"It's me who's thankful. You'd be surprised to know how much appreciation I feel towards you."

They wanted to stay like that for quite a while, but sharp gazes started falling upon them, so they had to separate before long. The barrier would collapse at any second. This was not the time to be flirting.

"Liera-unni, so sneaky. I also want to know what Mr. IlHan was like before~."

"You wouldn't have realized IlHan's true worth."

"I kinda want to kill you now, Liera. Can't you at least take it somewhere else where I'm not there?"

"IlHan hugged me first, how could I refuse?"

"Eek, eeeeeek.....!"

Liera teased Na YuNa and the flustered Erta and boasted. There should be a problem with Yu IlHan who found such a side of her lovely as well. He made a small smile and clapped lightly to gather everyone's attention on him.

"We'll depart as soon as the barrier breaks. I've supplied everyone with their personal equipment, so I won't say anything much. ....Our objective is to screw everyone else other than ourselves. We'll grow in the process as well."

"That's one amazing objective....."

[Darling has to become the Fifth God. He has to have at least that amount of daringness. Yup, so cool.]

At that moment, the barrier broke. However, Yu IlHan didn't leave with them right away. The three clan masters he had invited to the barrier before as they could resist the effects of the magic on Earth, also had the abilities to fight against higher existences if they were equipped with Yu IlHan's equipment.

He first decided to ask them of their opinions. And then.....

“We’ll go with you of course. Thanks for calling us, mister unique.”

“I’ll follow as well.”

“If it is Lord Yu IlHan’s wish!”

Although it wasn’t like he didn’t expect this, quite a lot of the clan masters wished to go with him. They had stepped up even while knowing that their opponents were higher existences, so he couldn’t evaluate them as weak. Yu IlHan faced their stiff expressions and nodded his head as he spoke.

“Everyone get on board the Flying fortress. We’ll depart immediately.”

The next place he went to was none other than Dareu. Mirfa, who had waited for him all this time, met him with a blossoming smile on her face.

“Your Majesty!”

However, Yu IlHan coldly ordered her like a merciless street cleaner putting flower petals into the trash.

“Gather the strongest thousand of the 4th class elves and wolfkin and get them on the Guardian fortress. Mirfa, you come this time. Jirl, Mirey, and Paté will now go to the Guardian fortress and command the elves along with Mirfa. Ericia, you also command the wolfkin in the Guardian fortress.”

“.....Understood!”

“Yes!”

“Yes, master!”

Perhaps they had anticipated this, but the elves and wolfkin picked the thousand members in the blink of an eye, and lined up in the Guardian fortress with rapid movements. Yu IlHan felt slightly awkward even while supplying them with new equipment. Was it the mastered Rule skill that affected this?

“Then are we going to invade the higher worlds now?”

Liera asked with quite an excited expression. Yu IlHan firmly shook his head.

“We need to get our trump card before that.”

[Ah, that.]

Orochi, who had trained for 15 years with his new body and went beyond adaptation to developing his own body, shook his head as he muttered like a human. Only Orochi knew the identity of this 'trump card' here.

At that moment, Yu IlHan spoke with a groan.

"Good, I'm done."

"When!?"

Even though Yu IlHan was staying still? Everyone was shocked, but Yu IlHan made an excuse with an evil smirk.

"Oh, it's a little special of a weapon."

"It would be even worse if he's saying it's a little special! Uu, I'm glad that we're the ones invading....."

[Master, don't break me with it, okay?]

".....Just what the hell do you guys think I am?"

[.....Can I choose not to answer?]

With that, all preparations were done. Before Yu IlHan activated Warp with both the Flying fortress and the Guardian fortress, he checked once again with Helièna.

"What was the condition to steal a world again?"

[You need to drive out all other higher existences in that world and erase all of their traces.]

"That's not something anyone could do."

This was about taking over an entire world, so it would be bad if anyone could do it. However, Yu IlHan had the abilities of a Dimensional Traveler, and his abilities were truly suited for taking over worlds.

"The leaders of each faction should possess a similar or even better ability than the one I have. However, there is something that makes the situation more advantageous for me."

“That you’re cool?”

“That you’re handsome!?”

Yu IlHan was scared of himself for becoming used to such useless flattery, and replied.

“No, it’s that I do field work unlike those high and mighty heavy-asses.”

He knew exactly where his strengths lay! Of course, this meant that, in other worlds, Yu IlHan was just completely reckless, but he wouldn’t care about that for now!

“Let’s go. I like fairness, so I want to start from the Garden of Sunset and alternate between each faction.”

[Is the reason you’re starting with the Garden of Sunset because you don’t like them?]

“No, it’s because they look like the easiest.”

Until now, he hadn’t crossed the final line. In fact, he had recovered his relationship with the Heaven’s Army to an extent as well.

However, what he was about to do now was strictly attacking first, and with that, he would not be able to avoid conflict and battle with other factions.

Not only that, he had to point his spear at those that didn’t have any malicious or hostile intentions towards him, just because they were in the same faction. It would be a lie to say that he didn’t feel a sense of dread about that, but.....

“If you wish for me to dance on a stage that you guys created.”

Yu IlHan activated Warp. The number of higher existences Yu IlHan had experienced until now were literally ‘numerous’, and creating gates to the higher worlds they once resided in from the records they had, was an easy thing to do.

“I’ll gladly take on the role of a villain.”

The skill activated.

The figure of the Flying fortress and the Guardian fortress disappeared as if it was never there in the first place.

Chapter 285: I Will Prepare – 3

The higher world, Louisa, was one of the worlds ruled by the Garden of Sunset, and there were over 1,000 5th class higher existences residing on it at any given time. These guys acted so secretively that it was safe to say that no other factious would invade it, but they had to prepare for the what-if scenario.

Of course, if it actually happened, defending themselves successfully was a completely different story.

[I'm done calibrating the mirrors.]

"You need to take out at least half."

[Don't worry about it.]

"Good, fire!"

[Roger that!]

One thousand concealed mirrors spread out from the Flying fortress to cover the skies, before all of them spat out strong rays of energy. Since the Flying fortress had become Eternal-ranked, Thousand Eyes had also rose in league as well; and by now, just that volley of attacks took the lives of hundreds of higher existences residing in that world.

[You have earned experience.]

[You have.....]

Yu IlHan saw the pouring text of experience points and nonchalantly raised a hand in the air. The ones waiting in the two fortresses all prepared for battle.

Although they were all merely 4th classes, all of their equipment was at least of the epic rank. Equipment made by the mighty creator Yu IlHan were all treasures that would cause a stir with a single fragment should they appear in any of the other worlds.

"I'm going to back them up so that no one dies."

If he wasn't prepared for that much, he wouldn't have come here.

“From now on, the stage is ours.”

It was time to show them how scary a doll on the stage can possibly be.

“Everyone.”

His hand lowered. The two fortresses drove forward.

“Charge!”

“Lady Leytnaaaaaaaaaaa!”

With Na YuNa’s shout, the holy region in the two fortresses expanded and covered the skies. The members inside all received a boost in power, and ambushed the enemies with glistening eyes.

[What, how did they!?!]

[.....Lower existences?]

Communication was not necessary in war. Yu IlHan controlled the artifacts within the two fortresses along with Mystic to prevent the higher existences from casting magic, and restrained their movements. This was a war to weaken each of the factions, but at the same time, it also served to strengthen his allies. The less he acted, the better.

“We killed one!”

“I’m sorry..... but!”

[Kahk!?!]

It wasn’t that the enemies had lowered their guard. It was because the army under Yu IlHan was too overwhelming. Even though they were higher existences, and the world was their home territory, they were being pushed back in terms of pure militaristic might.

[How.....?]

While their allies died in vain, someone questioned.

[Why are you not restrained by the world!]

In a world ruled by the Garden of Sunset, the ones not belonging to their faction should normally be restrained in their abilities. This was even more so for lower existences.

[How did a path open to Louisa!? Did a ruler-class step it up!]

[Our powers are not working. Like this, are we really the ones ruling this world!?]

“You don’t expect me to answer, do you?”

However, the problem for them was that all lower existences here was a part of Yu IlHan’s fleet, and they shared the effects of the Dimensional Traveler. Just with that, they could completely ignore the penalty the world imposed on them.

[This doesn’t even make sense, this is.....Kahk!]

This world was vast and the gatekeepers were spread out. However, the two fortresses had the ability to cover such a distance in a blink of an eye.

The two fortresses with battle forces in them appeared and disappeared from various places over the world with Yu IlHan’s Warp ability, and by then, the 5th class beings had given up on tracing them.

[We cannot confront them with our power.]

[Reinforcements? When are they coming?]

[But right now, reinforcements are..... no.]

[Tch!]

The gatekeeper stopped his sentence midway. Immediately after that, Orochi’s claws shot across the air and burst his heart.

[If you’re going to talk, do it until the end. There are many annoying guys like master here.]

“I can hear you, Orochi. Move your arse if you have the time to complain.]

[At least you don’t deny it. Got it. I’ll rampage to my heart’s content.]

Orochi gripped and loosened his fist several times as if he felt that practical battle wasn’t so bad, and launched himself at an enemy with a faint smile on his face.

Although the league of Orochi's soul was low, now that he was moving under the effects of Na YuNa's blessing, he would be almost impossible to injure if he managed to bring out just 30% of Echjar's bodily ability.

[Reinforcements? They can't come here that early.]

Helièna, who scanned the battlefield while leaning against Yu IlHan, giggled and muttered.

[By now, they should be busy having a battle in another world, right?]

"Hey, you go protect the others too."

[It was you who put me by your side saying the others won't be able to grow properly if I stepped out.]

"I said you don't have to act, and I never asked you to stay by my side."

Yu IlHan coldly replied and shook his hand. A few mirrors shot out according to his gesture, and absorbed the magic that the gatekeepers casted to protect the allies. The enemies abruptly widened their eyes at the sight of that, and ended up losing their lives to the Dragon's army children.

"Hero, we're becoming stronger!"

[Kroaaaaaar! You can become even more stronger!]

Similar to Yumir, the children worshipped power. They were in sync with each other, and had the most achievements in this battlefield. Of course, Yumir, the one leading them, was doing the majority of the work, though.

[W, we need to run.]

[But if we abandon and leave Louisa.....]

[Even so, we need to survive to, Kuhak!]

[Critical Hit!]

"I apologize."

"Attack! Now!"

Kim YeSeul's time magic slowed them down, and Erta, Kang MiRae, and Carina Malatesta attacked with magic to kill him. Executing runaways was their job. The distribution of roles within their group was perfect!

[The enemy's boss is in that castle.]

[Castle..... Is that really a castle?]

[Answer me. For what are you committing this criminal act! Do you not fear he who is omnipresent!]

[It's not too late! Identify yourselves and submit to the Garden of Sunset!]

At first, they tried to take care of it by themselves, then they realized that that wouldn't do and tried to call for reinforcements, but didn't work and tried to run, and now that even escaping failed, they begged and threatened them with their superiors. Higher existences who lived for thousands of years didn't act that much different from any human.

"That isn't even funny."

When Yu IlHan stretched his fingers out with a giggle. The Thousand Eyes that scattered throughout various places of Louisa were all summoned to one place and formed a gigantic mirror. The survivors realized what he was going to do and were all frozen stiff.

"Do you think there's a human that gave up on life just because they're afraid of someone that they don't even know when it would arrive?"

[Darling, so cool. So selfish and evil!]

Humans always struggle: to survive, to live, and to carry one living. The current Yu IlHan was the result of that. Of course, he did not plan to justify himself as being fair. He did not plan to blame the enemies for being bad.

Only, the victor survives.

[I will!]

"And fire!"

When Yu IlHan muttered playfully like that, the gigantic mirror shot out a super high-density energy beam.

[Kugh!?]

Just from when was it there? There was a huge gate that opened in the middle of the atmosphere in Louisa. Beyond it were the figures of the reinforcements from the Garden of Sunset that came to the rescue, albeit a little late. The energy beam was directed at them without a single inch of deviation!

[How.....!]

[Kugh!?]

What was there to hide. Yu IlHan had read the movements of the entrants that entered the world through his power as a Dimensional Traveler, and shot them down the exact moment they entered!

[Critical Hit!]

The reinforcements numbered thousands. This was because they knew how much impact stealing a higher world could have. Of course, there were quite a few 6th class gatekeepers among them as well, but there was no way of knowing how many were stationed here since they all died.

[You have.....]

[The skill, Record, has become level 84.]

Yu IlHan shook his head to erase all of the text that busily appeared on his eyes. Then, he could see the gatekeepers that were despairing.

[How, can this.....]

[This is a nightmare..... they are deceiving us! Higher existences, it's the Heaven's Army!]

They became powerless in front of the scene where all reinforcements died the moment they arrived. This was a scene that could only be seen in the main headquarters of each faction. It also seemed like it was a little too strong, and even some of his allies were out of it for a moment. Even Helièna had to ask Yu IlHan for confirmation with a dumbfounded face.

[You can't attack like that all the time, right, darling?]

"Of course not. Not to mention the mana in the world, I had to suck up the mana from the dead higher existences to do that.”

[Stealing the power of the world and even destroying the members with it. That’s the perfect invasion tactic…….]

The ones making up the Garden of Sunset had more various records compared to other factions, so it helped out a lot in the growth of his Record skill.

Yu IlHan judged that he had acquired everything he could from this world and shook his hand. The gigantic mirror split into a thousand (and four) mirrors, scattering across the world, and the gatekeepers ended up reacting a little too late because they were focused on that.

“What are you doing? Attack now.”

“Y, yes!”

Yu IlHan ordered coldly. His allies came to themselves and attacked. It didn’t take that long for the enemies to be wiped out.

[You have killed all the members in a higher world belonging to the Garden of Sunset. The skill, Dimensional ruler, has become level 64. You have acquired the ruling rights to this world.]

[You are lacking several conditions to perfectly rule a world. Only when you fulfill all the criteria can you perfectly acquire the world. Be warned as until then, the world may easily be stolen back.]

Some text that was within Yu IlHan’s expectations filled his retina. He read that carefully and nodded. So Dimensional Traveler was one of the keys to becoming a higher existence after all.

Now that he had come this far, there was no more need to hesitate. He would only fulfill the all the remaining conditions.

“Wouldn’t reinforcements come again?”

“It doesn’t matter if they do. I’ll need to clean it up later anyway. Well, then. Everyone get into battle formation. You’ve all levelled up and don’t need any rest, right?”

“Truly a devil.”

Going against higher existences was a gamble that required one to put their life on the line. If they failed, they would die, but if they succeed, they would grow for sure.

In truth, all the members making up the fleet had experienced huge level ups thanks to fighting against higher existences so they couldn't retort that much. There were some that didn't get an increase in level, but that meant that that one didn't do much in this battle and could not retort either.

“Then we'll depart right away. Next is the Destruction Demon Army.”

[Is it because you still hate me, darling?]

“No, it's because they're the easiest after the Garden of Sunset.”

Yu IlHan's attitude was as ever. Helièna ended up bursting out into laughter at his nonchalant attitude. He snorted and activated Warp.

The war had just begun.

Chapter 286: I Will Prepare – 4

[Don't speak nonsense.]

The 10th Battalion Commander of the Destruction Demon Army, Ice Giantess Melohinne snorted at the report her subordinate gave her.

[Tebeta was stolen? Tebeta was a world that had never been exposed before, what method could be used for someone to go there? Did some leader act himself? Then our Lord must have acted as well!]

[It is not that.]

The subordinate spoke with a trembling voice.

[Yu IlHan of Earth – He has started to act.]

[.....Did he actually become the Fifth or something?]

Melohinne's voice that replied to her subordinate was slightly trembling as well. The birth of the Fifth God. If this was true, even she couldn't take this lightly.

[I do not know about that, but the ones protecting Tebeta were instantly slaughtered and the world was stolen. When the reinforcements arrived, they had already left and they could take it back with ease, but as you felt before, the power of the faction had been consumed!]

[Tch.]

It shouldn't be just her that was shocked as she felt an entire world being ripped away from them. Because of the temporary loss of the powers as a faction as a whole, they were even driven back by the enemies for a short duration. Although the world was regained now, but the stolen powers would not return so soon.....

[The ones who can enter unexposed worlds are the leaders of each faction at best! That's the biggest proof that he's become a God! Dammit, I'm embarrassed to think that I tried to bring him to our faction!]

Shouted Melohinne as she raised her head. What she saw was a group of monsters that composed the Destruction Demon Army filling the air and the group of fallen angels that fought against them.

Yes, the Destruction Demon Army was currently at war with the fallen angels in their world. Of course, this world was one they already had information on before. Unless the leader of the Destruction Demon Army stepped up himself, there was no way they could invade worlds where the fallen angels had meticulously hidden themselves in.

[Perhaps our lord may act quicker than we expect to..... Yu IlHan, I will definitely kill you!]

She clicked her tongue and kicked off the ground. At that moment, the magic around her momentarily froze, and threw her into the air. Wherever she went, all the mana in her vicinity was frozen.

[Disgusting crows! I'll color you all in white!]

A giantess's roar made the world cry. The one that responded to her was the Sentry of this world, 7th Wing of Brilliant Light, Felaère.

[Pitiful monster, o, reckless invader. This Felaère will bestow judgement upon you.]

[Hah, just try!]

A giantess and a fallen angel clashed in midair. The fist of the giantess that seemed to freeze the world itself was softly received by three pairs of black wings. Felaère's mana gathered on the tip of the wings, compressed to the limit, and was shot out!

[Petty tricks!]

However, the giantess just received the spear like strike head on and charged onwards. What she prided in the most was her sturdy body! Even if it broke in mid battle, she could regenerate it indefinitely. The strength of the Destruction demon army came from their reckless attitudes and intense life force!

[Try blocking this with those proud crow feathers!]

[As you wish, you damned chunk of i.....ce?]

Felaère momentarily stopped just as when he tried to cast a grand magic to counter against Melohinne's attack. The moment he tried to array the magic, the mana that comprised his body had suddenly disappeared and the magic was interrupted.

Of course, Melohinne wasn't so foolish to miss that opportunity. The fist that contained all her frost powers struck out towards Felaère without hesitation, freezing and breaking off half of Felaère's wings just like that!

[Kihi, you might be better off learning magic from scratch!]

[Kuuuuugh, how can this be! How? How did my mana...]

Felaère, who had lost half of his wings due to a critical mistake, stumbled backwards. Of course, Melohinne knew why he was weakened. It just happened to her own side just now!

[Looks like that kid is trying to make all the factions his enemy. Keke, so fun. He's such an interesting guy!]

[Kid..... don't tell me it's?]

Felaère finally realized what was up and tried to retreat, but Melohinne didn't let him do so. She would besmirch the name of the Destruction Demon Army if she lost this opportunity to kill a big shot from an enemy faction!

[This war will become so interesting thanks to him! Looks like I'll need to reply in kind!]

[No way, that lower existence really!? No, the fifth faction really appeared.....? But the lord has!]

[Don't say stupid things, Felaère! If you don't focus on me in front of you right now, then your neck will snap the next moment!]

Roared Melohinne. Felaère bit his lips and emitted mana again to confront her. However, countless questions were floating inside his head right now.

'Why did the Lord order us to just observe such a violent guy? We need to rip him apart this immediate moment!'

It was about the order from the Supreme being of the faction that applied to all Battalion Commanders in the Army of Brilliant Light.

Well, it was no wonder that he took interest in a new transcender. However, there should be a problem with leaving him alone while he was wrecking havoc on their worlds!

‘But the most annoying fact is that.....’

Felaère gritted his teeth as he dodged Melohinne’s cold fists. That guy, Yu IlHan, just.....

[Where the hell is he!]

[He disappeared already!? And he’s still a lower existence!?]

[Ee, eeeek. The one who’s under the protection of the Heaven’s Army dared to do this!]

[My god, this world has become a complete mess!]

The members of all four factions that were fighting finally realized what Yu IlHan was doing after he stole a single higher world from all of them.

He knew very well what the higher existences were up to, and was recklessly using this complex situation to.....

[He’s lowering the forces of each faction at the same time!? A mere lower existence did! That’s no longer in the realm of humansssss!]

In the second world belonging to the Heaven’s Army, the group met a strong opponent. Yu IlHan shrugged his shoulders while facing the roaring 7th class Archangel, Ramiel.

“Did anyone make rules that lower existences can’t go against higher ones? Give them to me, let’s play by the rules then.”

[.....]

“Usually the one that bring up rules is the bad guy.....”

“Well, Yu IlHan’s a bad guy, isn’t he?”

[You girls!]

Ramiel, who became speechless at Yu IlHan’s reply found Liera and Erta whispering to each other and shouted. The sparks around him showed his rage without hiding it.

[Why are you girls standing on that side! How can you, who have worked for the Heaven's Army for countless years, point your weapons at us angels!]

"I also think it's unfortunate. And I would prefer not to do it either."

Replied Liera honestly. However, her following words were very firm.

"But if I want to be by IlHan's side, I knew that I would have to fight the angels someday."

[How!]

"It's natural since Heaven's Army will....."

"Will not allow the existence of the 'Fifth'."

Erta was the one who finished it off. She was same in the regard that she had a bitter smile.

[Fifth? Fifth.....?]

Ramiel snorted after hearing those world.

[I know that he is capable. But the Fifth? Did you think that the realm of transcendence is so easy? Okay then. Is that why you girls are sucking up to him because you believe he can become that?]

[From what I see, he's already in reach of it. Ramiel, you're as arrogant as ever.]

[Yes! We do not acknowledge any God other than the sole Lord! That is the path of heresy, and it's a path not allowed to any being!]

Roared Ramiel in rage. The mana that filled this higher world was sucked into him and turned into lighting. That scene was very fear-striking and terrifying.

[Oh my, that looks dangerous. It looks like he'll draw in all the powers of this world. That musclehead.]

Helièna felt that it was her turn and stepped forward but Yu IlHan grabbed her shoulder and made her stop. When she looked back with confused eyes, Yu IlHan spoke with a smile.

"Do you think I came here while not knowing he was here?"

[Darling, did you?]

Noticing what he was thinking, Helièna made a dumbfounded expression. Yu IlHan nodded his head, gesturing that there was no need for her to speak anymore.

“Yes. I’m going to fight against a 7th class archangel.”

[Darling.....]

No matter how much the Destruction Demon Army loved destruction and suffering, they would not do what Yu IlHan was about to do now, and he, was doing it so nonchalantly. He was going against a 7th class being frontally while being a lower existence!

“I am lacking records of the Heaven’s Army. Well, I avoided clashing with them now in consideration of Erta and Liera, so that’s no wonder..... but I do not want to delay it any longer.”

Fight because he needed records? He came here looking for a 7th class being for just that?

Helièna giggled after realizing that Yu IlHan was being honest. She was at her happiest moment right now. The man she grabbed was the best alright!

[Darling..... you might be better off joining the Destruction Demon Army too. Fufu, so cool. I’m falling for you all over again.]

“Don’t you dare hit on my lover again!”

Liera rampaged around in rage but Helièna only snorted. Yu IlHan stepped forward, while looking back at his companions that were laid back even though he was going to fight against a 7th class being.

But it wasn’t him alone that went to fight.

“Mir. I think I’ll need your help.”

[I was waiting for that, dad!]

[Do you think a human could overstep the realm of supremacy just because he’s with a dragon!]

“Well, we’ll see about that!”

Yu IlHan replied with a sharp voice, and hopped onto Yumir, who had changed into dragon form. Yumir, sharing consciousness with him, charged forward fearlessly and faced Ramiel that was emitting thunder and lightning from his entire body.

[Fuu…….”

With the strongest enemy they’ve faced yet in front of them, the two synced their breaths. This was the moment when the two synchronized the deepest yet. The Soul of Fire that covered Yu IlHan’s skin, and the Body of the Human Dragon that covered that – the two that formed Flamesoul Dragon Body breathed with Yu IlHan and raised his league rapidly.

“Well, let’s fight.”

The dragon of fire that awakened deep within Yu IlHan’s body and soul roared against the enemy.

[You……?]

Ramiel’s expression changed after he felt a fragment of Yu IlHan’s power. The Ramiel that always looked down on him in arrogance had stiffened up thinking ‘what if’.

[How can you hide so much power within that body? How can a lower existence……?]

“Well, you can find out from now on.”

Yu IlHan smirked and picked up his spear. It was a spear made purely of flames. Seeing the mouth of the dragon at the end, Ramiel widened his eyes. Perhaps, perhaps he has already…….

[I cannot accept this!]

“Fight me, Archangel!”

The battle between two monsters commenced.

Chapter 287: I Will Prepare – 5

Having gathered most of the mana that filled the world, Ramiel turned it into a streak of lightning and threw it.

Not only was it extremely fast, making it difficult for Yu IlHan to dodge, in the case he did, it would devastate his companions in the Flying fortress as well. This was an attack that forced Yu IlHan to decide, and the judgement was really lightning quick. He made Yumir rise upwards to just dodge it!

[Foolish, with this your companions are.....what!?]

Immediately after that, a protective barrier appeared on top of the Flying fortress to block the lightning. The defensive power of the barrier, covered by Kelatuke's metallic armor, was not so weak to be broken by an ordinary attack from the 7th class. In fact, it even absorbed the mana inside it and recovered its durability as well.

[Just what is.....]

Seeing a human-made barrier blocking his lightning, Ramiel was dumbfounded for a moment. It didn't take that long for him to realize that Yu IlHan and Yumir's presences had disappeared.

[What.....?]

He lost track of a lower existence right in front of his eyes! It wasn't that they were in concealment from the beginning, rather, he had just lost the presence of an enemy that he was so enraged at?

Ramiel couldn't accept this situation, but he wasn't a 7th class Archangel for nothing, and the moment he realized that he might be attacked by his enemies, he imbued lightning into his wings to completely protect his body. His movements were rapid, just as expected of a 7th class Archangel.

Immediately after that, Yu IlHan's attack assaulted him.

[Critical Hit!]

An attack containing an overwhelming amount of mana landed on his wings.

However, as if having waited for that moment, Ramiel shot out lightning to wrap it while unfolding his three pairs of wings.

[This is the punishment for your arrogance!]

The physical force and mana in the trajectory, as well as the sharpness was returned in its entirety. Actually, it even contained high-density lightning from Ramiel as well.

Receiving the enemy's attacks perfectly, and returning it with one's own power on top of it. This was none other than the highest-tier battle skill that only the extreme minority with meticulous technique could use, Counter!

[Die, mortal! Fall! Fall while filled with your swollen desire!]

If Yu IlHan was hit by that, even he would not be able to escape a fatal strike no matter how high his defense was. The strike containing lightning had that great of a power.

However, the perfectly timed counter did not bring about any response. Did he die with just a single strike? Ramiel raised his head on confusion, and

[Critical Hit!]

[Critical.....]

At that moment, greyish white blood scattered as his left arm and wings were chopped off. The next moment, the cut off body disappeared into thin air, and prevented Ramiel from attaching it back.

[Wh, this.....!?!]

Rather than the pain of losing 30% of his body, he was more panicked about the fact that the Counter skill had failed, even though it had never failed until now. He hurriedly emitted mana to balance his body and looked for Yu IlHan's figure.

"Hi."

[You!?!]

He was right in front of Ramiel .

[The skill, Spear of Untraceable Trajectory, has become level 99.]

[You have fulfilled one additional criterion of the acquisition conditions of the active skill, Counter. The skill, Counter, can be acquired after you fulfill one more condition.]

The text that appeared on Yu IlHan's retina implied two things. That there wasn't long left until he mastered an advanced skill, and that it wasn't long until he acquired the horrifyingly strong skill, Counter, that the Archangel used just now.

Honestly, Yu IlHan thought that he had become as strong as he could until now, but it seemed like he still had his ways to go. He reflected back on his arrogance.

"So that's counter? Thanks for showing me. I won't be able to show it to you right away, but I'll try my best to learn it in the future!"

As he replied with a smile, Yu IlHan's hands were gripping onto a flaming spear that was roaring with its mouth open. Since the attack was so sudden, and he did not have any opportunity to activate Counter, Ramiel was hit on the neck by the spear.

[Critical Hit!]

[The skill, Great Cosmos-severing Spear, has become level 89.]

[Kuhaak!]

Greyish white blood scattered in the air once again. Yu IlHan's two eyes glistened, and Ramiel held onto his head as he unfolded the remaining half of his wings to cover his front. The lightning flashing in blue looked threatening, but was much less intimidating than before.

[How did you do that! Were you a magic warrior!?]

"Is there a need to classify fields? It's because your thought process is from the 90s that you are whining like a puny villain from the 90s!"

"IlHan made Ramiel the villain!"

“But since he said it, he actually looks like he’s whining!”

[You girlllllls!]

Yu IlHan’s first attack naturally was from the Spear of Untraceable Trajectory. The shocking aspect about this spear technique was that he could produce a trajectory that was logically and physically impossible from where he was standing.

However, that skill had ended up growing in a shocking direction as he had experienced magic that distorted space and time continuously, and got used to such a flow and pattern.

The specialty of this technique was that he could strike out simultaneously into several different directions, and this time, he had realized the strike he had shot from a different direction first, and only after the Counter skill by Ramiel activated did he realize and redirected the ten other strikes to deal critical hits.

This was a technique that could only be done when he read the movements of the enemy, but it was also a skill that transcended the boundaries of space and time. It was no wonder his enemy considered this magic. It had the principles of magic contained in it after all!

[You, don’t tell me you have the power to manipulate time!]

“Fufu, I wonder about that.”

Of course, he was just barely able to mix his slight enlightenments he got from experience the time deceleration magic on Earth with his spear, but nothing bad would come out of his enemy shrinking back in fear about that so he just showed his laid-back attitude. If there was a boasting competition, perhaps he’d take first place in the universe, maybe? Of course, that was under the condition that they were able to find him.

[Dad is amazing!]

“Mir’s movements have become agile as well. I think you can fly faster.”

[I became able to fly a lot faster since I trained to move faster on Earth!]

Although this was unintentional, the time deceleration magic had given a lot of help in making Yu IlHan and the others stronger. Enduring the time deceleration magic and training within the effects, allowed not only Yu IlHan but Yumir to bring out more his powers, and the father and son could fight against a 7th class Archangel without being driven back!

[Fast? Yes, you are fast. Why don't you keep moving fast like that!]

Ramiel desperately changed all his mana into lightning the moment he felt a sense of crisis that he may actually lose against a lower existence. No matter how weakened he was, the lightning he shot out had enough power to break through the armor with a direct hit.

[Why don't you dodge this! And this too! This is the punishment from the envoy of God!]

"Mir, can you do it?"

[Yeah, I can do it.]

Yu IlHan faced the lightning pouring from the sides and called Yumir with a calm voice. Yumir also replied to him with a similar tone of voice.

The two were right now in deep sync with each other, and shared not only their consciousness, but their mana as well while they were sharpening their senses. And naturally, Yumir's movements dodging the lightning became agile.

[How!? You two..... how!]

Even though the two were connected as a dragon and his rider, this was supposed to be impossible. It was only possible because Yu IlHan had noticed and raised his dragon powers in the Cradle of Miracles.

To add, it was also because they heightened their senses beyond their limits since this was the first time they fought against such a strong enemy.

"Fuu, so refreshing."

[Yeah, it's really refreshing.]

The energy of dragons and fire in his heart started thumping the moment he entered battle, and was now completely connected to Yumir.

This was true resonance. The resonance he could only feel in the Cradle of Miracles until now. Such a resonance was currently happening between Yu IlHan and Yumir with the Flamesoul Dragon Body as the medium.

The resonance increased steadily, fusing and amplifying the two's energy. Even the mana in this higher world, which were supposed to obey Ramiel, could not win against the overwhelmingly powerful suction force and was drawn in, becoming the energy of dragons and flames from its original form as the energy of Heaven. Naturally, Ramiel's lightning became weaker and weaker.

[You, damned.....!]

"Hm, so this was the right path."

[It's hot, dad. The hot energy..... is becoming bigger!]

Yumir's innate attribute inclined towards wind. On the other hand, the energy Yu IlHan was most skilled at manipulating was fire. Fortunately, the two had great affinity, and Yumir amplified and wrapped his body with the flames that Yu IlHan had made and created a stronger power. On the outside, the two looked like one giant fireball.

"I think we can do it."

[Yeah, I think we can do it.]

Now, there was no need for Yu IlHan to transmit his thoughts to Yumir. The two shared their thoughts. The process of transmitting their intentions were skipped, and Yumir moved according to how Yu IlHan wished to. His movements became faster.

What Yu IlHan was trying to do now, was none other than the skill, Counter, that Ramiel just showed him.

[Do not take lightly, the power and authority of..... Heaven!]

And the time finally arrived.

Ramiel had reached his limits as he watched the father and son dodging the lightning nimbly, and emitted more mana than he could control by raising his hand.

The lightning from his hand rose to the skies, and the next moment, the entire sky colored in blue. He had colored the entire world with his power in order to prevent the power of the world being stolen by Yu IlHan.

[Open your eyes and watch, this is the will of Heaven!]

“Heaven? Are you sure?”

Yu IlHan made a cold smile and asked back.

“I don’t think your blood is pure white. I think it’s a grey that tries to look white.”

[.....Are you looking down on me!]

His voice trembled. However, Yu IlHan already had the assurance. He had licked the angel’s blood and absorbed the records. Changing one’s own records in preparation to go over to the Army of Brilliant Light at any time. In other words, a traitor.

And he was definitely a ‘traitor’. Perhaps the one he was facing was a prominent figure of the traitor faction that acted against him and his angels.

“No way. There’s no way Ramiel is a traitor. He’s an honest Archangel that had served God from the past.”

Liera, who was preparing for battle within the fortress, shook her head in shock when she heard Yu IlHan. Erta also asked Yu IlHan with a cold voice.

“Yu IlHan, were you a person that tried to justify your actions?”

“No, it wasn’t like I tried to kill that guy because he was a traitor.”

“.....indeed, it wasn’t like that.”

Erta’s cold gaze headed to Ramiel this time.

“So you were really a traitor, Ramiel.”

[I, am not..... a traitor! I am the will of Heaven!]

A rain of lightning indiscriminately struck everything. A trembling in mana could be seen as if it reflected his state of mind. This was very suitable for what Yu IlHan was trying to do.

“Should we start, Mir?”

[Yeah, dad.]

The resonance between the two deepened. The dragon’s wings that were covered in fire amplified by wind, enlarged as if to swallow the entire skies.

The lightning that fell down on the world started being colored in red.

[This is.....]

As someone who possessing the Counter skill, Ramiel immediately realized what was happening.

The rain of lightning that contained immense mana were gathering to one place and were changing into a red flame.

In the center of that was one human and one dragon. To be exact, Yu IlHan was utilizing even Yumir's mana to redirect all that mana.

Overwhelming the opponent with the surge of mana, Changing the ruling structure of the mana by seeping into the gaps, changing the properties by scattering the mana array, and finally emitting an overwhelming amount of physical and magical force would allow him to resonate with all the mana in his surroundings and change their flow.

[You have acquired the active skill, Counter.]

[The skill, Dimensional Ruler, has become level 67.]

This was counter. The supreme skill that reversed cause and effect.

[Such a being..... cannot exist!]

“Well, I don't know about that.”

The moment Yu IlHan quietly muttered that, a red rain of fire poured towards Ramiel, who was once the controller of the rain.

[You dare..... with just this much!]

He clenched his teeth and unfolded the remaining half of his wings. This was because using Counter against an attack that was already Countered was a realm still far beyond his reach. This could be said to be his critical mistake for using such a grand magic.

[Critical Hit!]

A shield of bluish-white lightning that came from the three wings clashed against the rain of flames and resulted in a massive boom. It felt like the entire world was shaking due to the clash of enormous quantities of mana.

“No way. When did IlHan get so strong.....?”

“His mana rose in general, but I feel like the resonance with Mir drew out the true power of dragons and both of them became stronger. But even so.....”

[Amazing. I’m amazed that such an insane mana control can bring about such a change. Is the mana darling senses different to the mana I’m looking at.....?]

Even the ones watching could not move due to shock. Just from the blast the barrier surrounding the two fortresses cracked. Mystic poured mana into the barrier to reinforce it and screamed.

[Master, you madmaaaaaaaaaaan!]

However, Yu IlHan’s Counter hadn’t even begun yet. Counter referred to a technique that ruled the entirety of power that the opponent had used. This meant only one thing in this situation.

[The skies are.....!]

“My word...”

The skies were colored in red. Streaks of blue lightning changed into red flames, and the ruling rights of this world was temporarily forcibly transferred to Yu IlHan from Heaven. The grand magic that utilized the power of the world was Countered in its entirety.

[The skill, Dimensional ruler, has become level 70. The time to adapt to a dimension decreases, and you can draw out and rule more of the mana in the world you have taken.]

[Kuuuuoooooooooooooooooh!]

“Kugh, huk, uuugh.”

Yumir roared loudly. Yu IlHan also groaned due to the violent flow of mana that assaulted him but still had his side open and raised the spear in his hand.

“Echjar, cooperate! Help me out Eternal Flame.”

[I comply with the Lord’s orders.]

Echjar, who had completely submitted to him both physically and mentally, as well as Eternal Flame that acted more friendly towards him than any other subordinate. The full support from the two souls had enhanced Yu IlHan and Yumir's mana control to the limits.

Yu IlHan applied God Force into his trembling arms and bit his lips. Although he didn't like spirituality that much, the only thing he had remaining now was his guts.

“Uooooooooooooh!”

In the end, all the flames started to gather towards the tip of his spear.

“Wao…….”

“So beautiful. It's the first time I see such a beautiful flow of mana…….”

“IlHan……!”

It was a spectacular scene where it seemed like the world itself bowed in respect for Yu IlHan. The blast of mana had all disappeared as well. Power submitted to him, and was all gathering towards one spot without a single particle remaining.

[Foolish, human……!]

“Hmph.”

Ramiel uttered vicious words that sounded like they were from the depths of hell. Although he was aware of the energy of fire that gathered towards Yu IlHan's spear, there was no way for him to dodge it or block it. In his current state, defending against the rain of fire was all he could do.

[Kugh, dammit……. fuck, I lost to a mere human! Dammit, I'll remember this!]

In the end, he clenched his teeth and unfolded his wings. He instantly shook off the rain of fire, and activated another kind of magic even while undertaking some hits. It was a magic that allowed him to leap through dimensions!

[It's your victory. I'll take your head next time!]

“No you don’t.”

The moment he was about to lose the 7th class angel just like that, Yu IlHan’s Dimensional ruler skill activated, preventing new forces from entering, but most importantly, it also prevented Ramiel from escaping.

Calling for reinforcements and aiming for another opportunity was only allowed to the protagonist! He couldn’t allow a mere extra like him any more screen time!

[You!? How can a mere mortal possess a fragment of the power to rule dimensions!]

Realizing that his escape attempt had failed before he begun, Ramiel shouted in panic. Yu IlHan’s lips curved into a corner.

“Hey, you put down your guard.”

[What!?]

If he only trusted in the Dimensional ruler skill, he wouldn’t have even started this. The moment he showed the biggest opening Yu IlHan literally called out hell unto this world with the flames. This was the biggest Falling Down he had used yet!]

[Kugh!]

Just where was there to run? The entire world was his enemy! Chains made of flames and souls came from his surroundings and restrained him. They restrained each of the feathers and even bound his sole arm and neck.

Him being 7th class didn’t matter at all right now. An odd-winged angel that wasn’t even backed up by a higher world no longer had the power to overwhelm Yu IlHan.

[A lower existence! A mere lower existence! I will kill you, I WILL KILL YOU!]

The color of his eyes changed to a deep crimson. They were full of viciousness that didn’t seem to originate from an angel.

The atmosphere changed. And the energy he emitted changed as well. The record skill sensed that and notified Yu IlHan.

[You, cannot, I..... I, the Lord has!]

“Who’s this ‘Lord’ you’re talking about?”

Asked Yu IlHan. He tempered the flames that gathered on his spear and created the sharpest blade, and told the angel as though he was a professor that knew the answer, asking his students a trivial question-

“Well, go ahead and answer.”

[Fu, Ahahahahahahahah! So laughable, yes, laughable! Yes, I’ll answer you!]

He also felt that and burst out laughing. The words that came out of his mouth next were words that Yu IlHan had anticipated already.

[The Great Traitor, the Final God! The one that will cover the Heavens and the one that rules Hell! Lord Satan!]

The moment he admitted that he followed the traitor, his white wings started to turn black. This was one of the rarest moments in history when an archangel corrupted himself on his own will.

[Kuaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaa!]

All the mana he possessed reversed and went berserk. The chains that bound him broke momentarily, and the place where his wings were ripped off emitted black foggy energy and started being regenerated. Black blood scattered in the air to create numerous magic formations, while the flames and souls that made up the Falling Down domain burned upon contact with them!

“He really was a traitor!?”

“Although I did believe in Yu IlHan, to think such a thing was really happening..... Just what is happening within Heaven’s Army?”

“Ah, isn’t it bad when you have to acquire the records of an angel but he fell to a fallen angel~!?”

While Liera and Erta were serious, Na YuNa worried about something slightly different! However, Yu IlHan shook his head and denied her words.

“In fact, it’s better. I could record the moment he changed to being a fallen angel, so now I can even inversely change the records of fallen angels into that of angels. You could say that it’s a Buy One Get One Free item for multiple products.”

“Wao!”

[Such a thing is possible!?!]

That was Yu IlHan’s simple analogy!

[I will kill youuuuuuuuuuuuu! With all my power as the 11th Wing of Brilliant Light!]

He gave up on receiving the support of the world and fell to being a fallen angel as compensation for recovering his body. The 11th Wing of Brilliant Light. His mana went berserk and pushed back the mana of Falling Down. The chains that tried to bind him were immediately colored in black and burst out. The reason he could use more powers than he could before was probably because he was under the awakening process. This would only be a temporary thing!

[He’s trying to kill you even if it costs his life! Eeek, at this rate.....]

“No, it’s over. That’s his final struggle.”

Everyone was trembling, but only Yu IlHan was quite calm. He poised with his completed flaming spear and aimed for the shoulder blades of the fallen angel that was slowly changing black.

[Kuaaaaaaaaa! Yu IlHaaaaaaaaaaaaaan!]

“Here.”

Yu IlHan threw his spear. With the master level Absolute Accuracy, the spear shot forward in a straight line and pierced its target without any delay. It was an effective strike that disallowed the black mana from interfering in time.

“I’ll kill you now.”

[Kahk!]

[Critical Hit!]

When the impaled Ramiel twisted his body, the black colored blood scattered in the air. And his very last remnants of mana were concentrated into them.

[I curse.....]

“Curse?”

[You to death!]

When the blood made a small circle, the black lightning that shot out from it flew straight towards Yu IlHan and struck him. A vicious curseful aura covered Yu IlHan. It even made him think that Ramiel allowed himself to fall on purpose, all for the sake of this attack.

[Ke, Khahahahahahaha! Come with me, to the infernal depths of hell! Kugh!]

And that was his last. His head drooped downwards with a bright smirk; he didn't have the slightest worry that Yu IlHan would not die from his curse.

[You have earned the records of Lv 548 Ramiel.]

Yu IlHan dusted off his armor. The black lightning that lingered on his armor after it struck his armor were all crumbled into bits by the flames after resisting against it in vain. He made a bitter smile.

“He was a truly good extra until the very end. He didn't throw any baits and left like a douchebag.”

[To think he was insulted like that even after death, such a pitiful extra.]

“IlHan!”

“Yu IlHan!?”

Liera and Erta, who felt the power of the final curse, called out for Yu IlHan in shock. However, Yu IlHan's expression as he returned to them was too normal.

“Yes, it's all over now.”

“.....What about the curse?”

“I won against even Echjar's curse; there's no way I would get killed by such a half-assed curse.”

“.....”

Yu IlHan collected Ramiel’s corpse without thinking much about it, and organized the world that was messed up due to the battle by sucking in some of the mana. His companions didn’t know how to react to Yu IlHan, who treated the curse that took all the remaining life force from a 7th class as ‘half-assed’, and decided to not say anything at all.

“Anyway, it seems like things have gotten annoying.”

Skimming through the records he had acquired from Ramiel, Yu IlHan scratched his head. He did think that Heaven’s Army was not in a normal state anymore from the moment he found out that Ramiel was a traitor, but he didn’t know it would be this bad. The more he comprehended Ramiel’s records, the more he sighed about it.

“It seems like everything is happening according to my growth. Let me just catch whoever’s behind this and I’ll...”

[What is it, darling?]

“Well, it is a mess already but I feel like there would be even more of a mess in the future.”

“More than it is now? Why?”

Liera asked her question. Yu IlHan made a bitter smile and shortly replied.

“It seems like God ran away from Heaven.”

Chapter 289: I Will Prepare – 7

(Translation changes: Lemiel -> Ramiel)

“.....Huh?”

Liera was taken aback. Yu IlHan shrugged his shoulders and repeated his words.

“I said it seems like God ran away from home.”

“From where?”

“From Heaven.”

“To where?”

“I don’t know, since Ramiel didn’t know anything either.”

Liera seemed to be in thought for a moment. Erta looked like she saw this coming, and Helièna only made a faint smile.

“From when?”

And Liera asked. This was probably the most important question. Yu IlHan felt that what should have come had finally come and replied with a strange expression.

“A little before the Army of Brilliant Light formed.”

“That’s eons ago!”

Liera ended up screaming.

“That’s before I was even born! And probably before humanity even appeared on Earth!”

“It looks like God is God after all, since he predicted what Heaven’s Army will do all the way back then. No, perhaps it’s a rigged match between those higher ups, but that’s even more amazing.”

“I didn’t want to see you amazed by something like that! Uaaaaaa, I feel like I became an idiot, a huge idiot! cries.”

“There, there. I know you must be feeling sad.”

Liera ended up letting out streams of tears while in Yu IlHan’s arms. Yu IlHan understood her well. Rather than just that, he could almost understand the defectors from the Heaven’s Army.

“Fuu.”

Erta looked at Liera with a jealous gaze but still sighed.

“Is it because of the absence of God that there were so many traitors within the Heaven’s Army? Thinking about how the Army of Brilliant Light may have seized control of the central parts of the Heaven’s Army is horrifying…….”

[But it was definitely the Heaven’s Army that asked the mage lady and darling to create a gate that connected to the main headquarters of the Army of Brilliant Light. If the Army of Brilliant Light had indeed seized the central parts of Heaven, they wouldn’t have used such a self-destructive method like that.]

“Perhaps the Heaven’s Army had long since split into two sides, just that us lower ranked angels never noticed it. If so, just what kind of foolish things were we doing until now…….”

[Fufu.]

Erta’s sighs deepened. However, Helièna’s expression instead became brighter.

[Isn’t it interesting? Thanks to the fact that the gate to the Netherworld opened that day, the Army of Brilliant Light received attack from all other factions. Heaven’s Army would have gained some room to breathe……. If you look at it another way, Heaven’s Army was saved thanks to darling.]

“…… That makes me feel uneasy.”

That was as if Yu IlHan had been playing on top of God’s palms all this time. And this was about a God that had deserted his place too! However, Helièna giggled and rejected his opinion.

[Don’t you already know, darling? The ruler of the Heaven’s Army is not omniscient nor omnipotent. If so, there would be no need for him to create an army and command the angels. And no traitors would have been possible, nor would there be a rise to any other factions. So don't worry about it too much. Perhaps someone may have prophesied your birth and growth, no one can know exactly what path you're walking. That is solely up to you. Right?]

"..... Yes. That should be the case."

Helièna's words were probably correct. Her firm words made Yu IlHan relieved. Really, Yu IlHan rather reluctantly appreciated her consoling him with the words that he really needed.

Yu IlHan became scared the more his emotions towards her changed for the better. Succubus Queen was great alright, achieving something against him that had the max level Unshakable Heart.

As if understanding what he was thinking, Liera asked him with a slightly worried gaze."

"..... So IlHan, what are you going to do from now on?"

"Well, I'll need to think about it."

Yu IlHan creased his forehead. However, from the moment he killed Ramiel and absorbed his records, what he had to do next was pretty much set in stone.

"I'll need to hold off attacking the Heaven's Army for a while. It seems like I need to solve this matter about the Army of Brilliant Light first."

Hearing Yu IlHan say he'll 'resolve' the matter concerning an entire faction, Liera ended up bursting into laughter.

"IlHan, you play big."

"From the point Heaven's Army and the Army of Brilliant Light are trying to use me as a tool, I find these two very spiteful, but at this rate, the Heaven's Army may be swallowed by the Army of Brilliant Light. And that, is not a good thing."

Yu IlHan's eyes sank deep. The hair that extended out from his helmet grew longer and emitted heat. His hair was now covered in fire, affected by his emotions. This was proof that he was slowly escaping the realm of physics.

"If I attack the Heaven's Army now, then I'll only be doing a favour for the fallen angels. Even though they're the most dangerous of the bunch....."

[Then are we going to focus on attacking the Army of Brilliant Light now?]

“No, to be exact, I need to weed out the traitors in the Heaven’s Army first. The Army of Brilliant Light will come next.”

[Darling, are you.....]

Helièna read the confidence in his words and asked him while narrowing her eyes.

[.....able to discern the traitors of Heaven now? Before they become open about it?]

“That’s it.”

[..... So cool.]

Unlike Helièna who just exclaimed, Liera and Erta shouted out in shock.

“How? Just how!?”

“How is that possible!?”

“I think the leaders of each faction will be able to differentiate them, but that’s none of my business, and anyway, since it’s possible for me, I can only say that I can do it.”

Replied Yu IlHan as he finished dealing with this world. Still on Yumir’s back, the two synced their breathing as they arranged the mana of this world. The group thought that these two had changed from before and just quietly watched.

And in fact, he was indeed different from before.

‘I feel like I can see ahead a little now.’

After the fight with Ramiel, he felt that there really wasn’t long until he reached the realm of higher existences now. According to his predictions, he would be able to ascend into a higher existence that can command a faction once he mastered the Dimensional ruler skill and the Record skill.

“Though, nothing fits me worse than an ‘organization’.....”

“Don’t you think you’ve come a little too far for that, son?”

“.....Yes, I also think so.”

He replied to his mother with a bitter smile, and scanned through his forces on the two fortresses. Then, he nodded his head in satisfaction and gave a glance to Kang MiRae.

“Miss MiRae. I have something to ask of you.”

“Ah.”

Having predicted what he was going to say, Kang MiRae made a fed up expression.

“You’ll say you want to split teams again right! You’re being too harsh!”

“I’m sorry. But both the Flying fortress and the Guardian fortress are unnecessary in tracking and killing traitors. So, Miss MiRae, please go around other higher worlds belonging to the Destruction Demon Army, the Garden of Sunset, and the Army of Brilliant Light. I’ll send you the coordinates now. I’ll give you a route so that you can progress continuously without any obstructions.”

“You’re being too harsh. You’re the one who always does the dangerous things.....”

Kang MiRae’s eyes were filled with worry. Yu IlHan let go of Liera who was still in his arms, then arrived in front of Kang MiRae after sliding through the air.

“Please. I can’t slack on this matter.”

“Ugh.”

He told her in a serious tone while grabbing her hand. Facing Yu IlHan’s eyes that glowed in red due to thick mana, Kang MiRae could not say anything. How could she refuse? This man was really evil and sneaky!

“..... Okay. But I’ll be angry if you get injured.”

“You don’t need to worry about me. I won’t get hurt anymore.”

“Really..... Kyaak.”

Yu IlHan transmitted the records to her while replying playfully with his true heart. Transmitting records to others so naturally was also a part of the grown Record skill's power. Kang MiRae was surprised at the newly etched records in her mind, but still accepted all of them while clenching her teeth.

“.....Fuu.”

“Is it done?”

“Yes. My head aches a little but..... it's done now.”

These records couldn't be received by just anyone. She could probably accept them since she already wielded dimensional magic. Of course, the God-ranked circlet on her head should have played a large role as well.

“Good, thank you.”

Yu IlHan once again grabbed her hand before letting go and stepped back. He decided to pretend to not see Kang MiRae's disappointed expression, and spoke to Helièna that was staring at him.

“Helièna. Please protect them.”

[..... Oh?]

Helièna reacted sensitively. Her eyes were smiling.

[You're leaving me? With these kids?]

“You can't do anything since you're bound to my Rule skill anyway.”

[But weren't you unsettled until now?]

Hearing Helièna's sharp remark, Yu IlHan was silent for a moment before he revealed the true reason.

“..... I need someone to protect them just in case.”

[Fufu.]

“Hmph.”

He didn't like Helièna that much since she acted as if she knew everything about him. Her warm eyes didn't sit well with him either. He stuck out his tongue at her and turned around, but he was annoyed since she looked like she even found that joyful.

“Liera, Mir. Let's go.”

“That’s how it should be!”

[Got it, dad!]

Liera was one that he could trust his life with, and Yumir was his partner that should become the answer to his path to a higher existence. From now, these two were enough. Any more than this would only affect his concealment, but to Liera, the fact that she was chosen was the most important.

“Bleh. Bleeeeeeeeeeh.”

“I swear I’ll...”

“In Lady Leytna’s name, I hope she gets hemorrhoids.”

“Grow up already. You’re being embarrassing.”

“Ouch.”

Yu IlHan smacked Liera on the forehead as she was teasing the others, and hopped back onto Yumir’s back again.

“Then see you later.”

“Contact us frequently!”

“Got it, mom.”

He lightly waved his hands towards the others and activated the Warp skill without any regrets. He traced the tracks of the traitors that were recorded in Ramiel’s records.

[The skill, Warp, has become level 66.]

“Wirepa..... this is quite a big world, you know, IlHan?”

“So you know about it.”

“Yeah. I also stayed here a lot. This world is also considerably important since it’s gone through the 6th Great Cataclysm as well..... Don’t tell me you?”

“Correct. There’s a traitor here.”

Yu IlHan created a flaming spear on his hand and threw it without hesitation. The spear that was flung so hard that it left his field of view, disappeared completely after leaving behind its achievement on Yu IlHan’s retina.

[You have earned the record of Lv 366 Mita.]

“Good. One down.”

Liera was shocked at his mutters.

“You killed him? Just with a simple throw?”

“What do you mean simple. It was my full power attack with Absolute Accuracy.”

“I really can’t accept this!”

Soon the other side of the world became noisy. That was probably not just because an angel had died, but also because that angel was a ‘traitor’. Liera sweated cold sweat, but traitors were to be killed on sight even when she was an angel so she had less objections now when Yu IlHan killed angels.

“Are we going to the next world now?”

“No.”

Yu IlHan coolly replied and threw his spear once again. It impaled and incinerated the heart of a traitor without fail, and Liera was frozen on the spot.

“..... There are that many traitors?”

“Just watch for a moment, Liera.”

Replied Yu IlHan as he created three more spears.

“I’ll show you that the Heaven’s Army is in dire straits, much more so than you think.”

The three spears thrown from his hand killed yet another three traitors. At that point, all the angels residing in Wirepa had realized that an unknown entity was punishing the traitors.

[Uh!?!]

[My God.]

The traitors trembled, but they couldn’t do anything since they knew that they would be attacked by angels as soon as they did something strange. Yu IlHan didn't miss a single one and killed all of them. Murky grey blood scattered in the sky.

[Traitors..... there are so many traitors.]

[Just who? Just who is enacting punishment!]

[Is it the four Great Archangels.....?]

[Don't move from now on! Anyone that moves is a traitor!]

The many branching roots of the Army of Brilliant Light started being pulled out one by one.

Chapter 290: I Will Prepare – 8

[If it's really one of the Archangels, there would be no need for them to hide, would they?]

[But even if they do not, do we need to stop them? The ones that are dying are only the traitors.]

[How are you so sure that the ones dying are only traitors? If they have a magic that alters records at the moment of death.....]

[That does not even make sense. If such a powerful being is our enemy, we cannot do anything about them either.]

[So we simply accept death like this?]

[If you are not a traitor, you need not fear death! I am not a traitor, and hence not afraid!]

A quarrel broke out between the traitors and the angels existing in the higher world. This was quite an interesting scene for Yu IlHan since he knew all the traitors.

“Why are there so many traitors.....?”

“I want to believe that there are fewer traitors among the 6th class high angels, but I'm not so sure about that either.”

Just as Yu IlHan replied to Liera's words of despair with just a shrug of his shoulders, one angel finally made a big move.

[So it will be all clear once I die. Look. I am not a traitor! If I die due to a surprise attack, the one that is doing the slaughter right now is an enemy of Heaven!]

White blood scattered in the air. That was proof that he was not a tainted angel! The other angels who watched him all started to harm themselves. White blood scattered here and there. This was worse than a third-rate comedy. Liera's expression brightened.

“That’s good. The ones that show their blood should not be enemies…….”

“Nah, they’re all lying.”

It was normal for traitor’s blood to turn grey. However, if that was the case, wouldn’t all traitors have been found already? For example, if one got injured during a mission or something. The Army of Brilliant Light and the traitors were no fools. They could all cast magic that disguised their records.

“How dare these guys to try and fool me.”

[Look at me. I’m also not a…… Kugh!]

The head of a traitor that proudly showed off his white blood suddenly exploded, and grey blood scattered. Causing all the angels in that world to freeze.

[Are the angels…… really being targeted? And their records mutate the moment they die?]

[That doesn’t even make sense, but just now…….]

Suspicious spread among the angels. Well, the non-traitors would never imagine that they were using magic that hid their records, so it was no wonder that they panicked. However, Liera’s expression wasn’t so good to look at.

“IlHan, at this rate…….”

“Yeah. I know so don’t worry about it.”

Yu IlHan made a smile and created a total of eight spears this time – four in each hand – and threw them using the Absolute Accuracy skill. The heads of eight traitors all burst at once. Of course, these were also those that proved their innocence by cutting their wrists.

[R, retreat! This is the scheme of the Army of Brilliant Light that is trying to attack us of the Heaven’s Army!]

[Report, has a report been made to the Archangel!?]

[Find the enemy. We need to find and take him down!]

The atmosphere changed into one advantageous for the traitors. This was what the traitors intended for, and also what Liera was worried about.

However, Yu IlHan still had the same smile.

“Let’s see you try.”

He activated one skill. Immediately after that, the invisible connection that connected between worlds were snapped. The angels also realized that, albeit a little late.

[.....Uh!?]

[I cannot leave. The world is closed!]

[How can this be! Did a transcender really descend upon this world!]

[Foolish, there are no transcendents other than God! We cannot accept this!]

The angels all fell into a panic. Of course, the traitors were in a worse state, and Yu IlHan raised his kill count as he killed them one by one. Liera was flabbergasted at the scene.

“My god..... IlHan, you. How can you kill so many in such a short time.....?”

“Please stand on guard with your spear Liera. I can’t prevent the entrance of a 7th class yet.”

[I don’t think there’s any yet, dad!]

The more the Dimensional Ruler skill and his Record skill grew, the more he could do in the world he was visiting, while the time required to use his skill decreased. Now that Yu IlHan had killed many traitors in this higher world, Wirepa, he could now prevent 6th class angels from leaving or exiting through their power.

“Hm, practice makes perfect alright.”

[Khaaaaaaaaaak!]

[I, I am! NOT A TRAI..... Kugh!]

The ones that cried out in innocence all started dying. Their corpses were all stored into Yu IlHan’s inventory. The angels could no longer do anything. They could neither run away, nor find Yu IlHan to fight him, nor could they report to their higher ups, nor could they pick out the traitors by themselves! Absolutely nothing!

[Th, then are we all going to die like this?]

[If, if that's the case.]

[I'd rather!]

Some of the angels started to show bad vibes, and they gave up and started to gather to one place. Of course, the angels watching immediately realized what this implied.

[Don't tell me you guys really are!]

[However, I now know the truth. I no longer have a reason to be loyal to Heaven!]

[We should have moved faster..... I will give up on being an angel now!]

[Oh Great Lord of Black Wings. Please color our wings with truth! Kugh!]

"Don't you dare."

Just as the traitors tried to show their real forms and tried to become a fallen angel, Yu IlHan's overlaid five trajectories of the Great Cosmos-severing Spear which he stacked using the Spear of Untraceable Trajectory and swiped across the place to bisect all the traitors at once.

[The skill, Great Cosmos-severing Spear, has become level 93.]

There was no way he would allow words to be wasted on 5th class mob angels falling to a fallen angel! This was Yu IlHan's faith.

[The traitors were all.....]

[This overwhelming power must belong to a 7th class. I'm sure of it!]

[But with this, the traitors, kugh.]

However, a few more traitors that were mixed around with the angels all spurted out thick grey blood from their necks and fell down. These guys were bad guys that tried to stay with the angels while others were revealing themselves to be traitors, so he killed them more painfully with two spears.

[Critical Hit!]

[Khak, how.....!]

[I, cannot die, here.....]

“If you want to fool me, dye your wings red next time, not black!”

“I don’t even get this joke, IlHan!”

The moment Yu IlHan stopped throwing his spears was the moment all traitors had died. 40% of the residing angels in the higher world Wirepa, had died, and the surviving ones also had to shiver in fear.

However, when there were no longer any spears, they could regain their calm.

[It has stopped. That was a horrifying assault.....]

[Are the ones that died really traitors? What if non-traitors were mixed among them? ..... Oooh, how horrifying is this?]

[A spear of fire. Perhaps it was his doing?]

[Don’t tell me..... Lord Michael?]

The angels erased the blood of traitors that were scattered around the world with their magic and exchanged conversations with trembling voices. Hearing them, Yu IlHan tilted his head and asked Liera.

“Is this Michael the same Michael I know of?”

“Yeah. The Archangel of fire, and the representative of God, he’s the official 2nd-in-command of the Heaven’s Army. He is in a completely different league with the other Archangels of 7th class, and can even fight against the ruler of the Army of Brilliant Light. So we can say that he’s almost 8th class.”

Fighting an 8th class with a 7th class body. Although to Yu IlHan, who could fight 7th classes while being a 4th class, he thought ‘so what?’, considering that 8th class was near divinity, it wasn’t quite like that either. Liera was worried that Yu IlHan may be thinking of something outrageous and grabbed his hand to speak.

“Even IlHan, you won’t be able to win against him now. So if you see him, you have to run immediately. Okay? Even if you are the creator of miracles, impossible things are impossible for now. Just not yet. Okay?”

“Don’t worry about that, Liera.”

Yu IlHan may find him first, but there was no way the other would find him. Yu IlHan grabbed Liera’s hand back and stroked Yumir’s back with the other.

“Thanks for being on the watch, Mir. Let’s go to the next world now.”

[Yeah!]

The more traitors Yu IlHan slays, the more information he would acquire about the worlds where traitors resided in. As long as the Record skill and the Warp skill were with him, the traitors scheming inside the Heaven’s Army had no path of running away. Right now, Yu IlHan was like a spider dancing on a path of threads.

“Oh, there aren’t that many here.”

“Really?”

“Yeah, there’s only 138 out of 397 angels.”

[You have.....]

[Khaaaaaaak!]

[L, Lord Satan!]

[Satan!? You, you are a traitor?!]

“You’re one too!”

Time passed, and it passed mercilessly. Yu IlHan wiped out traitors in over twenty higher worlds under the jurisdiction of the Heaven’s Army.

Of course, over 80% of the traitors were 5th class, but quite a considerable number of them were 6th class as well. Yu IlHan still lacked enough power to kill them with a single spear throw, so he sometimes had no choice but to show himself and fight.

[You, were a lower existence?]

“So what? Falling Down!”

[The skill, Falling Down, has become level 68.]

[My god. These flames are!]

“If you are done being shocked then come at me!”

[Kuooooooooooh!]

Clad in the Flamesoul Dragon Body, Yu IlHan’s figure that fought on Yumir’s back was completely like that of a dragon knight, and nobody thought of the human Yu IlHan of before while facing him. Of course, some realized after seeing Liera behind him, but nothing would change either way.

More time had passed. This was around the 68th world the three were visiting, and this time, the world was vaster than any higher world they had been to until now, and its name, was ‘Feira’.

Liera shouted in shock after realizing which world she was in.

“Feira.....! This is a world that’s just before its 7th Great Cataclysm! IlHan, this, this, this place is!”

“Yes, this place is a huge jackpot. There are over a thousand traitors here! Wow, there’s even a 7th class one too!”

“Are you going to fight? Are you reall-Kyaaaaaak!”

[Just what is!?]

[Mm!?]

At that time, something big happened. Just as Yu IlHan was slaughtering the traitors in order to provoke the 7th class traitor, another 7th class Archangel had suddenly entered the world.

[..... Is this place in the same chaos?]

[L, Lord Raphael!?!]

One of the four Great Archangels of the Heaven's Army – Raphael of Healing – he had finally encountered this angel.

Chapter 291: I Will Achieve – 1

“Kyaa, it’s Lord Raphael of Healing from the Four Great Archangels!”

Liera screamed like a highschool girl that just met the male idol she admired. Yu IlHan piled around 10 hostility points against this Archangel and asked Liera in a grumbling voice.

“Is that guy strong?”

“In healing, he’s probably superior to Na YuNa. I heard that he’s at a level where he can virtually reanimate anyone as long as they aren’t dead. As for physical might..... I don’t know. I heard he’s stronger than most 7th class beings, but I don’t know by how much exactly.”

Overwhelming the holy maiden Na YuNa in healing and being stronger than the majority of 7th class beings? How OP was that! If this guy had any common sense, he should’ve selected one path and specialized in it!

Yu IlHan, who didn’t think about himself when thinking that, shamelessly grumbled like that and piled yet another 10 hostility points into the book. Liera looked at such Yu IlHan with worried eyes.

“IlHan, is Lord Raphael a traitor too.....?”

“No, it’s not that. Rather, I wish he was one so I can beat him up without any worries.....”

“Why!?”

“I don’t like his uselessly handsome and kind-looking face. Dammit.”

“Kyaaaak. What are you doing!”

Yu IlHan pondered whether he should show himself or not, but he eventually just threw additional flaming spears to kill more 5th class traitors. When traitors died, Daiel became hurried and voiced out.

[Lord Rapahel. We need to capture him! Please use your powers and.....!]

[But Daiel, my thoughts are a little different.]

Raphael wasn't such an easy man.

[Killing angels and make them look like they were traitors? That is impossible. Only the one that is above Heaven. Only he would be able to do that and no one else.]

[B..... but.....]

[In my opinion, this little daredevil indeed knows the method of differentiating the traitors and is killing them.]

[Why, and how!]

Raphael smiled.

[I do not know the reason. I can only predict that this being has tremendous hostility towards the Army of Brilliant Light. But how, I do know. It is possible for anyone that has the qualifications to become a leader of a faction. So, it is either one of them or.....]

[That cannot be possible!]

[Yes. So..... it is a newly qualified being.]

[That is even more impossible!]

[Well then. Shall we find out?]

When Raphael flicked his finger after saying that, a wave of light spread around from him. Even though that magic was intended for detection purposes, Yu IlHan simply ignored it and threw additional 8 spears to kill 8 traitors.

“Noooooooooooo!”

“Stay still, Liera. We won't get discovered.”

[Liera-noona you're being loud.]

Yu IlHan's presence was not detected. In fact, the heads and wings of the traitors were all being sliced apart even as the magic was deployed, as if to tease the caster.

[.....Hm.]

[Lord Raphael?]

However, Raphael instead made an expression that seemed to relay that the result was satisfactory.

[Good, there's no way he'll be detected with my abilities alone.]

[It's impossible even with Lord Raphael's abilities? Then we have to flip this entire world over to-]

[Calm down, Daiel. If you are to become an Archangel, you need to have the attitude and qualification that goes with it, don't you think?]

[But even so!]

Even right now, angels were crying out loud and the blood of traitors scattered everywhere. How could he possibly calm down? Just as Daiel was about to ask back, Raphael spoke with a very calm expression while grabbing him.

[Didn't I say so? No one other than the LORD can make a perfect angel into a traitor. Even Satan cannot taint the blood of those that do not have darkness in their hearts. Well, then.]

[I do not know his or her intention, but this means that what he or she is doing does not damage the Heaven's Army at all. I would even extend a hand to help him.]

[Lord Raphael!]

[Hahahaha.]

Raphael calmly laughed even while he watched angel after angel being killed by flaming spears. He looked quite frightening, even considering that he knew that the ones being killed were traitors.

[I can't even figure out where he's throwing those from. I can even feel that those flames are on par with Lord Michael's. So mysterious. Is that the new transcender? Quite interesting.]

[Lord Raphael. We cannot let this be!]

[Wait, Daiel.]

Raphael's eyes became frightening.

[I said wait. To all the angels here, you shall not move, wait.]

[.....Understood.]

There were no angels in Feira that dared to go against Raphael's orders. Since dying to the flaming spear and being killed by Raphael's rage was the same thing, the traitors hidden amongst the angels all panicked on the spot before being killed.

[Fuu, hahahaha.]

[L, Lord Raphael.....]

Viciousness in Raphael's smile became thicker and it seemed as if he was saying – 'Though I expected this, there are a lot of these bastards'. One of the Four Great Archangels on one side, and flaming spears on the other! To the traitors, this was hell.

[.....Kugh!]

[I cannot die here!]

The ones that judged that they couldn't keep this up finally acted. The ones that had confidence in their power since they were 6th class – although it was unknown how they exchanged signals, the 32 6th class traitors all unfolded their wings and activated group warp towards another world!

[We will become the wings of Satan!]

[Foolish hypocrites. We can finally be truthful to our desires!]

[.....Oho, so shamelessly appearing now, are we? Well, then, p newly ascended transcender. What will you do?]

Although he was not aware of Yu IlHan's presence, Raphael believed that he was there and voiced out to him. Yu IlHan snorted and made a single spear. Then, he resonated with Yumir to bring out the energy of dragons before imbuing all of his power into the tip of his spear. This did not look like he was going to attack many people at once.

"IlHan, their magic! You'll miss them if you don't activate Falling Down now!"

“I know, but if I try to kill them, then I’ll miss the big one.”

“So vicious.....”

In the first place, Yu IlHan’s aim was Dael. That shameless guy that acted calm on the surface but was panicking and rapidly rolling his head on the inside from the moment Raphael appeared! The same guy that made the expression that ‘now’s the chance!’ after looking at the group of 6th class angels acting!

[.....Hm?]

Raphael tilted his head. He realized that Yu IlHan wasn’t making any big movements even when the traitors had come out and were blatantly activating Warp.

Did he go back already? Or was he scared of fighting against 6th class beings? Or was he wary of Raphael’s presence?

Raphael thought about why Yu IlHan wasn’t acting and eventually came to conclusion. It was a very surprising, and more absurd, thinking, but that had the most persuasive power out of all his hypotheses.

So, he raised his hand before it was too late.

[Very interesting..... and foolish too. But.]

[Lord Raphael?]

[I’ll play around with you for once!]

Raphael’s mana rippled. The next moment, the mana that composed the entirety of Feira submitted to his command and created a violent shockwave.

That was enough. All the magic that the traitors were about to use were cancelled and their mana spiraled out of control.

[Khak!?!]

[M, mana is backlashing against us..... O, Lord Satan, please save us!]

[How, can this be.....]

The results of a single gesture were very devastating. It was the price for looking down on the power of one of the Four Great Archangels, as well as the one that commanded the power of the world.

The hole to escape the world had been closed, and the wings of those that revealed their affinity were dyed in black. There was no path of escape for them now.

[Well, then. I can finally see who the traitors are now.]

Raphael made a cold smile and created a sword with the mana in Feira. The sword, containing a thick power of wind also had slight flames in it as well. The traitors all gave up and despaired.

[Raphael, you clown acting on the grave of the dead God!]

[No matter how hard you try to hide it! We all know! The Great One has enlightened us!]

[Hah, they're properly rotten alright.]

[Y, you evil being!]

[How dare you taint his glorified name with your dirty mouth!]

The non-traitor 6th class angels also participated in the fight and the world became a mess in an instant. Unbefitting of the name of 'Healing' in his name, Raphael scattered his murderous intent, and 6th class fallen angels went against him. The other high angels also blocked their paths!

Only two people were waiting for this moment.

[Fuu.]

Daiel thought. Although he was unaware whether the intruder could discern his identity or not, this being should not be able to do anything against him with just a surprise attack alone. In fact, if his identity was revealed because of that, Raphael would be the more dangerous enemy. If he was to survive this place, the one he had to look out for was not the intruder but Raphael!

'The moment I attack Raphael; I will have to give up my position as an angel. So, using the mana of the world is out of the question. Then, this will be my only opportunity now that Raphael is using that mana to kill those trash.'

He would attack with all his power to create an opening. Even though Raphael was of a higher league than him, he would not come out unscathed after his attack. The mana at his disposal will disperse, and at least he would be able to escape through the blocked path!

‘If possible, I want to discover and execute this intruder, but I never knew even Raphael would show such movements. Was there Gabriel’s prophecy or something.....? I guess I can’t help it. I’ll just.....!’

And at that point, the other one that waited for this moment struck his spear into his body.

[Critical Hit!]

[Critical Hit!]

[Critical.....]

[Kahagh!?!]

“Huoooooooooh!”

Yu IlHan, in sync with Yumir, had used 12-overlaid strikes of the Spear of Untraceable Trajectory with all his might!

Chapter 292: I Will Achieve – 2

Thick ash-colored blood scattered in the air. This was the moment when Dael decided to attack Raphael, and altered his own records by abiding the orders of Satan.

The support from the world he could receive as a member of the Heaven's Army was completely cut off, and the moment his tainted self was revealed, was the moment Yu IlHan decided to act.

[Kugh, ha.....!]

With twelve strikes from the Spear of Untraceable Trajectory stacked on top of each other onto a single point, it created a gigantic hole on Dael's abdomen. The blood that was turning black scattered everywhere, while flesh, bone fragments, as well as black and white feathers flew about.

"Hi! It hurts, doesn't it?"

[Hiik! Khih!]

Yu IlHan had aimed for both the heart and the shoulder blades, the most crucial parts of angels and fallen angels alike. Although Dael had protected them using mana the moment he detected the attack, his shoulder blades were not completely destroyed. However, not only was his heart completely obliterated, one pair of wings was completely severed.

That was a fatal wound that would have cost him his life if he did not escape and treat himself immediately. If he were in a normal state, he wouldn't be so injured, but Yu IlHan had attacked the moment he was transforming from an angel into a fallen angel, when his resistance was lowered for a brief moment.

He couldn't have done this without the wits and technique to throw his bag on an empty seat on the morning bus to get it.

[You are!?!]

"Fuuu."

[Fuuu.]

A red breath of fire leaked from Yu IlHan's lips when he approached him close enough to attack with his spear.

Daiel abruptly widened his eyes and attempted to strike back, but at that point, Yu IlHan had already activated Falling Down and the soulflame chains were binding his entire body. Was there any more perfect surprise attack than this? Right now, the only thing that was allowed to Daiel was to tremble in fear.

“Hey, you were more wary towards Raphael than me, weren't you?”

Yu IlHan twisted his lips into a smirk as if he understood all that Daiel was thinking. Right now, a golden streak appeared on his burning-red eyes. Those golden streaks were similar if not identical to vertical reptilian pupils!

“You were doomed from that moment onwards.”

[Khaaaaaak!?]

Daiel had realized his mistake and struggled to escape from Yu IlHan, but all of his attempts were followed by failure.

Falling Down had been empowered by entire two leagues through the Flamesoul Dragon Body. Even 7th class Archangels would have their league lowered, and he would be able to restrain them so that they couldn't move an inch!

[Yu IlHan, human..... a lower existence, dares to.....]

“That's an artifact, eh?”

He did expect that 7th class Archangels wouldn't walk around with nothing prepared. Yu IlHan discovered a flashing current of mana in Daiel's bosom and immediately covered it in flames. This was similar to when he covered his allies in flames to enhance their abilities and magic. The flames completely wrapped around the artifact and glowed. However, the results were devastating.

[The skill, Falling Down, has become level 72.]

[.....What?]

He made a dumbfounded voice. Yu IlHan couldn't care less about what the artifact's effect was. It would not activate after all.

[You, wha? How, you?]

“You don’t expect me to answer, do you?”

Daiel trembled. Yu IlHan made a smirk at him, before striking at his wound with a flaming spear and twisting it while additionally activating the Great Cosmos-severing Spear. The trajectory that came from the power of dragons, and was realized through flames, burned brighter than when Spiera used it during her life and drew a single line.

[Critical Hit]

Another splash of blood. The artifact that was silent under the cover of flames was also snapped in half. It seemed like an artifact that gave the user tremendous healing ability monetarily and randomly teleport the user, but that didn’t matter now.

Yu IlHan smiled.

“Bye.”

[Wait, human! No, the new transcender! Lord Satan has-]

His attitude instantly changed, but this was very, very common. Yu IlHan swept his spear without hesitation. Tens of additional flaming spears that came out from the Flamesoul Dragon body struck all parts of Daiel’s body according to his trajectory.

And that was the end.

[You have earned the record of Lv 537 Daiel.]

Yu IlHan straightened his body as he collected Daiel’s corpse. Falling Down was dispelled, and all mana was taken back into him and disappeared without a trace. The golden reptilian vertical pupils also disappeared as well.

Liera, who was prepared for the worst even until the battle ended, also finally heaved a sigh of relief and took back her spear.

[My god, it ended just like that.....]

Raphael became flabbergasted after seeing Yu IlHan in action, as he was wary against Daiel's movements even while killing the remaining 6th class traitors. Even he could not attack so explosively like Yu IlHan despite being one of the Four Great Archangels.

What if Yu IlHan had attacked him instead? He could not guarantee his safety either. Though, he wouldn't so easily be killed with his overwhelming healing capabilities.

[Transcender..... as expected, quite the qualified human. Though, you are no longer a human either.]

"You know?"

Yu IlHan asked the flabbergasted Raphael.

"Can I eat them if you aren't going to?"

The ones Yu IlHan pointed towards with this spear were of course the surviving traitors. Raphael shook his head with an awkward expression.

[.....No, we shall take care of it. The execution of traitors is the mission of us Heaven's Army, so please leave it to us.]

"Whatever."

Seeing Yu IlHan's laid back attitude, Raphael and the angels clenched their teeth and moved fast. However, the traitors that had to go against them were already powerless. Their hopes were mercilessly crushed when they saw Daiel being slain by Yu IlHan.

[L, Lord Daiel died so vainly.....]

[We cannot survive. We, cannot.....]

[Is this, the end of a traitor? Was I really just a foolish maggot? Aaah, God, just what have I.....]

Raphael and the other angels felt very awkward even while taking care of the traitors since they felt like they were picking dead flowers. In the meanwhile, Yu IlHan recovered his mana and was undergoing maintenance on his equipment. Liera asked him in confusion.

“I thought you’d act too.”

“Well, yeah. It seems like that side has a lot to talk to me about. I can’t just go against them when we might be cooperating for quite a while.”

Yu IlHan was correct. After the series of battles where both the attacker and the attacked felt awkward, Raphael had voiced out to him after collecting the bodies of all traitors.

[It’s the first time that we have met, no? I am Raphael, one of the Four Great Archangels of the Heaven’s Army.]

“I’m Yu IlHan from Earth.”

[It was you that assaulted the worlds that Heaven was in possession of and killed the angels, stealing the world in the process, correct?]

“Yes.”

The angels that came back from battle were enraged at Yu IlHan’s acknowledgement, but Raphael calmed them down by putting his hand up. Raphael was treating Yu IlHan not as any random individual, but as a leader of a faction.

It was very common for factions to steal each other’s worlds. It wasn’t such a rare occurrence for enemies that fought moments ago to shake hands the next.

[I appreciate that you admit it so openly. Then, why did you switch to hunting traitors?]

“Would you guys believe it if I divulged the reason?”

[No, we probably would not.]

Said Raphael with a smile. When Yu IlHan snorted at that answer, he took out words that Yu IlHan had expected to a certain extent.

[I request an alliance. Whatever motives you have for moving, we are very urgent in executing traitors. I will guide you to any world under the Heaven’s Army so come with me.]

[Lord Raphael!]

[This cannot be!]

[Everyone be quiet. You should have seen this individual's ability on discerning and killing traitors, no? We need his help right now. Please refrain from treating him as a simple human and do not be rude to him.]

When he ordered the angels with a cold voice, they all nodded unwillingly and stepped back. Yu IlHan replied to Raphael after watching them in curiosity for a moment.

"In my knowledge, you guys should be busy right now too. Do you, one of the Four Great Archangels, have the time to act with me like this?"

[It is precisely because we are busy that executing the traitors is important.]

Raphael's eyes flashed mysteriously.

[It will be very agonizing if traitors rampage in the upcoming final war.]

"Final war? That sounds very interesting, but in any case....."

Yu IlHan thought for a moment about what he could request from the Heaven's Army for this. However, he eventually just shook his head.

He was planning to wipe out the traitors of Heaven's Army soon enough anyway. It wasn't like he was going to stop just because the Heaven's Army decided to not give him anything, and right now, none of the treasures in possession of the Heaven's Army interested him that much.

"Good, let's do this then."

[I'm glad that we got through this quickly. Please take care of me. Oh, and also, little dragon and Liera, I will be in your care as well.]

Raphael offered to shake hands first. Yu IlHan grabbed his hand without hesitation. Yumir snorted and Liera nearly screamed, but he ignored them.

[I predict that you know this already, but the scale of the Heaven's Army is vast. It will take a lot of time.]

"Don't worry about that and just guide me along. Oh, I gave you the traitors just now, but that won't happen anymore. I'll be the one killing them so you guys just catch the runaways. If you reject this, then I will not comply."

[Though I did hear about it, you are very vicious.]

Raphael made a bitter smile and turned around to the other angels.

[Concentrate on protecting Feira. Report immediately if anything happens.]

[Understood!]

[Lord Raphael, that human..... are you real-]

[Concentrate on your work.]

Raphael split from the angels and accompanied Yu IlHan. Liera looked at Yu IlHan with a worried gaze seeing a gate to another world under Heaven opening up, but Yu IlHan only laughed and stroked her head.

He knew what she was worried about. It was probably because there was no way the loyal Raphael will see Yu IlHan in a good light.

There was no way Yu IlHan was unaware of this. Didn't he already hear before that Heaven will not tolerate another transcender?

However, Raphael should also be aware that Yu IlHan was wary against him. He probably had other tricks up his sleeve. That was why it was interesting.

Yu IlHan checked his hand that shook hands with Raphael and laughed.

'The Great Archangel that represent God, and the one that received the most of his power..... I finally found him.'

Yu IlHan's eyes glistened. A flash of green text appeared on his retina.

[The skill, Record has become level 95.]

'The final piece necessary to become a higher existence, and to become the Fifth.'

Just who would swallow the other up? Yu IlHan smirked his lips in a manner much more evil than the one Raphael had made and threw his body into the gate.

[Lord Raphael, this is really unjust. We really aren't traitors!]

[Everyone that we've encountered until now seemed to have said the same thing. But Vera, none of them ended up being innocent.]

[Aah, he is deceiving you! How can you listen to the words of a mere human!]

The traitors cried out in injustice and Raphael coldly rejected them. This had happened many times already and Yu IlHan swung his spear with a yawn. Vera's head flew as he was busy crying about the great injustice towards Raphael, scattering grey blood into the air.

[The skill, Great Cosmos-severing Spear, has become level 99.]

Not only Vera, Yu IlHan killed many traitors while charging on Yumir's back. Grey blood colored the world. Raphael waved his hand even in this mess to prevent any blood from tainting him, and stared at Yu IlHan.

[We were having a conversation?]

"How was that a conversation? It was just him desperately pleading for his life."

The biggest problem was that pleading will not overturn the judgement. Yu IlHan snorted and sucked the corpses of the traitors into his inventory. Raphael made an awkward expression while watching him do that.

[You are very adept at manipulating interspace.]

"Thanks to a certain someone."

[That audacity of yours is really.....]

Raphael shook his hand as if he was fed up with him. The angels all gathered in front of him [Traitors have disappeared. Guard this world with all your power for Heaven, and the sole LORD.]

[Understood, Lord Raphael!]

[We shall comply!]

The mana that heeded Raphael's commands all returned to their original places in the world. He had closed all the paths connecting to other worlds the moment they arrived and now, he finally loosened the restriction.

[Well, then, Yu IlHan. We have a slight problem now.]

"What, it's over already?"

Yu IlHan made an expression like a little child that found an empty bag of cookies. Raphael found that absurd. In the past two weeks they had been to over 500 worlds, and Yu IlHan had killed over ten thousand traitors. No one should have killed so many higher existences in such a short time, but what was he so upset about!

[This is the end of the many worlds under our charge. No matter how large Heaven is, the number of higher worlds are limited after all.]

"Then does the alliance end here? It was fun working with you."

[However, you haven't met all the angels yet.]

Raphael's eyes shined.

[You should be aware that many angels are participating in a war against other factions.]

"You are focusing on finishing off the Army of Brilliant Light, aren't you?"

[Indeed. That was also why we had to consolidate our foundation. But what if there were traitors among the ones participating in battle? And what if that angel was a 7th class?]

"Things will horribly go wrong?"

[Correct. So now, we'll be going to them. The method will stay the same. You just need to kill the traitors.]

"Even while angels and fallen angels are fighting it out?"

[Precisely.]

Yu IlHan replied with a smile.

“That sounds very interesting.”

[Quite the intriguing being you are. Then we shall go immediately.]

Raphael opened a gate. Liera couldn't hide her worry and grabbed Yu IlHan's shoulders.

“I think you've pushed yourself until now, IlHan. Do you really need to do any more than this?”

“Yeah. Since I started this, I'll see this through to the end.”

Although he replied in a light tone to Liera, countless thoughts were being generated and discarded in Yu IlHan's head. What he was about to encounter will be what Raphael wanted, and Raphael definitely would have set some sort of trap ahead.

However, if he didn't get caught by it, he would have to wander for a long time to become a higher existence since he would be letting go of the thread that he had just found. Yu IlHan didn't like waiting around aimlessly.

“Liera, go back to the others. This may become a little dangerous from now on.”

Because the other angels may try to use her – he didn't say that to her, but Liera understood plenty about what he was trying to say.

“Okay. You'll go too, right?”

“No, my skill level rose far enough to just send another person. So I'll go there after this is over.”

“.....When did it become like that?”

“Just go ahead and wait for me.”

“Okay.”

Yu IlHan gave Liera a short kiss and activated Warp. The level 87 Warp sent her to the world where the others were. Raphael made a bitter smile while looking at that.

[Quite the intense show of affection there. I have lost such feelings a long time ago.]

“Too bad for you then.”

Yu IlHan only snorted towards Raphael’s complex words and jumped into the gate with Yumir.

Beyond the gate was a battlefield between the angels and fallen angels! In a world where thick black energy flowed, a seemingly infinite number of angels and fallen angels were at war. Even Yu IlHan couldn’t help but be shocked at the site.

The sky was too high and large. The lands were expansive and vast. Perhaps Earth magnified by one hundred times would be like this? Such a huge world was not the main headquarters of a faction?

What was even more surprising was the higher existences battling in various parts of the skies and land. Angels and fallen angels numbered the most, but there were also a lot of those belonging to the Destruction Demon Army and the Garden of Sunset as well. He would even believe it if someone told him that all the higher existences had gathered in this place!

“Just how many higher existences have gathered here.....?”

[Ever since your companion, Kang MiRae, had opened a gate connecting to the Netherworld, we could acquire a lot of information about worlds under the rule of the Army of Brilliant Light. This world is the biggest world among the ones we could find. The world that has experienced 7 whole Great Cataclysms as well as several evolutions. It is also the world that is directly connected to the Netherworld.]

“The reason you didn’t go to the Netherworld directly is.....”

[You should know about that already, don’t you?]

Of course, it was to lower the power of the Army of Brilliant Light as a whole. That was why it wasn’t only the Heaven’s Army but the beings from other two factions rampaging here!

[Well, the traitors? Do you see them?]

“Of course, there are a lot. I don’t see any 7th class ones yet..... you save your suffering allies. I’ll just move by myself.”

[With that frightening concealment ability of yours..... oh.]

Before Raphael could even finish his sentence, Yu IlHan urged Yumir to head to the battlefield. He resonated with him in high speed, and the two concealed themselves with their mana. Raphael found that absurd even while watching and muttered.

[An ability that even deceives my senses..... But, I will not let you go this time.]

Yu IlHan was speechless for a moment while looking around the battlefield on Yumir's back. The scene where not only angels and fallen angels, but monsters and gatekeepers scattering their multi-colored blood everywhere.....

[Dad, did you not find a traitor yet?]

"No, I'm just thinking about something else."

It was just a while ago when the other factions had all ganged up on the Heavens Army, but the fact that they started concentrating their power into attacking the Army of Brilliant Light just because of a slight opening frightened him.

Leaving aside the Destruction Demon Army, who were just muscleheads, he could not understand why even the Garden of Sunset had changed their stance and attacked the Army of Brilliant Light. Just what did they want? Would all of them just rampage around in joy if it was about destroying factions that they didn't belong to?

Like this, it seemed like the Destruction Demon Army rampaging honestly without any excuses seem to be the most honest. One sure fact that they were all those that Yu IlHan had to screw up one day.

".....Let's start, Mir."

[Got it, dad!]

Yu IlHan's assault began. Charging throughout the battlefield, he immediately impaled the hearts of traitors as soon as he found them to kill them. Of course, he didn't kill just them. There were many higher existences he could kill with a single strike here after all.

Although he focused on traitors and the Army of Brilliant Light, stragglers from the Destruction Demon Army and the Garden of Sunset did not escape his attacks.

[Kugh!?!]

[Invisible..... kahahk!]

Deaths occurred everywhere. Since the battlefield was in such a mess, there wasn't anyone that could notice the presence of Yu IlHan, and this made him more joyful. Wasn't this the perfect battlefield for Yu ilHan?

[You have.....]

[Dad, I keep getting experience.]

"It's not a glitch so don't worry about it."

Having battled with Yu IlHan for so long, Yumir had become level 299 long ago. Not only that, if they weren't restricted by levels, the two would have surpassed level 400 a long time ago. Of course, their real capabilities were way beyond any 6th class now.

"It's about time for a change."

[Dad, the number of enemy is increasing. There's a lot.]

".....Be wary against them a little, Mir. It's starting now."

[Yeah!]

And it finally happened. When Yu IlHan killed about 1,500 higher existences and the others in the battlefield realized that something was strange, the skies split wide and beings with overwhelming mana pressure had shown up.

[The 2nd Wing of Brilliant Light, Anafière, has come. Foolish pigeons. I shall pull out all your feathers.]

"The 2nd Wing of Brilliant Light....."

He was practically the 3rd-in-command of the Army of Brilliant Light.

However, he definitely had a similar amount of mana and pressure to Raphael.

It wasn't just him. The 4th Wing of Brilliant Light, Satière, whom Yu IlHan had met before, as well as the 3rd Wing and the 5th Wing were there as well. The Army of Brilliant Light had really resolved themselves this time.

However, what was more amazing was the person from the Heaven's Army. A massive circle of fire seemed to appear out of nowhere, before a youth with a beautiful blond hair appeared.

With his hand holding a spear of flames, he was the angel with the highest league he had seen so far. Yu IlHan immediately realized what Liera had meant back then. The current him could not win against that being.

[Good, Anafière. I was waiting for you to come here.]

[.....Michael!?!]

The Archangels that never showed up in the War of the Wall of Chaos, had gathered here – there were two of them to boot! It was a surprising situation that made others think that the War of the Wall of Chaos was not important to them at all.

It wasn't only that, A few of the higher existences belonging to the Destruction Demon Army seem to explode all of a sudden, before a pitch black monster appeared out of the puddle of blood that formed, and instantly magnified. Yu IlHan realized that it was a type of teleportation magic that involved using blood as a catalyst.

[So it is finally the moment I've been waiting for..... The Lord gave me an order. I came here solely to kill 'him'.]

[The 1st Battalion Commander of the Destruction Demon Army, Keshein..... dammit.]

Yu IlHan waited just in case a Chief Gatekeeper appeared from the Garden of Sunset, but they didn't seem to participate. It seemed like the loss of Kelatuke last time was a big loss for them. Well, even without them, the characters that gathered here were more than luxurious for a single world.

[Anafière. The power of the Netherworld will decrease considerably if you lose the power of this world. At that time, Satan will fear even me. Will you guys be fine with just you alone? Where's the 1st Wing, Lazière?]

[Dream on, Michael. Without the need for Lady Lazière's power, you will be finished easily. Just what do you have in mind to leave Heaven so empty?]

[Right now, Heaven is in the cleanest state since the birth of Satan. Although you might be surprised, the current Heaven is safe. We've acquired a tremendous helper.]

[.....]

Anafière realized who this helper referred to. He bit his lips lightly.

[Yu IlHan..... did he go to your side?]

[What do you mean our side? We are in a state of cooperation. And so, you should resent Yu IlHan more than you do us. No?]

[Eeeek.....!]

Michael smiled. It was as if he already knew what the master of fallen angels had ordered them. Anafière was enraged, and Michael swung his spear with a thicker smile.

[But rejoice, Anafière.]

Flames rose from his body. At the same time, a flame rose from Yu IlHan's body as well. His concealment was dispelled, and his figure was revealed for all to see.

Yu IlHan knew very well why this had happened.

The Heart of Fire, used in the creation of the Soul of Fire. That item contained records of when it was inside the Heaven's Army's treasury, and Raphael was agitating those records in secret while acting together with Yu IlHan to cast one magic.

And Michael had activated that magic. It was the perfect magic solely created to nullify Yu IlHan's concealment!

[I will erase that boy in your stead.]

And now, Michael was looking directly at Yu IlHan.

No, it wasn't just him.

All higher existences in this vast world were glaring at Yu IlHan. Especially Raphael, who was smirking at him, and the 1st Battalion Commander of the Destruction Demon Army were the most impressive of the bunch. Meaning, they had some connection behind this.

In other words, this battlefield was not intended for cleaning up traitors and attack the Army of Brilliant Light. It was to deceive Yu IlHan to look like it, and lure him here in order to kill him!

Eternal Flame asked.

[Can I erase it now, master?]

“Go ahead, Eternal Flame. You can erase that magic now. Sorry you had to feel stifled all this time.”

And it was also the stage for Yu IlHan's giant leap.

[Hm?]

Michael panicked for a moment. He realized that the seal he had engraved in order to track Yu IlHan had disappeared. Yu IlHan only laughed when he saw that.

“You didn’t possibly think that I didn’t know about it, right? What you guys utilized in the process of making the seal was fire and records. And I’m ahead of you in both of those fields.”

[.....What?]

The one that replied was Raphael. It was a magic that took him a long time to do it in secret, and in actuality, Yu IlHan was revealed in front of everyone like this. But what? He knew from the beginning? Then why was he affected by the magic initially?

“You guys.”

Yu IlHan looked around to everyone with a thick smile on his face. Angels that thought that they had cornered him; Archangel Michael clad in fire; Army of Brilliant Light that acted confused; Destruction-loving perverse beasts of destruction from the Destruction Demon Army; as well as the mysterious perverts, the Garden of Sunset – he looked towards all of them and asked.

“Just who are you looking at?”

The next moment the figure of Yu IlHan turned into a black fog and melted into thin air.

[.....What?]

Raphael finally realized that something was strange. The ones that rushed into battlefield were Yu IlHan and Yumir, two of them, but the one revealed by Michael’s magic just now was Yu IlHan alone!

But then, where was the dragon? No, what was that thing which looked like Yu IlHan that appeared in front of them? Was it really Yu IlHan?

[Critical Hit!]

Raphael was given the answer the next moment. Just barely after looking at the spear that had impaled his abdomen.

Yu IlHan was never there in the first place. He deceived Raphael to and attacked him with his maximum power at the perfect timing.

Raphael's shoulder blades shattered, and two pairs of wings were ripped out.

[You..... deceived me!]

"Just who, deceived who?"

Asked Yu IlHan in a cold voice. Raphael became speechless at that. At least, he didn't have the qualifications to denounce him. He coughed out blood and asked.

[How did you do it?]

"Though I hate to say it since the feeling is like I'm a villain from a movie if I explain in this situation.....but, it's an artifact."

Flamesoul Dragon Body, to be precise, it was the power of the Body of the Human Dragon. He separated a portion of his mana as well as the combined magic from Michael and Raphael to make it look believable, and while that attracted the gaze of all beings here, Yu IlHan had brought out all his powers as a Deathgod to attack Raphael with Yumir. It was a very simple process.

[Simple? The technique that deceived all 7th class beings including me..... is simple!?]

"It was simple for me. Well, then. How long are you going to act like you were done in?"

Raphael had an innate recovery power. Of course, Yu IlHan's attack was strong, but that wouldn't make him immobile.

In truth, Raphael clicked his tongue the moment he heard Yu IlHan's words and disappeared only to reappear in another place. The place beside the strongest man here, Michael.

[Raphael, your body?]

[I am fine.]

Michael also met him with a slightly nervous gaze. He probably felt something after seeing that his proud 'flames' didn't work against Yu IlHan.

[He's an ominous guy. He just accepted the magic even while knowing about it. It shouldn't be for a petty reason like 'to attack you'.....]

[Kugh..... Be wary against him, Lord Michael. We do not know what else he may be hiding.]

"That's amazing."

Yu IlHan was amazed after seeing Raphael relatively fine even though he looked to be on the verge of death just a moment ago.

However, that was enough. The guts, bones, flesh, the white blood, as well as the white feathers on his flaming spear allowed him to get whatever records necessary from him.

[.....Michael, don't tell me the reason you came here was.]

The 2nd Wing of Brilliant Light, Anafière spoke in a voice of disbelief.

[To kill Yu IlHan?]

[To be exact, it's to prevent you from protecting Yu IlHan. If you do not stop us, then we are only thankful..... how is it?]

[.....Although we are fed up with Yu IlHan's actions, he's nothing compared to your mindset and actions. Did you shake hands with the Destruction Demon Army? Even though you're the prided 'Heaven's seeds'?]

Michael shrugged his shoulders and nodded his head.

[I do not like the idea of borrowing power from those filthy beasts, but I can't help it if it's to stop another disturbing element from rising. It was an insulting and demeaning negotiation.]

[You really are..... Move out.]

Anafière relayed an order to the fallen angels even while thinking it was absurd. The next moment, all the fallen angels that filled the battlefield started to show strange movements.

“Huh?”

Yu IlHan tilted his head in confusion while collecting the remnants of Raphael. Although fallen angels being hostile against angels was a usual thing, they were currently moving like they intended to protect Yu IlHan.

“.....What are you up to?”

Even though, just until now, he was helping the angels exterminate the traitors, and were killing fallen angels? Just why did they try to protect Yu IlHan now?

At that moment, something flashed by Yu IlHan’s head.

“Is it something like ‘Only we can touch that guy!’ or stuff like that? It feels disgusting so stop it!”

Yu IlHan felt strange since he somehow felt like he was the protagonist of some romance novel now, and shouted out in shock. Of course, Anafière only felt that it was tragic.

[To think we need to..... crunch, protect him!]

[Lord Anafière, do we really need to protect that? Wouldn’t Lord Satan’s thoughts have changed by now?]

[Do not try to question his orders. Until the moment he orders us otherwise, we.....]

Anafière bit his lips as he turned around as if to protect Yu IlHan. In his hand was a gigantic bloody great sword.

[Need to protect Yu IlHan. Crissière, Satière, I presume you know what to do?]

[Yes.]

The 3rd and 4th Wing of Brilliant Light stepped against the one from the Destruction Demon Army, Keshein, that appeared through blood. He only laughed.

[You guys are too weak..... I only want to hunt that human over there.]

[Let’s see you blab on!]

They all charged. Flashes of light and blood flew. The 5th class higher existences also acted according to their factions as well. Even though the objective of this war had completely changed, its intensity only rose in scale.

[That's an interesting scene.]

The Heaven's Army that executed its traitors through Yu IlHan's power was now trying to kill him with the help of Destruction Demon Army, and the Army of Brilliant Light that had received tremendous damage from Yu IlHan now had to protect him just because of orders from Satan, while the most objectively inferior group in this battle, the Garden of Sunset, watched on in curiosity.

Although he didn't want to agree with them, it was very interesting scene even to Yu IlHan as well. It was very interesting, but.

[You have mastered the skill, Record.]

[You have acquired the qualifications.]

[All of your records gather. You are newly recorded in this sole world.]

"Hey."

Yu IlHan called out the Cradle of Miracles in the air and spoke.

"Since when was this your stage?"

[..... Yu IlHan!?!]

Someone, who realized the intentions behind his movements shouted. However, it was too late by then.

[Dad, I'm ready.]

Reported Yumir quietly. Yu IlHan replied with a smile.

"Yes, Mir. ....I'm also ready!"

The Cradle of Miracles explosively expanded in size and enveloped Yu IlHan and Yumir. They resonated with it while emitting intense amounts of mana, and the Flamesoul Dragon Body followed soon after. The energy of dragons, and the energy of fire that were all under Yu IlHan's rule amplified within it, compressed after, then repeated the cycle of amplification and compression.

[All titles disappear with their effects remaining intact. You become a being that cannot be defined by any language.]

[All the blessings of gods you have received is cancelled. You now have direct dominion over those attributes.]

[The effects of the title, 'Surpasser', is added to the records. You are no longer bound by anything.]

Eternal Flame only collected her consciousness with her master in joy, but Echjar still couldn't believe it even though he was at the center of all this.

[Th, this human, this mere human! My lord has really..... really?]

Red light filled the world. Michael finally felt a sense of crisis for the first time after arriving at this world.

[W, we need to stop him. It's happening much faster than we expected!]

[Stop him. Attack! I said stop him!]

[Dammit!]

All angels and Destruction Demon soldiers rushed towards him. The fallen angels desperately attempted to stop them, while the gatekeepers watched on with joy. One of the gatekeepers spoke with a laugh.

[It's too late. You cannot stop him! It's the birth of the Fifth! The latest but the brightest of them all! The Fifth!]

[Of them all.....? You mean to say that he's bigger and better than your own leader?]

[The Lord has spoken as such, and we only faithfully believe his words!]

The prophecy from the ruler of the Garden of Sunset. The same prophecy that was known to everyone through Helièna, and the same one that everyone was wary against. Michael shouted while clenching his teeth.

[Kill him!]

The flaming spear thrown by Michael was blocked by Anafière. As he was lacking in power to fully defend against Michael, he was pushed back mercilessly while coughing out black blood, but despite that, Anafière stopped Michael with all his power. A similar scene was happening with Crissièrè, Satière, and Keshein.

[Ki, Kikik.]

[Dammit!]

[Lord Satan, O LORD SATAN!]

Yu IlHan didn't care no matter how much of a mess the battlefield came to be. What was important to him right now was only himself.

Everything that he had memorized and recorded from the moment he was born, the power of higher existences, and the fragment of God that he could finally acquire from Raphael! The records and sources of power that ruled and evolved worlds he had acquired from countless higher worlds!

A single line of text appeared on Yu IlHan's retina.

[You may become the one that encompasses all, but you are still lacking something.]

[However, you may now acquire a new subclass to replace Angel's Partner. There is something that you need amidst them. You already know what you require.]

1. [Woodworker]

2. [Blacksmith]

3. [Musician]

4. [Tamer]

.....

179. [Leader]

Leader. A leader was a very common subclass possessed by those with qualities to harmonize other people and lead them. A subclass that gave bonuses when partying, and also one that amplified in effect the more personnel he or she led. The subclass that almost all clan masters possessed.

And now, that had appeared as a selectable option in the list. There was no reason to speak of. It was because party play didn't suit a man like Yu IlHan. If he didn't create a fleet after becoming the Dimensional Traveler, there would never come a day where leader appeared as one of the available subclasses.

“I’m quite the stubborn guy even in my opinion.”

[Yu IlHaaaaaaaan!]

The angels that broke through the fallen angels attacked him mercilessly. However, the words from the gatekeepers from the Garden of Sunset were right, and none of their attacks reached Yu IlHan. In fact, the mana they used was swept up in the resonance and only gave Yu IlHan additional power. This applied to any attacks that came his way.

Michael and the other angels were all acting in vain. If they really wanted to prevent Yu IlHan from becoming a higher existence, they should have run away with all their might. Of course, that would only delay his awakening by a little!

[Dad is a cool dad. You always were, and you always will be. We all believe in dad.]

Spoke Yumir. He was really an honest and cute kid. He was only dumbstruck when he was first born, he could say this honestly now – That he could step forward because he was here; that he could truly become happy as Yumir appeared in his life.

“Thanks, Mir.”

Yu IlHan patted Yumir’s head. Then, he raised his head, and chose.

“Yes. I’ll become a Leader.”

[All qualifications have been fulfilled.]

Reported the Akashic Record. As always, the green text appeared on Yu IlHan’s retina.

As well as the retinas of all higher existences here.

[A new higher existence faction ‘Dragon’s Nest’, is born.]

ANNNNNNNNNND a massive cliffhanger xD

Okay some people were confused about chapters next week (tomorrow onwards)

Two chapters will go up tomorrow (two sponsored) depending on sponsor status, two more will go up on Tuesday

After that, there will be a Thursday regular, then Sunday double regular.
(Somehow that sounds like Baskin Robbins icecream lol)

Then we'll be back to regular schedule for the week after.

Current sponsor status is still $122 as these two chapters are regular chapters.

Chapter 295: I Will Achieve – 5

What was creation? Yu IlHan had never forged anything from nothingness and as such, he did not know what true creation was just yet.

The creation he knew of was tied to using materials that already existed and transforming them into something else. He took it a step further, giving rise to what was regarded as impossible, from what naturally occurred.

With enough materials, he could make anything. He had the confidence to do that.

[It is not too late. We can still.....]

[L, Lord Michael!]

[Get out..... dirty crows. Do not block the way of the one that executes God's orders!]

Voices of angels and fallen angels could be heard afar. Yu IlHan thought while listening to them.

What was I trying to do again?

"Yes, creation."

Creation of what?

"Myself."

His true self, created from the materials provided through his very own being. The smith was himself, while Eternal Flame, Echjar, and Yumir were helping him. The Cradle of Miracles served the same purpose. Fusing the flames and dragons within him into one, and giving rise to a completely different being.

Now that he had finally mastered the Record skill, nothing stopped him from doing it.

"I wish I had more flames."

If he was disappointed about anything, it was that. Of course, Yu IlHan was currently in a realm where he could create flames by himself and rule over them, but he had to make the dragon's mana in the same way as well.

Eternal Flame and Echjar were supporting the energy of flames and dragons respectively. Additionally, Yumir was also providing him with dragon's mana. That was why, the dragon's energy was slightly larger than the flame energy he had.

He wanted to balance those two out. What could he do? How? When he thought up until that point, he discovered an external source of flame approaching him.

"So that's it."

The one that was burning in intense hostility was Michael, a God's deputy. It seemed that the fallen angels were insufficient to block him. He could feel the aura of flames approaching him in a straight line.

He would have finished earlier if the fallen angels didn't block him... those guys really didn't do anything good.

[Although I think it is very unfortunate..... we cannot allow your existence. We shall take care of Earth. So..... die in peace!]

Shaking off the 2nd Wing of Brilliant Light, Anafièrè, Michael flew towards him and threw a flaming lance that contained all his mana. The 4th Wing of Brilliant Light, Satièrè, tried to block it before it reached Yu IlHan, but the 1st Battalion Commander of the Destruction Demon Army, Keshein, swallowed the 5th Wing and held Satièrè back.

[You damn monster.....!]

[He's grilling him for me to eat. I can't allow you to stop him before he is cooked to perfection!]

These guys were imitating an orchestra all by themselves. Yu IlHan laughed and watched the many fights going on, before eventually shifting the position of the Cradle of Miracles slightly. The next moment, the flaming spear flew straight into the Cradle.

The flaming spear should have destroyed the Cradle as well as Yu IlHan within it, but it had lost all its force and was only left with intense energy, which filled the Cradle of Miracles.

“No, no. I’m not reflecting it. That’s it.”

He had ‘countered’ the strike from Michael who was even called the God’s deputy. It was natural for the Counter skill to leap in levels. However, even though Yu IlHan had acquired an opportunity to injure Michael, he cancelled the skill midway. It was to absorb the raging flames held within the attack.

“Thanks. You filled the last piece of the puzzle.”

[My God.....]

With his flames stolen, Michael finally realized where this was going and muttered in disbelief. The closer he went to Yu IlHan, the clearer he could see what he was doing right now.

On the outside, he still kept his human figure, but in actuality he was anything but human. Right now, the elements that made up the person known as Yu Ilhan was decomposing, they broke down into the most basic units, and were subsequently reconstructed into the most perfect combinations and structures.

[You, are already.....]

“Yes.”

Yu IlHan replied with a smile.”

“You guys are too late.”

[I cannot accept it!]

Michael made a new set of flames and threw them. Yu IlHan’s very existence had become loose; and Michael had lit a fire in the heart of all of it. However, it only helped Yu IlHan in his creation as it was sucked into the domanical resonance.

If Michael was an angel that manipulated not fire, but water or ice, he could have delayed Yu IlHan’s creation by a little, but now that Yu IlHan had ascended to a new realm of being, all of his flames were instead ruled by Yu IlHan.

[This cannot happen. Gabriel definitely told us that we will not be too late. His foreknowledge has not yet.....]

“Foreknowledge.... prophecy....”

The closer he approached Yu IlHan, the more mana of flames that composed Michael was sucked out of him and into Yu IlHan. The resonance between Yu IlHan and the Cradle of Miracles was now loud like thunder and even made some of the beings here deaf.

“I’m sick and tired of all that bullshit. I never looked at the answers when I solved questions in textbooks.”

That was a lie. He did glance at the solutions when he didn’t understand how to do them.

However, repeating such actions would increase his reliance on the answer sheet. Once one found himself being relieved only after seeing the answer in the answer sheet, they would realize how dangerous it is to know the answer beforehand. Yu IlHan also stopped checking the answer sheet after that.

Yu IlHan liked the unknown.

He liked freedom.

He even loved loneliness, but on the contrary, he also liked noise as well.

He liked everything that endeared him and loved him, and now he wanted to reciprocate and love them back.

If he had the qualifications.

He wanted to encompass everything in his embrace.

The flames Michael had made, the one that contained his all poured from the Cradle of Miracles to Yu IlHan. It was as if looking at a baptism of flames. Michael cursed himself for thinking that that scene looked holy for a brief moment.

Creation began.

[Master..... is changing.]

[Th, this..... is not changing. It's rebirth. How can this be. Is this being really achieving the long cherished wish of the dragonkin? A being that is not a dragon, s is being reborn as a dragon?]

[Dad is becoming stronger. I'm also becoming stronger.]

"Everyone..... concentrate."

Yu IlHan knead himself. As he kneaded all of his records, his titles, main class, and even skills were all mixed up with each other and were destroyed and was created anew, but the important thing was not that right now.

He concentrated purely in order to make himself stronger, more perfect, and more suitable.

[All main classes and subclasses disappear with their abilities intact.]

[The skills, Record and Rule, fuse and evolve. You have acquired the skill, Declaration. You can now create a record that surpasses records within your domain, as well as bringing non-existent records into reality. It will use large quantities of mana in the process.]

[The skills, Falling Down, Dragonic blood, Dragon-man resonance, fuse and evolve. You have acquired the skill, Manifestation. You can increase the abilities of everything under your domain. You can implement more destructive abilities on a wider scale as the skill grows.]

[The skills, God Force, Spear of Untraceable Trajectory, Great Cosmos-severing Spear, Dismantling, Excavation, Absolute Accuracy, fuse and evolve. You have acquired the skill, Transcendent Trajectory.]

Seeing the strongest being here, Michael, being easily swept up in front of Yu IlHan, no one could approach him. Of course, the Destruction Demon Army did not care for that and rushed in, but they were akin to moths rushing into a firestorm, only to be sucked dry of their mana and shrivelling into nothingness under the domineering might of the turbulent resonance.

[Kugh, like this..... I can't eat him! Dammit! Uaaaaaaaaaah!]

And that was no exception for the 1st Battalion Commander of the Destruction Demon Army, Keshein. It was clear what this meant.

Yu IlHan had already pioneered a new realm from all those here, and a realm that they could not reach.

“Well, then.....”

[No, no.....!]

[My lord, o, Satan! Are you really going to allow the birth of such a being? O Lord Satan!]

[Aah, the prophecy..... is finally happening!]

Brilliant flames arose. The flames that arose as if to shroud Yu IlHan and Yumir’s figures expanded rapidly to swallow everything in the region and forming a complete sphere.

It looked like a red egg. The unprecedented. The ‘Unique (Yu IlHan)’ was completing himself inside the egg.

[Aah.]

[He is.....]

[Born.]

And at one moment, the flame that formed a sphere started being sucked into the center. At that moment, the world became silent. As if to celebrate, or to fear, his birth, everyone was silent.

And Yu IlHan opened his eyes.

Countless text appeared on his retina.

[You have become the ruler(lord) of the higher existence faction ‘Dragon’s Nest’. You have become a being that is no longer bound by league. You are not bound by anything. You do not become stronger in a world under your rule, but are not affected either in a world belonging to an enemy.]

[Born man, reborn through dragons and flames, you can also influence absolute authority over all metal and artifacts.]

[You can enable additional ruling within the domain with the skill ‘Declaration’ whenever you wish.]

[‘No one’ can hide from you.]

[You have become level 519.]

[Yu IlHan]

[Lord of Dragon's Nest Lv519]

[Strength – 1,113 Agility – 1,067 Health – 1,035 Magic – 1,528]

[Passive skills – Blacksmithing Lv Max, Magic engineering Lv Max, Cooking Lv Max, Unshakable heart Lv Max, Dimensional adaptation Lv 79, Fleet command Lv 86]

“Fuu…….”

[Master!]

[My god…… My lord, my ruler!]

The most difficult work ever since he learned creation was finally over. Yu IlHan sighed in relief and shrugged his shoulders. A small translucent flame lingered in his breath for a moment. The Soul of Fire and the Body of the Human Dragon, that hadn't taken form yet, covered his naked body again.

While everyone was looking at him absent-mindedly, Yu IlHan patted Yumir's head and checked his status.

“Mir, are you alright?”

[Yeah, I grew a lot!]

Yumir awakened as soon as Yu IlHan did. Since he was connected to Yu IlHan more deeply than anyone else, he had evolved the moment Yu IlHan was reborn as the Lord of Dragon's Nest.

[I became a lot stronger, dad! Did I do good?]

“Of course. You did very well.”

[Hehe.]

Right now, Yumir was a much bigger dragon than before. With his level limitation removed, he grew instantly into a 6th class dragon of level 451. Right now, he could wield flames in conjunction with his wind. Naturally, that was thanks to Yu IlHan's help.

“Oh, and Michael's help too.”

[You, bastard.....]

Michael clenched his teeth while facing Yu IlHan that was reborn into a lord. The flaming lance in his hand could not maintain itself and disappeared. In front of the lord of all fire, Yu IlHan, no one could use the power of fire without his authority.

[I am the deputy of God! O false Transcender. You do not think that flames are all that I have, do you!]

“Of course not. I also know that you're very strong.”

Replied Yu IlHan slowly as he raised his hand. A spear of pure flames appeared in his hand. The appearance was so natural that no one could feel anything awkward from it.

“And so, Michael.....”

Yu IlHan flicked his finger with a smile.

“Come at me.”

Chapter 296: I Will Achieve – 6

[Such impudence.]

Michael called out a new weapon and grasped onto it tightly. Although its origins were unknown, the spear was made from an ancient metal. Just looking at it was enough for anyone to tell that it was a God-ranked artifact.

[The light that clads you. It is a mere coating that will peel off with a few scratches!]

But what was more interesting was the God ranked artifact he was holding. It wasn’t like he only had one God-ranked artifact despite being the God’s deputy, and he was also the de-facto leader of the Four Great Archangels... Though, he did have to be cautious about the God ranked artifact’s power.....

“Whoops. Why are you in such a rush...”

A spear of flames and a spear of metal clashed in midair. Like how Michael’s fire didn’t work against Yu IlHan, Yu IlHan’s own fire was not 100% effective against an angel that manipulated fire. As a result, the first clash was a draw..... or so it seemed.

Michael was about to step back after exchanging light blows, but he found himself unable to take a step back, leading to a look of confusion. He could not withdraw his spear after the clash.

“What’s wrong?”

[You.....]

From the outside, it looked like they were having a friendly conversation. Michael’s expression stiffened fearfully.

[What did you do?]

“You think I’ll tell you?”

When Yu IlHan pulled his flaming spear towards him, the metallic spear slid to his hands as well. This was not just any Epic or Chaos rank, but a God-ranked one! Michael couldn't let it be stolen and desperately pulled on it, and as a result, even his body was flung forward. Yu IlHan's cold and sharp kick hit him squarely on the chest.

[Critical Hit!]

[Kugh!]

[Lord Michael!]

If it was the lower existence Yu IlHan from before, he couldn't possibly deal any damage to Michael with a light kick, but right now he was a ruler-class being with a level that surpassed 500. With a single kick containing God Force, Michael's body was pushed across the air, and the God-ranked spear fell into Yu IlHan's hands.

[Do you think physically taking it away will make it yours?!!]

"Oh, this is a splendid spear. It inflicts the enemy with a wound that cannot be cured, and the wounds caused by this will never stop bleeding..... and the one that is acknowledged as master of this weapon can heal himself by injuring others. Isn't this quite the vicious weapon for an angel?"

Yu IlHan swung it a few times to read the records from it, and struck it into the Flamesoul Dragon body without hesitation. Was he trying to harm himself?

Michael was shocked at the scene, but became speechless the next moment. The God-ranked artifact was sucked into the armor while giving rise to ripples, as if it was being thrown into a pond.

[Yu, IlHan.....?]

"Thanks."

The next moment, the spear he was holding slightly changed in shape. The spear body became a little longer, and a special insignia was engraved on the blade. Michael immediately realized what this meant. He subconsciously groaned.

[No way..... it's not true. That cannot possibly happen.]

“Well then. Time to test it out, I guess?”

[Kuoooooooooh!]

This time, it was Yu IlHan’s turn. Without having to speak anything, Yumir roared out and flapped his wings, giving rise to a volley of flames! The moment Yu IlHan ‘wished’ to be in front of the enemy, he appeared in front of the enemy.

[Kuh.....!?!]

With firm movements, Yu IlHan lashed out with his spear. Michael proved that he wasn’t God’s deputy for nothing and dodged before Yu IlHan could even reach him, but Yu IlHan’s spear wasn’t just a simple physical attack.

“Heh.”

With numerous techniques fusing into one with the Spear of Untraceable Trajectory and the Great Cosmos-severing Spear as the foundation, it had reborn into a trajectory that surpassed cause and effect, space, and fate. That was why the name was ‘Transcendent Trajectory’.

It was not avoidable by dodging, nor was it defensible by blocking, undetectable by sight, nor could it be heard by listening.

[Critical Hit!]

[Kuu..... Kugh!?!]

The moment a line that only the Supreme can make, was drawn, A burst of white blood scattered from Michael’s chest even though he was far away from Yu Ilhan.

Endlessly.

[Don’t tell me, you really copied the artifact..... It was what the LORD gave me!]

[Lord Michael!]

Raphael couldn’t just stay still and used his power on him. The unparalleled ability of healing shrouded Michael. However, Yu IlHan only laughed.

[It's not stopping. Lord Michael's blood is.....]

[..... Kugh, obviously. The power of a God ranked artifact cannot be ignored by you, Raphael, or even me.]

Yu IlHan once again rushed towards Michael and swung his spear. Michael knew that it was useless to dodge and he instead summoned another artifact to meet it head on, but the artifact was instantly crushed and another injury appeared on his body. Michael held back his groan, but Raphael couldn't endure anymore. A spear of wind appeared in his hands.

[Impudent being. How dare you covet the authority of Heaven just because you became a little stronger!]

“Yes, come at me. You won't be able to recover so easily like last time.”

[Kuoooooooooh!]

Yumir cried along with Yu IlHan's intent. The wind generated from his body made the fire burning on Yu IlHan's armor stronger. The resonance between the two deepened, and the already gigantic spear became even more threatening.

[Raphael! Do not let your guard down!]

[Lord Michael, please rest! We cannot turn tail in front of the devil when we serve the only LORD!]

[Raphael!]

A devil, eh. It finally came to that. Yu IlHan made a bitter smile while watching Raphael who was flying with the help of wind and with his partially ripped wings. He really looked like a holy angel on God's orders, making him feel like he really was playing the role of a devil.

However, if he had to acquire the title of devil just because he wanted to become strong in order to survive.

He'll gladly take it.

[O Father, bless my every steps! Bestow me the power to defeat the devil!]

“Hhp.”

This was no time to think about anything. Yu IlHan gripped onto his spear in order to strike back.

[Hah!]

However, someone appeared behind him just before he clashed with Raphael. It was none other than Keshein, the 1st Battalion Commander of the Destruction Demon Army. However, Yu IlHan only slashed once. Though, in fact, he just didn't have the time to attack both forward and back.

[Kugh.....!]

[Kihigh!]

Raphael clenched his teeth to block it, but Keshein made a smile of victory. It was worth it to come here! Weakening the Heaven's Army, and he shall become stronger! He felt like he could see the future filled with destruction and bliss.

[Critical Hit!]

It was a very precise moment, and everyone here knew of Keshein's strength, so it was no wonder that the higher existences there thought that Yu IlHan's rampage will finally come to a stop. However, the results betrayed all of their imaginations.

[K, ugh.....]

[Kigh!]

Even though there was only a single strike that swept through the air, there were two wounds. Raphael couldn't block Yu IlHan's spear and was shot away while spurting blood from his chest, while Keshein fell down before his claws could reach Yu IlHan's head as his neck was perforated multiple times before he could reach him. Yu IlHan's slash and piercing attacks were realized in two different directions at once.

[You have earned the records of Lv 588 Keshein.]

[Aah, how can-]

“Bye.”

Yu IlHan didn't even listen to Raphael's final words and mercilessly struck his spear into his forehead. The spear pierced through his brain and that was it.

[You have earned the record of Lv 585 Raphael.]

[The skill, Declaration, has become level 19.]

The numerous higher existences residing in that world were momentarily awestruck, they didn't understand what had happened and just watched on with dumbfounded expressions. However, after Keshein and Raphael's corpses were sucked into Yu IlHan's inventory, they finally realized that the two had met their deaths.

“Fuu.”

[Dad, I levelled up a lot again!]

“Well done, Mir.”

The father and son exchanged smiles that didn't fit in this situation and praised each other, and this scene looked very out-of-place to the onlookers. In fact, it looked very vicious and fearful as well. They felt as if the entire world had been frozen and was broken into pieces.

[Even Keshein and Raphael were.....]

[One of the Four Great Archangels..... died?]

[The 1st Battalion Commander of the Destruction Demon Army, was so easily.....]

Yu IlHan raised his head. While everyone retreated a step back in fear, only Michael, who had to witness the death of Raphael right in front of his eyes, despaired.

[Dammit, DAMMMMMMMMMMMMMMMIT!]

[It's as if, that being is.....]

Everyone was paying attention to Yu IlHan. However, their gazes were now fundamentally different from how they viewed him before.

Hostility from the angels and wrath from fallen angels, desire from the Destruction Demon Army and pleasure from the Garden of Sunset. The four specific emotions before had now changed to just one.

[We cannot do anything about that being.]

[We need to run. Run!]

It was a sense of admiration and a deep, overwhelming wave of horror.

[Run.]

[Before he closes all the paths from this world.]

[Why is Lord Satan only watching?]

[He is one that will enjoy even this. This is a world that is connected to the Netherworld. He must be enjoying watching whether this transcender will take over or just abandon this world.]

[Retreat. We cannot get in his way.]

[Run.]

The Garden of Sunset and the Army of Brilliant Light were the first to move. The Garden of Sunset didn't participate in this seriously in the first place, and the Army of Brilliant Light immediately opted to retreat after seeing that Satan didn't react to this.

[Lord Michael.]

[Lord Michael!]

Michael raised his head a little after that. The angels scattered around the world had all come back and were looking at him. Yu IlHan was just watching him without attacking for some reason, and Michael knew precisely why he did so, which made him more angry.

However, despite that.

[.....We will retreat.]

[Yes, sir.]

The angels all started disappearing as if they had waited for that order to come down. Even those fanatics realized the difference in power.

Michael watched as they all returned, and when he was the only one left, he finally raised his head to glare at Yu IlHan. Feeling the boiling mana inside him, Yu IlHan leaked out a laugh.

[The LORD shall punish you for your sins.]

“I’m really curious, but are you going to die if God tells you to?”

[If such is the will of God. And according to the same will, you shall definitely die.]

“And God really said that?”

[.....]

Michael disappeared without giving an answer. Then, the ones left were Yu IlHan, Yumir and the remnants of the Destruction Demon Army forces.

“Why are you guys still here? Wanna fight even though you know you’ll die? Well, I guess that’s your raison d’être.”

It was the next moment that a completely unexpected answer was given to him.

[Our boss wants to meet you!]

[The Fifth! Let us go to Elo Katra together!]

“.....What?”

Yu IlHan had just finished off their 1st Battalion Commander Keshein, and a little before that, he had killed and revived Helièna into one of his subordinates. The leader of Destruction Demon Army shouldn't really like him that much. However, they did some really interesting things.

[He won't kill you! He won't fight you either!]

[The greatest service since the creation of the Destruction Demon Army! The boss likes you!]

[He wants to play with you! He wants to play!]

Even though Yu IlHan had just awakened and became a transcender not long ago, the enemy was a super strong being who had surpassed the boundaries of a higher existence and transcended god knows how long ago before he did. If he just followed their invitation blindly like a lost sheep, he didn't know what sort of situation he would end up in. However, Yu IlHan just laughed and replied.

"Okay, let's go then!"

Yu IlHan was no idiot. He was thinking about just one thing right now.

-What kind of artifacts are there in Elo Katra?

Chapter 297: I Will Achieve – 7

“This is an amazing world.”

[Hahahahaha! It’s an amazing world alright!]

The Destruction Demon Army representative laughed heartily when they heard the first line Yu IlHan uttered after entering Elo Katra. Of course, some of them couldn’t hold back their instincts and attacked Yu IlHan, but those beings were instantly obliterated by Yu IlHan before being collected into Yu IlHan’s inventory.

“I think my inventory will fill up soon so please hold back.”

[Okay! Okay!]

It seemed like this ruler of the Destruction Demon Army had great influence. Just with Yu IlHan, who was the invitee here, saying that, the predators at the top of the hierarchy prevented the others from attacking him. The others all just chattered noisily around him

[You seduced Lady Helièna, didn’t you? Tell me how you did it!]

[Lady Helièna! I want to see the beautiful lady Helièna.]

Yu IlHan believed that one needed to have the smarts to become a higher existence, but that didn’t seem so true after looking at these guys.

Perhaps being insanely strong was all that mattered! Perhaps Yu IlHan had taken a very roundabout way in order to leap into the realm of higher existences! The more he thought, the more believable it became so he just decided to stop thinking about it.

[There’s still a long ways until the castle.]

[I want to see Lady Helièna.]

[Even Satan didn’t attract his attention.]

“Who knows.”

Vaguely ignoring the loud predators around, Yu IlHan looked around in Elo Katra. Both the skies and the lands were pitch black, the distance between the two were great, magma boiled here and there, and the air contained a concoction of potent poisons. There was no way any life form would grow normally in this environment.

“Perhaps Earth will become like this one day.”

[I don't want it to be.]

Yumir didn't seem to like Elo Katra. Yu IlHan also agreed with a laugh.

“Yes. Dad also doesn't want Earth to become like this. It won't be such a good environment for the people of Earth.”

[We'll be there soon.]

A gigantic castle that no one could see until just now, even to Yu IlHan who saw through all concealments, had shown itself. The aura of destruction that can be felt at the center of all this made even Yu IlHan, who had just awakened to become a higher existence, momentarily feel a sense of fear.

“Hm, leaders are a completely different class of its own alright. I think he's stronger than Michael.”

[But that angel was weaker than dad!]

“The reason dad could overwhelm Michael is because of our affinity with fire, Mir.”

The more they approached the castle, the stronger the pressure became. Rather than blocking it head on, Yu IlHan focused on striking them back with the Counter skill. He had unexpected gains when he did that.

[The skill, Counter, has become level 42.]

“Whew, that's some fast skill growth. At this rate, I want one of those in my house too.”

[Really the vicious lord.....]

Echjar felt that he knew why Yu IlHan could become so strong. No one else would ever say that they wanted an incarnation of the leader of the Destruction Demon Army in one's house other than him!

[The skill, Counter, has become level 45.]

"Huh? I think there was something mixed up in that just now..... oh."

[Kraaaaaaaaaaar!]

Eventually, Yu IlHan noticed the figure standing in front of the castle's entrance. He thought back since he remembered seeing this guy before, and it turned out he was one of the two Battalion Commanders that had come to Yu IlHan wishing to avenge Helièna.

[You..... have crawled in here so shamelessly after all that.]

"I'm sorry, but who are you again?"

Yu IlHan asked out of pure curiosity, but it was enough to make the other agitated and enraged.

[I'm Hillutonne, the 2nd Battalion Commander of the Destruction Demon Army! You stole Helièna, who was mine!]

"Your what?"

He couldn't reply. Well, he had absolutely no relation to Helièna at all!

[You! I will definitely kill you! Kuoooooooooooh!]

"Helièna's your what! Why the hell did you stop so suddenly!"

[Kraaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaar!]

So, he just went berserk, a stereotypical method of dodging the topic, and charged against Yu IlHan! Yu IlHan also realized the truth soon. Pitiful guy. It was a case of unrequited love from beginning to end!

"How can I help it when she says she likes me? Why don't you just give up around here?"

He teased Hillutonne with a face of pity. He was the number one in the universe in regards to having a contradicting expression to what he was saying.

[Kuaaaaaaaaaaaaah!]

Perhaps it would be different if Yu IlHan met Hillutonne outside, but this was Elo Katra, the main headquarters of the Destruction Demon Army, and right in front of the castle where the ruler resided at, so his abilities had amplified massively in this place. Home territory advantage was really at play here.

“Fuu.”

But even so, Yu IlHan didn't think the slightest that he would lose this fight.

The leaders of a higher existence faction, the ones that pioneered their own paths, were just that different. They were in a completely different realm than those that followed another's path!

“I can kill that, right?”

[Kikik, Destruction Demon Army does not ask such questions!]

“Well yeah, I guess. You guys would do stuff just like that. I asked just in case!”

Black magic power shrouded Hillutonne's body. Unlike Michael who had a mana of fire, the curseful magic power formed from pure killing intent and hatred, sharply arose and aimed for Yu IlHan and Yumir's necks.

Yumir attempted to dissipate the mana by releasing a roar that contained his own mana, but it couldn't be blocked by Yumir's attack alone since he was still at 6th class. Of course, that was without Yu IlHan's help added into the mix.

“Mir, now.”

[Kuoooooooooooooh!]

In the past, when Yu IlHan was just Yumir's Dragon rider, they only increased each other's abilities by 30% when fighting together. Of course, that was plenty amazing in itself, but it would be a stretch to call it true 'resonance'.

However, it was different now. A higher existence faction known as the Dragon's Nest, had been born, and in the process of becoming higher existences, the two were connected more solidly and more deeply than ever before, and now they could share each other's mana as well as use each other's skills. So.

[Kraaaaaaaaaaaaaaahn!]

It was not difficult at all to supplement Yumir's roar with the high-density magic power from Yu IlHan's over 1,500 points of magic!

[Critical Hit!]

[Khhaaaaaaaaaaak!]

It was just a single roar. With just a shout, all magic in the surroundings disappeared as if they were washed clean, and Hillutonne spurted blood from all over his body. Even the Dragon of Despair, Echjar, couldn't bring about such destructive power when he was alive!

[Ku, urg, you.....]

[Stop there, Hillutonne.]

A voice of a middle-aged man could be heard. It was probably the master of the castle that this barking dog was guarding! Nothing good would come out of disturbing him when the two were going to meet soon.

[However, I, only.....!]

"Who says you can run?"

However, Yu IlHan threw his spear without hesitation with a smile.

[Kahk!]

Transcendent Trajectory didn't just apply to the strikes he did with his spear, and it applied to throwing as well, and it pierced Hillutonne's body before the lord of the castle could do anything. There was no way Hillutonne could endure that when he was practically nullified by Yumir's roar already.

[You have earned the records of Lv 571 Hillutonne.]

[You have become level 533. 5 Strength, 3 Agility, 2 Health, 5 Magic increases.]

The 2nd Battalion Commander, Hillutonne, had died. Even though he had amplified his strength to the limits at the very heart of the headquarters, he just died without being able to do the slightest thing. Even though their practical commander had died, the predators belonging to the Destruction Demon Army only laughed their hearts out. Really, these guys were all screwed up.

[Ah, oh.]

Yu IlHan snorted and spoke.

“Shouldn’t he pay the price for trying to test me?”

[You really are a man suited to join the Destruction Demon Army. I told him so many times to restrain himself when it came to you, but he still shortened his life in the end. A pity.]

The gates to the castle opened. Beyond it was thick darkness as well as a Transcender shrouded in it.

[The Fifth Transcender. I welcome you. I welcome you gladly.]

“Even though I killed the 1st and 2nd Commanders and stole the 3rd?”

His answer was a masterpiece.

[Just as many Battalion Commander-level beings have died in the other factions. It was a blissful time of destruction. Just with the pleasure and delight I felt from that is enough for me to welcome you.]

Yu IlHan was reassured that the one waiting inside the castle was truly a madman and tapped on Yumir’s back. Understanding his intention, Yumir immediately changed to human form and grabbed Yu IlHan’s hand.

Growing into 6th class at once, he grew up to be a youth around the same height as Yu IlHan, but his actions were still no different from a child’s. Perhaps no one had ever reached the 6th class at his age.

“Let’s go.”

“Yeah.”

The father and son entered the castle while holding hands. There was nothing inside. As the master of the castle, it wouldn’t be surprising for him to utilize some maids or butlers, but when he thought that and saw the scene inside the castle, he immediately put that thought away. Yumir gripping his hand tight in fear was quite cute.

“No wonder nobody ever approaches this place.....”

[Are you surprised?]

“A little.”

No one could be dishonest here after looking at the being that was staring at Yu IlHan from the distance. Well, if what he saw was indeed his ‘eyes’.

[I welcome you, Yu IlHan. I call myself Greed. You’re the third being to have laid eyes on my true form.]

“And the first and the second?”

[Michael and Satan. I had a really great fight against those two. It’s a pity that I couldn’t devour them.]

Inside the walls of the unfathomably giant castle, there was a monster bound by chains made of ancient alloyed metal that even Yu IlHan had a hard time recognizing as the one who embodied the god of smithing.

Feathers of a bird, scales of a dragon, air bladder of a fish, manes of a lion, fangs of a viper, skin of a troll, muscles of an ogre, angel’s ring, and black feathers of a fallen angel – he was composed of anything that formed life across the many worlds, and after countless merges, he was at a state of saturation.

[I am Greed. One who desires. After endless desire and greed, I have reached this point.]

Greed was insanely large, and was still increasing in size.

Did Yu IlHan think Echjar was big? That Kelatuke was big? Yu IlHan horizons broadened after looking at the being that split his own magic to create a castle, and even cast a spatial distortion magic and squeezed himself into the tiny space.

“.....Should I pity you?”

[Fu, haha.]

The castle of means of imprisoning Greed. Even as a transcender, his magic power had expanded to the point that he himself couldn't bear it anymore.

Of course, the threat of mana would be equal to both himself and his enemies. And thanks to that, Yu IlHan's Counter skill was rising rapidly.

[The skill, Counter, has become level 55.]

[Pity, huh. That's an emotion I have lost long ago. Perhaps it will be worth it to taste such an emotion again through you but..... I'll refrain from now.]

"How did you devour so much?"

[I just loved devouring. I liked the disappearance of my obstacles, as well as them becoming my power. I made all that I ate into my power, and experienced endless growth.]

As a result, he now possessed a body that was huge enough to swallow Heaven itself. He charged to Heaven with the entire world he ruled, but even he despaired for the first time.

[There was no God there. There was nothing for me to eat. And Michael was annoyingly strong despite being distasteful. It wasn't worth it to clash against him.]

"That's a different reason from what I've heard?"

[Don't tell me you really think that those down there really act upon orders? The Archangels from Heaven's Army are moving on their own accord too.]

It was too true so he couldn't retort. Yu IlHan made a strange expression and checked again.

"Then the Army of Brilliant Light too?"

[Satan is the most truthful and beautiful man I know. The fallen angels are only drunk on the premise of bathing in his light.]

"And the Garden of Sunset?"

[I do not know about that side. But their leader must be such an interesting man. I am only disappointed that I haven't met him yet. Well, then. I'll return to the main topic here.]

The ruler of the Destruction Demon Army – Greed, the man who Yu IlHan expected to be the most muscle-headed and destructive, spoke to Yu IlHan in a calm voice.

[Are you aware of the upcoming destruction?]

“What?”

Yu IlHan asked back.

The monster smirked so widely that his teeth could be seen.

[I should have said just now, that God does not exist in Heaven. In other words, God has died.]

If Yu IlHan had never read books about Nietzsche before, he might be quite shocked by that statement.

[There were no new worlds born after Earth was created, while many worlds were ruined or are on their way to ruin. Even higher worlds are decreasing in number. Even if they fuse to become a bigger world, they will eventually reach ruin. Like the world belonging to the Army of Brilliant Light that you have destroyed.]

“And so what? You want to launch some interdimensional peace campaign or something?”

[I wish for destruction, but once everything disappears, there will not be a thing left for me to eat. That is also why I have to bind myself. So..... there is a need for a new God. A new Creator. There is a need for one to rule over all worlds and create them anew.]

“So you can eat to your heart’s content again?”

[Precisely, and I.]

Greed uttered some nonsense again.

[Think you will become that new God.]

1. Encounter with the leader of the Destruction Demon Army!

Chapter 298: I Will Achieve – 8

“Ah, okay.”

When Yu IlHan turned around, the monster giggled.

[You think I’m lying?]

“Uh, yeah, duh.”

[God is dead. I will eat him, while Satan is the only one that remains subservient to God until the end, while the Garden of Sunset are just onlookers. Ever since the beginning of time, only you, Yu IlHan, have reached the realm of creation other than God himself. I was sure after watching the revival of Helièna.]

“For that, I only infused half of her soul into-“

[Yes. You are still lacking. Your league, your mana, your records, everything. Of course, you have done plenty enough to shock us all.]

It was good that he was aware of that. As before, Yu IlHan did not have the ability to create being from nothingness. However, the monster’s words continued on.

[And you instinctively know what you need to do in order to reach a higher realm, do you not?]

“.....”

Yes. Yu IlHan was aware of that already. Why do factions exist? How does world subordination occur? What did one have to do in order to raise one’s league continuously? Yu IlHan now knew of a method other than just recklessly levelling up.

Worlds. He had to take in countless world.

“So you want me to participate in the war for higher worlds?”

[You already are. I only want you to be more proactive on completing your objective.]

“In order to procure things for you to devour?”

[Precisely. Now we’re talking. So, what I want is this.]

The blackish-red tongue that split into many branches, akin to that of a reptile’s, slicked around in midair and spat out a breath of poison. Immediately after that, the word that Yu IlHan thought would never come out of that monster’s mouth, came out.

[Alliance.]

Yumir gripped onto Yu IlHan’s hand. He implied that he didn’t want to be on the same side as that horrifying beast. However, it was also true that Yu IlHan found that offer quite attractive as a newly ascended faction leader with the least power.

“An alliance, eh.”

[Although your faction has the fewest in number. You can move the most freely among the transcendents. No one can ignore you. Of course, that goes for me as well. I want to be in an equal cooperative relationship with you.]

“And specifically?”

[The first objective is to wipe out the Army of Brilliant Light and the Garden of Sunset. Let us split the worlds from those two factions equally. I will acquire enough mana in order to sustain myself, and your league will increase as well. The next would be.....]

Yu IlHan knew his final objective without having to listen.

“Erasing Heaven, huh.”

[Absorb Heaven and make Earth the 2nd, not the 1st World. You shall become God. You shall become the new Creator! Then I will remain your enemy.]

“So you aren’t going to sugarcoat it and say something like let’s stay in an alliance forever, huh?”

[That is natural. I am honest to my desires. I’m about to go mad in curiosity about how your new creations will taste.]

Yu IlHan ended up laughing.

“Did you not think that I will just go over to Satan?”

[If you are saying that because you remember that the fallen angels tried to protect you..... he will be even more uncooperative. It is because you are already complete. Did you ever see a person waiting for a pizza to be finished being cooked in the oven, still looking at it with the same gaze after it was fully cooked?]

“That’s one tasteful analogy right there.”

Yu IlHan also just joked around with that. He didn’t really think about going into an alliance with the Army of Brilliant Light. In fact, he found the fact that they were trying to protect him quite annoying as well. He could do it all by himself, but they just foolishly died because they did something unnecessary.

Never had Yu IlHan consider a situation that he would receive external help. Because he had never received any help from any outsiders until now. That was why loners were strong. They could stand tall by themselves, without relying on someone else.

That was why.

“I’m sorry but I’ll have to refuse this offer.”

He did not need a monster’s help either.

“I’m going to move according to my own judgement. Worlds ruined? You have nothing to devour? Not my problem. I’m fine with protecting my own world, and the ones within my fences. And if you, or any other rude guys aim for that, then I will only erase you all. I think you’re misunderstanding something here, but you know? I’m actually.”

He smiled.

“Very, very petty.”

[Petty, eh? You’re the strongest petty guy out there eh. But as you are now..... can you really protect your fences?]

“Well, it will be hard for now.”

With the insanely large and stifling existence in front of him, Yu IlHan felt the difference in league right now.

Right now, he could not win against this being. The reason he could defeat Michael was only because he had the advantage in terms of attributes. Just how was he supposed to defeat an insane monster that emitted a strong pressure of mana just with its body alone, without any artifacts or an attribute advantage?

“But I can earn time. I can even prevent you from coming.”

[No, I have no thoughts of fighting you just yet. I only wish for you to listen to my proposal. Because soon.]

The monster smirked. Splitting its insanely huge mouth wide, he showed all his big and small teeth and laughed heartily.

[You will also realize it. Their figures that are even more hideous than I am, the sensation of war that will approach you even when you stay still. Remember my offer then. I will be waiting for your answer.]

The castle gates opened again. Yu IlHan turned around with Yumir. The monster’s hearty laugh was very disturbing,

[It, probably won’t take long.]

“Hmph.”

The castle gates closed, and the horrifying pressure also disappeared along with the castle itself. Yu IlHan’s Counter skill had reached level 69.

[Then play with us!]

The predators who were waiting for Yu IlHan to finish his business all assaulted him with a big grin on their faces. Of course, their ‘play’ probably meant something along the lines of ‘eat some of your flesh’. Yu IlHan grinned like them and cleaned them all up with a swing of his spear.

Experienced poured in, but fighting with such beings with such a lower league didn’t even dent his experience.

“I said my inventory is full. You guys really don’t listen.”

“Dad, let’s go back now. I’m sleepy.”

“Yes, dad is also tired now.”

As he had to control the Counter skill against that pressure all this time, there was no way he wasn't tired. Yu IlHan activated Warp with a sigh.

Before the skill completely activated and took the two to another world, he could see the Wall of Chaos that boasted its size over in the distance.

Beyond that was that world. The Godless world of light filled with angels.

“Destroying Heaven together eh?”

The monster that could not hide his desires. Although he might think that he had acted out well this time.

‘What kind of pig eats with consideration for the future? That’s not a pig. That’s Socrates.’

Yu IlHan thought with a snort. If he was so smart, he wouldn’t have fallen to such a point.

He either lied or hid something from Yu IlHan. For example, the leader of the Garden of Sunset that he strangely didn’t want to talk about.

“Should I go meet the leaders of other factions too?”

However, going to the Army of Brilliant Light wouldn’t turn out so well. He did believe Greed’s words that Satan wouldn’t let him be. Yu IlHan would also do that if he was Satan.

Decisively, he didn’t even know where the leader of the Garden of Sunset was. He was even surprised how meticulous he himself. The realm of concealment was truly deep.

“Then where are we going, dad?”

“Obviously, Dareu.”

He really wished to go back to Earth, but if Yu IlHan went to Earth right now, there will come a small problem. The problem that Earth would immediately leap into a higher world. The master’s league was high enough to control the flow of Earth, and since Earth was ready since a long time ago, wouldn’t it just follow him around in joy?

“I don’t think that’s a small problem, dad!”

“Son, your retort skills are rising.”

In that regard, Dareu was already a higher world, and was a world under Yu IlHan’s rule, so there was not much problem. Moreover, it was up to Yu IlHan to decide on a world to become the main headquarters so going to Dareu first didn’t mean that he couldn’t take care of Earth.

At that moment, the Warp skill activated. The horrifying scenery around them became faint, and the peaceful world of Dareu could be seen.

Of course, that world started changing rapidly the moment Yu IlHan arrived.

[You have gathered all the records of this world, and have received the obedience of all the residents here. The world, Dareu, is procured as the territory of Dragon’s Nest.]

[Receiving your records, the 6th Great Cataclysm occurs on Dareu.]

“Ah, there’s a small problem here too.”

“That’s not a small problem at all, dad!”

And it really became a not-so-small problem. The moment Yu IlHan decided to go look for the elves and protect them, a thud sound could be heard inside his body, and another couple of green text appeared on his retina.

[Your power as the Lord of Dragon’s Nest activates.]

[The world under your rule, Guundia, fuses with Dareu.]

“.....Huh?”

Guundia was still a lower world and not a higher world yet, but it’s fusing with Dareu? Then will Dareu really experience the 6th Great Cataclysm or regress instead?

Moreover, if it was possible for a lower world and a higher world to fuse, there was no way the four factions would have let the lower worlds be! This meant that this power was only possessed by Yu IlHan.....!

“Ah, my head hurts..... uwaaaaaaaah!”

However, the Akashic Record did not give him any time to sort things. As if the fusion of Guundia and Dareu was just the start, countless messages started pouring onto his eyes.

[The world under your rule, Typhen, fuses with Dareu.]

[The world under your rule, Elyde, fuses with Dareu.]

“This is outside of my expectations!”

“Look, look, dad! Wooow, the dimension is splitting! That’s a world we’ve been to before!”

Were worlds so easily fused like power rangers!? Yu IlHan abruptly widened his eyes, but that was not the end.

[The world under your rule, Terodua.....]

[The world under your rule.....]

[The.....]

“.....”

“Whoaa. Woooow!”

The world split and a new world appeared beyond it to expand the land and the skies. From the east, west, north, south, skies met and created new skies. Really, the world expanded at an insane speed.

Accordingly, the ruling authority Yu IlHan could exercise over the world also increased, but he couldn’t even laugh after looking at the transforming world with the expansion of mana, and the newly generating monsters.

“Dad, what do we do now?”

“I don’t know either..... That’s it, elves! I need to protect the elves and wolfskin in this world ! Uwaaaaaaaah!”

The moment Yu IlHan came to himself and started to move, the worst possible scenario he expected had finally occurred.

[The world under your rule, Earth, fuses.....]

“NOOOOOOOOOOOOOO!”

[The fusion of Dareu and Earth was cancelled.]

“Ah, I can cancel it!”

Yu IlHan was relieved after this brief enlightenment. However, by this point, all the other worlds, except Earth, were being fused into Dareu.

This was the birth of the world that belonged solely to Yu IlHan.

“Oooh shit.”

Muttered Yu IlHan with a fresh, vitamin-ad worthy smile. The enlightenment that came when one gave up everything..... it was the truth that giving up was good for the heart.

“Hm? Ah, no wonder. The unshakable Heart was activated.”

“Dad, I want a skill like that too.”

The various continents had expanded by tens of times while mountains rose and collapsed, valleys sunk deeper into the ground while their peaks rose, seas dried up while others formed. There was no way ordinary people will keep their sanity in front of such a scene.

However, he didn’t dare turn off Unshakable Heart due to the fear of consequences that it will have on him later. Yu IlHan just decided to maintain the skill.

“Anyway..... are you guys alright?”

“W, we’re fine, Your Majesty!”

[Krrr woof! Woof!]

The elves and wolfkin, who were shocked due to the sudden transformation in Dareu after a long period of peace, were all rescued by Yu IlHan and could not hide their awkwardness.

The rescue method was very out-of-this-world as well, since Yu IlHan activated the magic formation cast over Dareu to make a portion of it rise above so that it won’t get affected by the Great Cataclysm, and gathered them there.

“His Majesty sure is amazing.”

“Look, look, His Majesty is changing the world!”

“Ooh so beautiful..... Dareu is blossoming under the hands of His Majesty!”

Dareu is blossoming under Yu IlHan’s hands? Right now, Yu IlHan was just trying his best to control the worlds somehow!

Perhaps what was fortunate, or curious, the ancient elven magic formation that was cast over the Dareu continent, expanded beyond the walls of the dimension and to other worlds and into continents there as well, without any problem.

As if it had been made with expansion in mind from the very beginning.

“At least the ancient elves were prepared for the evolution of the world.”

“Dad, fight on.”

Of course, the fact that Yu IlHan had raised the potential of the magic formation by upgrading it should have played a big role as well. Though, the final strike should be from the fact that Yu IlHan had become the master of this world.....

He was lucky in many ways, he truly thought so.

“Oooh, the world is expanding.”

“Monsters are repeatedly being born and dying.”

“Ahh..... His Majesty has finally.”

“..... become God.”

All locations other than the highlands where elves and wolfskin were on, as well as where Yu IlHan was desperately waving his hands, the world was transforming very rapidly.

Monsters could not endure the overwhelming concentration of mana and aged rapidly before dying naturally, and soon, a new monster would arise from those records as the foundation, before dying again! It was not only the monsters, but nature was the same as well.

“And..... fearful.”

Birth and death was inescapable fate and a flow that could not be denied, but the ones in that flow would definitely not take that lightly. If Yu IlHan didn't separate the ones under him beforehand, they would have met a similar fate, so his actions could be considered splendid.

"Dad, when does this all end?"

"There's still a lot left. Mir, please call the others to never come to Dareu for a while."

"Okay!"

Even while Yumir explained to the others with the communication device, Yu IlHan moved very busily. The fusion of worlds was over now, and so he had to help the ancient elven magic formation to settle and resonate in the world that was tens of times bigger than it was before.

"It's rising so fast even though I have never used that skill before..."

The Declaration skill was a skill that came out from the fusion of the Record skill and the Rule skill. It was also the skill that proved his position as the leader of a higher existence faction.

And right now, Yu IlHan was controlling the magic formation that controlled the world and was absorbing all the records that were being amplified, so he was literally using the Record skill and the Rule skill at the same time, naturally, the fusion of those skills would rise in level too!

".....Well then. Let's try."

The Declaration skill was a skill that realized what he uttered. It was literally the skill that allowed a being to reach the realm of divinity, but the difficult part was that it could only be activated within a certain domain under his rule.

However, Yu IlHan possessed the 'Manifestation' skill, and could activate his domain anywhere and anytime. This was probably due to the power of the title 'Surpasser' that influenced him and granted him a lot of leeway in his evolution.

It wasn't just that. The title, 'Surpasser', made Yu IlHan very free, too free in fact, when he was becoming a higher existence. It made anyone fear Yu IlHan.

‘It’s too OP no matter how I think about it. All my records and abilities fall into place so nicely.’

Originally, the leader of each faction will receive a tremendous boost in a world under his rule, while giving penalties to all intruders to that world.

This was why the higher existence factions never waged war in someone’s main headquarters. This could be said to be the advanced version of the abilities Yu IlHan possessed as a Dimensional Traveler.

However, Yu IlHan himself was influenced by the title ‘Surpasser’, when he was becoming the Lord of Dragon’s Nest, and now had the ability to ignore such cause and effect. In other words, he wouldn’t receive a boost just because he was on Earth or was in Dareu, but even if he invaded Heaven or the Netherworld, he would not receive any penalties either.

Then wouldn’t it be disadvantageous when defending?

Well, that wasn’t exactly true. Because Yu IlHan still has his abilities as a Dimensional Traveler, and could prevent or weaken beings that tried to intrude in his world!

What was even more imbalanced was that as mentioned before, Yu IlHan could activate his domain of control along with the Manifestation skill. This would allow him to take advantage over any leaders of other factions.

This was the reason why he was confident that he wouldn’t lose against anyone despite being the lowest in level out of the five leaders.

“Good, then.”

Yu IlHan carefully opened his mouth. He felt that the language he was speaking was at the realm of incomprehension with the normal Language skill.

[Let the waters and the lands be separated.]

Streams of water that shot about everywhere were calmed down, and settled down to form lakes and oceans. The land regained its tranquility fused with any nearby pieces. In that process, gigantic valleys and mountains formed, while the original lakes were indiscriminately crushed and sometimes formed a big ocean.

“Ah, Aaaaah.”

“How can this be.....”

The elves had finally lost it after seeing the world transform under Yu IlHan’s words. Yu IlHan was subconsciously emitting bright red flames while ruling the skies and the Earth! The elves who already maxed out their loyalty towards him started to have near fanatic faith.

Of course, Yu IlHan wasn’t in such a good shape.

[The skill, Declaration, has become level 26.]

[48% of mana is consumed.]

“Hah, that’s insane.”

A large portion of mana was instantly drained from him and made his consciousness faint for a moment. Considering that Yu IlHan’s mana had increased exponentially after reaching over level 500, 48% of mana was a tremendous amount! However, what was fortunate right now was the state of Dareu.

“Dad, are you alright?”

“Yeah, I’m recovering fast.”

Weren’t disasters occurring because of the overflowing mana? Yu IlHan sucked the mana from various parts of Dareu and could recover all of his mana very soon. Of course, he still had a lot of Declarations to use.

[Let the mana that forms the world be bound to the magic formation.]

[Let the matter that forms the world be enhanced through absorbing mana.]

[Let the lands divide and the forests be widened.]

Through countless processes of fusion and evolution, the amount of mana was increasing explosively, and taking care of all that was a big problem. He controlled the ancient elven magic formation as well as the materials in this world to absorb mana, and to make generation of new beings as peaceful as possible.

"Pant pant. This is sooo hard."

"Dad!"

"I'm alright. I think it's almost done now."

Thanks to Yu IlHan draining his psyche and mana by rapid-firing the Declaration skill, forests with trees of insane size, the likes that couldn't possibly be imagined on Earth were formed, as gigantic drops of water scattered outwards from bodies to water to places far away by floating around in the air and everything was absorbing the natural mana.

Many elements that formed the world became large, transformed overwhelmingly and became more beautiful. No other world Yu IlHan had seen before, perhaps save for Heaven, boasted such an overwhelming scale!

"To think it was possible to fuse lower worlds with higher worlds..... Then what about two higher worlds?"

Yu IlHan thought about that. The simulation inside his head was positive. Perhaps it wouldn't be possible for the other leaders, but with Yu IlHan's, albeit incomplete, 'Creation' ability, it would be possible to fuse two higher worlds into a stronger world! This was a cheat that was allowed only to Yu IlHan.

"Dad, I think what you're thinking is insane."

"I also feel scared of myself now."

Replied Yu IlHan honestly to Yumir who narrowed his eyes at him. Of course, he wouldn't do such an insane thing right now. Just Dareu, formed with tens, no, hundreds of lower worlds, was tolling on him, there was no way he had any room to fuse another higher world!

Moreover, even though Yu IlHan had controlled things with the Declaration skill, not all things in Dareu were beautiful and peaceful.

Thanks to Yu IlHan's records, lakes of extreme poison appeared in some parts of Dareu, while burning hell could be seen in some deep crevices, as well as a typhoon of death formed from metallic dust forming a special magnetic field which they spun around, grinding literally everything in its path!

"Wow, a 4th class being will instantly die when they get hit by that."

“Dareu is becoming more and more like dad, so cool.”

Only Yumir’s eyes shined. Although he had believed from his birth that his father was an amazing man, what Yu IlHan was doing now seemed to be near miracles! If he had any dragon friends, he would boast to them all about Yu IlHan’s greatness!

“I want to boast about dad!”

“But as you know, Mir, dragons are now.....”

Wait.

Dragons?

“Huh, if Dareu is receiving my own records, and considering that dragonkin were born in Dareu originally...”

Considering that the monsters that were repeating birth and death and the process of evolution...

“Dad.....”

Yumir felt it slightly faster than Yu IlHan and muttered with a dreamy face.

“I can feel the existence of dragons.”

“.....That’s true.”

Yu IlHan swallowed and replied.

In Dareu, where the biggest 6th Great Cataclysm to date had arrived thanks to fusing with all lower worlds he had subordinated until now.

New dragons were being born.

Author’s notes

1. Perhaps it was fate that Yu IlHan came to Dareu
2. Haha it’s all a big mess now!
3. Somehow, book 12 is now finished. Everyone Else is a Returnee will soon reach its climax as well, so please read on until the very end of this novel!

Chapter 300: I Am Your Father – 1

[I.....!]

[Aah, for I have gained life, the bright light of sunshine dawns upon my ego.]

[I can see, I can touch, I can hear. The fragrance of new life, the sweet taste of air..... I can feel it!]

As expected of dragons, their cries as they hatched were extraordinary. Perhaps they were the only race whose newborns became emotional at the fact that they had senses!

[Aaaah!]

[My Creator. My Lord who hath bestowed upon me intelligence! I give you my greatest praise.]

Such awkward cries could be heard throughout the continent. Of course, not all the monsters born on Dareu were dragons, but due to the characteristics of Dareu itself as well as the presence of the ruler of all dragons, Yu IlHan, a large majority were dragons.

In other words, around a million were born.

“My word.....”

“I think even more will be born soon, dad.”

What was even more frightening was that they were not 3rd class dragon’kin’ but full sized adult dragons at level 200 or higher. And that was just the minimum level, and there were even more monstrous dragons who were born with levels exceeding 270 or even 280.

“Birth is very unfair.”

“Didn’t you say that life was like that, dad?”

“Yes, I did.”

However, their skill levels would be just as low compared to the ones who had reached level 280 after a long period of time. Yu IlHan just decided to let it go at this point.

Well, the matter that really was unacceptable for him occurred the next moment.

[He resides over there.]

[Our Creator, our Parent.]

[The Great and Shining Ruler.]

“.....Wha?”

Yu IlHan voiced out his panic. Minute reactions of mana could be felt from all over the Dareu continent, which now expanded endlessly. These mana reactions were mana vibrations from all of these dragons flying up into the air!

[To the Lord.]

[To the Supreme!]

The dragons seemed to have instinctively felt where Yu IlHan was upon their birth and all started flying towards him. The ones that were born relatively closer arrived the quickest, and the one who were born far away flapped their wings endlessly while calling out his name. The dragons with massive bodies all singing in harmony like that made the others feel nothing but fear.

“What the hell? Are they crazy? What are they up to?”

[Lord is the lord of all dragons as well as my parent. I will meet them firmly.]

Echjar’s voice was more serious than ever. He had the feeling that he always had slight complaints towards Yu IlHan in his manner of speech, but now, he sounded very serious and even sacred.

[Lord declared after making me submit. Now that the Lord has really become the lord of all dragons, proceed with them. Do what I couldn’t, this is my wish and request as the loser.]

“Your wish and request, you say.....”

Echjar was once the Dragon of Despair who terrorized many beings, but even he wouldn’t have been so terrifying from the get go.

He should have reached that position through countless years of hard work, as well as his hopes and desires he harbored throughout the period. Honestly, Yu IlHan didn't think much about Echjar before, but he was slightly moved for the first time after hearing Echjar feeling emotional at the birth of the countless dragons on this land.

The dragon that was once colored to the bones with curses and desires could finally recover his original intentions that shone like a bright pearl amidst the dark and muddy emotions.

"Yes, I got it."

It wasn't like he wasn't at a loss what to do when all the dragons were calling out to him despite being just born.

However, this was pretty much predestined the moment he became the ruler of all dragons, so he had to take responsibility. Abandoning the dragons that called him father was the same as him abandoning Yumir.

"I promised you when I entered a contract with you, so I shall take responsibility of those dragons."

[You have my thanks.]

Echjar became silent after a sigh of relief. Even all this while, dragons were gathering around Yu IlHan.

Some floated in the air around Yu IlHan while some folded their wings and looked up towards him from the ground. Since this world was very large, the skies stretched endlessly even with hundreds of thousands of dragons joining this fray.

[Father.]

[My father.]

[The great and beautiful lord.]

[He's powerful. Aah, he is truly strong.]

The dragons all gazed at Yu IlHan with admiration. They saw the enormous influence he had on this world as well as the enormous quantity of mana he possessed and the divine power hidden within his small stature. Yu IlHan felt very awkward with the gazes of admiration from a million dragons, but Yumir seemed to like it.

“Dad, they are all weaker than me!”

“Yes, Mir became a lot stronger now.”

“I’m happy!”

The reason Yumir was happy was probably not only because he was stronger than the other dragons. He should have a sense of feeling unsatisfied even with all the love he received from Yu IlHan and the others.

Until now he couldn’t say his feelings towards Yu IlHan since Yu IlHan was in a hostile relationship against dragons, but the longing for his own kin was a natural thing. And now that so many dragons following Yu IlHan were born, he was happy about that.

“What do you want to do? Say it honestly.”

Although they were just born, they were able to move as they wish and were capable of reason as well, so Yu IlHan judged that it was correct to let them do what they want. They all replied to him without hesitation.

[I wish to become stronger!]

[I wish to be with the Lord!]

Well, yeah, it was pretty much set in stone what they were going to say. Yu IlHan only shrugged his shoulders since he expected all this to happen and nodded his head.

“Fine, I will make you stronger.”

[We thank the lord!]

A million dragons roared simultaneously. Yu IlHan nodded his head and took out all the meat of dragons from his inventory.

The majority were from 4th class dragons, but there were quite some 5th class dragon flesh, as well as the meat from the 6th class dragon Teraka, and finally a minute amount of the flesh from the Dragon of Despair Echjar.

“This is your first meal. You will have to work out after the meal so you should all take your own share.”

The dragons could know that Yu IlHan's 'working out' wasn't any ordinary exercise even though they were born merely 20 minutes ago. As they were beings created from Yu IlHan's records, they could all perfectly understand Yu IlHan's vague, nonsensical words!

[In other words, from now.....]

[This is the first mission!]

Countless dragons all flew upwards and burned with passion. The amount of dragon meat which would make them stronger, was limited and there were a lot of competitors, so they could only fight it out!

"But no one shall die. Now, you are all siblings, and those who kill your siblings will not be forgiven."

[Understood!]

[Understood!]

From their brave answers or the advanced flame magic, they seemed to be willing to beat each other half to death.

"You don't need any of that now, do you, Mir?"

"No. The young ones should eat a lot and grow a lot."

Yumir smiled in satisfaction while watching the baby dragons (though, they were huge) fighting each other. The lucky ones to get Echjar's meat should potentially be able to become a higher existence as well.

Yu IlHan felt slightly strange while looking at the million or so dragons waging war for their first meal. The aerial and territorial war filled with countless magic and massive physical clashes was definitely more thrilling than any other battle he had seen until now, but their objective was a mere chunks of food.....

"It looks like everyone is hungry."

"It shouldn't be just that though."

While humans eating human meat was an unforgivable taboo, but dragons eating dragon meat was a sacred ritual that continued the will of their kin. They should all understand that.

“What do you think? The meat they want to eat should be none other than yours, you know?”

[It is only useless meat now. If it strengthens my juniors, then I am happy.]

“.....Aren't you honest now.”

Perhaps it was about time he stopped ticking Echjar off. Yu IlHan shrugged his shoulders and looked back. The elves and wolfkin who had gathered in the highland he had made all had their jaws agape at the massive battle between dragons.

“The huge dragons are.”

“Those monsters that I can't even face alone right now, number in the millions..... His Majesty is..... truly great.”

The horrifying dragons that were beings of fear they had to fight against all this time were following Yu IlHan's orders now, it was no wonder it looked very divine for them. Yu IlHan consoled them with a bitter smile as both the wolfkin and the elves were very nervous.

“Those of you who want to become dragon riders should apply early.”

“Ooooooooooh!”

There were so many dragons, so perhaps he could get around a hundred dragon riders at least. If they didn't like it, then he would only force it. Yu IlHan decided that inwardly and nodded his head. Like that, the elves could pioneer the realm of dragon riding after wolfkin riding! It was a revolutionary matter, worthy of a notification alarm.

“I did come to Dareu because I feared about what may happen on Earth, but this might have been the best choice I could have made.”

Yu IlHan was now the ruler of all dragons, and declared the world of dragons his first territory. Thanks to his characteristics, the lower worlds under his rule even fused with it.

The world became larger and dragons with the highest potential were born. Just that was enough to be called a miracle.

“It seems like it will end soon.”

An enormous event such as the 6th Great Cataclysm wouldn't be over just like that, but the atmospheric mana started showing signs of stabilization. Now, the probability of encountering a thunderstorm while walking..... will probably decrease. But for now.

"Your Majesty, what are you thinking of?"

One of the elves saw that Yu IlHan was in deep thought and called out to him. He shrugged his shoulders.

"I was thinking about the things I have to do in Dareu in the future. So many things have changed in an instant. You elves and wolfkin will only be able to survive if you become stronger too....."

"We can do it!"

"I like your confidence, but....."

Yu IlHan's eyes could too easily see the monsters being born across this world. The current elves and wolfkin had practically no chance against them.

Would it just be the dragons that were born strong? Large-scale monsters over level 270 were being born explosively across Dareu. Now that the environmental change was decreasing, mana was focused in another direction and the mutation and generation of life forms were being accelerated even further.

"You will need the dragons' help if you want to fight against those frightening beasts."

"We do not dare doubt His Majesty, but can we really live together with such beings....."

The elves were half in doubt. Well, it was no wonder since their only objective was to avoid dragons before. Yu IlHan made a bitter smile and nodded.

"They have all submitted to me and cannot go against me, so the thing you are worried about will not happen again. ....However, you may have to battle more frightening and annoying opponents in the future."

[Krrrrrrrrrrrr!]

"We are always ready! As long as His Majesty is in charge!"

The wolfkin were perverse enough to rejoice at the words ‘frightening and annoying opponents’ while the elves shouted out bravely. Hm, there should be no need to educate them again.

Yu IlHan nodded with a satisfied smile and now looked back towards the dragons. The million dragons had just finished the first brutal war for food and were looking up towards him.

“Then, let’s see…….”

Checking which ones became stronger, and which ones took Echjar’s flesh, Yu IlHan was surprised at the unexpected result.

[Fuu, Khooooooooooooooh!]

One of them monopolized all of Echjar’s flesh.

“You’re quite greedy.”

[Father, I wish to become stronger!]

There was one that caught his eye from the very beginning. It was a child that boasted a level of 280 from the moment of birth, and the color of the scales were also bright red and was one that possessed the power of fire, also within Yu IlHan’s realm of management.

Of course, now that the red dragon ate Echjar’s flesh, its level rose to 294. Its other skills should have grown explosively as well. This was the most blessed birth after the innately 5th class Mystic.

[I wish to become even stronger than this. I wish to win!]

“Good, you will now be the leader of this group. I give you the name, Ruby.”

[I am happy!]

Red, and therefore Ruby. Avoiding Yumir’s silent gaze that asked if he was too careless with that name, Yu IlHan healed the dragons that were injured. It sufficed to just scatter some potion that was a mixture of dragon’s blood matured in the Cradle of Miracles and a little bit of his own blood.

[Father, what do we do now?]

“It will be good to train your innate skills…… but for now, fight against the monsters weak enough to not threaten your lives. In the future, your first objective is to not allow any other monsters other than yourselves to rule this world, okay?”

[Understood!]

[We shall follow!]

The dragons all flew in the air like the time they gathered here. When Ruby roared, the dragons all raised their voice in accordance.

[We shall be back soon!]

A loud greeting from the dragons. Feeling like a parent sending off his child on an errand for the first time, Yu IlHan sent them off. It would be fine as long as they didn't die.

“Dad, then what do we do?”

“There's only one thing.”

Yu IlHan's eyes glistened. The aftereffects of the Great Cataclysm still remained, while the ancient elven magic formation was still activated. Moreover, he couldn't just let this highland where the elves and wolfskin were standing on stay as a lump of rocks and grass, so.....

“Let's construct a city for everyone to live in.”

His soul as a creator burned up for real.

Chapter 301: I Am Your Father – 2

While Yu IlHan was orchestrating a similar spectacle to that of the creation of the universe, Yu IlHan's party members were conquering one higher world after another.

[Just what kind of guts do you have to go against a higher existence faction?]

The one that threw out the question with a vicious tone was a 6th class fallen angel Zeàr, the keeper of the higher world Fièta of the Army of Brilliant Light. The majority of the fallen angels had died instantly thanks to the two WMD-level fortresses, and after a few exchanges, he was the only left.

“What do you mean guts. If we really had the guts, we wouldn't be acting like this. We're only taking the initiative because I fear for the lives of my beloved, I am afraid that my precious friends will die, and finally because I'm shy and weak.”

Replied Liera. The strongest in the group was naturally Helièna, but she lacked physical might so after Liera separated from Yu IlHan, she was acting as the squadron leader.

“We found that we weren't in a position to be picky. I'm sorry. I don't think we're in the right. Just..... think of it as a war. Like how we have always lived until now.”

[The high angel who had lost her wings, Liera..... do you feel good being a human's dog!?]

“Dogs are more apt for describing guys like you..... and could you please call me his fiancée?”

Liera shrugged her shoulders and raised her spear. The deeper the depths of her love reached, the stronger the spear became, and now its attack power had passed 16,000. The fact that her lover had become the ruler of all metal should have also influenced her spear as well.

“Come at me. I'll finish you in a 1 on 1.”

[How foolish of you to try fighting me when I retain all my powers as a 6th class while you have fallen.]

“Whether I’m foolish or not will be decided after we exchange a few blows, no?”

[You dare.....!]

Of course, even Liera wouldn’t just charge in recklessly. She brought up her own magic power and strength using the battle dress, the Feather of Temptation, which Yu IlHan had painstakingly made for her as well as her various accessories. Only after she was blessed by Na YuNa and had the confidence to overwhelm the enemy did she charge forward. It might have been different if she was alone, but she had a lot of people to protect and a lot of expectations to meet.

“Fuu, that’s done and over with.”

Minutes after the start of the battle, Liera killed Zeàr and skillfully calmed down the magic power that made the spear vibrate. She collected his corpse as well. Helièna, who was watching from the back, exclaimed.

[My, your fighting figure looks similar to darling’s.]

“It was me who taught him the spear so that’s quite obvious.”

[But how do you feel to be left behind by darling in an instant? Hm? How is it?]

“I love it. I feel proud and satisfied to think that I played a pivotal role that made IlHan the him now. I feel like I’m with a part of him even when we’re apart.”

[.....Tch.]

Helièna tried to make something to tease Liera but clicked her tongue after seeing Liera with a very happy smile.

She didn’t have the blessing of the god of love for nothing. Although Helièna felt true love towards Yu IlHan, she was a mere child in front of Liera who had raised her love meter over hundreds of years!

“So this is done. Then shall we go to the next world? It’s the Army of Brilliant Light again.....”

“What if Satan really does act?”

[If Satan moves, then the leaders of other factions will also move, so that will be the time when all factions will go to war just in order to catch us. And that is precisely what darling is aiming for too.]

“Won’t we all die at that time~!?”

Shouted Na YuNa in shock, but Helièna shrugged her shoulders.

[I’m saying that even at this rate, everything will be finished on Earth. And that is why darling’s plan of weakening these leaders as much as possible is the correct choice. And you didn’t forget about it right?]

Helièna’s eyes glistened mysteriously.

[The reason he is making us gather so many records, and the reason he is throwing himself into the most dangerous places is all for his awakening – darling, as a complete, perfect, higher existence, as a leader of a faction..... At that time, we do not need to fear the leaders of other factions any longer.]

“Would everything really change at that time~?”

[Of course. .... No, perhaps darling may stand at the highest and most glorious place of all.]

Considering the God that the Heaven’s Army is in servitude to, Helièna’s words were very rude, but not to mention the others, even Liera and Erta who still had slight beliefs in God’s power did not retort to her. In fact, even these two wanted it to be like that.

[And so, lady. When are you going to make the gate?]

Helièna blushed, feeling embarrassed after saying all those lines that praised Yu IlHan and turned her head towards Kang MiRae. However Kang MiRae’s expression was quite, no, very dark.

“I’m trying, but the gate isn’t opening.”

[But lady, your ability is to make a gate leading to other worlds.]

“There’s interference by an external element. I can’t even send a message to Mr. IlHan. How, I thought that this ability will not be hindered by anyone recorded on the Akashic Record.....”

[.....What?]

Helièna asked back.

[Even the artifact darling gave us doesn’t work?]

Not only did Kang MiRae’s ability get hindered, something was interfering Yu IlHan’s artifact when he was the one who reached the highest realm of crafting after the Creator? Helièna checked her artifact, and it was indeed, real.

Liera realized that any communication with Yu IlHan was disconnected and asked Helièna in a trembling voice.

“.....Did Satan appear or something?”

[Even Satan cannot block darling’s artifact. This is an.....]

[Unexpected situation.]

Before Helièna could come to a conclusion, a voice that belonged to neither any in the group, nor any other being in the world Fièta, covered the world. It was a voice that was neither high nor low, emotionless, and an even genderless, dry voice.

[The Fifth faction, Irregulars of the Akashic Record.]

The owner of the voice appeared in thin air. It was an unpleasant-looking creature with a humanoid, but streamlined body, that emitted a foggy light towards all sides.

[Eliminate before they acquire the power to go against Heaven.]

It was just that they had a different characteristic to any other race they knew – three pairs of wings that looked like curtains swaying in the wind, as well as a twisted ring of light that sparked above their heads.

[No way.....]

Helièna shivered slightly after looking at that. Erta and Liera as well.

“Is that, an angel?”

“But for it to be an angel.....”

[Eliminate.]

‘It’ raised its part that resembled a human arm and aimed at the Flying fortress. Everyone felt a great sense of crisis, and Mystic shouted.

[Everyone inside the fortress!]

As soon as the others complied with her instructions, a barrier completely covered the Flying fortress in an instant, and at the same time, Kelatuke’s metallic armor was spread above it! Just as the metallic armor completely covered the fortress and started rotating, ‘it’ shot out a ray of light. The ray of light clashed against the metallic armor and caused a massive boom.

[Kyaaaaaaaaaak, he’s damn strong! Insanely strong! What the heck is this, I don’t think it’s mana!]

“I’ll help you! Lady Letyna, we need every bit of your strength, even from when you were drinking your mother’s milk!”

“How the heck does a goddess remember her baby days!?”

Na YuNa agitated the holy region and supported Mystic. The power of the goddess was that of recovery and protection! The holy power that filled the entire holy region was absorbed by the barrier to fill the gaps and enhance the quality. Even after all that, it wasn’t easy to block that ray of light.

This was the strongest being that they had ever met. What was even more annoying was that they didn’t even know the identity of this thing.

“Just what the heck is that monster. If IlHan was here, he would have instantly recognized what that thing is with his Record skill..... Eek.”

The next moment, Liera realized that she once again relied on Yu IlHan and slapped her lips. Even though IlHan was indeed very great, but she, who was once a peak of one world, was looking for help like a weakling! She bit her lips and raised her spear again.

“No. If we don’t know, then we’ll only find out, and then defeat.....!”

[Let’s do this together, ex-angel. I wouldn’t dare let you get killed because darling will hate me so much afterwards.]

[Looks like I should help as well.]

Liera, Helièna, and Orochi stepped through the barrier. Even against a monster that shot out rays of light that was equal to Yu IlHan's barrier, their eyes were full of will to battle. Mystic immediately poured out numerous mirrors and protected them.

[Although it should be mana, it feels slightly different so be careful! I will try to analyze and reflect it..... but don't trust in the Destruction Mirrors so much!]

"Got it."

The positions were perfect. Behind them were Kim YeSeul, Kang MiRae and Erta preparing magic. Their objective was to discover its weaknesses and restrain its actions rather than dealing damage. The angel-like being with a twisted halo and wings also seemed to notice the aura they gave off.

[Raising the expected capabilities of the irregulars. Loading additional records from the Record.]

It was still blabbing on some nonsense. However, this was for sure. Those thugs that appeared out of nowhere, blabbing on about irregulars or what not in novels or movies were highly likely to be the mastermind that was scheming everything!

"So that means that we're nearing the last boss! Moreover, it is very likely that they are not related to the four Higher existence factions or are related to the foreshadows they gave off all this time, and belong to a completely different organization or individual!"

"Liera-unni is like Mr. IlHan now~!"

[..... Raising the danger level of the enemy.]

Even the enemy was shocked at Liera's deduction! However, the situation didn't look that bright either. It was still attacking the Flying fortress even while aiming for Helièna, Liera, and Orochi perfectly.

[Eliminate.]

A ray of light shot out. But thanks to the fact that it said it will attack like a robot from a movie from the 90s, the group could react quite quickly.

[Eliminate.]

“Tch, that’s the second one!”

If their reflexes weren’t on par with that of a higher existence’s they would have instantly died without getting a chance to dodge. After settling on a target, it didn’t seem to be satisfied with just one attack and started to attack continuously. It was as if they were facing against Thousand Eyes. The couldn’t find a chance to retaliate.

[I’ll make a path.]

Mystic couldn’t endure it and sent out the majority of the mirrors at once to attack even more fiercely, but it was prepared for that as well. The halo increased slightly and instantly created a circle around 3 meters in diameter, before rotating around it rapidly to create a shield to block. It was as if it imitated the metallic armor barrier of the Flying fortress!

“That guy’s movement is as if.....”

Before Liera could tell that to the others.

[Destroy.]

[Kyaaaaaaaaak!]

Something finally happened. The curtain wings all expanded outwards at once to shoot out rays of light to instantly destroy a few of the Destruction mirrors! The number of the destroyed mirrors was exactly 4. Mystic shouted in a sobbing voice.

[Noo, Thousand Eyes really became Thousand(1,000) Eyes!]

“This is not the time for jokes! I think he’s learning what skills to use off our attack patterns! Even his actions are like the last boss’s underling!”

Helièna’s eyes shined after hearing Liera’s words. She also didn’t have much physical might so she was busy dodging all those beams, but if it became more advantageous for the enemy as time passed, then they couldn’t keep this up forever.

[Oh my, save up your techniques for now. It looks like this is my turn. Liera, can you make way? Let's get this over with.]

".....Hmph, fine. Follow me, Helièna."

Ex-high angel and ex-Battalion Commander formed a tag team. After Helièna reached Liera through the many rays of light, Liera raised her spear before taking a deep breath and charged at once.

[Priority target of elimination.]

"Says who! The one to be eliminated will be you!"

[A little closer..... That's it!]

The spear that vibrated in Liera's hand thanks to her magic power, twisted the ray of light! The shockwaves she used had refracted the light! And Helièna instantly approached it!

[Darling pleaded me you know..... And I'm someone who can't refuse his request.]

This was the moment she concentrated the hardest even since she was reborn under Yu IlHan's hands. Helièna focused all of charm at her fingertips and touched the enemy as it was slightly defenseless after attacking Liera once. The infallible charm against any man, woman or life form, started flowing into him.

[So can you obediently die?]

[Changing priority target.]

However, the reply was very emotionless.

[Eliminating target with the most hindrance to movement.]

[Kyaak!?!]

The beam that it shot out pierced through Helièna's abdomen before Liera could do anything.

“Helièna!”

[Kugh.....!]

Liera shouted in shock. That dandy and leisurely Succubus Queen was hit!

Helièna’s blood poured out from the hole in her abdomen, and just as she retreated while covering up the wound, a streak of blood ran leaked out from her lips as well. The attack was a direct hit from a close distance, leaving her in a rather miserable state.

[My, to think that it would just parry my ability just like that..... What the hell is this thing? It’s not darling! Perhaps it’s not a life form at all?]

[Eliminate.]

“Eeeeeek!”

Seeing that thing raising its hand again, Liera bit her lips and swung her spear. The shockwave from her spear distorted the trajectory of the beam. It finally turned around to Liera and raised both of its hands.

[Eliminating obstacles of higher priority.]

“I don’t like it since every single line it’s spewing out is really like the last boss’s underling!”

All magic power from Liera’s very being focused on the spear and vibrated. She wouldn’t care even if her attack was copied. Her shockwaves turned magic power into pure physical force, and applied to both magical power and physical force.

Did someone say that it didn’t use mana but something else? That didn’t matter either. As long as it was a form of energy, it would not escape the effect of the vibrations!

[Liera, just with you.....]

“Retreat and get yourself healed! Quickly!”

[.....Kugh!]

Helièna couldn't continue speaking after hearing that and turned around. At that moment, the rotation of the halo that covered it reached the limit and shrouded its entire body.

[Eliminate.]

“Why don't you try.”

Liera clashed with it without having a single bit of room to breathe. Although she was worried since Helièna's charm didn't work at all, but fortunately, Liera's power was the perfect counter to fight it. This was clear from its transforming voice patterns.

[Priority elimination target.]

[Raising priority to first.]

“You're noisy!”

[Checking for enemy weaknesses.]

It was at that moment. It reacted to Liera's 'noisy' comment and started emitting endless amounts of noise! Liera once again felt that the mouth was the source of trouble for everything and made a crying face.

[Aaaaaaaaaaaaa]

“Uwaah! Do something already!”

Liera was feeling really serious. Of course, not that her shockwaves would be hindered by its vibrations, but the bigger problem was the mana she needed to use in order to fight it.

Even though she could bring out more power than her class, her mana was still that of a lower existence's. Now that she was focusing all the magic power in her body at the tip of her spear, she would be able to hold on for about 3 minutes at most.

“We also want to do something, but.....”

“.....It doesn't work that well.”

They should have realized from the moment it resisted against the charm.

While Liera was holding it back up front, Kim YeSeul and the other mages at the rear used magic in order to restrain it, but annoyingly, none of their magic worked properly!

“It.....”

Erta shouted while biting her lips.

“It has resistance to magic power! That is why your power that changes magic power into pure physical force works the best against it!”

“Aah, god dammit. It really does things weirdly! And? What do I do?”

Erta and Kang MiRae spoke while casting a magic formation with desperate faces.

“We’re looking for a solution!”

“Please wait a little!”

This was no good. They weren’t of any help! If so..... Liera once again spent a small portion of her mana in order to refract the enemy’s beam and shouted sharply.

“Orochi, what the heck are you doing!”

[I am preparing for the most effective means of attack using the data acquired from contact. Isn’t it the basics to analyze the enemy right in front of them before attacking them?]

That’s for when this side is in the advantage with concealment! – Liera wanted to shout that, but closed her mouth after realizing what Orochi was trying to do.

[Wait a little more. Hold back the enemy a little more.]

“..... That guy acts somewhat like IlHan.”

Although Orochi was made into a humanoid form by Yu IlHan, in no way was he a human nor was he a dragon.

After a long period of adaptive training within the barrier, Orochi could now move his body as if he had been born with it, and the extent was a little ‘too much’.

[A little more..... hhp!]

“No, he’s a lot more unpleasant than what IlHan does.....”

Right now, he had gone beyond the realm of controlling minute body movements, and was transforming the body itself. Its abilities from when it was the Eight-tailed Dragon Spear, had blossomed into a more destructive power in the body of flesh, muscle, bones, and blood of a dragon!

On the outside, it was not that different from a human, but ‘molding’ its muscles and bones and the like and turning his arms into cannons would make anyone unpleasant!

[I’m finished! Tie him down just like that!]

[Detecting danger from behind.....]

“He said tie you down!”

A strong shockwave from Liera’s spear momentarily forced not only the beams into one streak, but even paused the rotation of the halo as well. The next moment, Orochi, who had transformed one of his arms into a cannon like Megam*n, rapidly shot across the air! Na YuNa, who had just finished treating Helièna, raised her head and shouted.

“Ah, that’s a Mega B*ster.....!”

Orochi shouted to deny Na YuNa’s predictions! Yes. The moment Orochi’s arm, that seemed to shoot a beam cannon, touched the halo, a sharp bone spear shot out from his arm from the powers of the contraction and expansion of the 7th class dragon muscle fibers, as well as the explosion of magic power to pierce straight through the halo and strike into its body!

[Critical Hit!]

[Kugh!?!]

It stumbled for the first time. Even Liera’s attack merely deflected its attack, but Orochi’s bitter strike had caused a piercing wound! It urgently retreated and tried to heal its injuries, but couldn’t do that easily due to the durability and resistance of Echjar’s bones. Orochi shouted with an evil smile with a face that looked like a human's.

[If it's pure physical power I will not lose! This is the power I have acquired while being with master!]

"Well done, Orochi!"

[But the disadvantage is that I only have one stored bone spear left!]

"What the hell are you boasting about that for, you idiot!"

Orochi neither had the ability to manipulate subspace, nor the ability to regenerate 7th class bones as he wish! At least not yet!

[I will attack at a more crucial time!]

"I hope that that moment doesn't come after I die! Haaaaaaaap!"

[El,imi.....!]

While Orochi retreated to prepare his second strike, Liera charged ahead once again. It seemed that Orochi's trump card dealt a critical strike as the enemy still had yet to recover its halo and wings and defended her attack with just its arms, but Liera felt something strange the moment she came in contact with it.

"This, is as if....."

[Eliminate.]

While Liera was hesitating, as if it had become B-d*man, it started to make a cannon from its chest, and actually shot out a foggy white spear that had real form. The moment she faced that, Liera felt a cold sensation. And as she had feared, it declared with a confident and firm voice.

[It's a pile bunkeeeeeeeeeer!]

"Hiik!?"

If it was indeed made from Orochi's records it had absorbed just now, she would die the moment she gets hit! Liera instinctively flew upwards to dodge. A boom sound could be heard from behind before Mystic shouted.

[Hey! I'm getting hit by stray bullets!]

"Block that will you!"

[I'm going to do that anyway!]

Mystic received the portion of its body into the barrier and buried it on the grounds. Although it was very dangerous, this could act as a source to identify the enemy. It shook its head after seeing that.

[Technique with high danger. Erasing from pattern.]

[A pile bunker is a man's weapon. How dare you bury it. You must not be a man!]

[Can't you tell from how my charm didn't work, you idiotic snake? Not to mention man, it might not even have a gender!]

Helièna grumbled at Orochi. Due to the injuries that didn't heal completely, she couldn't go back to front lines anymore and she consumed her own mana to help Mystic control Thousand Eyes.

Despite the tens of beams from its wings, the reason the group could hold on until now was because there was Thousand Eyes looking after them.

Liera was about to attack once more before it recovered its halo shield, but was prevented from doing so due to the beams. She shouted while clenching her teeth.

"Just until when are those insane beams going to continue attacking!"

An energy source that was not mana, enhanced attack patterns from analyzing and absorbing information on the enemy, as well as resistance to mana and the absurd ability to prevent the implementation of mana in the surroundings! This was no member of any higher existence faction. It was neither a former archangel from the Heaven's Army, nor a former Battalion Commander of the Army of Brilliant Light but a completely mysterious existence that could not be identified!

"Does this even make sense!? Just where did this pop out from!"

[Complete self-recovery impossible. Recovery halted. Prioritizing the elimination of enemies.]

Meanwhile, it finally uttered some lines that made the group even more bitter as it changed its form. Before, it emitted some formless foggy light, but now it seemed to shrink before creating three additional halos!

“Ah, oh dammit.”

Liera voiced out in frustration. It would be good if her worries didn't come true, but unfortunately, that wasn't the case. Replacing the damaged halo, the three halos started rotating rapidly! Just the rotations were scary enough, but those frightening wheels from hell that ground anything apart in its way were aimed at her and the others!

[Eliminate!]

“I'll die if I get hit by that! The barrier won't hold!”

Screamed Liera as she flew. The Flying fortress and the Guardian fortress were not exceptions. Mystic controlled the two fortresses as fast as the first time she had met Yu IlHan to escape the range of attack of the halos. The problem was the 'naturally' attached tracking function!

[Eliminate! Eliminate!]

And eventually, one of the halos hit the barrier. Mystic used all of the Thousand Eyes in order to shake it off, but the Halo spun at rapid speeds to deflect all those beams and ground Kelatuke's armor. At this rate, Mystic's power source would be in danger!

[Kkuaaaaaak, it's becoming even faster! Idiot Orochi, do something about it!]

[Leave it to me.]

Mystic screamed and was about to jump around in the air, when Orochi, who had 'concealed' himself while the enemy was focused on controlling the halos, shot out the second bone spear to crush everything from its head to crotch.

[Critical Hit!]

[Ki, haaaaa.....]

Its voice died down, and the three spinning halos became completely silent. Orochi was sure that he had dealt the final strike.

[Activation..... halting.]

“Can you still not contact IlHan!?”

“No, the artifact doesn’t work at all……!”

“The dimension, somehow……!”

The mages including Kang MiRae were doing their best to use their magic, but there was no way three of the enemies would be easy when one of them was enough to push them past their limits. The three enemies with distorted wings and halos nullified the surrounding mana on the moment of their appearance and emitted a merciless aura while aiming for the group!

[Eliminate.]

[Eliminate.]

[Eliminate.]

[This is making me craz…… uwaaaaah!]

Mystic, who was recovering the destroyed enemy’s halo and body, suddenly screamed. Their attacks were all directed at the fortress!

[They’re trying to erase any and all traces because darling may record it!]

“Ah, that’s it! If we go back alive, IlHan will understand anything and everything about this hidden being and any kind of foreshadowing will get destroyed!?”

[We’ll all die while we talk about foreshadows!]

Liera felt like she would let go of her spear in nervousness if she didn’t crack a joke. Well, of course, everyone here knew that Liera was trying to calm everyone here down in Yu IlHan’s stead, but even if she could replace Yu IlHan in jokes, she couldn’t in fighting power. Helièna despaired as she was feeling powerless.

[I should have honed other abilities and not just my charm…….]

[Where was that confidence where you could charm any other beings other than master!?)

[Well, if I was 7th class, then I might, but right now..... no.]

Helièna said words of forfeit towards Mystic who was shouting at her while busily dodging all those beams from the three enemies, and slapped her cheeks.

[No, fine then. I can't fall back here. Even if they are not life-forms at all, as long as they have intelligence and are capable of movement.....!]

"Helièna, don't push yourself..... eeek!"

Just as Liera was about to say to Helièna to not push herself too hard, she received a critical wound from the beams of one of the enemies. If she maintained her vibrations at maximum output, she could have distorted its trajectory, but her mana was not infinite.

Orochi also returned to the front lines after recovering his two bones thanks to the fact that the first enemy died, but all he could do was to hold one down. And this was only possible because he took one down and acquired some of its records.

Paté, who had the ability to manipulate higher existence undead, was protecting the others, but he was in no condition to attack. So, if Helièna didn't do something, they would be in danger of being wiped out.

[Liera, switch.]

[Your ability doesn't work though. Don't push yourself and just focus on controlling Thous..... Hiik!]

[Eliminate.]

[Eliminate.]

Two of the unidentified non-life forms closed in on Liera after she became a little sluggish due to the injury. Seeing that, Helièna bit her lips and shouted to Na YuNa.

[Blessing!]

"But didn't you say you didn't need a blessing from a recorded god~?"

[But right now, I need even that! Isn't it the goddess of beauty? Make me more charming already! To the point where I can even charm non-life forms!]

"Eeek, to think there would come a day where I would use this blessing on anyone other than myself....."

It seemed that she did have something after all! Even while not being willing to use the blessing, Na YuNa knew that this was no time to hold back as the situation was very serious, and started chanting. Although she didn't like Helièna that much, she didn't want Liera to get hurt either.

"Brighter than the stars of night, more translucent than the dew of dawn, fresher than the morning wind, higher than the sun at noon, casting a deeper shadow than the afternoon shade, redder than the evening sunset, o, beautiful goddess! Please grant your touch to the one who desires your beauty!"

"The prayer actually sounds polite!?"

Whatever the prayer's contents were like, the effect was great! Pink-colored aura that floated out from Na YuNa soon covered Helièna's entire body before she emitted an insane amount of charm. The transformation was very drastic, and it even felt like Helièna was the avatar of the goddess of beauty herself.

Helièna closed her eyes once and opened it again. It felt as if pink steam could be seen around her.

[Fuu..... Haaa..... Good, this is it.]

"Ugh, uugh."

"N, no, not anyone other than His Majesty.....!"

As the effects amplified the more beautiful and handsome the blessed one was, the ones facing Helièna had a hard time standing now. Kang HaJin came to a realization after seeing that.

"YuNa, you... I saw you approaching sir IlHan after you prayed from time to time....."

"HaJin-oppa, shh."

[With this.]

Helièna saw that Liera was being relentlessly pushed back due to the lack of magic power, and flew forward without hesitation. A stronger magic power was emitted from her.

[Why don't you try resisting again! As I am now, I have the confidence to charm even stones, wind, and the sun!]

[Identifying priority elimination target..... ta, tar...get...]

Did the blessing actually work? The moment one of them spun its halo in a weird angle to attack Liera, the halo stopped movement after it came into contact with Helièna's magic power. Helièna reckless thoughts, that she could just increase the absolute quantity of the magic power to overwhelm the ability to nullify magic power, had worked! This was also proof that they didn't have absolute resistance against magic power!

"Helièna!"

[Retreat and regroup, Liera! Hey, you there, look at me!]

[Elimination, target..... priority, elimination..... identifying, aim, a...]

Despite having lured one, Helièna immediately emitted her mana against yet another one! She was no longer moving out of fear. Even though the injury on her abdomen hadn't completely healed yet, her movements didn't contain any hesitation.

If she fell back just because a single wound, then she wouldn't be able to effectively transmit her explosive charm! More beautifully, more charming and fatally! She was doing this as if she was going to break through Yu IlHan's Unshakable Heart!

[..... Oh, my, now that I think about it, if I assault darling in this blessing, wouldn't I immediately succeeded in a night? Should I think about the name of the child already?]

"I'm not giving you anymore! Nevrrrrrrrrrr!"

[Aim, fa, iled. Elimination tar, get priori, ty, mov, ed, to, top.]

[Chan, ging, ene, my, danger lev..... Evaluation failed. Evaluation impossible. Changing mo, de.]

Their voices snapped. Their actions became even more unnatural, and even the beams that assaulted the group on the moment of their appearance halted. The vibrations of the halos also died down.

“.....Ah!”

“My mana!”

However, the most important fact was that the group’s usage of mana became much more liberated. This was proof that their halos and wings were affecting a lot of the mana of this world!

[Ladies, can’t you use some long-range magic as soon as possible? This unni can’t hold for long!]

“You have done well, succubus.....! Here’s a big one!”

The moment the others regained control of their mana thanks to Helièna, Erta clenched her teeth and created a huge magic formation in the air.

What popped out from it was a literally gigantic, lump of mana. It was a super-sized magic bullet that contained all the mana of the group, even Mystic’s, into it!

[Increasing danger evaluation of enemies.]

[What the heck is that!]

“The only thing I did was compressing and changing the hardness of the mana! Even if they have resistance against mana, they shouldn’t be able to resist pure destructive..... force!”

[Now they’re wasting so much mana like that!]

“Still better than you! Go!”

The gigantic magic bullet assaulted them and exploded. As the magic bullet came into contact with them, all the magic that restrained the magic bullet was dispelled, so the mana would go berserk! Erta only took time to control the berserk of the mana to damage their halos and wings.

[Critical Hit!]

And her calculations weren’t wrong. The magic bullet was designed to create a severe backlash to the one that dispelled the magic restraint had splendidly done its job and ripped their wings and halos to shreds.

[Serious damage. Impossible to restrain the energy of the old world.]

[Retreat, or, re, reinforcements needed.]

“The mana cycle came back to normal!”

“Nice going, Erta!”

Kim YeSeul, having trained countless years training magic, was not so dumb to miss this opportunity.

“O, space and time! Dull the fangs of those trying to harm us!”

Could this be called anything other than ‘miracle’? In this wide world, only the three monsters with ripped wings stopped their movement.

“Everyone other than MiRae, we need to kill them now! And they said they’ll call for reinforcements so MiRae should prepare magic to flee! We need to go to a dimension where they can’t come!”

“Yes, mother!”

[Haaaaaap!]

Having recovered enough to use the pile bunker again, Orochi shot out bone spears from his two arms and killed one of them. Not breaching Yu IlHan’s expectations, he had achieved a splendid double kill by himself!

The one that was aiming for an opportunity was the same for Paté as well. He scattered the curse of corrosion to restrain the enemy movements, and made his undeads charge against one of them and shouted with a voice of resolve.

“Accompaniment to hell!”

[Khaaaaaaaaaaaaah!]

[Let’s go together!]

An even bigger explosion than the magic bullet occurred. He made the corpses of higher existences explode using the power from the blessing of the god, so nothing could be said about the power of the attack! If Yu IlHan knew about this, he would be sad, but for now, survival was their foremost priority.

When the enemy's movements stiffened even more thanks to Paté's explosion, the others also attacked relentlessly. There was no winning against a many on one! In the end, they were destroyed.

[Lv 5?? ??????????????????????]

"I get that those damned things are at least level 500!"

"That's not something to be happy about! Rather than that, Kang MiRae, what about the dimensional gate!?"

"It's ready!"

This was no longer a problem of being helped by Yu IlHan or not. If they don't go back to his side immediately, they may all be wiped.....!

[Eliminate.]

[Eliminate the enemy.]

However, Kang MiRae was slightly late. It seemed as if they had the ability to summon their allies forcefully the moment their activities were halted, and nine of them appeared through a dimensional gate.

"Just where are they all coming from!"

[Extremely dangerous target.]

[Changing priority to second.]

[Eliminating target. Unknown element.]

[Yu IlHan's ally. Eliminate, necessary.]

"How can this....."

Not to mention very suspicious words, they were scattering foreshadows that they'll eventually face Yu IlHan like it was nothing! They just barely defeated three, but now nine of them appeared, so the group despaired.

"..... I guess I can only do this."

However, Kang MiRae bit her lips after looking at that. As Liera and Helièna thought, Kang MiRae also believed that Yu IlHan had left the group to her.

Especially, as she was the one who was in charge of everyone's safety with her dimension magic, she could not let anyone go back with any more injuries.

"Please, help me do this."

As nine of the mana restraining things blocked the liberated flow of mana again, Kang MiRae focused everything on the God-ranked circlet, the Crown of Wisdom, and agitated her mana. Not to mention her precious magic-stuffed cookies, she drank all her potions and amplified her mana!

And that brought results.

"I did it. I can do it. I can do it.....!"

[Eliminate.]

[Eliminate.]

[Eli.....]

However, even if she could bring out her mana, she could not make a large enough gate for a person to pass through due to the external pressure. If so, she would find a way to use this small gate. Although she had never tried this before, she had to make this succeed!

"Helièna, stop them from moving!"

[The power of the blessing and the mana will soon..... Kugh, I can tie them if it's for a brief moment!]

"I need that brief moment!"

Helièna listened to Kang MiRae's request. The moment the nine enemies froze stiff in their places, a small gate, enough for a pencil to pass through, appeared on one of their bodies before disappearing.

[Critical Hit!]

Along with the gate, their body part also disappeared.

[Missing part of body. Unable to resist.]

"!?"

"What the hell is that!"

“Ah, I know! Meidō Zangetsu...!@##$#!”

“This is just the start!”

Once wasn’t the end. Tens, hundreds of warp gates appeared instantly before disappearing, and the nine enemies that had to endure that instantly became honeycombs.

[You have.....]

Like that, nine of them all died and collapsed. Perhaps they had no time to call for reinforcements this time, as even though the group was left absent minded watching the scene, no other beings entered the world.

“Ha..... ugh.”

“MiRae!”

Kang MiRae collapsed after succeeding in creating a ‘miracle’ beyond her capabilities. Na YuNa hurriedly held her, but she had already lost consciousness.

“..... What did Kang MiRae just do?”

“It seemed that it counted as a miracle. My holy power was consumed in enormous quantities.”

When Liera asked absent-mindedly without even taking care of her wounds, Na YuNa also replied absent-mindedly. It was at that moment.

[Now Dareu is safe. Everyone, please come back as soon as you can.]

At the greatest timing, Yu IlHan’s voice could be heard from the communication device. With all the external elements that closed the world gone, the connection finally stabilized. Liera looked down at Kang MiRae who had lost consciousness before voicing out in a slightly shocked tone.

“IlHan, the thing is.....”

---

Author’s notes

1. It wasn’t that IlHan didn’t call the others on purpose. It was because Dareu amidst of the Great Cataclysm was dangerous that he had held them from entering! He would have never imagined that they would experience such a thing, right?

2. Some of you might say ‘why didn’t Helièna use Na YuNa’s blessing from the beginning?’ and to answer, as you have seen in the story, Helièna had refused Na YuNa’s blessing until now. However, we don’t know what caused her a change of heart, but she had decided to ask Na YuNa for help.

Chapter 304: I Am Your Father – 5

The group succeeded in returning to Dareu with the help of Yu IlHan's warp skill. Their tearful story was relayed to Yu IlHan in whole.

"That's why everyone is so ragged?"

"Yeah..... Though, none of us died. Oh, a few of Paté's undeads crossed the river of death."

"An unpredictable and unanticipated mana resistant enemy suddenly attacked from another dimension... There's no way I could believe such a thing..... but."

Yu IlHan shrugged his shoulders while looking at the comparably intact unidentified enemy's corpse right in front of him. The twisted halo that still gave off sparks as well as the tattered curtain-like wings definitely wasn't a life-form that Yu IlHan had seen before.

[Life-form?]

A completely unexpected retort came in. It was Helièna, who had returned to normal after the blessing of the goddess of beauty wore off. Of course, her suspicions were just regarding a single thing. She could not believe at all that these weird beings that manipulated some sort of weird energy that was not mana, and resisted her charm were life forms.

However, Yu IlHan's reply was very simple

"Well, their speech was stiff, so it's no wonder you guys may think that these are robots or the like, but that's because they weren't given proper egos, and does not imply that they do not undergo metabolism. Meaning, I cannot come to a conclusion for sure for now."

Yu IlHan was the master of the Record skill. By this point, even encountering non-recorded things would allow him to see the common records they had with other beings that were recorded. However, Yu IlHan couldn't come to any conclusion after seeing these. Whether these were life forms or not, or where they came from, or how they were made if they were indeed non-life forms!

“I really want to start analyzing these things, but.....”

“So cool..... how can such a beautiful world be.....”

“Dareu? This is really Dareu.....?”

Seeing the group that was rendered speechless in front of the transformed scene of Dareu, Yu IlHan felt that he needed to delay that work a little. Yu IlHan laughed and checked up on the group. After the battle, they looked very tired and most of them were wounded, amidst the figure of the group, only Na YuNa looked as vitalized as ever.

“Waaaaaaaaaaaah, waaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaah! Mr. IlHan~, let’s have a wedding over there! A wedding~!”

What she was looking at was the castle that Yu IlHan was currently in the middle of building.

Since he was preparing a residence for the dragons by using mana and matter through the Declaration skill, he decided to build the residence of elves, wolfkin, and his own group, and somehow, a little bit of his deep desires came into play and he went slightly overkill. The result being a European-styled kingdom that seemed to be from the 1st generation fantasy novels.

“Fine, I’ll allow it so you just need to go and find a good man.”

Yu IlHan smacked Na YuNa who was screaming her heart out in joy while clinging onto his arm, on the forehead. However, Na YuNa was still all smiles and continued shaking Yu IlHan’s arm.

“Of course, the opponent can only be Mr. Ilhan~! I love you, Mr. ILHan!”

“I thought you forfeited?”

“No, I’m not four-footed!”

“I know, you’re four feet tall.”

Yu IlHan made a bitter smile. However, it wasn’t that Na YuNa always acted selfishly like this either, and this was probably because she had come back to a safe environment after a harsh battle. He could understand that much.

However, understanding how she felt and defending her against the grim reaper that appeared behind her was a slightly different matter.

“I’ll admit that you don’t give up so easily. However, that will only lead to your death.”

“Hiiiiik, Liera-unni!”

While the two had the usual sit-com like moment (though, to Na YuNa, it was like a horror special movie), Yu IlHan clapped his hand to gather everyone’s attention.

“I’ve prepared your individual rooms in the castle so go and wash up. I’ve also prepared a landing zone for the two fortresses so Mystic, you can go move them there.”

[Master does absurd things without twitching an eyebrow...]

[This is nothing new.]

The ones residing in the two fortresses all vacated its premises. The elves and wolfkin looked around in wonder, thinking if this place was really the same Daeru they once knew of, while the children belonging to the Dragon’s Army (though, some of them were too big to be called ‘children’ anymore), were satisfied with the ambient mana density of Dareu and shouted in joy.

“Everyone levelled up a lot.”

“Well, we’ve been going around higher worlds like hell so that’s obvious. Though, it’s not like none of them died either..... What’s even more amazing is the current you.”

Erta licked her lips while looking at Yu IlHan, who had become slightly taller than before, and whose eyes seemed to hold a little bit more light. Moreover, the golden vertical line on his red pupils made her feel as if she was looking at a dragon.

“Yu IlHan, you have really become a higher existence.....”

“Yeah.”

Yu IlHan admitted it easily.

“That’s the reason I told you guys not to come to Dareu. The moment I came to Dareu, not only did it undergo another Great Cataclysm, the lower worlds where their mankind expressed their submission to me were all transfused with Dareu, and the mana of the world started going berserk.”

“The lower worlds? With Dareu? How can such a thing be possible?”

Erta didn’t seem to know about it either. Yu IlHan gave a glance to Helièna, but it seemed that such a phenomenon was the first for her as well. He thought that it may have been possible for Greed, who could eat away anything, but it seemed like devouring things and fusing them together were slightly different.

[It’s a power that only darling has. I’m sure of it. How about you research into your powers a little more? Even though you have mastered the Record skill, darling still can’t use all your powers, no?]

“Yes, you’re right. I’m still immature……. Okay, I’ll think about that by myself. .... Thanks for protecting everyone, Helièna.”

[It’s darling’s request after all.]

Helièna made a warm smile while saying that. She had changed too much, for the better, since the time they had first met. Yu IlHan liked this side of her more.

“Go inside and rest, Helièna.”

[I will rest. But being by darling’s side is the best rest for me.]

“.....Ugh.”

Facing her, he felt ticklish and as if he was committing a crime against Liera, so he turned his head away with an awkward smile. There stood Kang HaJin who was piggybacking the fainted Kang MiRae. He already knew that she was the one in the group who protected all the others.

“So……. Miss MiRae has collapsed and is not waking up?”

“It seems like she had overused her mana. Thanks to that, her circlet’s maximum durability seemed to have decreased a lot too…….”

“I’ll have a look at that later. Please let her rest first.”

“Please. Not just the circlet, but MiRae herself too.”

“.....Later then.”

Kang HaJin and Kang MiRae entered the castle. Following the two, the others outside all entered the castle in a line. The ones that remained behind were Helièna, who had no intentions on entering in the first place, and Kim YeSeul, who was looking at her son with a surprised gaze.

“Son, are you not hurt anywhere? I was so surprised since you changed so much.”

“It’s me who’s worried. Is mom alright?”

“Mom’s completely fine of course. Though, I’m worried about the future. If there are so many of those things.....”

“It’s fine. I got a sample, and we won’t need to separate into two groups again.”

He was quite surprised at the fact that an incident happened while he was cleaning up the world he was in after becoming a higher existence, but he was somewhat prepared for an unexpected foreign invasion at any time.

What’s important was that everyone had safely come back to his side. And that he had succeeded in leaping to the realm of higher existences before any more danger would befall on the group.

“Son, you’re great. Really. Mom always believed that you could do it.”

“Well, you never doubted me in the first place. ....Thanks mom. Though this is nothing new, and is quite embarrassing to say, leave everything to this son of yours.”

“Okay, son.”

The emotion in his mother’s eyes wasn’t just happiness. If she didn’t feel the slightest jealousy at the fact that her son had reached where she couldn’t even though she had researched countless years, that would be a lie.

However, it was because it was her son that she could accept it in a satisfied manner. She could feel proud, and happy. She could also feel truly relieved when her son said ‘leave everything to me’.

“Yes, I’m relieved now.”

Kim YeSeul stroked her son’s reddish, glowing hair. It felt formless, and she could feel a strange sensation and the warmth from it seeped into her hands, which made her feel slightly good.

“Mom will also go rest now. Let’s talk about the rest at that time.”

“Yeah, go back and rest.”

Kim YeSeul also retired. Helièna seemed to have waited for everyone to disappear as she clung onto his arm immediately after Kim YeSeul left, but Yu IlHan didn’t bother shaking her off.

Although this might sound very calculative, it was the reward for her splendidly doing her mission. The reason he didn’t scold Na YuNa so harshly last time was also because of the same reason. Yu IlHan felt awkward at himself for acting like that, but still felt that this was the right thing to do.

“I’ll let you off this time.”

[I know, I know. Darling is showing the side of a transcender now. That’s fine. I’ll do the rest. I’m so happy.]

“Your problem is that you act like you know everything.”

[Ufufu.]

Helièna fully enjoyed her time alone with Yu IlHan, that she hadn’t experienced in a long time. Even while hanging out with her, Yu IlHan used the Declaration skill to build the dragon’s nest, city, and palace to use up the overflowing mana in the lands and in the air. Helièna calmly watched the grand spectacle of creation and asked him.

[Darling, are you going to fuse Earth with Dareu?]

“If possible, then sometime in the future.”

If it was possible to fuse two different worlds into one bigger world, there was no reason for him not to try. Perhaps this was predestined from the moment a gate connecting Earth and Dareu was opened, or perhaps from the time Yu IlHan acquired the ancient elven magic formation.

“I’ll have to use an enormous amount of power to let the Will of the Guardian absorb the ancient elven magic formation and cover the entire world again.”

[It will definitely be possible. Yes, once that happens, it will become easier for darling to protect everything that you need to. Fufu, you really acquired a fitting ability, darling.]

“I don’t even know why I got such a power..... but all’s well that ends well I guess.”

It wasn’t just the higher existence factions. The others had met an opponent that used an unknown form of energy, and it was obvious that they would cause trouble for him later. To Yu IlHan, who destroyed and created foreshadows, allowing a hit from an already known last boss to land was unacceptable!

“Whatever whoever is imagining, I’ll show them something out of their imaginations.”

[That’s it, darling. Perfect..... and so.]

Helièna asked while tilting her head.

[Why are there so many dragons in this world? And all of them are near higher existences too.]

“Well, I’ll introduce them to you later. Hey, there are a few of them coming.”

Yu IlHan shrugged his shoulders and made a smile. Beyond the horizon, he could see a group of dragons returning after their first successful hunt.

The one leading them was of course the red dragon Ruby that had eaten all of Echjar’s meat and blood. She left at level 294, but seeing that she had become level 296 now, it seemed like the other monsters being spawned in Dareu were not to be trifled with either.

[Father, Ruby has returned!]

[.....’Father’?]

Helièna voiced out her doubt. Yu IlHan made a small smile again.

“Didn’t I say I’ll introduce them to you?”

The higher existence faction, Dragon's Nest. Their frightening potential was germinating.

Chapter 305: I Am Your Father – 6

[Father, is that being..... an enemy?]

Feeling extremely nervous after looking at Helièna stuck next to Yu IlHan, Ruby asked Yu IlHan. Ruby was muttering about how he may have received a mental attack, but since both Yu IlHan and Helièna heard her, it was quite meaningless.

“She’s an ally, so there’s no need for you to worry. Rather than that, why are you back already?”

[As many dragons have been born, there were just as many dragon-slaying monsters that were born. I thought Father should know about this soon.....]

“Oh.”

This was perhaps natural. Well, right now, Yu IlHan was strongly attributed towards dragons, but before, he had gathered numerous records as a dragon killer. He could still vividly remember killing the one thousand dragons when he first came to Dareu.

Dareu had evolved using all of his records as the basis, so of course, there would naturally be dragon-slaying monsters born here. If it was to the point that even the dragons felt a sense of crisis, this meant that there were high levelled ones as well.

“Then you should be able to grow even more if you overcome them.”

[Father, what do we do?]

“You are afraid of them? ..... Well, I guess I can’t help it since you were just born.”

Yu IlHan requested Yumir who was waiting obediently.

“Mir, look after your weaker siblings. You just need to let them survive.”

“Got it, dad. I’ll make everyone stronger!”

Said Mir with a smile as he flew into the air. Amidst the gaze of Ruby and the other dragons he exposed his 6th class body filled with grandeur!

[Kuooooooooooh!]

With scales that shone like a golden flame, Yumir roared and all the dragons present froze in place. Ruby's eyes especially, burned with desire.

[Amazing, brother!]

Ilhan finally realized that Ruby's voice was closer to a female's than a male's. So she was a girl! It was good that he gave her a girly name!

[Everyone follow me! There will be many occasions in life where you'd meet beings that slays dragon like it's nothing so you can't be freaking out so early on!]

[So heartening!]

[Always something new!]

[Exciting!]

"Mir is sure different since he's raised some children already."

Although this was nothing new to talk about, Yumir was an amazing child. Taking the loner characteristic away from Yu IlHan and inserting the traits of a leader would obviously make him flawless! He was the type that would never ever become the protagonist if this were a novel.

While Yu IlHan was inwardly relieved, Yumir lead everyone and flew directly towards where the enemies were. After the dragons left following Yumir's lead, Helièna's gaze towards Yu IlHan became slightly profound. It was a gaze that contained a slight trace of anger.

[Darling..... who is it again?]

"Leaving aside whether you have the qualifications to ask that question or not, it's not what you're thinking. It is only that the large number of dragons that were born while Dareu underwent the 6th Great Cataclysm are treating me like their parent because of my power that rules all dragons."

[Phew, it's good that there are no more competitors.]

Of course, there would be no way Yumir would lose against any normal beings, but the weaker 4th class dragons may get injured, so Yu IlHan applied slight restrictions to all monsters with dragon-slaying powers. Call this a cheat, but he just wanted to preserve his forces.

“Good, I did this much, so even if they die, they won’t be able to complain..... then.”

Construction was almost done as well; as well as the valleys, nests, and caves that the millions of dragons will reside on; the cities, forests, farms and riverlands that the elves and wolfkin would live on; and finally the grand castle where Yu IlHan and his friends would reside. Of course, he didn’t forget to prepare them adequately so that they could be used in battle.

“Interlocking the cores of the Flying fortress and the Guardian fortress and the ancient elven magic formation to make the entire world into one giant fortress..... hm, the bases are laid out, so I only have to wait for the formation formula to be completed.”

[Yup, I like darling because of your love to make large scale things.... so you’re making the entire world into something like the Flying fortress?]

In fact, this was a little too grand for her to understand fully! At this point, Yu IlHan’s enemies were pitiful, but Helièna didn’t bother saying that. Instead she asked.

[When are you going to start, darling? If it’s alright..... Can I be the first?]

“No, I’m sorry, but the first will be Llera.”

[Tch, considerate of your first wife as ever. Do you like that woman so much? No, it’s nothing. I’ll be hurt so don’t answer it.]

Yu IlHan stroked Helièna’s hair while she felt slightly disappointed. She seemed surprised at first, but started blushing soon after.

[You really did change. Although darling was kind even before..... You’re being considerate of me now. Aren’t you?]

“That’s true. I am aware that I am me, but oddly, I’m slightly changing even as I’m conscious about it.”

Yu IlHan, during his lower existence days, existed as an independent identity, but right now, he was the leader of Dargon's Nest, a group he had to house in his bosom.

His sights widened, and his standards became higher as well. His feelings towards other individuals decreased slightly, but he could now think more about those that came into his sight. Perhaps this was influenced from the subclass leader he had acquired prior to becoming a higher existence.

"But this is slightly disturbing. This is a change that I can't block even with Unshakable Heart. Is this really a natural occurrence? Is this truly what I'm thinking?"

[But didn't darling change like that until now? Piling up records after records, and building yourself anew amidst the influx of records. It's just a repetition of that process. If you want to deny that, wouldn't you have to deny yourself the moment after you were born?]

Yu IlHan closed his mouth. Although he did forget this from time to time, Helièna was a being who had lived for tens of thousands of years. Like now, she sometimes surprised Yu IlHan with her words. He obediently nodded his head in admittance.

"Yes, you are right. If I don't accept my current self, then I would not have the qualifications to go forward either."

[And I like the darling that is kind to me more.]

".....Eiii."

His feelings towards her ended up increasing due to the sudden attack. Was the Succubus Queen's assaults still active after all? He couldn't let his guard down. Yu IlHan smacked Helièna on the forehead and turned around.

"Gather everyone after they've had plenty of rest. I will have a look around the world."

[Fufu, I got it , darling.]

Yu IlHan flew into the air. As he was deeply connected with the Flamesoul Dragon Body, flames, and dragons, it was a natural thing for him to fly without the implementation of mana. Though, it was possible to accelerate further by calling out Ruin Calling contained inside the Body of the Human Dragon.

He extended his mana into his surroundings to record everything at the same time as calling out Ruin Calling.

“Hoh.”

As the Flamesoul Dragon body had gone beyond just being an artifact and had unified with his physical body, the weapons inside also naturally transformed. Ruin Calling, which was formed with countless type of metal and the very essence of magic, had become a pair of flaming red bat-like wings. Anyone would see this and call them dragon wings.

Of course, it wasn't like its hardness and ability had disappeared somewhere. In fact, it had increased in performance by at least twice as if it was an artifact that was strengthened inside the domain of Falling Down.

“That's good. Higher existences are sure interesting.”

[I express my exclamation towards the Lord's thought process that treats the realm of higher existences as mere research field.]

“You're becoming like Orochi huh.”

[Kugh!?!]

Shushing Echjar, Yu IlHan increased his flight speed for real this time and took a look around his surroundings. The mana he wielded was resonating with the world and the ancient elven magic formation, so taking in all the details even while travelling around at that speed wasn't anything hard.

Really, after the 6th Great Cataclysm, it felt as if Dareu had materialized Yu IlHan himself into a world. Yu IlHan felt both shock and exclamation at this fact.

This was perhaps why the other factions couldn't treat Heaven's Army lightly even though they didn't look like much! Perhaps this was why everyone was so hesitant to invade the main worlds of other factions!

[The aura of fire fills the world. But it's forming a balance with water. This world is beautiful!]

“Thanks for thinking like that, Eternal Flame.”

Eternal Flame absorbed or supplemented the flames existing in this world by sending copies of herself into her surroundings, as well as absorbing and emitting mana to play around. In the process of Yu IlHan being reborn into the leader of the Dragon's Nest, she had also broke through, so her power was now incomparably become higher than before. Even without Yu IlHan lifting a finger, Eternal Flame could block any higher existence alone.

“Dragon-slaying, dragon-slaying..... Ah, found it.”

He could feel traces of a harsh battle between dragons and other monsters from far away. Of course, as Yumir was the one leading them, there weren't a lot of deaths, but as Yumir was not battling directly and was focusing on supplementing the battle of other dragons, the battle didn't end so quickly.

[Everyone get yourself together! You can't even cook rice with that kind of fire! Do not forget the pride of dragons!]

[Understood, brother(hyung-nim)!]

[Bring out the boiling mana under your throat! Feel your heartbeat and emit the whispers of mana you feel right as it is!]

This was an education method only possible because Yumir was a dragon. Even though he hadn't learnt anything from a parent dragon, he was teaching so well!

Yu IlHan left that location with a smile. He was worried that he may had to support them, but looking at the figure of Yumir was leisurely leading tens of thousands of dragons, it seems he was worried for nothing.

“Then I.....”

Yu IlHan turned around. Since he hadn't hidden his presence, all living and breathing beings in this world were wary against him. One emotion stood out from the others. It was that of fear and admiration, and of submission and slight resistance.

There were also traces of hesitation and at the same time those of bewilderedness. They were being shaken amidst the emotions that even they didn't know about. The ones that may feel such feelings in this world should be.....

“Dragonkin, right?”

[So you felt them. You’re correct. Right now, this world had given birth to a lot of dragonkin and not just dragons.]

“Orochi was also a dragonkin right.....”

Orochi technically wasn’t a dragon. His identity was a gigantic snake recorded in Japanese myths. However, he was a dragonkin, and had an overwhelming advantage in fundamental specs than the other species. You may call it OP, but dragons were just such unfair beings.

Echjar asked him.

[My lord and my ruler. Are you going to take in all of them as well? The past me only focused on raising the name of dragons, but I do not believe that the name of the Lord’s faction, ‘Dragon’s Nest’ to be so simple in meaning.]

“Yes, I also think like that too. Moreover, it also tugs my mind that the first world I came to after I became a leader of a faction was Dareu..... I don’t think this is a complete coincidence.”

Dareu was not a world specifically for dragons. It was innately a world where dragonkin were easily born. Wasn’t the reason Yu IlHan first came to Dareu to wipe out dragonkin and not just dragons?

However, Yu IlHan’s current power was that to rule dragons and dragons were just a portion of dragonkin.

If Yu IlHan was a man who was quick to give up, he would have just wiped them out with the excuse that dragons and dragonkin were separate, but if he was such a petty person, he would have retired already from the time he was left on Earth alone for a millennium.

“I’m not four-footed after all.”

[You mean forf..... hm.....]

Echjar instinctively tried to retort but stopped. His pride hurt after he was told that he was becoming like Orochi. In fact, it was just that Echjar was becoming similar to Yu IlHan like how Orochi once went through, he didn’t know that himself.

Yu IlHan clapped his hand. The beings that were sneaking glances at him from underground, and from forests were all startled and twisted their bodies, while he uttered his grand ambitions again with a smile.

“Good, I should expand the realm of my powers at this opportunity. Just the dragons aren’t enough. Let’s put all dragonkin under my rule.”

[I thought you might say that.]

There were unidentified enemies on his way as well. More allies were good! Though, it should be better if he could make them all into higher existences too! – Deluding himself, Yu IlHan expanded his mana into his surroundings.

“Hey, those that think you’re dragons!”

The voice of the ruler resounded across the world.

“I’ll give you ten seconds. Gather up!”

Chapter 306: I Am Your Father – 7

His taunt was very effective. The dragonkin were busy wondering about the reason for their own existences after looking at hundreds of thousands of dragons flying about, and now that Yu IlHan had said such an audacious thing, they all started gathering up.

[Guwooooooooooooooh!]

From the mountains and forests.

[Kyaaaaaaaaoooooh!]

From above the clouds.

[Kyaaaaaaaaaahk!]

From caves, submarine and subterranean tunnels – from various places that made up the world, dragonkin came out and rushed towards where Yu IlHan was.

[The ruler of the world..... calls for us!]

[Kyahaaaaak! The lord of all dragons, that aura is so annoying!]

It was an incomparably grander scene than when the dragons had gathered. Dragons were, in the end, just a portion of dragonkin, and there were at least ten million dragonkin subspecies that were born other than dragons. And even right now, that number was still increasing due to evolution.

“Still not enough. You’re not planning to go against me with such a puny aura, are you!”

[Now you’re acting more like a dragon, my ruler.]

Yu IlHan lightly ignored Echjar’s words and used the ancient elven magic formation to expand his mana and his aura far and wide. More and more dragonkin gathered. The natural mana was stimulated by Yu IlHan’s own and gave birth to more dragonkin as well!

[We have come as you have called.]

[Just what are you.]

[Kyaak! Kyaaaaaaah!]

[Annoying! You are annoying!]

Unlike dragons who were usually born with higher intelligence than humans, the intelligence of dragonkin was all over the place. Perhaps Orochi was considerably high on the spectrum?

Yu IlHan mastered the skill, Language, once in the past, but among the dragonkin here, only 30% were able to voice out their thoughts in a specific 'language'. Of course, the majority of those 30% were 4th class beings.

"You have eyes and ears so you should have heard. I am the ruler of this world, and the lord of all dragons."

[We know of that already. You smell very charming. I can feel an overwhelming pressure from you. I feel a power that attracts and rules over us.]

The highest-levelled one among them replied. With gigantic bat-like wings, and a streamlined body, this dragonkin was red in color, which signified it was born with the fire attribute. To classify it, this could be considered a winged dragon.

Yu IlHan was surprised after finding out that it was near level 290. Never did he imagine that there would be a being that would be born with a higher level than Ruby.

"Really? So you feel the power of my rule skill."

[But it is different. You are the lord of dragons and not all of dragonkin. You are the lord of fire, but not mine.]

"You're right."

As the ruler of all dragons, his authoritative power was effective against dragonkin as well, but that was the extent of it. That was also what made the dragonkin hesitate, and what made them gather at this place to decide for themselves.

"Then you should know why I have called you here."

[Is it to raise the pride of dragons?]

[Is it to make us the slaves of dragons?]

[Or is it to make us into the dragons' playthings?]

Even though dragons were the king of all dragonkin, why were these dragonkin afraid of dragons! Yu IlHan made a distant face after thinking back to the dragons that had once ruled over Dareu.

Thinking about it, the dragons also lorded over the other dragonkin as well. The dragonkin at that time were either in submission to dragons or were expressing their fear towards them. Decisively, there were no 4th class dragonkin apart from dragons in Dareu at that time.

The Yu IlHan of that time thought that all dragonkin would evolve into dragons upon becoming 4th class, but thinking about that now, that was complete and utter nonsense.

When did he fix his misconception? It was ironically when he became the lord of all dragons. Only after he acquired the ability to rule over dragons and his records deepened did he realize that Orochi was not a dragon but a dragonkin. The fact that he couldn't adapt to Echjar's body that fast was probably also influenced by this fact.

So, by this logic, the dragons living in Dareu before should have killed numerous dragonkin thinking that any 4th class dragonkin would inevitably threaten their places as kings in the future. Then, they made the remaining ones their underlings. How tragic!

"No."

But Yu IlHan had to enforce an even more traffic thing to these dragonkin.
Right now.

"I have come to give you the chance to become true dragons."

As the leader of Dragon's Nest, the ruler of dragons, and as citizen of Earth, he needed to fulfill this mission.

[.....What?]

[Kyaak! Kyaaaaaaaaaaaaahk!]

[What is that? The limitation of a species cannot be overcome, never!]

The reactions were very violent. Even more uproars arose among the millions of dragonkin who were increasing in number even right now. Just as even Yu IlHan's ears became slightly deaf due to all the noise, the winged dragon of level 290 asked him.

[Make us into a dragon, and command us?]

"Precisely. No, in fact, you'll submit to me automatically once you become a dragon. You should know that already, no?"

The winged dragon lost its words for a moment at Yu IlHan's honest words. The other dragonkin seemed to have some wits, as they all became silent in wait for the winged dragon's answer. It eventually spoke again.

[O, greedy ruler of dragons, can't you let us be? Can't you let us live on?]

"Nope. The ones that won't obey my commands will only become experience for my children. Right now, each and every source of experience is precious you know?"

[Hah.....!]

Yu IlHan's words lacked any sugarcoating whatsoever. To survive, to live on, to protect – he had long since resolved to do anything. From the moment he ripped apart the monsters that appeared on his university campus, his resolve may have wavered slightly, but it never snapped.

[Then..... If so!]

It raised its aura. The flames that arose on top of its red bat-like wings looked somewhat similar to Yu IlHan's Ruin Calling. Perhaps even their abilities were similar. The records of Ruin Calling should have been used in the evolution of this world after all.

[Then we have no choice but to kill you!]

".....So it's like that after all?"

The majority of dragonkin reacted at its words. They all agitated their auras to threaten Yu IlHan, and the more rash ones among them charged towards Yu IlHan already. Yu IlHan laughed after seeing them. Echajr sighed.

[So even for the Lord it's impossible. The karma of dragons is thick.]

“Who knows? I think differently. I'm not sure if all dragonkin are like this, but if it's one that wishes to become a dragon..... it will be different.”

[Lord.....?]

Yu IlHan made a small smile after hearing Echjar's voice of suspicion. He uttered one word as if whispering.

“Manifestation.”

[The skill, Manifestation, activates. Declaring your ruling territory.]

The world Dareu had acquired its ruler, evolved, due to Yu IlHan and his records. The first manifestation occurred in that place. The already perfect Yu IlHan had raised his authoritative power even more, coloring the entire world red.

[Kugh!?!]

[What..... is this?]

[The enormous mana, the burning sensation from the atmosphere.....!]

The skill, Manifestation, was an advanced version of his main class skill, Falling Down, at the same time being the skill that contained all of his draconic affinities and fire attributes. If he wanted, he could make the mana in the air to be his own, which place in this world was not part of his territory?

The skill, Manifestation, housed the vast expanse of the many continents of Dareu into his domain. The power of fire and dragons inside were all enhanced, and would probably have strengthened Ruby and the other dragons who should be fighting by now.

[Kugh, Kahak.....!]

[The flames, are not listening to me.]

All dragonkin, whether they were aboveground, underground, or in the air, felt an overwhelming pressure exerted onto them, but the ones that manipulated fire had an especially harder time breathing. All fire had to submit to Yu IlHan, so any kind of fire that bore hostility against him was not forgiven, even if they were produced by someone else.

[No, way, this, is.....!]

The one that suffered the most was of course the winged dragon. Due to shock of its own flames betraying it, it couldn't even fly properly and fell to the ground. Some of the weaker dragonkin were squished and burnt to death without even being able to resist.

[You, just..... what!]

It barely raised its head and glared at Yu IlHan, and spoke words full of hostility towards the ruler of this world. However, Yu IlHan only laughed lightly and replied.

“You should know already. Everything that comprises this world, is only bowing its head to the master it should serve.”

[Eeek..... you.....!]

Unacceptable. It was unacceptable that it had to bow its head in the disgusting monster that was a dragon in human form! That even the fire from its own body was trying to follow that monster, escaping its control!

However.

[Strong..... dammit, you're strong.....!]

[Kihk..... Kihiiiik!]

[Kuaaaaaah Kuaaaaaahn!]

Including the winged dragon, all of the dragonkin that froze stiff while charging towards him, as well as those that went against his call but still had to bow down the moment Yu IlHan activated manifestation, felt it in their bones.

Yu IlHan was strong. He was suitable to be called the lord of all dragons. He was the ruler of this world, as well as the ruler of all flames. The moment they decided to go against him, this outcome was as good as set in stone.

[Frustrating..... it's frustrating!]

The winged dragon spat out a mouthful of blood in despair.

[I also want to become a dragon! I want to become strong!]

Pursuing strength wasn't only limited to dragons. It was the common characteristic across all of dragonkin.

Whatever they looked like on the outside, they literally all pursued and had admiration for power. This could be seen from how the gazes of all dragonkin towards Yu IlHan had turned from rage to fear and admiration. Yu IlHan had brought out his power precisely because he knew it would come to this.

"You want to become strong?"

[Yes! I want to become stronger as well! Even though I could be born with such a strong body, collapsing because of the predestined fate upon my birth is unacceptable! I cannot accept it!]

Its shouts contained neither reason nor rationale. It was more like a shout of despair. However, this was natural, since although all the dragonkin were high levelled, they were born during the 6th Great Cataclysm. In other words. They were newborns! They were young! What good would hesitating do for them? They were young and had no experience!

And this meant one other thing as well.

'They're easy to fool too.'

[.....]

Even the former dragon of despair, Echjar, was speechless. This guy was really suited to be the devil man who ruled over dragons! Perhaps he might do well even if he became the leader of Destruction Demon Army!

"Good, I'll make you stronger."

Declared Yu IlHan as he twisted his lips.

"What I want is simple. Submit to me, and live on with everyone else."

His voice and mana resonated with the ancient elven magic formation to spread around to all of Dareu. His voice resounded across the minds of all dragonkin born, and those that were yet to be born.

“And I shall make you into dragons.”

Chapter 307: I Am Your Father – 8

The world changed, or at least the dragonkin born in Dareu felt so. Whether they possessed intelligence or not, the ones that were not born as dragons had their mind cleared up. Their admiration towards the absolute ruler boiled.

The winged dragon that fell to the ground after it lost its control over fire, had forgotten about its pain and looked up to Yu IlHan and said in a trembling voice.

[Can you, really, make me into a.....]

“If it’s you who pursues power, you should know how vain and endless that path is, as well as the fact that you will give up your freedom once you come under my command, right?”

[Of course. .... Even so, I want to become stronger. Even if it’s an endless road, I want to embark on it. I want the qualifications to challenge it. I..... want to become a dragon.]

It became quite honest. Even though a tyrant was pressuring and forcing them into serving him mere hours or even minutes after their birth, they still couldn’t hide their desires even as they were frustrated that they couldn’t object.

“Good, you should also know what you need to do for that, right?”

[Kugh..... I do, I mean, I understand.]

Yu IlHan liked its honest attitude. Despite being a monster, it was very humane, narrow-minded and violent, and above all, gave its entire life to someone else for its foolish greed. Wasn’t that lovely?

He replied with a smirk.

“Right, you’ll be the first. And hence your name will be ‘First’ as well. You will be the first dragonkin to be reborn as a dragon.”

[First.....!]

Despite receiving a very simple and direct name, First did not realize that and became emotional. At that moment, a strand of mana came out from Yu IlHan shook the entire world. An enormous quantity of mana gathered on one spot to begin the restructuring and as he activated his skill.

[The Lv 290, First, submits to you. Accepting First as a subordinate.]

[The skill, Declaration, activates.]

The skill, Declaration, was an evolved version of the skills, Rule and Record. All of his subordinates receive the effects of this skill.

Realizing his words into reality didn't mean that he could make 1st class beings into 3rd class or revive the dead, but under the condition that he had enough materials, it was possible for the skill to make the impossible, possible.

So, it was the perfect skill for situations like these.

[Kugh!?!]

[What is that!]

[Kyaak! Kyaaaaaahk!]

Without any signs, a giant bucket appeared in midair. It was the artifact, Cradle of Miracles, that had helped him during his ascension into the realm of higher existences.

The bucket had already become a God-ranked artifact after absorbing countless records and materials, and as Yu IlHan had become a higher existence, it had transformed along with him to become something more than that.

[That..... an enormous amount of dragon powers.]

"It's good that you can feel it. Well, then, this is the start. You're ready, right?"

[.....Yes, I am.]

Yu IlHan swung his arms like an orchestral conductor. According to his gestures, the Cradle of Miracles expanded in size, and eventually became big enough to engulf First's body and have some room left over.

This would have been impossible in the past. No matter how amazing the Cradle of Miracles was, it was still in the realm of matter after all!

Of course, that didn't apply now. In his awakening as a higher existence, like how the Flamesoul Dragon Body became one with Yu IlHan, the Cradle of Miracles was tied to his soul and was bound to it.

The reason Yu IlHan's faction was named 'Dragon's Nest' was not by chance. The 'nest' in Dragon's Nest meant the very essence of Yu IlHan, the world on a wider scale, and on the smallest scale, it referred to the Cradle of Miracles.

[Inside this..... I will?]

"Concentrate. I'm not so kind as to make such a half-assed being into a dragon."

[Y, yes!]

First shut its mouth. The Cradle of Miracles didn't stop at just becoming big, and it opened its 'mouth' as if it was alive, and swallowed First whole. First's figure couldn't be discerned from the outside.

[It died!]

"No it' hasn't."

Yu IlHan snorted at the dragonkin that were shivering in fear and flew above the Cradle of Miracles. Like the time Yu IlHan had been reborn into a higher existence, the Cradle of Miracles had formed a gigantic red egg and protruded out a long straw towards the sky. It was as if looking at one of those pipes that divers used to breathe.

"Kuh."

Yu IlHan slashed his finger above it. A few drops of burning red blood was sucked into the straw. Yu IlHan's wound healed and when the blood was about to be sucked into the Cradle, the Cradle of Miracles, in the form of a red egg, beat out once like a heart.

"You watch too."

He winked towards the dragonkin that were still suspicious of him. At this point, they should have realized that Yu IlHan wouldn't have gone through all this if he was just going to deceive them and use them and simply bind all of them forcibly through mana, but perhaps they weren't as intelligent as dragons after all.

[Aaaaaaaah.]

At a good time, First's moans could be heard. The moan was half from the pain of having its body transformed, and the other half from the joy of its records growing at a fundamental level. However, Yu IlHan knew that this was just the beginning.

[Khaaak, Khaah! It hurts! It hurts.....! It's good but it hurts!]

"You can't help having it more painful since both your qualifications, records, mana, and level are lacking. To become a dragon in the truest sense, you'll have to level up at least 10 more times."

[Kugh, Khuuugh, Haaaaaaaah!]

Not too long after, a single crack appeared on the egg. For Yu IlHan, who had expected it to take several hours, it was quite a surprising result. It seems like its desire for power and to be a dragon was not on a normal level.

[A, aaaaaaaah.]

The red egg cracked all the way down before splitting in half. This was the moment a dragonkin transformed into a dragon, as well as the moment when the limitations of species were surpassed.

[O, ruler!]

"That was quick."

First was at that place. Standing on its two legs, it possessed an even bigger and redder pair of wings than before. Starts glistened in its red pupils. Its intelligence probably rose as well. Yu IlHan asked with a smile.

"How do you feel?"

[Truly..... truly great, o, ruler.]

Not all dragons were fat and had short limbs. Just looking at Yumir, he had an agile body that never gave off the feel that he was fat despite being huge, and had long arms and legs as expected of a fighter that fought in close combat.

[It really..... became a dragon.]

[How? How did it overcome the limitations of species?]

[Then I too.]

[Krrrr, krrrrraaaaaaaahhhhhhhh!]

[I, too, I also want to become a dragon.....!]

The reaction that Yu IlHan had expected started appearing. First felt the gazes on itself and expanded its two wings wide and shouted in joy while flying into the air.

[Kraaaaaaaaaaaaaah!]

[Roar! A dragon's roar.....!]

[It's a dragon! A dragon!]

First had a body that was like a shrunk version of Yumir's. As it was originally a winged dragonkin specializing in flight, its wings developed more than its limbs, but it had transformed fundamentally.

Not only the outside, the unstructured, boiling mana had become more refined and was coursing through its body, and the flames that it controlled from the moment it was born were even amplified thanks to Yu IlHan's influence. Since it awakened under Yu IlHan's management, it should be much stronger than ordinary higher existences of other factions that had just become level 300.

[I have become a dragon! I have become strong! And I will become even stronger!]

[I..... me too! I want to become a dragon too!]

[I shall follow you! No, o, mighty ruler! Let me serve you!]

The ones that watched as First actually transformed into a dragon all widened their eyes and rushed towards Yu IlHan. Some of them thought that even seemed to think that all they needed to do was to enter the Cradle of Miracles and entered the cracked Cradle of Miracles and rubbed its body all over it. Yu IlHan shook his hand with a laugh. The Cradle of Miracles burned in place and disappeared.

“You don’t think that was such an easy feat, right? I do not know how many of you possess qualifications like First does.”

Of course, that was all bullshit. With the power Yu IlHan possessed in Dareu, making dragonkin into dragons was not such a difficult task. Of course, as he had to consume the power of records he possessed, he shouldn’t be able to do it infinitely, but if the ones that became dragons piled new records under him, then it would result in overall gain and not a loss.

“The point is that only the those who grow until the end have the qualifications to become a dragon.”

[I am prepared to do anything, my lord.]

First, who came back down after immersing in its joy of being reborn into a dragon, folded its wings and submitted in front of Yu IlHan.

It wasn’t just because it felt appreciation towards him. In the process of becoming a dragon, and by the time it was completely recreated into a dragon, it felt the true power of Yu IlHan, and felt that it was by Yu IlHan’s grace that he came here to talk to them in the first place. To speak of it simply, it was abiding by the logics of power.

[M, me too!]

[Kroaaaaaaaaaar!]

[I, I also want to do it!]

[I will do anything, if it’s to escape this body!]

[I also..... want to become as handsome, strong, and wise as First!]

“Wow, I’m popular.”

Perhaps, if the Great Cataclysm never occurred on Earth, Yu IlHan would have made quite a living being a host on some home shopping channel? Well, under the condition that the camera could catch him that is! Yu IlHan put away his thoughts there and looked back at the dragons.

“I actually have one thing I want you guys to take care of. Hey, your siblings are coming too.”

[Siblings.....?]

First realized something after questioning and raised its head. The other dragonkin did the same.

From the moment Yu IlHan decided to use the Manifestation skill, he was spreading his presence all around to call for dragonkin. If there was a trivial problem, it was that the skill was too powerful, and was calling for all the beings on Daeru and not just dragonkin.

[Dad!]

[Father!]

[Khaaaah! A strong dragon, I can feel the power of dragons!]

[Master, just what is.....!?!]

“IlHan, what is up? Did those strange things attack us again!?”

[Master, is it a battle!? Even though you just told us to rest!?!]

The dragons that went off to fight dragonslayers with Yumir, as well as the monsters with dragonslaying powers, the ones that came out from the Flying fortress after feeling the aura of strong dragons, as well as the others! Mystic thought that situation was urgent and even brought both of the fortresses.

“First, you know what you and the other dragonkin need to do now, right?”

Yu IlHan waved his hand to greet the others while checking with the dragonkin here. They all nodded in acceptance. Although some of them showed signs of fear, they couldn’t retreat now.

Prove your qualifications if you want to become stronger. Isn’t it simple and reasonable?

[Understood, my ruler.]

First unfolded its wings again and flew up. A strong power of fire gathered in its mouth.

[I shall punish all enemies that dare to go against the ruler.]

[If it's to become a dragon!]

[If I have to disappear like that, I'd rather resolve death and fight!]

[Kraaaaaaaahn!]

[Wh, what is it!? Aren't we fighting these guys? What is going on!?]

Like that, the battle between the ones that wanted to live in Dareu commenced. It was a battle that was comparable to the creation mythology!

Chapter 308: I Am Your Father – 9

[Die! Sever the resentful lineage of dragons!]

[I cannot accept you! You've always swung us around at your whim, we shall punish you even if it costs us our lives!]

[Whether it's us or you, we have just been born. Why do you bear so much resentment!]

[Just try killing me with that dragon-slaying power!]

All dragonkin wishing to become true dragons clashed against the monsters that aimed for Yu IlHan under the lead of First.

It wasn't like there weren't any 3rd class monsters, but they either died in the first clash, or were dying out really quickly without being able to win against the other monsters. As such, most of those that clashed in the battlefield were usually 4th class.

"My word, IlHan. What is all this?"

"Oh, this? It's just setting the world in order."

Yu IlHan gave a chic reply to Liera who was shocked after seeing such a scene after leaving him alone for a few hours.

"Setting the world in order.....?"

"The environmental problems after the 6th Great Cataclysm have mostly settled down. However, as you know, the real Great Cataclysm only starts after then, doesn't it?"

"That's true."

The real frightening part about Great Cataclysms were the monsters that were born under the influence of the evolved mana. Dareu was filled with frightening monsters when it underwent the 5th Great Cataclysm, but now it had went through the 6th!

Fortunately, it was possible for Yu IlHan to take the dragons and dragonkin under his wing, but unless Yu IlHan became the boss of the Destruction Demon Army or something, it was impossible to force the submission of all monsters. Especially the dragon-slaying monsters even though they were created based off of his own records!

“Of course, the best way is to trap them under Traps of Destruction, but pushing all the monsters in this world in to dungeons is practically impossible right now. Moreover, thanks to Daeru fusing with tens of other worlds, the landmass has increased dramatically as well. And so.....”

“You’ll undergo a massive cleaning session, right~? By ordering around the dragons and dragonkin? As expected of my Mr. IlHan, you do things on such a big scale~. Such a side is cool as well.”

“Haha.”

“Ha, hahaha.....”

Na YuNa came to a conclusion. Yu IlHan laughed and Liera laughed as well. Of course, the two individual’s laughs differed by about a 100 million degrees centigrade.

[The higher existence group, Dragon’s Nest, so it meant this. Really, it’s perfect.]

Meanwhile, Helièna gave her own opinion. Despite not having rested for long, her body had completely returned to its top condition. Not just her, everyone residing in the two fortresses were like that.

“Ehem, didn’t I do good?”

Only Na YuNa, who was boasting, had consumed a lot of mana and was exhausted. Meaning, she didn’t even properly rest and controlled the holy region to look after all of them.

Of course, he knew how she felt. Due to the characteristics of her class, she had to stay in the safest zone of the battlefield. She helped everyone using her blessings and heals, but she couldn’t have helped but feel uncomfortable when she was the only one in the safe zone while everyone else fought on the front line. All the more so, if the battle was intense.

“Thanks for helping out.”

“Eheheh.”

Yu IlHan stroked her hair lightly instead of blaming her foolishness. Just with that, his mana seeped into Na YuNa’s body and healed her tired body and revitalized her. Now that he had become the leader of a faction, this was as simple as breathing for him, but for Na YuNa, that didn’t seem to be the case.

“Amazing! So your hair and eyes don’t glow for nothing!”

“I understand how you see me now.”

“Aaah, no, it’s not that! I only wanted to snip a little bit of your beautiful hair and keep it for myself!”

Yu IlHan laughed and asked.

“So, how is Miss MiRae?”

“She’s still sleeping~. I recovered her body and magic power so she should be up once she relieves her fatigue!”

“You’re so caring to your friend.”

“But it’s a big problem since I feel like I’m going to like you more than her~.”

Na YuNa spoke out honestly in embarrassment. Yu IlHan spoke with a light smile.

“Liera’s behind you.”

“Don’t joke with me, such a teas.....hiiiiik!”

“You admitted your own sin!”

While Yu IlHan and the others were playing around, the dragons that felt Yu IlHan’s mana gathered around him. Yumir was the fastest and Ruby was the next, and they were surprised after seeing First, and then surprised again after seeing countless dragonkin battling against monsters.

[Dad, what is all this?]

[Father, don’t tell me father wishes to rule over those dragonkin as well.....?]

“Welcome. From now, this will be the battlefield so gather up and head into battle. I'll call all the other monsters here so don't worry about that."

[All of the monsters, in this vast world.....?]

Even the dragons that vaguely knew of his power couldn't believe his words. Yu IlHan smiled and raised one hand. From his hand, an overwhelming aura was emitted and spread to the surroundings.

[Khaaaaaaan!]

[Kihiiiiiiik!]

The monsters couldn't defy this aura and shrunk back while the dragonkin took this chance to bite them. For an action of just raising his hand, the effects were too big. In fact, it was even expanding and was provoking all monsters of Dareu and were calling them here.

"Kyak!"

"Huu, you became too strong while I didn't take notice of you!"

[This is a skill? I can feel darling's aura amplifying.]

"You're right."

Perhaps it was impossible in another world, but in Dareu which solely belonged to him, it was possible to maintain Manifestation skill for one or two days without a problem, so he currently maintained the skill to support the dragonkin and dragons with his power. What was amazing was that Yu IlHan still had some strength left.

"Should we kick it up a notch then?"

"How are you going to do any more than thi..... Kyak!"

"My god!"

The moment Yu IlHan's hand swung down his arms vertically, the ancient elven magic formation activated.

No, that could no longer be called the ancient elven magic formation. It was endlessly modified by Yu IlHan, and during the Great Cataclysm, its accumulated records became unimaginable! Yu IlHan just decided to rename it to carpet.

"It's definitely strangely right but no!"

“Mwahahahaha! Taste the power of the carpet cast over the entire continent!”

When Yu IlHan’s mana, amplified through Manifestation, seeped into the lands and vitalized the carpet to the fullest, the entirety of Dareu flashed red once.

[Kugh!?]

[My body.....]

[M, my strength is draining!]

[The dragon potential within me is boiling!]

[Uoooooh! O mighty ruler!]

Weakening, slowing and draining mana from the enemy, as well as boosting the recovering of and strengthening his allies! This was an all-purpose carpet!

The scene of tens, hundreds of millions of monsters losing power was a spectacle as well, but all the dragons and dragonkin going berserk with their mana as if they were popeye after eating spinach was quite a scene as well.

[Krrrrrrrrroaaaaaaaaaaaaaar!]

[Taste the flames of hell! Khaaaaaak!]

[Still too weak, you’re too weak! Bring out more of your power! If you don’t kill one hundred each I’ll scold you later!]

Not to mention the strongest dragon after Yu IlHan, Yumir, Ruby and First, behind them also rampaged around. Ruby tried to appeal more to her great father, while First was trying to repay the ruler that made it strong. Since both of them had the fire attribute, they had their powers increased the most as well.

[We need to kill that damn man!]

[The Brood Father!]

“Ooh, quite the good words for a monster? Okay, you’re in.”

The lord of all dragons, The Brood Father, eh. Yu IlHan was satisfied with the title and killed the monster in kind. Even though he just lightly swung his hand, an impossibly fast spear of fire pierced it all the way from its mouth to its hind and killed it.

Even though it was a monster over level 250, leaving aside how obvious it was for Yu IlHan to kill it in one strike, it died without even knowing what it was killed by! So tragic!

“.....”

“Liera-unni~. Was there something just now?”

“I just resent all the time I’ve lived.....”

It wasn’t just Yu IlHan and the others. The monsters were shocked at the attack that transcended their recognition and was frozen in place, while the ones that inherited Yu IlHan’s records were not idiots to miss this opportunity. Yumir lead them in a charge.

[Drive them back! Drive them back even more! A fight is all about the morale. Like the wind that strengthens flames, faster, and sharper!]

His son had absorbed everything while being with him and was doing his job as the eldest brother perfectly!

[Follow brother’s back! O, dragons, are you planning to lose to the other dragonkin even though we stand at the apex!]

[Dragonkin, rage, and rampage! Steal away the position of dragons that the ruler has promised us!]

The morale was there. Dragons and other dragonkin usually had animosity towards each other upon birth, but right now, they teamed up with Yu IlHan at the center and were facing the monsters, and the ones with dragon-slaying powers as well.

[How can I not rip that dragon to pieces! My teeth, my claws, why are they becoming dull!]

[Kuooooooooooooh!]

[We can’t back out like this..... I shall definitely sink my teeth into that being!]

Even though the other monsters were being driven back mercilessly, they couldn't leave this place so they cried out in agony and attacked, died, then attacked, and died. In the process of countless monsters dying, the mana released from their deaths once again vitalized the carpet, recovered Yu IlHan's mana, and the mana that was still left over was sucked into a cylindrical container on his hand which appeared from some time.

"IlHan, that's....."

"Very good, it's working very quickly."

It was the cylinder that Yu IlHan had installed in Dareu in order to gather the mana of Earth on Dareu. He recovered them in order to prepare for battle, but now that he had come back to Dareu, he re-installed them. But right now, it was different in the sense that it was absorbing the mana of Dareu and not just of Earth.

Yu IlHan checked the rate at which mana filled the cylindrical container and made a satisfied smile. Once he entrapped the mana in this container, he could slow down the birth of monsters, as well as gather large quantities of mana. This was killing two birds with one stone! Very good!

"Good, children, fight for just another 3 weeks like this!"

[Th, three weeks??!..... I shall do my best!]

Ruby realized that Yu IlHan was really going to call all the monsters in this world here and clenched her teeth as she replied. Yu IlHan nodded several times at her handsome attitude and turned around. The others were staring at him dumbfoundedly.

"Oh yeah, I didn't talk about me yet, did I?"

"I vaguely knew what happened, but I think I need to hear it properly after seeing all this."

When Liera said that, Na YuNa nodded her head intensely. Yu IlHan made a slight smile and nodded his head. Helièna was making a satisfied smile on his side.

"Good, let's get that out of the way now."

Dragon's Nest, with just two members with Yu IlHan and Yumir, had finally started recruiting new members!

Chapter 309: You Are The Same As Me – 1

“Well, then.”

Yu IlHan unfolded his arms. According to his gesture, flames blossomed before enveloping the others around him as well as the two fortresses. An impermeable space was created.

Monsters gritted their teeth and tried to attack them, but there was no way newly born monsters from Dareu could make so much as a dent on Yu IlHan’s personal barrier. The ones that did attack were instantly killed the next moment either by a dragonkin or a dragon.

The group stared on as the monsters crashed into the barrier continuously and felt as if they were watching a 3D movie. Liera shouted after a clap.

“Ooh, the battle looks more intense from here!”

“Here’s some popcorn~.”

At a good time, Na YuNa brought out some popcorn. It was her scheme to win points back from Liera since she was found out while trying to flirt with Yu IlHan. It was quite effective and Liera accepted it with a satisfied expression.

“You are quite capable!”

“Bullshit capable!”

Yu IlHan shouted, but the situation was completely flowing towards spectator-like atmosphere. Not only those two, the others also seated down on the floor of the barrier and started watching the intense battle. They were planning to watch from the very beginning!

Being with Yu IlHan for so long, the others knew when it was their turn to fight and when it wasn’t, so Yu IlHan thought that they were being slightly nasty.

“It’s not such a short story, right? It’s fine, take it slow. We’ll listen to all of it.”

[There’s no way it will be so simple when it’s about the process of becoming the Fifth God. Darling, I also want to hear the specific now.]

“Sheesh, you guys…….”

Yu IlHan sighed, but he couldn't really help it. Liera should have told them up until the point that Raphael accompanied the two. He revealed the details starting from the point after that, and emphasised on what he had to do in order to create a higher existence organization.

The fact that they reached a place where all factions fought along with Raphael, that the ones that attacked the Heaven's Army so much had instead started attacking the Army of Brilliant Light, and how he was surprised about that, the fact that Michael and Raphael worked in conjunction to dispel his concealment, or to be exact, his clone, the fact that he attacked Raphael in that lapse of concentration and acquired all the necessary records!

The fact that he acquired the class, Leader, to replace the gone Angel's Partner, and how he was reborn into the leader of the faction; the fact that he had killed Keshein and Raphael and grew even further, the fact that he had gone to Elo Katra and met the leader of the Destruction Demon Army, as well as the fact that he completely ignored Greed and returned to Dareu, only to cause the 6th Great Cataclysm.

“Fuu, see, nothing much happened, right?”

Kang HaJin replied in an absurd voice at Yu IlHan's words.”

“If that was ‘nothing much’ then what is ‘something much’? Creation?”

“My word, to think you've never even seen the Leader class until then…….”

Even though he had talked all this cool story in one breath, Na YuNa was disappointed about just one weird point. Yu IlHan tried to snort it over, but even Liera stroked his hair in tears.

“Pitiful IlHan……. It's fine, I'll stay with you forever.”

“Huh?”

[Uh, hm. Darling did everything perfectly so that is why that happened! Darling is not in the wrong!]

“Huh, whoa?”

“Th, that can happen. Leader, hm. I might not have been able to acquire it if I didn’t spend ten years in Breya. Yes, of course.”

“Ehhh?”

The reactions of the others about the weird aspect of the story was quite suspicious. Even though he had become a higher existence, why did he have to receive such a treatment! Well, Yu IlHan also thought that acquiring the Leader class last was quite insulting, but even so!

If it came down to this, the only hope was his mother..... but when he turned around to her, Kim YeSeul only smiled awkwardly. To think back, she had partied with the spirits in the halted world and hunted monsters starting from level 1! She should have long since looked at the Leader subclass!

“Dragon’s Nest. So that’s it. Is it also the reason why so many dragons have gathered?”

Kim YeSeul seemed to want to change topics and asked after looking at all the dragonkin that were having an intense battle. Yu IlHan nodded with a pouting face.

“That’s because the first world that caused a Great Cataclysm in resonance to my mana happened to be Dareu..... but yeah, you can think of it like that.”

Yu IlHan would have looked for Dareu eventually anyway, and at that point, something similar would have happened, just on a smaller scale. It was just that the scale had become absolutely huge thanks to the great timing where he had returned to Dareu!

[Not only the dragons, but the other dragonkin as well..... amazing. You’re amazing, darling. I did think that perhaps it may come to this when you acquired dragon powers, but I never knew there would really be a faction that rules over dragons.]

Dragonkin. The race that is born with the highest potential upon birth. Of course, the epitome were the dragons, but all dragonkin were born with the highest health and magic power. However, Yu IlHan had acquired a power that managed those dragonkin and was able to make them grow even further, so was there a need to talk about how great of a domain that Yu IlHan had expanded?

It was just that one thing nagged on Helièna's mind. It was that the name of the organization felt as if it excluded everything that was not dragonkin. Why was it a 'dragon'? To be exact, wasn't there an attribute or characteristic that brought all together into one?

Just what intent did the Akashic Record have? No, there was no way the Akashic Record possessed something like that, but did it really choose that name after meticulously analyzing Yu IlHan perfectly?

"Helièna, I think you misunderstand."

Yu IlHan laughed after hearing Helièna's words. Well, it wasn't that he didn't understand what she was thinking, but to speak of the conclusion, it was a needless worry.

"Dragon's Nest isn't just a place that houses dragons."

Yu IlHan's pupils gave off light. The the vertical golden slit pupils that appeared on his ruby-like eyes charmed Helièna. She couldn't even live up to her name as the Succubus Queen but still asked in an enchanted voice.

[Then.....?]

"Dragon's Nest is the place where dragons gather, live, and finally, the place they return. And also....."

He raised one hand. Liera, who felt that it was her turn, stood up and approached him. The others also seemed to have felt a mysterious aura, and focused their gazes on Yu IlHan, Helièna and Liera.

At that moment, a gigantic red bucket appeared in the barrier. It was the same basket that made First into a true dragon, the Cradle of Miracles. Helièna finally seemed to have realized something and moaned in exclamation.

[So that's it, Dragon's Nest.....]

"Yes, Dragon's Nest."

Liera closed her eyes. They didn't need to speak to each other to communicate and she was happy that it wasn't awkward at all. Yu IlHan laughed and swung his hand downwards. The Cradle of Miracles completely enveloped Liera and formed a red egg-like structure. Everyone knew the answer at this point.

“Is a place where dragons are born.”

[My god.....]

Helièna couldn't hide her shock and exclamation.

[How can this be, so that's it. I can finally understand how darling can become a being that surpasses Heaven itself. A faction that can change an entity's records by such a large margin..... only Heaven was capable of that until now.]

That was true. The Destruction Demon Army only raised the league of beings that had destructive tendencies and kept their attributes. The Garden of Sunset was a faction that respected the characteristics of each entity and supported their development. The Army of Brilliant Light caused some changes, but that was merely corrupting the ones that had already become an angel.

Transforming the very existence, in its true sense, could only be seen in Heaven's Army until now.

But now, in this place.

The perfect transformation of existence, the evolution of existence, was being performed.

“Liera, endure it for a little.”

Liera inside the egg could not reply. However, Yu IlHan could perfectly grasp the transforming Liera inside even with his eyes closed.

Now, there was only one thing left. When he extended his index finger, a drop of his blood flowed and seeped into the red egg. At that moment, the egg vibrated with a loud thud.

[Uu, so envious. I'm very envious.]

“Your turn will come soon so wait a little.”

The egg vibrated a few more times before cracking like how it was with First. Yes, in fact, the process looked quite similar to what First had experienced.

Yes. Although this was quite sorry for First, Yu IlHan had in fact been experimenting with First on his ability as the leader of Dragon's Nest. Even though he knew how perfectly safe it was, he couldn't be relieved until he saw it himself.

And Liera's case was slightly different from First as well. Unlike how it transformed from a lower existence dragonkin into a dragon, Liera had fallen from her position as a 6th class high angel to 4th class, and was now regaining her league that she had once lost. The difference between the sun and a firefly would be an overstatement, but the two would at least differ like the difference between a lake and a puddle.

[W, wait, darling. Restoring her league? The league that she once lost?]

"Liera only couldn't implement her records that she had piled up since she lost her qualifications as an angel, and she still possesses the achievements and records that she acquired purely by herself, right?"

[But even if that were the case.....]

"This is the same as how an angel becomes a fallen angel, and how a fallen angel becomes a predator of the Destruction Demon Army, and how a predator becomes a gatekeeper in the Garden of Sunset. There's nothing to be so surprised about."

In the past, the Garden of Sunset tried to make Erta reborn into their gatekeeper. Since she retained her records that she possessed to reach such a league, they just needed to swap out her records as an angel with the records as a gatekeeper.

This was the same method that turned angels into fallen angels, and was practically a magic that all factions shared at this point. However, that only extended to.....

[That's swapping! The time of that magic is horrendously important you know! But Liera had spent a long period of time after she had lost her league, but how can you fill such a gap.....!]

"Such a gap is as good as nothing in front of me."

Helièna became speechless at his words. Even in that while, Liera's 'incubation' was occurring. The crack in the egg widened, and red light was released from the gap. Helièna shivered after feeling the strong vibration of magic power.

[She really is a 6th class.....!]

“Your turn isn’t long, so wait, Helièna.”

“Fuuu.”

Yu IlHan laughed as he saw Helièna watching Liera with two pairs of red dragon wings, appearing from the cracked egg in astonishment.

Chapter 310: You Are The Same As Me – 2

The group became speechless after seeing Liera reappear with dragon wings. They were finally clear on why Yu IlHan was the leader of Dragon's Nest, as well as what he was capable of as a leader of a faction. Of course, the one who was most surprised was the person in question, Liera.

"I can feel dragon's blood flowing within me. Moreover..... I, really, got my league back. No, this isn't at the level of getting it back."

Liera muttered absentmindedly as she flicked one of her fingers. She could feel the enormous power contained inside her, stronger than when she was a high angel in the past, and made her feel satisfied.

Not only that, now that she had been reborn as a dragon, she had a beauty that made the viewers almost thrilled. While she was a high angel, the blessing of the god of love had a hard time being brought out, but ever since she had fallen and the angelhood disappeared and only the blessing was left, the blessing and the dragon's blood had caused a synergy now that she had recovered her league.

Her red eyes became more translucent and deep, and her white pottery-like skin now emitted a faint glow. Her already beautiful blond hair was now mixed with a tinge of red, and swayed gently with the flow of mana, as if it was alive. The current her was like..... a goddess.

Yu IlHan checked with her carefully.

"How do you feel, Liera? Are you uncomfortable in any way, or....."

"It's the best!"

"Hey, st-."

After that short line, she immediately rushed to Yu IlHan and poured kisses on him. The two pairs of dragon wings that replaced her angel wings flapped, and made her look slightly cute. Helièna retorted in a depressed voice after seeing that.

[Dragon wings should have no relation to league but why does Liera have two pairs?]

“Liera was once a high angel before so I guess that influenced this. Eii, get off me now. It should take some time for you to get used to your current state.”

“Hing, but even so.”

In fact, the experienced Liera gained during her time as a lower existence influenced her growth as well and now she had a level that vastly surpassed her level during her time as a high angel. She was a little less than level 430 when she was a high angel, but now that she was reborn as a dragon, she was currently level 483. It could be seen how much of a tough battlefield she had been through with Yu IlHan.

“All of my skills changed and evolved. Moreover..... I think I can change my form if I feel like it.”

“Please don’t transform within the barrier. The barrier will immediately burst.”

“.....Then, should I help them?”

Liera’s eyes glistened after seeing the bloody battle between dragonkin and the other monsters after she barely came off Yu IlHan. She probably wanted to test out her new power. Yu IlHan nodded his head with a smile.

“They also need to grow so don’t go overboard.”

“Okay, leave it to me!”

Her dragon wings instantly expanded and flapped. The next moment, she was already outside the barrier and was amidst of the monsters. It was more like a warp rather than flight in speed.

[D, dragon!]

[There’s another dragon! Just what is happening inside that!?]

[We need to kill him no matter what! We need to kill the man inside..... Kyahak!]

“Oraoraoraoraora! Angel..... no, dragon lance waveeeeeeeeeee!”

Even though she had become a dragon, her naming sense was as tragic as ever! However, the gigantic shockwave that she created with the power of fire was strong enough to make anyone forget that. When a shockwave spread around the battlefield from her spear, at least a hundred thousand monsters were ripped to shreds!

[Khaaaaaaaaaak!]

[H, how can this be! She's even stronger than brother!]

Both the monsters that were attacked as well as the dragons couldn't hide their shock. The ones inside the barrier were no different either.

"I said don't go overboard. That damn an..... I mean, dragon!"

"Liera was proud of her prowess even during her angel days. It was an amazing matter that she had thrown away that power and chose you..... but it doesn't look like her personality from those days has changed."

Even while analyzing Liera's current state of mind, Erta's gaze was fixed on Yu IlHan. Her glistening eyes were as if asking 'Who's next? Is it me? It's me, right? Please say it's my turn!'. Yu IlHan laughed and flicked his finger.

"Welcome Erta. Advancing to the 6th class is a first for you, right?"

***

Kang MiRae was wandering around an abyss. It was deep, and was filled with a dark, foggy matter. She didn't know where she was standing, nor where the end was, nor where the floor or even the ceiling was. It was a space filled with the unknown. No, was this a place that actually existed? That was a question as well.

"Why..... am I here?"

Until just now, she was having a battle. As per request from Yu IlHan, she helped the others in order to attack the worlds that other higher existence factions ruled..... humanely, this was not forgivable.

Kang MiRae did her best in this mission purely in order to live along with everyone else, in order to repay Yu IlHan, ..... and to receive more attention from him. And in fact, it was going quite well.

“Ah, that’s it.”

She remembered at that time. Fighting against the original higher existence factions went quite smoothly. With Orochi inside Echjar’s body and Helièna who were imperfect but still 7th class beings, as well as the former angels Liera and Erta – she was with companions that couldn’t be defined by common sense.

The point at which everything went wrong was when those unidentifiable strange angel-like beings appeared out of nowhere. They had an insane resistance to mana, and even had a unique barrier that prevented the use of mana within a certain region of space.

All of them had a hard time battling that and Kang MiRae was the same as well. However, when they were momentarily disabled with Helièna’s help, Kang MiRae utilized tiny warp gates which she made them appear on those strange angel-like beings and managed to kill them. It should have been impossible, but how did she do it? That question remained in her heart.

“Is that why I died?”

Because she was too greedy, because she forcefully did something that was beyond her?

She should originally be a person that retreated in the face of what she rationally identified as dangerous, but was it a problem that she had gone berserk thinking that she couldn’t make Yu IlHan sad? Is that why she had died and fell into this space of nothingness?

“If I think about it, it started when I fell into Lanpas.”

If it was the past her, she would have just waited until it was possible to go back to Earth again and focused on developing her abilities. She would have done what was possible only for her, and believe that it was for the best.

However, she didn’t do that, and started researching into dimension magic which wasn’t her field of specialty at all. Why was that? Was that in order to save the people of Earth? To look for her brother? To look for Na YuNa, or any of her other family members?

No, it was to meet Yu IlHan. It was because she wanted to meet him as soon as possible. Honestly, she didn’t think about anyone else. She just felt as if she would become crazy because she wanted to meet Yu IlHan. Once she knew that, her mind had puffed up so much that nothing else mattered to her anymore. Even if Na YuNa found that disappointing, that was the truth, so she couldn't help that.

So, she ended up becoming a Dimensional Mage, received the blessing of the god of magic, and could finally meet him once again.

“Mr. IlHan.....”

She had already gave up on confessing her feelings. There were many people beside him that were more beautiful than her, and loved him more than she did. She did think that it was to be expected of a man who stole her heart, but yeah, in truth, she felt helpless and resentful even.

But even so, she didn't want to make Yu IlHan suffer. Since he was such a kind person, he would have a hard time rejecting her as well. Even though he was strong enough to not be bothered by anything or anyone, he always was!

She told herself to be satisfied just being next to him, and that she was walking near him. Though, it sometimes did make Yu IlHan awkward since that didn't go as well as she had planned.....

She was joyful. She was happy. It was painful, but warm.

“But now I ended up dying.”

Now she would never meet him again. That was too sad and she wanted to just collapse on the spot and cry.

It was at that point that she heard a voice.

[Child.]

A voice that was like, but yet, unlike, a child, an old man, a man, a woman, filled the region.

[You possess an amazing power. You have pioneered a forbidden realm by yourself, and firmly taking it for yourself. That ability of yours can be evaluated as a truly 'new' record.]

“.....”

Kang MiRae raised her head. Perhaps she didn't die after all? That was the first thought that came to her mind.

[You can reject death. Not only that, you have the qualifications to become brighter than any other.]

"Who are you?"

[I am God.]

The answer was simple. Too simple that she wanted to burst out laughing. Kang MiRae laughed and shook her head.

"It looks like I'm dead after all."

[Child, it's fine whether you want to believe in me or not. I only exist as a God. But would you listen to my story?]

"Fuu."

Kang MiRae ignored the voice that filled the region and checked up on her own state. She couldn't feel an ounce of mana, and there didn't seem to be anything that she could do. She nodded unwillingly.

"Go on then."

[Then let us first talk about how you and I could meet.]

"You are the mastermind behind those strange angels. I have killed them and absorbed their records, and you have contacted me through those records, am I wrong?"

[.....You are quite more exceptional than I thought.]

It was a bullseye. Without any hints whatsoever, Kang MiRae came to the conclusion with the single word 'God', making her look like a prophet rather than a genius. The self-proclaimed 'God' seemed to be a little bit surprised, but he wasn't God for nothing and regained his calm soon and continued speaking.

[The current world is wrong. My karma and my sins have caused this state. There are too many beings that self-proclaim to be god, and the number of worlds are increasing uncontrollably. Mana was a failure. I did not know how dangerous a power granted to anyone can be, and it became like this after I tried to pursue fairness.]

“There are too many skipped details.”

[But do you not already know?]

Kang MiRae vaguely nodded. She wasn't a genius for nothing.

Under the condition that 'God's' words were right, he was the one that created this multiverse, and also the one that spread around mana. However, too many beings have become too strong thanks to mana, and there were even beings that threatened his position. There were too many worlds, and everything wasn't to his liking. That was the point.

“So you want to cause another Great Flood or something?”

[I am planning to make everything disappear and start from the beginning.]

Huh, somehow it was something worse than a flood. Kang MiRae tilted her head wondering if this was really God and checked with him.

“.....From Adam and Eve?”

[Do you not want to become Eve?]

“Who's Adam then?”

[I will give you Yu IlHan. Do you not love him? Do you not want to monopolize him? I shall make that wish come true.]

Kang MiRae lost her words. It was because she was embarrassed at herself for thinking that was a pretty attractive offer for a moment.

[I have made a new army. The ones you have destroyed are members of that army. I need your power in that place. Once you gain your league as a higher existence, you shall acquire power that puts all below you. So I shall give you the first place under me.]

“And the Heaven's Army?”

[New wine is put into fresh wineskins. I shall view you and Yu IlHan as the only exceptions.]

Kang MiRae closed her eyes. It was a very attractive offer. If it was a being strong enough to contact her through her records, he should indeed have the power to make that reality.

So once she nods, then she might actually be able to monopolize Yu IlHan.....

However.

“I refuse.”

[So it's like that after all?]

“You knew and still asked?”

[I have failed quite a few of my plans until now, and that was all thanks to the emotions that came from humans. Hence I have come to a conclusion that only human emotions make my plans go into disarray. That is why I have provoked your emotions, in hopes for another result. And how was the result? Wasn't your heart shaken by the words that you could monopolize Yu IlHan?]

“That's definitely true, but.”

Kang MiRae replied with a laugh.

“You don't know humans well enough. In fact, you don't know them at all. You don't know what love is nor do you understand it.”

She had a short life, and it was a life that rejected love as well. However, even she knew something. Of course, she wasn't going to utter words like 'love is not binding, and is just something that you give', or any other words like that.

She wanted to have Yu IlHan. Even if it was to imprison him and tie him up such that he only looked at her, she wanted to do so. Not only did she want to give her love to him, she wanted his love back as well. She wanted to receive his intense, bone-crushing love!

Just that.

“There's nothing more disgusting than an arranged marriage you know? Love is a war. Go read Herman Hesse's Demian again before you come back to me.”

[..... Then I cannot help it. I am sorry but you are more of an obstacle than Yu IlHan is to my plans.]

She could predict the next words. I shall have you die. Or why did you think I was explaining in kind until now? Or such other stereotypical villain-like words.

This was the realm of the mind. No matter how well you put it, he was an intruder, and an attacker.

[Welcome warm rest..... hm?]

He tried to expand his influence Kang MiRae's mind that he had successfully interfered with while the strange angels died and tried to attack her mind directly. If it was Yu IlHan with the Unshakable Heart skill, that would have been impossible, but he thought that Kang MiRae was nothing much when she wasn't even a higher existence yet!

However, that was his thoughts alone.

"Get lost fucker."

Kang MiRae raised one hand while uttering harsh words that she had never spoken before, to God nonetheless.

What gathered on her palm was a white light. Mana.

[What!?]

Now she felt mana within herself. No, what comprised this space itself was mana. What was not mana only needed to be converted into mana. If there was no mana, all she needed to do was to call them out from everything around her. Why didn't she know that until now? Mana was always whispering towards her!

[How can this be, to think you blossomed so early..... it's too fast, it's too way too fast!]

"Fuu."

Mana was a failure? The one that declared such a beautiful energy maybe God, but he was definitely not the Creator! She twisted her lips up to mock God and slapped against space with the mana in her hand.

[Hah!]

The space crumbled instantly. God's voice and will collapsed and disappeared. Kang MiRae snorted.

"You just wait until our Mr. IlHan beats you up."

The surroundings brightened. Kang MiRae realized that it wouldn't be long until she woke up.

At that moment, these texts appeared on her retina.

[You have realized mana without the help of any skill, and with purely your power alone. This is an achievement that no one has achieved before. It is a record that cannot be recorded, and will never be recorded. You have the greatest talent for mana since the existence of the Akashic Record.]

[You can become wholly perfect. However, you must fulfill a few more.....]

“Shut up.”

However, Kang MiRae gathered mana on her hand and slapped it away. Only her abilities remained and the transformation did not occur. By deepening her abilities, she had kicked away her path forward without any regrets.

“I don’t want to do this alone. I’m going to go meet. Mr. IlHan.”

Then she opened her eyes.

The one that she longed for so much was waiting for her. The ones with dragon wings on their back all met her.

“Welcome back, Miss MiRae.”

Yu IlHan smiled. Kang MiRae smiled like a little child after seeing him.

With that, everyone had gathered.

Chapter 311: You Are The Same As Me – 3

The moment Kang MiRae opened her eyes, Yu IlHan realized that Kang MiRae had broken through whatever was keeping her captive by herself. Without the help of any skills, whether it was the Record skill, the Rule skill or the likes of that, she was enlightened on the way of mana and was now able to rule over it.

Even though it was an absurd talent that possessed limitless potential, what was even more amazing was that Kang MiRae had tossed aside a big opportunity by herself. Even though she should have been able to proceed on her own depending on her effort, she did not do so. Yu IlHan found that curious.

“Won’t you regret it?”

“Not at all.”

Kang MiRae’s answer was very firm though, as she replied with a voice that didn’t contain even the slightest bit of hesitation.

“I like this the best.”

“Then..... I won’t be able to say anything.”

Yu IlHan laughed and extended his hand out to her.

“You’re the last, Miss MiRae. You will enter the Dragon’s Nest, right?”

“Mr. IlHan.....”

Kang MiRae grabbed his hand. A red line of text appeared on her retina.

[You have more than enough potential to leap into the realm of higher existences on your own. Yu IlHan, the leader of Dragon’s Nest, is offering you to become a member of Dragon’s Nest. Will you accept the offer?]

“Of course.”

The majority of Yu IlHan’s company (excluding Kang HaJin and some others that weren’t at a sufficient level yet) were turned into dragons by the Cradle of Miracles, and now the Cradle enveloped Kang MiRae. An enormous sea of mana, which almost seemed to contain an entire world’s mana, way beyond what Kang MiRae could control, had enveloped her.

Kang MiRae only shivered in excitement as she felt the energy of dragons thriving inside. Precisely because she was enlightened in mana, she could feel the power more clearly.

“This..... really is.”

“Miss MiRae. It will hurt a little but bear with it.”

Yu IlHan’s voice could be heard from the outside. The moment Yu IlHan’s blood seeped into Kang MiRae’s skin, she heard her heart thumping loudly once.

“Aah, aaaaaaah.”

Her records were flipping over. Turning from a human’s into a dragon’s. She was evolving, acquiring a body and soul that had more affinity towards mana. Since she was enlightened on the way of mana, the growth through the transformation was larger as well.

“That’s amazing..... so it can go like this as well.”

“That’s true, I didn’t know that lady could transform so much.”

Only Yu IlHan and Helièna could correctly see through Kang MiRae’s current state from the outside. Kang MiRae wasn’t supposed to reach 6th class with her records, but it was happening thanks to the achievements she had prior to waking up. Right now, Kang MiRae was becoming a 6th class!

“Tch, I thought I overtook her.”

Na YuNa, the one with the most contribution to the party thanks to her abilities and was able to become 6th class as well, lightly clicked her tongue after seeing that. Of course, her face was filled with joy. She was happy that Kang MiRae had safely woken up and rejoined them.

“Put a little more effort in. Mr. Kang HaJin.”

“I’m level 270 now. 270, dammit! I’m not slow at all, and in fact, am insanely fast by normal standards. How come I’m in last place?”

“HaJin-oppa. The group no longer exists~. If you want to enter Dragon’s Nest, you need to become level 300. HaJin-oppa is alone! A loner!”

“I know! I get it already!”

The transformation soon ended. The red egg cracked and the Cradle of Miracles melted into thin air once again, and Kang MiRae, who finally appeared, had two pairs of wings on her back. It was quite interesting that everyone else other than Yu IlHan and Yumir had multiple pairs of wings according to their class.

“Fuu.”

“MiRae, how do you feel?”

“It feels very good. .... But I keep getting the urge. I once thought that becoming a higher existence meant becoming more rational and acquiring higher intellect, this... feels like I instead became younger.”

Even while replying to Na YuNa’s words, Kang MiRae’s eyes were fixed on Yu IlHan. She was like a lioness looking for an opportunity to pounce on her prey. In fact, Yu IlHan had experienced such a phenomena nearly every time someone became a dragon, so he could only make an awkward expression.

“It seems like personality differs according to faction..... Dragon’s Nest, is well, as you see.”

“Well, the leader is IlHan, so.”

“You come to the rooftop later.”

If everyone became like Yu IlHan, they should have inherited his unshakable heart and had to have peaceful minds! Oh, Yu IlHan didn’t hide his emotions even when he had an unshakable heart, so perhaps everyone was indeed like him? It wasn’t like it didn’t poke where it hurt him so he decided not to talk about that anymore.

“Someone explain the situation to Miss MiRae.”

“No, it’s fine. I could understand everything from a little bit of your records that I saw when I was becoming a higher existence. This place is Dareu, which had undergone transformation, and now the dragonkin are battling other monsters under the lead of dragons..... we also need to help them in killing those monsters, right?”

Perhaps there might be a change in the group’s order of power..... Yu IlHan shrugged his shoulders. In any case, if Kang MiRae had become stronger, it would help tremendously in the future so it wasn’t a bad thing at all.

“Then, everyone is ready right? There’s only one thing to remember. You need to give the experience points to the young dragons and other dragonkin. Oh, Mr. Kang HaJin too.”

“I’m grateful that you are considerate of me but it’s insulting so I’d rather have you not!”

Yu IlHan checked that all of the group were in flight with their own power and completely dispelled the barrier. Despite the fact that the battle had continued for quite a long time, the battlefield was widening thanks to new monsters and new dragonkin being born and in various places of Dareu and joining the battle here.

[The barrier was dispelled!]

[The Brood Father, we need to kill that person!]

[Dammit, how come there are more dragons.....]

[Shut up! Die!]

The monsters that waited for the moment for the group to be revealed desperately attacked them, but were immediately repelled thanks to Mystic controlling the two fortresses and beating them inches from death. Hundreds of thousands of monsters instantly falling onto the ground was quite an impressive scene.

Of course, this would have been impossible if it was the past her. Obviously, Mystic was also a member of Dragon’s Nest and her league had increased immensely along with the two fortresses.

[A higher existence organization is amazing! I feel like I have another brain now master!]

“That’s good. I’ll call you DoubleBrain from now.”

[Orochi, youuuuuu!]

Orochi, who now had a figure of a human youth with black hair and looked not that much different to the others, teased Mystic without end. As his records until now were acknowledged by the Akashic Record, Orochi, inside Echjar's body, could also be reborn into 6th class.

Thanks to both his soul and body being reborn into a perfect dragon, his abilities were rising by the minute. If there weren't any mishaps, he would probably reach 7th class the same time as Liera or slightly after her.

Considering how there were only around ten 7th class beings in each other faction, even after countless years, the ones gathered here were all monstrous beings. This proved Yu IlHan's path. Everyone that was with him until his records had piled up had gathered here.

[Eeeek, fuu. It will only be for a while that you can tease me.]

"No way. I never teased you. I only told you facts as they are. I don't know what you're thinking but I'll cheer you on so do your best."

[Th, that thing only got better in acting shamelessly!]

"Hmph."

Orochi ignored Mystic's words and flew up with his two pairs of wings. From his hand, a purple flame containing a fatal curse was released. He had sublimed his purple flames that he used when he was alive into a higher realm by perfectly synchronizing with Echjar's body, and was now able to cast his own unique advanced magic.

"Kids, this is what it means to wield flames!"

[Ooooooh!]

Purple colored flames covered the lands and spread to the surroundings. Thanks to Orochi's shocking amount of control, the flames precisely evaded the allies and attacked only the enemies and inflicted tens of fatal debuffs as well as burns. His ability was overwhelming.

[A mere snake that got my body is rampaging around.]

Echjar, inside the Body of the Human Dragon, muttered in complain, but in fact, he was satisfied as well. Before, he only thought that a puny being was being greedy over his body, but now thought that Orochi had become quite useful. Yu IlHan laughed as if in accordance and looked around to his companions.

“Everyone can just do as much as Orochi is. There is a lot to do, but cleaning up this world comes first. I’m planning to fuse Earth with Dareu later so let’s do it with the mind that we’re cleaning our own house!”

“Even though he became a higher existence, he sounds like some volunteer club leader..... hiik.”

Kang HaJin uttered in astonishment when he received the glares of all the women and shrunk back. He wondered how he entered such a situation, but then thought about the other humanity and thought that he may be better off than them after all. No, both sides were equally shameful!

[Answer me, Lord of all dragons! Why were we born! Isn’t it also you, the master of the world, that created us with the fate to kill dragons!]

[We’re only trying to live on because we were born! What right do you have to stop us!]

“Then let’s get to cleaning, I mean, hunting.”

“He looks so evil when he says that at such a time! He’s just the devil himself!”

However, they didn’t have the right to blame him when they attacked the dragonkin even while throwing philosophical questions! Would the other factions know that the fifth faction, Dragon’s Nest, were a den of frightening beings? No, would they ever get to know?

[How long are you going to show your pathetic sides to father? How long are you going to shame yourselves in front of brother and sister! Put your lives on the line!]

[Kuooooooooooh! Prove your qualifications as a dragon! Gain victory over dragonslayers and be reborn into true dragons!]

Thanks to the participation of the others, an even more intense battle played out. The ones that became higher existences prevented the deaths and injuries of allied dragonkin as much as possible, and the dragonkin, who worship power, had to feel embarrassed and did their best to become stronger as soon as possible. Yu IlHan finally came to the judgement that the situation had stabilized.

“Good, if it’s this much, I don’t even need to look after them.”

Although he was about to get busy, he became more comfortable thanks to the group that came to him at a right time. Of course, the others also brought him future matters and made him sigh.

Higher existences that wielded an unknown energy and had resistance to mana! He had a headache just thinking about having to analyze them and come up with countermeasures. But what could he do? It was his work. Yu IlHan stretched himself once and turned around.

However, Kang MiRae was still waiting for him.

“Miss MiRae?”

“Mr. IlHan. Let us talk for a little.”

Thinking back to the eyes she had when she first broke out of the egg, Yu IlHan was nervous thinking that she may actually confess to him, when Kang MiRae ‘confessed’ something entirely different from what he was expecting in a completely different voice.

“I, seem to have met God.”

“.....Sorry?”

Chapter 312: You Are The Same As Me – 4

The founder of the Heaven's Army, the first transcender, the original God, the childish guy that ran away from home. This was Yu IlHan's recollection of who God was until now.

"But that is not the case, you say?"

"If it was indeed God that contacted me when I was unconscious, and under the assumption that he really was god..... the situation may be worse than we think."

"Hah."

Yu IlHan took out the strange angelic being that the others had brought him. Not a single ounce of mana could be felt from it. It was a being that was on a different scale to every living being that Yu IlHan had encountered until now.

"Well, it's true that no one other than God could make something of this level, but....."

Yu IlHan thought as he thought back to what Kang MiRae had said. He couldn't really grasp it. Mana was a failure? Erase everything and start from scratch? That sounded like the back story of a last boss from the 90s.

Was that really God? Then he really had to kill God? A being that spouted such a stereotypical line?

"I thought last bosses would go at least 'Both are right but both are wrong!' or 'This is a battle for the fate of all worlds where we defend one's own sense of justice!' or some other cool scene, but... this guy's mental level is too childish."

"It really is like you to be surprised at such junctions."

He felt as if he was just insulted but decided to ignore it.

"Thanks for talking about it with me, Miss MiRae. However, there are too little materials for me to come to a conclusion. Moreover, there's no way what he said to you is the complete truth."

“Of course, I think that as well. But I think it will be better for you to know about this.”

“That’s true. In any case. I found a hint. I think I understand how to put up countermeasures.”

Kang MiRae did not know at all what hint Yu IlHan had found. She just thought that Yu IlHan would be able to succeed since it was him and just made herself comfortable. At that moment.

“Miss MiRae. Please excuse me.”

“Sorry? Kyak.”

Yu IlHan placed his hand on Kang MiRae’s head. He would have left her alone if he didn’t know that she had met with God, but now that he did, there was a need to look at her closely.

“There’s still a connection left. To think that it held out even after you finished evolving into a higher existence, pretty tenacious alright.”

“Connection.....?”

“Didn’t you say that he contacted you through your records? That’s a trick that only those who have mastered the Record skill can do. The reason the leaders of each faction can enact absolute influence is because they could freely read a being’s records and manipulate them at will.....”

“.....?”

Kang MiRae could not understand. Even though she ruled over mana, she didn’t have the slightest clue about the Record skill. Yu IlHan shrugged his shoulders and finished his simple explanation.

“While in contact with you, he left a thick trace of himself on you. To simplify, you could say he laid out some magic trigger on you.”

“Oh, that makes sense now.”

“I discovered that and took it away from you. So it’s fine now.”

Even though his mentality was like a little kid’s, his moves were quite high-levelled. The magic that he had planted in Kang MiRae, especially was hidden very well, and if not for Yu IlHan's power that revealed all hidden things, he wouldn't have found it so easily. The more he thought about it, the more shameless this God was.

"In any case, it's clear that he's someone I should beat to death. Fu, I have so many people to beat up in the future....."

"I'll help, by your side."

".....Okay."

Kang MiRae's eyes glistened. Perhaps because she was reborn into a dragon, she felt as if she was more proactive than before. Though, her 'too' glistening eyes, or her no longer passive aggressiveness that cause her to extend her hands to grab his hand were some elements that made Yu IlHan very uncomfortable.

"Please do your best in the future too, Miss MiRae."

"You too."

With dimensional magic, and free control over mana, and a level that was 6th class, she would be able to achieve many more things in the future!

"Then I'll be going then."

"Please."

Yu IlHan saw as she unfolded two pairs of wings on her back and flew upwards and turned around with a sigh.

The strange angelic being was still there. The lightless halo and the wet-cloth like wings were quite impressive.

"Well, then. Let's start for real."

[I have something I want to hear before that, my lord. A life that rejects mana..... can such a thing be possible?]

As expected of a dragon, Echjar reacted sensitively to topics related to mana. Yu IlHan laughed and shook his head.

"I also wondered about that, but now I know for sure. This is not life. It will be rather proper to see it as a golem."

[It's like that after all.....?]

"All worlds experience the Great Cataclysm after reaching a certain point, and mana will be naturally generated during the process. Mana is nature itself. This thing rejects mana, which is nature itself, so there's no way it can be life, could it?"

[Then the self-proclaimed 'God'?]

"That makes him a tyrant that wishes to overturn nature and make a garden full of dolls. ....The problem here is that he has enough power to do that."

[Hmph, a strong being must be able to achieve anything that he wants to do in his given environment. He's just a runaway and only a coward who puts responsibility on others.]

"Fine, you're da best okay?"

Erase everything that possess mana and start from scratch, eh. It wasn't like the scenario was a complete nonsense.

The God that ran away from Heaven after feeling tired of acting as a leader for Heaven's Army, had made an army that went against mana in a world unknown to anyone. The Heaven's Army did not know anything about that and was waiting for God to return, while the Army of Brilliant Light realized that and took up arms against him. Doesn't that sound persuasive?

Then, it was not so surprising that the one called Satan welcomed the rise of a new faction. Heaven's Army didn't help at all, while the Destruction Demon Army were just a group of greedy pigs that ate everything, while the Garden of Sunset stood on no one's side and did their own thing! Satan probably hoped for the new transcender to help him go against God.

In other words, to follow the plot, Yu IlHan had to go to Satan to resolve their misunderstandings now and reconcile with him and prepare to fight against God together. In that process, they would slice up the other factions properly, recover Earth, and defeat God together to come to a happy ending..... or so it would go, but.

"Whoever planned this scenario is really badly mistaken if they thought that I could befriend a complete stranger and join them in an alliance."

[That's a shockingly small mistake.....]

[Master is cool!]

[He's not cool at all!]

He had to walk a path of thorns just to protect his own people, but now he was supposed to cooperate with a complete stranger? No one could force such a thing on him. No one! Yu IlHan would do it just with the people in Dragon's Nest. As he always did!

"So, I need to analyze this thing somehow...."

In the end, he came back to the beginning – the analysis of the strange angelic being. Since it was something that rejected mana, the Record skill didn't work that well, and he didn't even know where to begin analyzing. At that moment, Eternal Flame burned from his hand and transmitted her will to him.

[I'll try, master! I will melt it!]

".....Okay, I was about to ask you anyway."

Eternal Flame was now no different from Yu IlHan's clone, so activating through Eternal Flame was easily done. Although just the Record skill was insufficient, wouldn't he gather enough materials if he recorded the process of Eternal Flame melting and dissolving the entire body?

It should probably be insufficient with just one body, but Kang MiRae, who had sent their body parts to other worlds through tens of thousands of warp gates had recollected them all and restored their body before giving them to Yu IlHan, so the sample was sufficient.

"Good, then let's try."

Even while Yu IlHan was watching, the strange body kept giving off faint noises. The moment Eternal Flame spread onto the body, an intense spark was released. Yu IlHan and Eternal Flame simply ignored that.

"How dare you resist."

[I'll increase the temperature!]

Eternal Flame's temperature rose. It kept rising more and more! The flame from Yu IlHan became completely translucent before turning a pitch black.

The energy remaining within the body resisted but there was no way it could endure the Yu IlHan's power, when he was the leader of Dragon's Nest, and used the Manifestation skill in a world he ruled.

It eventually started melting. Yu IlHan shared his senses with Eternal Flame to record the structure and records that was revealed while it melted. His head ached and mana went berserk, but that was just the start.

The information in a realm that was not in contact with any kind of information he had encountered before was pouring into his head.

[Master, I think I know!]

"Yes, I think I know too. Melting it down was the right answer after all. Even though the synthesis was done through magic, and the magic formula was broken the moment it melted and can't be reverse engineered....."

[That function should be there to prevent other rulers to read records off it, correct?]

Yu IlHan nodded his head. Once it was done like that, the other leaders would not be able to analyze its composition much less the structure of it. The magic formation was constructed in a way that it destroyed its medium automatically to the most basic particles once it sensed an external influence trying to damage the body.

However, this didn't apply to Yu IlHan and Eternal Flame. He hadn't become the new Creator after the original Creator for nothing. He could analyze and separate the composing materials without difficulty!

"Hmmmmmmm. It's not entirely made of stuff that I don't know."

[Then?]

"The probability that this God is the God of Heaven's Army is a lot higher now. Because the materials that compose this thing are mainly harkanium, fecinom, and el hazra. Though, harkanium and fecinom are alloyed in this case."

[What are those?]

Echjar only asked back in wonder after Yu IlHan said that but if Erta was here, she would have been shocked.

Harkanium, fecinom, and el hazra were materials that mainly composed the Traps of Destructions, used to imprison monsters in dungeons.

“These three metals are minerals that only appear in worlds that have undergone a lot of Great Cataclysms like Heaven. It’s also the reason why Heaven is Heaven as well. It’s the reason why Heaven’s Army claim to manage all worlds..... this is becoming interesting.”

The Heaven’s Army goes to all worlds that have undergone the Great Cataclysm and scatter Traps of Destruction. With those, the monsters in the world are trapped in dungeons, unable to roam the world. Those three minerals innately had the characteristics that restrained and trapped mana, and that was what made the Traps of Destruction possible.

But now a mixture of the three was made into a golem that nullified mana itself? God is quite capable alright! Moreover, were these three minerals (el hazra was a liquid metal like mercury.) purely used to nullify the effects of mana? That weighed on Yu IlHan’s mana as well.

“I still have some parts that I haven’t analyzed yet. And if it was me, I would have put another function when I created these golems.”

[What is this other function?]

This was only an estimate. It was only a delusion that only flashed by Yu IlHan’s mind momentarily, and its implementability was incalculable.

However, what if it was really possible for the golems to resonate with the Traps of Destruction, and could bring about a change to the Traps of Destruction that were scattered across all worlds? What if, just what if it was possible to sacrifice the monsters inside those dungeons to make Traps of Destruction into those golems?

[You mean he can quickly and efficiently screw up all the worlds under the management of Heaven’s Army?]

“You really are becoming similar to Orochi now.”

[Urgh!]

However, that was correct. The Traps of Destruction remained in all worlds, whether it was the Netherworld or Elo Katra, the main headquarters of two factions. Of course, Dareu and Earth weren’t exceptions.

[That’s..... scary.]

“Yes, it is.”

Yu IlHan muttered with a gloomy voice, that still contained a hint of expectation.

“Perhaps, there may really be..... a ‘Harmageddon’ soon.”

Chapter 313: You Are The Same As Me – 5

[You have analyzed a portion of Legna.]

[The skill, Declaration, has become level 43.]

“Good, I found the name of it.”

[You’re slapping the faces of everyone who thought it was impossible to identify this.]

“Of course. The person who destroys all foreshadows and creates them anew. That’s me.”

Although that sounded quite cool, he really just had a perverse creation ability. Yu IlHan gathered records from the remains of ‘Legna’ that were disintegrating, as God had preset, and repeated the same process around three or four times, eventually activating his creation ability to prevent the collapse and restored it. What a devilish ability!

The number of strange angelic beings that were sacrificed in that process was five. After that, all of the other remains underwent a process of analysis, disassembly and recreation to become whole again. Naturally, the Declaration skill (this rose since it was a higher version of the Record skill) underwent a rapid growth until it plateaued at level 52.

“Skill growth is so easy.”

[Those that have reached the realm of higher skills after tens of thousands of years of hard training will be enraged when they hear that.]

“That’s not my problem so it’s fine. In any case, Legna eh.....”

Yu IlHan uttered rude words like nothing and thought about the name of the strange angel.

‘Legna’ – ‘Angel’ written in reverse. It was the same no matter what other language of Earth he translated it to, and even other languages – Heaven’s language included – as well. How could he be so calm though!

“From what I see from the patterns of speech he talked to Miss MiRae and the obvious naming sense, I feel like this guy is the fake boss and there is a real boss behind the curtains.....”

[The evidence behind your deduction is very weak but it sounds strangely convincing.....]

“Tch, you still don’t know your stuff yet, Echjar.”

In games or novels, the main characters are either always strong or become rapidly stronger. However, it wouldn’t be interesting if there was no danger that befell them no matter what approached if their strength was too OP, so the content creators always put in ‘elements that the protagonists didn’t know about’ and make use of a surprise element.

With that, the players would also panic, and the main characters will also receive a huge hit and would resolve to avenge the loss while gritting their teeth – this was a very stereotypical plot, but it was fun nonetheless.

“However, being surprised like that in real life is very annoying, you know? That’s why we shouldn’t be friendly with carelessness. We always need to prepare for what may come after something.”

[Although it’s not something I, as the Dragon of Despair, should say, but my Lord you’ve lived a hard life.]

Having finished analyzing Legna’s analysis, Yu IlHan lined the six restored chunks of Legna in a line.

If everything until now was for analyzing their physical structures and principles of their composition, now he had to prepare countermeasures. He didn’t know how many of these God had, but he had to prepare something whether it was to use them as is or make a countermeasure for them.

“It’s impossible to use them as they are now. I did restore the magic formation that was destroyed, but there are no energy sources to drive them.

He had a basic grasp of what those energy sources were. And that was precisely the problem.

“What do we call that energy source? Would a corresponding energy be born if I burn souls?”

[I think it will be somewhat similar if you extract the fundamental elements of the soul that controls the emotions, master!]

“Yes, yes. Our Eternal Flame is smart. Actually, your name is pretty long, so I’ll call you Lay from now on.”

[Yes! Hurray!]

Even though he just made up a name on the spot because ‘Eternal Flame’ was too long, Eternal Flame, no, Lay, rejoiced. If everyone was as simple as this girl, there would be no war... thinking about something completely out of the topic, Yu IlHan turned around to the Legna remains.

“Burning the soul as fuel, eh..... A golem that moves on the price of the complete destruction of an entity, that’s absurd. Perhaps the fact God is planning to erase all worlds is also to gather energy to move these golems? Like two birds with one stone – destroy the worlds and increase the golems.”

[Truly befitting of the ‘villain role’ that Lord talked about.]

“Soul, the soul, huh.....”

Among the fundamental elements that made up Yu IlHan, there was the realm of deathgods that lorded over souls. Looking back, he was doing something within God’s dominion the moment he changed class to one. Of course, even now when he had become the leader of Dragon’s Nest, that ability still remained his.

“Perhaps.....”

God had already reached a level where he could generate energy from souls. So, if Yu IlHan could take another step forward, his step may be within the realm of souls.

“But it’s not like these guys were at the level of completely ignoring the effects of mana. They just amplified the properties of the materials to suppress and restrain mana.”

That was not the right path. It was an incorrect path that lead to demise and was inharmonious. Yu IlHan didn’t plan to use such a power even if he was given the opportunity to do so.

“Good, then there’s only one method left.

Yu IlHan raised one hand and swung it after a long period of thought. Several streaks of Eternal Flame was released from his hands and burnt the Legna bodies.

[Is that really fine?]

“Yup. I got enough materials, and the Declaration skill grew a lot as well.”

[Divide up! Be purified! Ei!]

After a few hours, the Legna bodies were disassembled into tens of types of different metals and minerals. He had restored the bodies and the magic formations properly only to disassemble it again.

Just as Echjar exclaimed, Yu IlHan confidently declared in front of them.

“I will walk a different path.”

[Is that the correct path that the Lord wishes to embark on?]

“No, but it’s the path to victory. Whatever I do, I only need to win. That is my path!”

[.....]

That doesn’t sound much different what this ‘God’ is trying to do, does it!? Echjar retorted in his heart, but did not have the courage to tell his thoughts to Yu IlHan. Yu IlHan put them all inside his inventory and hummed.

“I got more work to do. It looks like I’ll get busy.”

[You really are a workaholic.....]

The time Yu IlHan dispelled his Manifestation skill was 32 hours after that. At that point, the dragons and the other dragonkin had levelled up quite a lot thanks to killing a lot of the other monsters, so they were able to confront the remaining monsters without him having to support them with the skill.

[Darling, did something happen again?]

[IlHan? Do you need to go somewhere again?]

Liera and Helièna felt the skill dissipating and messaged him. This became possible after they were tied into one group, Dragon's Nest. Yu IlHan messaged everyone including them.

[I have something I need to prepare so I'm planning to go into work. Please help the dragonkin to clean up the world. At that point, I should probably have enough to cover this world.]

[The Traps of Destruction you mean?]

Erta made a sharp remark. However, it was quite unfortunate as Yu IlHan had to deny her words.

[They are Traps of Destruction, but at the same time, they aren't.]

[.....Are you teasing me again? Then what is it?]

[Well, what should I name it..... oh, yes.]

Yu IlHan thought for a moment before replying with a laugh.

[Traps of Restoration, should do.]

[That sounds very ominous for some reason.]

[Rest assured, it's your misconception.]

[What was that!]

He scanned his companions that protected the dragons and dragonkin as they battled and enhanced the 'carpet' in the region where dragonkin were being slightly driven back and hopped onto the Flying fortress.

[Master, you're becoming insanely busy again?]

"Yup, not only me, you'll become busy as well."

[I have enough work as it is though?]

Mystic spoke words full of complaint. It was just a while ago when she rejoiced thanks to joining Dragon's Nest, but now she was spouting ungrateful words again. Of course, it was also true that Yu IlHan basically extorted her labor.....

Yu IlHan took out his trump card at that time.

“I’ll make you a body.”

[I was waiting for those words, my lord!]

Mystic’s loyalty suddenly increased by 100%! Yu IlHan nodded his head with a laugh. There weren’t a lot of things to be gained with just a body, but it should be fine to let her rejoice for a while, right?

[What can I help you with, master? Say anything! I’m always ready!]

“Don’t worry about that. It will be revealed soon so you just prepare yourself.”

[Huh? Uh, yeah.....?]

Even though it was a joyful matter, why was it that she felt a sense of ominousness? She felt a chill running down her neck despite not having a physical body, and Yu IlHan just went to his workshop.

Right now, he didn’t know what kind of schemes that God had so making Traps of Destructions as they are was a really dangerous thing to do. The modified version he made before included.

Then, the only remaining method was to change the alloyed structure entirely and bring about a performance that far outstripped the Traps of Destruction, and of course, Yu IlHan had the perfect tool to be used in this scenario.

“Cradle of Miracles.”

A huge red cylinder appeared in the air. The Cradle of Miracles had grown with the records that it had gained while evolving Yu IlHan’s companions and other subordinates into higher existences and had slightly changed form according to Yu IlHan’s intentions, and after a couple of minutes of transformation, it changed to a huge furnace.

“Lay.”

[Okay, master!]

Eternal Flame burnt up in the furnace. Yu IlHan first poured all the harkanium and fecinom that he had got from disassembling Legna, and slapped metals and alloys he created from monster bodies as well as some random ones harvested from various other worlds.

[Is it really possible to create a delicate alloy with such a violent method?]

“If it’s lacking, then I only need to add more, and if it’s too much, then I can just take some away. If I fail to create a satisfactory product with this much, I should retire instead.”

Yu IlHan said that in a naturally flowing voice and took out the container that housed the liquid metal el hazra.

Even though he had extracted it from several Legnae, there was only a very small amount. Of course, that didn’t matter, since he had plenty of sources to procure them.

“Kuh.”

He cut his hand and let out some blood. He even used his mana to pour quite a lot. The blood that contained his mana completely subordinated the el hazra without difficulties. Thinking about how he had to undergo several processes like this one, Yu IlHan became slightly depressed.

“Blacksmithing, mana crafting, soul enchant.”

He activated three skills continuously and kneaded the el hazra in mid-air. It was only for a moment that it resisted against his mana. His blood that resonated in the mixture transformed the structure slowly. Even while vibrating somewhat violently, the el hazra eventually formed itself into something that looked like a gigantic hammer.

“Well, then.”

Yu IlHan immediately smashed down with it onto the furnace. His blacksmithing work had already gone beyond the realm of being constrained by matter and tools.

[That..... does the job?]

“Of course. If it is my will, the things I want shall automatically be completed.”

Yu IlHan’s creation began. It was a work that created dungeons, as well as new hope.

Thanks to the remains of Legna that Yu IlHan's companions had coincidentally met and succeeded in procuring, the fate and history of all worlds had changed.

Author's notes

1. You may have felt it, but if Yu IlHan had continuously battled to reach the realm of transcenders in book 12, in book 13 he brings order to the world with his completed abilities, and is renewing his achievements befitting that of a creator. It's true that it may look a little loose, but the creation part of book 13 is just as important as book 12 so please watch with interest!
  2. Everyone Else is a Returnee will end with book 14. I have already written until the very end, and am undergoing editing before it is uploaded. I know that the readers will go into an uproar about releasing multiple chapters..... but thanks to certain circumstances, it is difficult for me to release multiple chapters T_T Instead, my new work may begin this week if early. Please help yourselves with that!

Chapter 314: You Are The Same As Me – 6

In the past, Yu IlHan had made several Traps of Destructions for Heaven's Army. Additionally, he modified them in his own way from his experience creating them as well.

Of course, that had made the angels shocked, but to the Yu IlHan right now, he would be embarrassed to claim that the Traps of Destruction he made back then was his handiwork.

'It's not just to prepare against God. I need to make a dungeon that..... easily blocks outside interference, while still freely entrapping all the monsters that enter.'

Thinking about it, it was an interesting matter. When he made his first dungeon, he was only pursuing a safe, stable life, but right now, he was going to make them of his own free will as the leader of the 5th higher existence faction.

"Fuu..... very good."

A portion of the hammer that struck against the anvil split from the hammer and liquefied before being sucked into the furnace. And that bit of material was mixed into the metal inside the furnace and transformed. Yu IlHan's lips curved upwards into a small smile.

"Yes. What you need to do is not to reject the mana. You need to overwhelm it and store it."

The alloy born from the greatest ratio of metals inside the furnace passed freely between the realm of solids, liquids and even gases. Since it was made from numerous metals and nonmetals alike, it would be difficult to call it an 'alloy' but despite that it was definitely a metal. Yu IlHan's dominion over and wealth of experience working with metal reassured him.

"Until now, I could only transform the already existing entities."

Inside the workshop, the dull thud of a hammer hitting metal endlessly resounded. Even though Yu IlHan himself wasn't swinging his arms at all, the sound did not stop. Not surprisingly, the lump of alloy morphed in shape and was compressed every time a sound was made. Every time the hammer fell, the mana inside the metal increased in density.

“However, it’s different now.”

Yu IlHan’s Declaration skill activated. This skill was a skill that allowed him to etch his intention unto the world as a ‘truth’. It was not some ‘absolute order’ or ‘power word skill’ that were seen in some of the older fantasy novels. It was much deeper and more profound, only meaningful when one possessed eyes that saw through the world and all matter within.

“You shall restore and engulf.”

The alloy emitted a blinding light and started to burn. Eternal Flame, who breathed and moved as one with Yu IlHan, transmitted his will and mana into the alloy to transform it.

[Ei, Eiii.]

Having received the mana, the alloy twitched while suspended in mid-air and started to violently pulsate, changing shapes many, many times. Meanwhile, the internal layers divided into hundreds, thousands, tens of thousands, hundreds of thousands, and even millions of layers, with a magic formation was carved into each layer.

“You shall bewitch and imprison.”

Layer after layer of metal appeared as he spoke. It was to imbue the functionality to fulfill its role as an artifact that created dungeons. With Yu IlHan’s vast magic knowledge, experience and mana, the otherwise complicated embedding was completed in moments.

“You shall resist and rule.”

This was the final declaration. The hidden knife that he had sharpened in order to screw God over. Since it was the strongest and the most delicate functionality, the change in the alloy was the slowest, but it was something that could only end up being successfully completed in the end.

The lacking materials were supplemented from the furnace, while the excess was returned to it, as the alloy spun around in mid-air and eventually solidified. Inversely, the light that was emitted became even more wondrous. And only after a few moments, when there were no longer any changes, did Eternal Flame detach itself from the product.

[Perfect Trap of Restoration was complete.]

[Perfect Trap of Restoration]

[Rank – God]

[An artifact that Yu IlHan, lord of Dragon's Nest, has created with all of his power. It will attract and control their weakening, strengthening and even reproduction of all types of monsters within his records, and has a strong ruling power over mana. It will not be engulfed by anything other than Yu IlHan's power. This is perfect by itself, but the artifact is only a part of a whole.]

Echjar couldn't endure his exclamation.

[It was created in an instant.]

[It's beautiful and pretty.]

"Of course, who do you think made it?"

Yu IlHan smiled in satisfaction and put the completed artifact onto his palm. However, Mystic voiced out her question after looking at the alloy that was cubical in shape.

[Master, soul enchant was included right? But why don't I feel any other thought-souls from it?]

"Of course it's because I didn't enchant any thought-souls into it."

[Even though you used soul enchant?]

Mystic pondered for a moment before being shocked.

[You have reached a level where you can create souls, master!?!]

"Not yet. If I could, I would become the new Creator already. Though, it was still possible for me to plant a small seed."

[I think you should be the new Creator already.....]

Mystic muttered in astonishment, but then tilted her head.

[But why does it feel so strange? I feel like my consciousness is being focused on it.]

“Of course. A seed of a soul cannot control this artifact. So I connected you to it as well. In the end, the Flying fortress and the Guardian fortress will act as the huge energy supply and will be reborn into the control system of all artifacts through you.”

Even though it was deeply tied in with her, it was the first time she heard of this!

[What the heck are you doing!]

“Hahaha, calm down, Mystic.”

Mystic sounded as if she bit her ‘tongue’ in excitement. Yu IlHan laughed and tossed the cube around in the air.

“Would I make you a body for free? It’s compensation for what you have to shoulder! It’s fine, you can do it. You will become a great being that controls all dungeons!”

[Don’t randomly make me into some great being as you wish!]

“In fact, it was one of the dreams I had when I first made the Flying fortress!”

[Don’t hide such a weird thingggggggggggggg!]

Mystic went crazy, but Yu IlHan didn’t stop. Since he had a sample that was God ranked, there was no need to hesitate now!

“Here I declare!”

When the completed Traps of Restoration floated into the air, the gigantic hammer and the gigantic furnace emitted light as if they were in resonance. Yu IlHan looked up at the item and shouted with a smirk. An enormous wave of mana poured out and filled the workshop.

“Let there be birth, as the first!”

[You sounded cool but it’s just a macro!]

“You are quite sharp.”

The declaration skill was a pseudo-miracle that made what was impossible to be done by Yu IlHan's power into possible. If it was something that he could do, it could drastically save time as well! Eternal Flame burnt endlessly and the number of cubes increased. Mystic screamed each time.

[My head hurts from 300! You damned master!]

"Think about your body and endure it! The body that is splendid, pretty, and is capable of controlling an innumerable network of consciousness(es)!"

[Aren't you in fact making my body just because you want me to control all the dungeons?]

"Of course I am!"

[You devil!]

Yu IlHan's work only stopped after creating around a few thousand of those cubes. In truth, that number couldn't even cover half of Dareu, but Yu IlHan wasn't worried about that.

"This is an artifact that I made to go against God. I don't know what he's trying to do with Legnae, but he wouldn't be able to interfere with any Traps of Destructions in worlds where a Trap of Restoration is planted."

[Master, thinking back, the first declaration you used when creating these Traps of Restoration is 'restore and engulf' wasn't it?]

"Yes, once the Trap of Restoration is activated, it will actively suck the surrounding mana to increase in size like a creature, and eventually create new Traps of Restoration by enveloping other Traps of Destruction. In other worlds, one per world is enough!"

That was one uncomfortable engulfing process. However, what made her feel even bad was..... Mystic asked in a depressed voice even though she knew the answer.

[And naturally, each new Traps of Restoration will be planted with a soul seed too?]

"I guess so?"

[And just that won't be sufficient to control the Traps of Restoration, so they will immediately be connected to my consciousness?]

“Mystic..... You’re really smart. Choosing you as the central control system was the wisest choice I made in life.”

[You devil! You demon! You satan! You monster! You pervert!]

“I’m planning to make your body now.”

[.....]

Mystic suddenly became quiet at Yu IlHan’s quiet words. Of course, Yu IlHan was aware of Mystic’s desire for a body. It was also the truth that he had teased her using that until now.

“But I don’t plan to use that as bait and make you do some unbelievable things.”

[Then.....?]

“Your body that I’ll be making now is exceptional enough to control all of them with room to spare and even battle while doing that on your own.”

But here, a retort was made from an unexpected angle.

[Just battle.....?]

“What else do you need?”

[Y, you know.]

Mystic twisted her body after hesitating a lot. The Flying fortress shook.

[Wouldn’t I looks hideous on the outside if I’m so function-oriented? For example, a hundred heads or something.]

“What do you mean? Whatever the materials are, the completed body will suit your soul. Don’t look down on my creation ability so much.”

Although he could barely remember now, it will probably look similar to Mystic when she was born. Mystic seemed to be calmed down after listening to those words before asking Yu IlHan in a smaller voice.

[Th, then..... uh..... will I be the same as a normal girl?]

“Didn’t I say that just now?”

[Like I said! The other aspects!]

“Just what the heck are you talking ab..... oh.”

Yu IlHan tilted his head since he couldn't understand for a moment before realizing what she meant – what she was worried about; what she was expecting; what she was thinking about; what she dreamed of; and what she wanted to become.

A satisfied smile appeared on his lips.

“You will be born as a perfect, living higher existence, and you will be able to do whatever you want as you want. .... Is that enough?”

[Uh, yeah.]

It was a cute voice that he had never heard from her before. Yu IlHan laughed and asked a question.

“Do you have a partner in mind?”

[Sh, shut up! There's nothing like that!]

Yu IlHan laughed and called out materials that were suited to become Mystic's new body. With the traitorous archangels Dael and Ramiel as the core, he had a lot of other materials from other archangels and fallen angels that would amplify their power.

However, what made him really joyful was that Ramiel possessed a 7th class magic stone. Since he was an expert that had lightning-related skills and the Counter skill, the results would be something to look forward to. However, Mystic's expression became darker after looking at that.

[They're all men.....]

“Well, that's not a problem at all..... Well, if you keep watching, your narrow-minded opinion will change.”

Clicking his tongue due to Mystic's lack of knowledge on creation, Yu IlHan changed the form of the Cradle of Miracles once again.

It had expanded in size little by little and had formed a spherical shape like the time it turned lower existences into higher existences, and inside, the materials that formed the Traps of Restoration still remained. Of course, this was intentional on Yu IlHan's part. I was the device that perfectly controlled the Traps of Restoration! Mystic screamed.

[What are you doing putting heavy metals into my new body!]

"They'll become your bones!"

The el hazra hammer, that had shrunk so much thanks to being ripped apart thousands of times, was put inside the Cradle of Miracles, and he slapped the bodies of Ramiel, Dael and the other remains of archangels and fallen angels inside. Mystic's scream heightened.

[Kyaaaaaaak! It will become a monster, a monster!]

"Believe in me."

Yu IlHan smiled kindly and activated Creation.

"I'll make you cute and pretty."

[Uaaaaaaaaaahn!]

That day, another Eternal-ranked creation was born.

Chapter 315: You Are The Same As Me – 7

“Ah.....”

Mystic looked at her figure in the mirror and voiced out in surprised. The image reflected was the figure of a feeble beauty that had long, silky black hair, couple with a pair of light purple pupils that glowed mysteriously. It looked nothing like Mystic's normally nonchalant attitude!

Even Mystic herself couldn't believe it and stared at the mirror, awestruck. Every time her emotions changed, her expression changed with it, so there was no doubt that the figure in the mirror was her's, but she found it difficult to take in.

“How did you make such a beautiful woman with the bodies of those stinky old men..... rather than that, this is really me? Ah.....”

She was speaking when she suddenly felt an unfamiliarity in her own voice. The feeling of vibration whenever her vocal cords moved was something that she had never experienced before. After all, she had been killed by Yu IlHan as soon as she was born!

“So pretty..... Even the voice is wonderful. The neck is pretty, the bones are pretty, the chest is pretty and the waist is pretty.”

“Stop showering yourself with praises.”

Yu IlHan grumbled to Mystic that was touching random places all over her body in front of the mirror. Since making a new body with 7th class archangels and a 7th class magic stone was not an easy thing for him to do, even he was feeling slightly tired after the exertion.

At least Orochi shared some common points with him in the aspect that they were both dragonkin (Orochi and Echjar) but since Mystic, who was born as a higher existence on Earth, had no common points whatsoever with the traitorous archangels that resided in Heaven , it was no wonder he had such a hard time!

“Stop showing off your nude body and get clothed, Mystic.”

“Ah, you were looking at my naked body all the time! Pervert, master is a pervert!”

“I’m not Pygmalion so rest assured.”

The Cypriot sculptor Pygmalion was the man who fell in love with his own sculpture, the first figurine otaku of mankind, to speak of.

Of course, Yu IlHan felt that it was natural to feel some sense of love towards one’s creations since every work was essentially the embodiment of the ideals of the creator, but he did not feel that love equated to sexual desire. So, even though he felt a slight attachment to and attained a sense of satisfaction after completing Mystic’s nude body, his sexual desire didn’t even move by a single nanometer.

“I made your clothes too. It’s one of my masterpieces so receive it with gratitude.”

“You’re going to push me around all the time in the future though..... Wow, it’s God ranked!”

“The materials were good so that’s to be expected.”

Mystic covered her body with one hand and received her clothes from Yu IlHan with the other. She exclaimed as she couldn’t feel any weight from it, but weight was nothing compared to the information on the artifact.

Really, it was a simple, sleeveless white one piece dress, but its actual identity was an armor that boasted tremendous defense power thanks to investing almost all of Dael and Ramiel’s feathers. Of course, it wasn’t a simple armor either.

“I brought out the traits of the traitors when I created it. When you focus on controlling the Flying fortress, the Guardian fortress, or the Traps of Restoration, it will stay white, but when you enter battle the one piece will turn black. Read the specific details later..... and here, a straw hat.”

“Wow, so pretty..... urgh, this is God ranked as well.”

The ‘straw’ hat that was made with the remaining feathers and el hazra had naturally become God ranked as well, and when Mystic put it on, she looked like a rich lady on a stroll. Being satisfied with his creations, Yu IlHan let out a smile and spoke to Mystic who was touching the straw hat.

“You only need to wear that when you’re controlling things inside the Flying fortress. It will amplify your calculation abilities as a whole.”

“I don’t get how master makes all these amazing things like nothing. Oh, my head doesn’t hurt at all now.”

Controlling the two fortresses was no big deal at all now. Not only that, she felt as if she could control a thousand times more than the Traps of Restoration that existed now. Though actually, it was the fact that the Traps of Restoration had their own control function that made that possible, but still, it was an amazing feat. Mystic smiled in satisfaction, thinking that Yu IlHan kept his promise.

“Thanks, master. You really did put some effort in. ....Though, I don’t know what to feel when I think you’re the one that made me like this in the first place.”

“At that time you were an enemy, but now, you’re an ally. Anyhow, since you’re well-dressed, go to Orochi.”

The light words that Yu IlHan spoke of colored Mystic’s face bright red. Bullseye.

“Wh, what are you saying! Why do I need to go to Orochi! It’s not like that? I have absolutely no interest in that snake! He only annoys me since he teases me all the time!”

“It’s because I’m planning to make proper equipment for him after I made you one. So go call Orochi for me, okay?”

“Urgh.....”

Yu IlHan had a smile on while he was speaking. Mystic despaired after looking at his expression which revealed that he knew everything. It was her complete defeat.

“I’m such an idiot. An idiot who gets fooled by an idiot.....”

She slowly walked out and unfurled two pairs of white dragon wings from her back. Although the league of her body was extremely high, her soul hadn't reached that level yet and she remained a 6th class.

[A white dragon.....?]

"It's only her image. In fact, I'm rather curious about how Orochi will react to Mystic."

[Did you not send her to get him?]

"If I wanted to get him, I could have just messaged him directly."

[.....]

Echjar became silent. That was true. However, Mystic was too depressed to realize that and went to get Orochi herself! Thinking about how angry she would act later, he found it fun.

"Well, then. Should I just lay out the foundations for Orochi's equipment? Keshein and Hillutonne's bodies are..... whew, Keshein has a magic stone. Such a lucky one."

[.....]

The former Dragon of Despair, Echjar, resolved to never go against Yu IlHan. His ruler was in an extremely faraway realm both in the aspects of the mind and the body!

"You fooled me, masterrrrrrrrrrrr!"

Around ten minutes later, Mystic, as red as a tomato, came back with Orochi who was sighing. Yu IlHan met the two while giggling. With the Cradle of Miracles folded out for Orochi.

***

Three hours passed, and this time Orochi was showing off his body in the mirror that Mystic once used. Although Yu IlHan was only planning to upgrade his equipment, he took a look at his body while he was at it.

"I feel like I've completely melted into the body."

"Of course. I worked hard for it you know?"

Although he was only a black haired handsome youth with copper skin and sculpted muscle on the outside, a shocking amount of power laid within. After he became a higher existence with Echjar's body, Orochi had thought that there were no more aspects to get stronger in, and now he had to take that back.

"So you even adjusted the minute imbalances in the body?"

"Even if you have become a higher existence, Echjar's body that was used to make your body wasn't complete, was it? I only supplemented the lacking parts using the remains I had leftover from making your equipment. Although it was quite hard to dragonify their bodies, it was much easier than Mystic's case other than that."

Yu IlHan extracted the very essence of Keshein and Hilluttone's bodies to combine with Orochi, who had Echjar's body, to bring out its potential to the max. Above all, he had put in a lot of effort to diffuse Orochi's soul fully, so that he would never have to suffer any pain due to inharmony between his body and soul.

As something like a side effect, it was no longer possible for Orochi to leave as a thought soul from his body. Orochi was no longer a thought-soul but a full whole soul that possessed a body.

This was the same with Mystic as well. Of course, she was still the control tower of the Flying fortress and the Guardian fortress as well as being the managing director of the Traps of Restoration, but it was no longer possible for her to escape her body and be infused into the Flying fortress. Since she was reborn as a complete soul and possessed a complete body, it was natural that she could no longer leave it at her convenience.

Orochi's two eyes widened after hearing that fact from Yu IlHan.

"Isn't that..... the realm of the Creator? I don't comprehend the extent of master's abilities."

"I have still a lot of lacking points to be called a complete Creator, but I'm better than you think at least. Well then. Go ahead and give me your respect."

"I do get that you're becoming a lot more arrogant as time goes..... ugh, you really are amazing."

Orochi brought out his purple flames and controlled it only to be shocked by the extent of amplification which was much higher compared to before. He couldn't believe that it was possible to perfectly and completely synchronise the bodies of different higher existences. However, Yu IlHan was worried about something else.

"How's the pressure on your body, you think you can hold out?"

"Barely. Although I was aware of this before..... the league of my soul is too low compared to the upgraded body."

"I said this before, but since your soul has become perfect, your soul will endlessly experience growth in the future, albeit slowly. Perhaps because you were once a dragonkin, you are one of those that received the most effects in the Cradle of Miracles."

Everyone under Yu IlHan that had qualifications to become higher existences were all reborn as dragons through the same process, but it wasn't like everybody had an equal rate of growth.

The efficiency differed according to how well they synchronized with Yu IlHan's records that was transferred through the Cradle of Miracles. Liera, who loved him to the extent that she received a blessing from a god, had the highest efficiency, while Yumir, who reached the realm of higher existences at the same time as him wasn't that far behind.

And after those two was Orochi, who was being shocked in front of the mirror.

"Fuu..... exciting."

"Away with your exciting crap. Are all of you exhibitionists? I completely remade your original equipment so wear it. Hey, get it quickly. What are you going to do if there's a peeper outside?"

"There was such a pervert under you?"

It's a problem because there is. Yu IlHan mocked Orochi in his heart since Orochi could not sense Mystic hiding outside the workshop, peeking inside, as he gave him his equipment.

Orochi tilted his head but still received the items anyway. A set of black underclothes that lined the inner layer, and was very elastic while being tough in defenses. Adding on to that, a thin black metallic armor – it looked similar to the Flamesoul Dragon Body.

“This looks similar to your armor.”

“Although I can’t create Eternal ranked items like it’s nothing, well, its functions shouldn’t be too far behind. It’s a God-ranked artifact.”

“Speaking of God-ranked items so easily, as expected of master who mocks God.”

Orochi felt anew after thinking about the past. Would he have been able to step on the ground with two legs like this with such a strong body if he hadn’t expressed his submission towards Yu IlHan?

Of course, the Orochi of that time is dead and the Orochi that remained in this place could be said to be another Orochi that was born again..... but at least it was fun for him that he could be under Yu IlHan’s wing.

“Master sure is an interesting man. Although it’s not like I didn’t have fun when I went around destroying cities..... this is much more interesting.”

“It will become interesting to the point of seriousness in the future.”

“I am prepared. Talk about it anytime.”

Orochi equipped all his gear and stood next to Yu IlHan. Yu IlHan collected all the Traps of Restoration piled on one side of his workshop, into his inventory and called for Mystic that was hiding behind a wall.

“Mystic, let’s get to work.”

“Hiik!?”

Mystic was startled and walked out stiffly. She never knew that she was found out. Even though it was inside her domain, the Flying fortress, trying to ‘hide’ in front of Yu IlHan was a foolish thing for her to do.

“.....Mystic? Why are you coming out from there?”

“Hiik, it’s nothing!”

Even though he was quick-witted in the past, Orochi only tilted his head in confusion thinking ‘why is she there?’ after looking at her.

Yu IlHan sighed after looking at the confused Orochi and the bright red Mystic. It seems like these guys changed in personality after acquiring bodies.

“Let’s first install the Traps of Restoration in Dareu. We need to strike back for real now.”

“Is it a counterattack against those frightening, uh, what was their name again? Legna, thing?”

“No.”

Yu IlHan spoke out in an ever more serious voice.

Chapter 316: You Are The Same As Me – 8

Since majority of the worlds Yu IlHan that had been to were combined and fused with Dareu, the first thing Yu IlHan did was to install a few Traps of Restoration in Dareu.

Since the 6th Great Cataclysm was very intense, the majority of the Traps of Destruction had lost their functionality and became silent, and in one region, a series of Traps of Destructions that were coincidentally near each other activated at once and went berserk, causing an overflow of tremendous proportions.

“Oh, there were a few Overflows. Tell the others to give me the fragments of higher metals if they get any.”

“Got it, master.”

In the past, when an Overflow occurred on Earth and Yamata no Orochi struck the Kantou region of Japan, it was one of the most dangerous things he had to be on the lookout for, but right now that Yu IlHan and the majority of his companions had become higher existences, Overflows were nothing much to deal with.

It was just that collecting the harkanium that was absorbed and mutated inside the Overflow monsters were a little bothersome! Of course, the Dareu monster-extermination quest was still underway so they should return quite soon.

“Dareu really has become big. Ugh, I wish I could just look around everywhere in detail and clean them all up.....”

“No matter how fast you are, that’s impossible.”

“I know. Then, scatter.”

Yu IlHan launched five Traps of Restoration into the air with his reply. With the Declaration skill, those five were scattered to various places throughout Dareu. After that, he activated the ‘carpet’ to check on the condition of the Traps of Destructions already scattered throughout Dareu and changed the locations of a few.

That was it.

“Good, it’s starting now.”

The Traps of Restoration scattered throughout Dareu all resonated at once to suppress the power of the Traps of Destruction. Even the already created dungeons were broken and returned to the original state. The monsters freed from the dungeons (they were mostly weak and dumb to be caught in them) were confused for a moment but all ran after feeling the aura of war in the center of Dareu. Like that, all Traps of Destruction in the continent paused and awaited reactivation.

Mystic realized that it was her turn and focused after pushing the straw hat on her head, when the flow of mana released from the Traps of Restoration spread around to the far corners of the world and started transforming the Traps of Destruction.

Absorbing the surrounding mana and matter, the Traps of Destruction were engulfed by the mana from the Traps of Restoration and changed on a fundamental level. Orochi honestly exclaimed at Mystic’s absurd mana control.

“Hoo..... splendid mana control.”

“I knew it.”

“I can’t focus so be quiet!

Unlike her words, the engulfing process was very smooth. All the Traps of Destruction scattered around Dareu were evolving! From Traps of Destruction to Traps of Restoration – a new order was being created after denying the records of until now and one that developed according to Yu IlHan’s intentions!

Of course, that process sucked and consumed an enormous amount of mana in Dareu, but that would just slow down the birth of monsters so it wasn’t completely a bad thing.

[The skill, Declaration, has become level 56.]

[The skill, Dimensional Ruler, has become level 85.]

[The skill, Dimensional Adaptation, has become level 83.]

[The skill, Fleet Command, has become level 89.]

“Well done, Mystic! Let’s be done and over with this before heading to the next world!”

“Oooh, the mana wave is truly a spectacle.”

“Shut up both of you!”

Thanks to Mystic’s grand actions, even Yu IlHan’s skill grew all by themselves. A thought flashed by Yu IlHan’s mind at that moment.

‘Then if the members of Dragon’s Nest kill enemies…….’

Closing his eyes and analyzing his own records, he found the answer quite quickly. Not only the records of enemies, he found out that a little bit of experience was given to him as well. Since the dragons belonging to Dragon’s Nest were fighting with countless monsters right now, his records were piling up even though he wasn’t doing much.

‘So there’s a reason why the leaders of each faction are in a completely different league to the members;

He groaned subconsciously. Although he felt this after looking at Greed, the leaders of each faction were all frightening beings! Growing endlessly even while doing nothing thanks to the actions of its members... that would mean that the newest of the 5, Yu IlHan, was the most disadvantaged!

Wait.

Then how was it possible that Michael was equal in power to Satan, the leader of the Army of Brilliant Light?

‘Or was that BS?’

No, but from looking at how aggressive Michael acted normally, he didn’t seem like someone who would lie about that. Didn’t Yu IlHan let Michael go precisely to hold Satan back?

‘It’s possible if God left all of his records and authorities in his charge.’

But he was too weak for that to be true. No matter how disadvantageous Michael was against Yu IlHan in terms of attributes, he wouldn’t be so easily defeated by Yu IlHan. Then there’s one answer left.

Division.

‘If I think about it, although he was killed by me, Raphael was absurdly OP as well. He had a healing ability that surpassed the other 7th class beings by hundreds of miles. If the situation wasn’t leaning heavily in my favor, I would have missed the chance to kill him.’

In that case the possibility that God’s power and records were divided among the four Great Archangels of Heaven – Michael, Raphael, Gabriel and Uriel. Among them, Raphael died and Michael could be overcome anytime, so the remaining ones who potentially posed a threat were Gabriel and Uriel.

‘Leaving aside Uriel because I don’t have any records about that one, it nags at me that Gabriel has the power of foreknowledge. Foreknowledge, clairvoyance eh..... that shouldn’t be the case, it definitely shouldn’t be possible, but it bothers me.’

From one moment a doubt that was near assurance twitched inside Yu IlHan’s heart. It was too absurd to be true, but his instincts warned him so much when he tried to reject it completely. So the solution would be to stop thinking about it until he actually confirmed it..... but if it was that easy, he wouldn’t be thinking about such things.

“Master, why do you wear such a frown? Look at that woman groaning. Humans call this a spectacle, no?”

“Of course, it’s a scene that I can’t miss, but she’ll have to groan like that even more in the future so I’ll have many opportunities to watch. Orochi you just prepare some popcorn.”

“I swear I’ll deal with you two later!”

Thanks to the abundant mana in Dareu, the evolution of the Traps of Destruction proceeded unexpectedly quickly. New Traps of Restoration were being generated, and in the process of being linked in consciousness with them, Mystic had finally met a hurdle. Groaning and grunting while continuing to control all of them did look quite funny and cute.

‘I want to dismantle Raphael’s body as soon as possible..... but I have something more urgent I guess.’

Yu IlHan had a look at Orochi who teased Mystic and Mystic who bit her lips but still continued to control the evolution process of the Traps of Destruction and stopped his thoughts there with a shrug.

This wasn’t the right time. If only he could activate the Hourglass of Eternity on Earth, he would be able to cleanly take care of everything that was needed.... The problem was that if he went to Earth right now, Earth would become a higher world.

Ironically, Yu IlHan could only go back to Earth after he was fully prepared for war.

“It’s done!”

At that moment, Mystic cheered. She succeeded in transforming all the Traps of Destruction scattered in the vast lands of Dareu into Traps of Restorations! Yu IlHan nodded in satisfaction and ordered her.

“Good, then let’s see if the Traps work effectively.”

“Hmph, are you looking down on my abilities?”

Mystic clicked her fingers while curving the tips of her mouth into a smile. At that moment, the Traps of Restoration scattered around Dareu vitalized their domain and released a strong wave of mana.

[Mm!?]

[Kugh! Kergh, that’s a trap.....]

[I can’t resist.....!]

[Even though I want to resist.....!]

[Such tragedy!]

The monsters that were fighting the dragons and dragonkin immediately reacted to it. Even though they had both high levels and high intelligence, they couldn't resist the aura that the Traps of Restoration emitted and helplessly rushed in! Yu IlHan laughed heartily after looking at that.

"Hide and seek is over! Hahahahahahaha!"

"Master is the worst."

"Whoa, I did know of their power but this is really..... they're all being sucked in no matter if they are level 250 or level 270."

"I can even imprison higher existences, not to mention 4th classes."

"Higher existences?"

Yu IlHan had just trampled on the technology of Heaven's Army like nothing and checked the Traps of Restoration that were being filled and laughed heartily.

Since his companions had taken care of a lot of monsters, the Traps of Restoration didn't quite get filled, but there was no worry of any Overflows occurring. Under Mystic's control, the Traps of Restoration had worked splendidly to prevent any kind of mana reaction if there were no monsters nearby!

[Dad, how did it come to this?]

Yumir, who was having fun leading all the dragons found where Yu IlHan was and flew straight towards him before asking. Yu IlHan stroked his head and explained to him the outline of the situation.

"The monsters born in Dareu will all be sucked into the Traps of Restoration automatically. So you just need to make suitable teams of dragons and dragonkin and send them to dungeons."

[Dad is amazing!]

The common knowledge of Heaven's Army was that 4th class monsters couldn't be imprisoned with the Traps of Destruction. However, Yu IlHan made the Traps of Restoration that ignored such a common knowledge with little to no effort.

This new type of prison system that only Yu IlHan and Mystic could control soon imprisoned all monsters born in Dareu, except the dragons and the dragonkin.

“IlHan, I did hear that you will make something called the Traps of Restoration, but this is frightening.....”

“What do you mean frightening? This is just the beginning. I’ll scatter them to other worlds too so just clean the dungeons while we’re waiting. Oh, before that.”

He needed to fulfill his promise. Yu IlHan looked at the dragonkin that had lost their enemies thanks to the Traps of Restoration and looked back at his companions.

“Everyone pick one dragonkin that you think fought well. Starting from Mir.”

[Aaaaah!]

[Oh supreme being, you will really give us the opportunity!]

Even though they watched the process of First becoming a dragon, the dragonkin still couldn’t believe in him fully, but now they became emotional after they heard Yu IlHan.

Yu IlHan hadn’t lied! They could really become dragons! They could confirm the strengths of all higher existences belonging to Dragon’s Nest while they fought together, so the dragonkin’s passion to become ‘dragons’ had become amplified. So, it was no wonder that they had become emotional after hearing his words. Yu IlHan made a bright smile after looking at them being honestly happy.

‘Fu, I love dragonkin. They’re so simple.’

The higher existences belonging to Dragon’s Nest were: Yu IlHan, Helièna, Yumir, Liera, Erta, Kang MiRae, Na YuNa, Kim YeSeul, Paté, Jirl, Mirey, Ericia, Flemir, Mirfa, Orochi and Mystic – a total of 16. Yu IlHan gave each of them the right to pick one dragonkin so the number of new dragons would be just 16.

However, that was enough.

[I thank you, my lord!]

[Kuoooooooooh! Dragon, the mana of dragon and the blood of dragon! Flows in my veins!]

[Me too! I will definitely become a dragon next time!]

[Dungeon! Let's go wipe out dungeons!]

All dragonkin that saw their kin being reborn into dragons had their eyes flipped. They armed themselves with the resolve that they will definitely become dragons next time! Yu IlHan spoke to them with a merciful smile.

“As long as you bring about suitable results, I shall make you all into dragons. Any dragonkin is set to be able to freely enter dungeons so rampage to your heart's content.”

[Understood!]

[Uoooooooooh!]

[You idiots! Pay your respects to the ruler!]

The dragonkin instantly split up into groups and charged into dungeons. Yu IlHan's companions only watched with dumbfounded eyes. Yu IlHan turned around with a laugh.

“Then I'll be going. It won't take too long. Oh, can you take the Guardian fortress and a few of our members to Earth and go over to Earth for me, Miss MiRae? I think it will be better to move the people there to Dareu.”

“Of course.”

“Excluding those of you that are going to Earth with Miss MiRae everyone be on your guard. It's very likely that Legnae will invade Dareu. I've prepared everything so you shouldn't have any problems fighting them.”

“Understood!”

Giving out orders was done as well. Now, Yu IlHan took Mystic and Orochi into the Flying fortress and set out. The number of Traps of Restoration in his inventory was 6,938. Once all of these were successfully scattered across the worlds..... it would be his victory.

‘Well, I'd still win even if I fail.’

“Master, you have an evil face that doesn’t look like the main character at all!”

Yu IlHan and the other two set off for other worlds.

This was later known as the sowing seeds legend of the leader of Dragon’s Nest.

Chapter 317: I'm One That Closes The Curtain – 1

Yu IlHan visited each world that did not fuse with Dareu and scattered the Traps of Restoration.

One Trap per world was sufficient. Once Mystic focused her mind, then the single Trap would engulf all the Traps of Destruction in that world and would subsequently absorb the mana of that world to transform them into Traps of Restoration.

The majority of the worlds were not as big as Dareu so it didn't take that long for the Traps of Restoration to activate and completely cover the world. Mystic became a little more tired every time they visited a new world but that was about it. The body that Yu IlHan had created for her was unbelievably good.

Like that around the 26th or the 27th world they visited, Yu IlHan and the other two found angels. Thanks to Yu IlHan's actions the war of higher existences had ended in a vague state and the lower ranked angels had returned to duty.

[Hm?]

[Wait, I think something changed.]

Even though they couldn't sense Yu IlHan entering and throwing a Trap of Restoration, they could sense the transformation of the Traps of Destruction. They had planted some kind of detection magic on the Traps of Destruction in order to operate them more efficiently.

They sensed damage being dealt to the Traps of Destruction first, then the signals from all the Traps of Destruction in the world simultaneously disconnected.

[The Traps of Destruction are being destroyed!]

[Nonsense, the Traps of Destruction cannot be..... no, but there is no Dungeon Break.....!]

[No, the Traps of Destruction are turning into something else. Just what is.....

happening?]

The angels scurried around in disorder and eventually reported to their superiors (though, that didn't work since Yu IlHan blocked it midway) before rushing towards the Traps of Restoration. Mystic directed the engulfing process of the Traps of Restoration while checking with Yu IlHan.

"Master, they're planning to investigate something. Is it fine to let them be?"

"Not to mention angels, even God wouldn't be able to do anything. The moment any other higher existence tries to interfere with the Traps of Restoration, the Traps of Restoration in each world would go berserk."

"Oh yeah, there was something like that set in there."

Whichever Traps of Restoration went berserk in whichever world, a signal would be sent to Mystic and Yu IlHan. It was fine even if they were late. The Traps would all disintegrate before anyone could analyze them. Yu IlHan explained with a smile of satisfaction.

"This is a move I learnt from God after examining the Legna."

"Yes, yes. You're becoming more evil than ever."

"It seems like they realized that."

The angels entered a state of panic after realizing that the artifact was made with some technology unknown to them and that they would only be in for the worst even if they tried to touch it. To kick them while they were down, they couldn't even report to their superiors properly!

[What do we do about this.]

[.....We need to leave it be. I do not know what this being is trying to do by making these but we would only cause a disaster if we recklessly interfered with it. We can only return to Heaven.]

[But would a high angel, or even an Archangel be able to solve this problem?]

[There's an even bigger problem. That is, if such an item was scattered to only this world.]

[Urgh..... just when a big war had ended. Why did such a thing happen again?]

[We only fight if there are beings that bring disorder to this world. Let us return for now.]

It seems like the angels in charge of this world were quite capable. Yu IlHan nodded with a laugh. As long as they didn't do something reckless, the matter they're worried about should not happen.

Not only that, there was no need for any Overflows in the future, nor was there a need to be afraid of what God may try to them. How good of an opportunity was that! The Traps of Restoration would instantly sell out if they were sold for just $39.99 a piece.

"Shouldn't you contact them and persuade them instead? Before they try something bad."

"What are you saying? In the end, they're just salarymen who have no choice but to obey orders if it comes down to it. What would change just by telling them? No one who shouts 'revolutionary business' has succeeded in the past you know?"

The more fundamental problem being that he might end up giving Heaven an excuse if he came into contact with them anymore than was necessary.

What was an even bigger problem was that the self-proclaimed God may still have connections to Heaven's Army. If he explained the situation and it was somehow reported to the self-proclaimed God, then wouldn't that be frustrating! Everything would go wrong once he was caught up with others, so it was rather more comfortable to take care of everything himself!

"Even though you made a higher existence organization and became the leader, your thought process is still like that of a loner....."

"Leave me be."

"Master, it's done. Let's go over to the next world!"

Strangely, Mystic became more vitalized the more Traps of Restoration she controlled. It was probably thanks to the records that were gathered through the Traps of Restoration. Noticing that, Orochi's expression became pale.

"Wouldn't I be surpassed at this rate?"

“You realized that a little too late. You should fight on too, Orochi.”

“Cheating! Isn’t that cheating!”

“Then want to manage the Traps of Restoration too?”

That was impossible. Orochi swallowed his frustration and could only watch as Mystic became stronger over time!

“Master, I’m becoming better and more efficient at this. I think we can go a little faster!”

“Very good. Your proactive attitude will make you stronger!”

“Urgh, being left behind by that woman..... that’s not acceptable!”

The engulfing process of the worlds proceeded smoothly. In a mere four days, Yu IlHan had changed the Traps of Destruction in thousands of worlds into Traps of Restoration.

If they ran out of the Traps midway, they could just collect some Traps of Destruction and make them into Traps of Restoration so it was a super easy job!

“Master, I think the Traps you made will cover all worlds.”

“You’re conquering all worlds in an unbelievable way..... Master, are you planning to go to even higher worlds after you’re done with lower worlds?”

“What are you saying. How many lower worlds do you think there are how can I go around to them all?”

Yu IlHan explained shortly to Orochi.

“Of course I made the Traps of Restoration so that it would cross dimensions and engulf other worlds. Mystic, I think it’s about time you start to feel something.”

“.....”

“That’s true. I get a signal.....”

Orochi and Mystic once again had to be enlightened. They were too small to comprehend and accept Yu IlHan! Mystic hadn’t received a God-ranked artifact for nothing!

It was the 32,918th world that Yu IlHan and the others met an unexpected guest.

Just as when the Traps of Restoration was in the midst of engulfing, that is, when the angels of that world had realized something and were in disorder, a holy fire covered the entire world suddenly.

“Michael? No.....”

Yu IlHan tilted his head at the flame that seemed similar to Michaels, but realized that it was much weaker. Then there was only one answer. Uriel, also famous for wielding fire along with Michael in the four Great Archangels, was residing in this world.

[So you are here, Yu IlHan.]

Uriel used her holy fire in attempt to detect Yu IlHan, but not to mention Yu IlHan himself, it was impossible to sense Orochi and Mystic that was being concealed with him. In the end Uriel spoke in a loud voice that resounded across the world while looking for him.

[I have already heard from Gabriel. You should be here, no?]

“.....”

He would have just headed to another world if there was no mention of Gabriel even if the opponent was one of the Four Great Archangels! There were three that Yu IlHan was the most concerned about right now, and one of them was Gabriel.

[I wish for conversation. This shouldn't be a bad thing for you as well. Will you not talk with me for a moment?]

“Master, what are you going to do?”

Yu IlHan thought – whether or not this is a trap, whether or not this would lead to something annoying.....

Whether or not he would encounter with the truth that he was worried about.

After considering all of them, he raised one hand towards the sky. From his hand an enormous amount of mana was released and covered the world.

[The skill, Dimensional Ruler, activates.]

Just with that, the gate to this world was temporarily closed. With that, Yu IlHan and the other two were revealed for all to see, and Uriel immediately noticed his position and flew to him.

[It really is hard to see your face. Your title of Pancosmic Loner is really apt.]

“Why are you giving me damage when you just appeared? And that title already disappeared by now.”

Uriel was female. And one that possessed blindingly beautiful white-blond hair and golden eyes. Of course, it would be a joke if Yu IlHan’s spear became blunt just because the opponent was a woman. Yu IlHan had already slashed many beautiful women in the past! Moreover, the preemptive strike she dealt to Yu IlHan made his hostility rise to the max.

[I wish you didn’t make such a hostile expression. I have lost a companion that I have been with for millions of years.]

“Should I send you to his side?”

[It’s not that I’m boasting, but there aren’t that many men that could raise their eyes in front of me. ....Truly amazing.]

“Hmph.”

Even Helièna couldn’t do anything about Unshakable Heart, but you? – was contained in his snort. Uriel made a bitter smile at his attitude and raised her two hands to tell him that she had no hostile intent.

[As you know, the flames I wield cannot surpass yours. Although I wield the power of earth a little, but that would not work on you either. You know right? That I have no chances of winning at all.]

“Yes, I know. That is why I’m more curious as to why you scattered your presence so much in search for me.”

[I wish to request your accompaniment.]

“Accompaniment?”

Yu IlHan’s accompaniment when he killed one of the Four Great Archangels and became the leader of the fifth faction? This was the most absurd thing he heard after the alliance offer from Greed.

When Yu IlHan tilted his head in astonishment, Uriel laughed and continued speaking.

[I am vaguely aware of what you are doing right now. You are moving in order to not cause collateral damage from the battle of higher existences to lower existences. Are you not?]

“No, I’m just moving in order to survive.”

[Even while saying that, you are looking for a way so that as many people as possible are saved, are you not?]

Yu IlHan start feeling uncomfortable. It wasn’t that he was purposefully acting evil or anything, and was indeed just trying to protect himself and the ones close to him, but he was annoyed at the fact that someone was making him out to be some saint that saved everyone. Uriel seemed to have realized that and shrugged her shoulders.

[What is important is not that. I have come looking for you according to Gabriel’s words, and wish to observe your actions as the representative of the Heaven’s Army. With me around, you need not worry about clashing against the Heaven’s Army.]

Why is it that her words just sounded like an excuse? Yu IlHan felt like he became the main character of a play and replied to her.

“However, it does bother me for you to accompany me when I don’t know what strange beings are hiding amongst you.”

[I am one of the Four Great Archangels. I do not leak information and records like the other angels. At least against other 7th classes.]

This proved Yu IlHan’s assumption. God had shared his important records from the four Great Archangels. Otherwise, they shouldn’t be so arrogant and say that they will not leave any of their own records behind.

“I knew I should have analyzed Raphael’s remains first.”

[What will you do? Will you accept my request?]

Yu IlHan shrugged his shoulders. It was because he remembered what happened when Raphael accompanied him in killing the traitors of Heaven's Army.

However, the situation was very different from then. Uriel had no methods to interfere with Yu IlHan, and the current him could also.....

“Very well, I will accompany you. Also, I’m not sure if you know this, but there aren’t many lower worlds left.”

[Yes, I have already heard that your Traps have a tremendous ability. However, your job is not yet completed, right?]

Yu IlHan sighed. Perhaps she looked for him at this time after realizing all of that as well. Was there no way out of this?

Then he could only accompany her until the curtains were lowered.

“There’s still Heishia.”

Yu IlHan bit his lips and activated Warp with Orochi, Mystic and Uriel in his range. It was time to meet the epilogue of this stage, the truth of the matter.

Chapter 318: I'm One That Closes The Curtain – 2

Heishia, which he hadn't been to in a long time, still remained as a lower world. After Yu IlHan cleaned up last time, the situation of the people there had become slightly better, and were still resisting against violent hordes of monsters. And the most surprising thing was that.....

“.....This world might come under me at any moment. How did it come to this?”

[I have heard that you have shown miracles in this world. The entire world of Heishia now worships you as a God. It might trigger the phenomenon if you show yourself now.]

Even though he hadn't shown himself at all during the cleanup!? Just as he thought that, he also realized that such a thing did not matter.

Once he showed himself and show a similar kind of miracle to the people here, the people will follow him. The faith spread around the mankind in this world will instantly change to deep-rooted belief and Heishia will come under his rule. It will probably be immediately fused to Dareu as well.

To think such a thing had happened when he was just ensuring the safety of his father, Yu IlHan felt quite astonished due to the flow of 'worship' that was transmitted to him from this world, and Uriel spoke with a smile.

[The Fifth and the Brightest shining star, was it? That is definitely true. No other transcender could fuse lower worlds with higher ones. What do you think? Do you still think that you are an egoistic person? Even though your light actions brought salvation to many?]

“Yup. It's fine as long as I and the ones around me are safe. I couldn't care less about anyone else. Even if there are many people who I have saved until now, it is because I'd feel awkward if they died in front of me. I'm no hero. I'm sick of that kind of role play.”

[Fufu. You should have acquired the qualifications of a transcender precisely because you can say that. It really is like a certain person I once knew.]

Uriel smiled. Was it his mistake? Uriel's figure was definitely friendly towards him now, unlike her attitude in the previous world.

Yu IlHan judged that it was because this world no longer contained any traces of Heaven's Army. In other words, she had become more honest than before.

"The Heaven's Army has abandoned this world. No, they missed it? .....Or was it purposeful?"

[The Heaven's Army is in management of countless worlds. A simple trick from one of the Four Great Archangels is enough to make a blank chit.]

She just basically admitted that she was the one who did it. Isn't that a perfect crime! This is why authority shouldn't be given to those in power! – Yu IlHan muttered.

"Why did God believe in such beings and share his power?"

[It is not that we were bestowed with parts of his power. It was expropriation. In that process, Luciel became Satan while God went missing, and the Four Great Archangels reigned supreme in Heaven.]

His random grumble resulted in an unimaginable answer and so Yu IlHan momentarily doubted his words. However, when he thought about what the self-proclaimed God said to Kang MiRae, he could somehow naturally accept that as a fact.

"So it's not like what you said was completely stupid and unbelievable."

[At that time we were all of one mind. But what could have happened? The same mind we shared fragmented into pieces. Michael wished to maintain God's rule of the past while Raphael wanted Michael to replace God..... I could not watch as they walked down that path even though they knew it was wrong.....]

"And Gabriel couldn't accept that?"

Uriel's mouth curved into a faint smile at Yu IlHan's question.

[You are smart as expected.]

"I want to hear the next part from Gabriel himself."

Yu IlHan raised his hand.

As a supreme being that exposed all falsehood and concealment, he swung his hands lightly when someone who hid behind the sky showed himself.

He was someone who Yu IlHan knew very well, as well as a person that he had never met before.

“So..... you’ll tell me about it right, dad?”

One of the Four Great Archangels that was hiding himself, Gabriel, simultaneously, the leader of the Garden of Sunset, at the same time, a father of one certain loner.

Yu YongHan was there.

[I will, my son. I’ll have to tell you everything now.]

[You have worked hard, Gabriel.]

[The work that was done by my son. ....Sorry for worrying you all this time.]

Even while feeling something welling up inside him, he suppressed it and laughed.

“That was nothing. You had such a faint presence that I forgot about you more often than not.”

[That is not what I’m talking about. I’m talking about the matters that you had to take care of because of this unworthy father.]

“You too..... should have suffered a fair bit.”

He had a lot of insults piled up that he wanted to say when he met his father again. However, somehow, meeting his father and seeing him in such a tattered state made Ilhan forget about all that.

In fact, he kinda knew that this would be the case. He doubted from the moment that he simply became an insane concealment master from birth; from how the angels supported him at the right time; was assured when he couldn’t find any traces of his father from Heishia; realized something new when he met his mother in the world under the Garden of Sunset, where time and space were halted; and realized the identity of his father as he went against the Heaven's Army.

However, he didn't want to believe it. He wished his father was ordinary. He wanted his father to be unaware of the tremendous pressure on his shoulders that even made his legs numb thanks to becoming the pillar of support that so many beings relied on. He wanted his father to live an ordinary, happy life.

It was just that. He was only turning his eyes away from reality and was complaining.

Yu IlHan asked.

"The power of foreknowledge is only possessed by you across all worlds, right?"

[That is correct. This is something I was born with when I was a lower existence. I almost burst out laughing when Michael asked me if I can surpass the leader of the Garden of Sunset.]

When his father laughed, Yu IlHan giggled as well. Orochi and Mystic stood back quietly, and Uriel was smiling while watching the reunion of the father and son.

"When did you make the Garden of Sunset?"

[It is when I realized that Michael had changed. Satan created the Army of Brilliant Light to go against him, but father felt that it wasn't enough. But you know? Running two jobs was a lot harder than expected. There was nothing that went as I wished to.]

"Of course, you even had a hard time raising a family."

His dad was triggered and retorted.

[But I still fulfilled my objective.]

"What was your objective?"

[Confronter of God, the brightest shining star, that is you, as well as the elimination of as many variables as possible. And finally..... the protection of my family.]

Leaving aside the confronter or start of whatever, the reason he created the Garden of Sunset was to protect his family? And one that will be made far in the future? Wasn't that too much of a lie even if he had the foreknowledge ability? Yu IlHan's eyes narrowed.

"Whether it's me or mom, we remember a lot of times when we received damage from the Garden of Sunset and you want me to believe that? Moreover, variables? The Garden of Sunset was the biggest variable that no one could account for, duh!"

[Foreknowledge is in no way omnipotent, and I can only believe that the results of the foreknowledge are true and move accordingly. That is why..... I made you and your mother suffer. There were a lot of things that didn't go as I intended.]

Yu IlHan was flabbergasted after listening to his father's confession. However, thinking back, the Garden of Sunset was related to almost all the incidents that got him caught up until now, in one way or the other.

Isn't Dareu, that was the biggest source of power for him, affected by them as well? Even his precious son Yumir was a child he received from Lecidna, a follower of the Garden of Sunset. His mother too acquired a large power in that halted word, albeit spending a frightening amount of time there.

Yes. Just looking at the results, that was the case.

"I can't forgive you either way. You're guilty. I grit my teeth every time I think about how I was left out on Earth."

[I will gladly receive any kind of punishment. I'm sorry, son.]

It frustrated him even more since he didn't make any excuses. If it wasn't his father and was anyone else instead, he'd have beat him half to death and beat him up the remaining half after that, but he couldn't really do that now could he?

That was because Yu IlHan himself knew how fathers thought of their son. His father had acted in consideration of Yu IlHan and Kim YeSeul. That was why it was more frustrating.

"Your methods are insanely wrong! We're not superman!"

[I thought it was better than death. ....And I didn't think you'd be put through so many serious situations. I'm really sorry.]

“Uaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaah!!!!”

Better than death – the words that he couldn't deny since he had watched the deaths of many. Yu IlHan thought about where he had to hit his dad to inflict the most pain but eventually loosened his shoulders.

“Let's get back on topic.”

[Did you accept it with just that?]

“It's not acceptance, but delaying the inevitable.”

[Got it.]

Fearing that he may end up making his son commit a grave sin (at the expense of his own life), Yu YongHan immediately shut his mouth. Yu IlHan sighed once more and took out a Trap of Restoration and showed it to him

[Oooh, this is that.....]

“Your son's capability.”

Although no one could analyze the already installed Traps of Restoration, it was possible to see through its functions if someone saw it in its inactivated state. And as he had expected, Yu YongHan exclaimed after seeing that.

[A really amazing artifact right there. It's an artifact that fully counters the Legnae. Moreover it has an ability that I cannot completely see through.]

“Just what happened to God to become like that?”

That was the important question. He would find out why Yu YongHan had to act as the leader of the Garden of Sunset at the same time as being Gabriel, as well as the reason why he himself had to give up living as a loner all his life and become the leader of Dragon's Nest.

[Yes, I still hadn't told you that yet.]

Gabriel, Yu YongHan, seemed to hesitate for a moment, before blinking his eyes deeply once and started talking.

[Let's see..... that's it. I need to reaffirm this fact before I start. And that is that the God of Heaven's Army is not the creator. 'God' in the truest sense, does not exist.]

Yu IlHan remembered, during the time of the god of love's message. The message definitely stated that God did not exist. So that meant that God, really, did not exist.

"So you mean to say that no one knows who the Creator is, or actually, whether he or she exists or not at all, right?"

[Yes. And the God of Heaven's Army wants to become that Creator.]

Yu IlHan asked while thinking about Legna, as well as the God that came into contact with Kang MiRae.

"He said he made mana, is that a lie as well?"

[It's a lie. Well, he did definitely reach close to the realm of creation, but he did not. All of that is false. What he can make is at best those Legna golems. In one sense, he's even inferior to you, son. Just like this Trap of Restoration, there are numerous things he cannot create.]

"He's inferior to me when I only trained for one millennium? That's one sloppy guy....."

Yu YongHan burst in to laughter after he heard Yu IlHan's words. His son had reached a realm that no one had reached ever since the dawn of creation, and he didn't seem to know how amazing the realm he reached actually was.

"Why is he trying to erase mana?"

[He can only erase mana since he's trying to erase all existence. However, son, as you saw, the God of Heaven's 'creation' is not true creation. He just burns countless souls as fuel to do something similar to it. Like that, everything will eventually reach destruction..... You know that this is wrong, right?]

"Yes I do."

In one meaning, that meant the death of worlds. Greed's words, of course probably unintentional, had seen through the truth.

".....I have many many other questions to ask, but I'll ask just one more."

Yu IlHan sighed while he asked.

“Why does it have to be now?”

[That is.....]

Yu YongHan, Gabriel, closed his eyes after hearing his question.

He didn’t know exactly what his son had been through to reach this position. He only predicted that his son will become the brightest shining transcender, and that he will become the confronter of God.

However, his son had experienced many more things than he had thought, and had grown a lot more. He was no longer being swayed by the worlds and was leading the situation. The vague foreknowledge had finally become clear.

‘Earth shall become larger than Heaven. The Fifth and the brightest shining star that rules Earth, shall appear. Born from an angel, raised as a human, reborn into a dragon.....’

Feeling a conflict of disappointment and satisfaction at his son’s growth, Yu YongHan told his son the truth.

[It’s because you have appeared, son. With your appearance, all other factions have shrunk back, and the moment that God had waited for has arrived.]

‘And in the end, he will become the sole God.’

He spoke the line that Yu IlHan had already predicted.

[Harmageddon, is coming.]

Chapter 319: I'm One That Closes The Curtain – 3

Yu IlHan was slightly annoyed since it looked like everything was going just as he had predicted. No matter how good he was at predicting foreshadows, wasn't this a little too much?! Was this a type of foreknowledge too? – just as he was thinking about such childish things to escape reality, Uriel spoke to him.

[You have nothing to fear. Gabriel has already predicted that you shall be safe until the very end. Of course, the foreknowledge isn't always correct..... but we shall help you so that it will become as such.]

“You could have done that until now....”

[We did, we did a lot. However, Yu IlHan, you do not think that the worlds you have been to are all the worlds, do you?]

“Ugh, it feels bad since I sound like I'm making excuses but..... you're right. There's no way the things I have seen are everything. I'm not God so I can't see everything.”

[Thank you for..... being understanding.]

Right now, she was saying this – while Yu IlHan was cleaning up the mess that the Heaven's Army had made, Gabriel, Uriel and some other angels were concentrating their efforts into places unknown to him. Annoyingly, he couldn't really deny that.

However, Uriel's words hadn't ended yet.

[However, you are right. The blame is ours. I am not going to deny that. I will receive the price for all of it. If my puny life can set everything straight, I would have done so already, but precisely because that wasn't the case is why I lived on and struggled. And right now, I could finally meet you in this place.]

“Yeah, sure.”

Even while listening, Yu IlHan didn't stop grumbling. Yu IlHan's greatest objective in life was to churn the guts of all beings that he has grudges with.

“I'm sooo thankful. Countless beings were fighting for my sake? That sounds harsh.”

[Hey, didn't I say that foreknowledge isn't omnipotent? Uriel has really suffered.]

[Gabriel..... I haven't suffered at all. The one to suffer was you.]

Very slightly, Uriel blushed at Yu YongHan's, no, Gabriel's words. Yu IlHan, who saw that only Uriel out of the Four Great Archangels was indifferent to him and thought that she was quite special among the four, realized that it wasn't entirely like that, and continuing.....

“Cheating? While your son is in a world of trouble you leave mom and go out with a pretty woman?”

[I do not know anything like cheating, son. I don't.]

He felt like there was an emphasis on “I”, implying ‘don't you know already?’ and made him annoyed.

However, just as he was going to say he didn't know about anything like that either, several faces of women popped up in his mind so he could only stay quiet. Gabriel spoke as if his son was adorable.

[Give it up and accept all of them. This dad does think that love which extends between each other is very beautiful, but I also think loves takes many different forms apart from that, especially with someone as bright and brilliant like you. The new child with the blessing of the god of love should also know that and will understand it.]

“.....I'm going to destroy everything you know from your memory. If you say later that you saw my first night with Liera, then I'll overturn everything even if it's you.”

[Unfortunately, I can't see such detailed things.]

Yu IlHan put 5 hostility points onto his father. Seeing the father and son having an embarrassing conversation, Uriel interfered between the two with bright red cheeks.

[Well! It is not long until the final showdown. If you have cleared up your talks, then it's time to act!]

“First, you stay 100 meters away from dad. I’ll extract one drop of blood from you everytime you smile at him.”

[Uuu.]

Even while being on guard against Uriel, he took the Trap of Restoration from his father and passed it to Mystic. Mystic didn’t receive it willingly and narrowed her eyes instead.

“Weren’t you high and mighty from birth, master, eh? Never did I imagine that you were the young master of one of the Four Great Archangels!”

“But unlike a certain someone who was born a higher existence, I was born as a level 1 human who couldn’t even use mana.”

“Earth spoon should shut up and activate the Trap.”

“Who the hell’s an Earth spoon! You dragon spoon!”

“Wait, Earth spoon. Since it’s come to this, let’s do one more thing too.”

“I’m not Earth spoon! Damn you!”

(T/N: The ‘spoon’ is reference to the proverb “Born with a silver spoon in the mouth”)

Yu IlHan immediately activated his creation ability to add something new to the Trap of Restoration. Receiving that, Mystic immediately realized the change and widened her eyes.

“Really?”

“Really really.”

“I’ll nag you to death if there’s any unnecessary casualties, okay?”

“Just do it already.”

Mystic threw the Trap of Restoration and activated it. At that moment, a strange wave was released from the Trap of Restoration and engulfed all the Traps of Destruction in this world.

Then, it released all the monsters inside.

[Yu IlHan!?)

“Master, what is this!”

[Son!?)

Not to mention Uriel and Orochi, even Gabriel hadn’t seen this with his foreknowledge and called out to him in shock. However, Yu IlHan just snorted at them and stepped forward before activating Manifestation and Declaration simultaneously. Of course, he had already dispelled his concealment.

[Look at me.]

With the support of Manifestation, the range of Declaration expanded to all of Heishia. His voice resounded across the entire world, and the monsters that were released from the dungeons, the humans that were shocked at the sight, as well as the ones that were just living their own lives in secluded places all ‘discovered’ Yu IlHan.

[Those with malice against humanity. Those with hostility against the continuation of mankind. Those who wish to grow as you lust for the flesh of those I desire to protect.]

His Declaration continued. The huge mana he possessed instantly neared depletion, but drinking Breath made of Echjar’s blood, he finished his words.

[You shall all die.]

That was enough. The living monsters in the mountains, hills, skies, seas, volcanoes, caves, everywhere – had all collapsed and..... died on the spot.

[The skill, Manifestation, has become level 32.]

[.....]

[.....]

“ .....

“ .....

Everyone watching lost their words. However, Yu IlHan didn’t care about them at all. With the annihilation of all the monsters, mana instantly filled the world, and the Traps of Restoration absorbed all that mana and spread it to the other Traps of Destruction in an increasingly shorter intervals.

All the Traps of Destruction changed into Traps of Restoration in an instant. In the future, neither Dungeon Breaks nor Overflows would happen in this world.

No, not only that.

[I am the God you have been waiting for.]

Shamelessly shouted Yu IlHan.

[So obey me.]

His mana was already nearing its limits, but the endlessly filling mana supplemented the mana consumed in the Declaration skill. In other people's view, he looked like he had an endless supply of mana.

However, Yu IlHan was in fact nervously checking the time that he could maintain the two skills simultaneously. In the first place, it was a miracle that he could stay standing in a lower world that wasn't even in his own domain. It was more so considering that it hadn't been long since he had ascended into his place as a leader of a faction.

[Son, you really are.....]

"Why are you so surprised? You can do it too."

Gabriel was the leader of the Garden of Sunset at the same time being one of the Four Great Archangels. Yu IlHan estimated that his father's concealment had deceived everything and pioneered a unique realm for him to become a higher existence, and it was in fact true. It was just that he was mistaken about one thing – the limits of Gabriel's ability.

[I'm not sure about a world under the Garden of Sunset's rule, but in another lower world, I can't really do that. Moreover, it also takes quite a lot of time to change from the Gabriel form to the Garden of Sunset leader.....]

"Don't say it like you're some transforming robot."

Interrupting his narration of his back story, Yu IlHan firmly received all the gazes of all the people that looked up at him. The people all seemed to be confused, but the ones that experienced the miracles eventually reacted.

“He has come.”

“He? He has really come for us!”

“In place of the angels that abandoned us! He has come!”

“No, the one looking down at us from up there, is God! He has come to take us all in!”

Of course, there were many that felt hostile as well. However, the vast majority had shining eyes while they looked at Yu IlHan. Even the ones that held some hostility could not deny that the monsters were annihilated thanks to him.

Like that, Yu IlHan showed them overwhelming power and amplified their minute hope with the following words.

[I shall lead you to a place with a new hope.]

Civilization would probably collapse. Every one of them will be put in the middle of battle. They will meet a big threat to their lives.

Perhaps they may meet an even more frightful and cold environment than this place. Perhaps they may regret their choices and may wish to return. However, Yu IlHan forced them to choose nonetheless. Although he couldn't stay here and protect them, he could take them in and head to Dareu.

[Will you follow me? I shall take you all in when all of your wills turn into one.]

He uttered some cool words, probably taken from a book somewhere. Mystic thought that he was like a drug dealer, while Orochi thought that true scammers were really different.

Meanwhile, Uriel was still slightly out of it thanks to the grandeur that Yu IlHan showed with his Declaration skill, while Gabriel was slightly depressed because his son had surpassed him.

“I shall follow.”

Someone spoke. He was one of the generals that fought against monsters in the front lines with the surviving humanity.

“I shall follow you.”

Someone else spoke. He was a lonely man who stood at the peak of what little humanity left here, and could no longer be called emperor.

“Please lead us.”

Someone else spoke. She was an old woman who lived as a mercenary all her life fighting monsters before dropping out after she had lost a leg and the people important to her.

“I hate those that try to step above us..... dammit, I guess I can’t help it.”

And someone despaired. He was the knight captain of a ruined country that felt disgust for being swayed around by higher existences at whim, but could only grab the thread of hope that was given to him.

[Yes.]

Yu IlHan nodded his head with a smile. His figure filled the eyes of all of mankind in this world.

[I shall lead you all to my world.]

[You have received the obedience of all surviving mankind from the lower world Heishia. The world of Heishia enters your domain.]

[The world, Heishia, fuses with Dareu.]

“Well, let’s return to Dareu first.”

Yu IlHan looked back at the others while the entire world of Heishia was being twisted and spoke.

“Dad, you prepare an excuse for mom.”

[Ugh..... was it really a good choice that I ended up making her give birth to IlHan? I knew I should have had a daughter instead of a son!]

[Gabriel, fight on.]

Uriel’s shy cheers did not help Gabriel at all. While Gabriel heaved sighs after sighs, the fusion of dimensions finally happened.

This was also the moment the ‘first stage’ Yu IlHan had aimed for in the scattering Traps of Restoration, at the same time being the moment that solved one of his doubts completely, it was also an unprecedented time where a combined front of higher existence factions had formed.

Chapter 320: I'm One That Closes The Curtain – 4

Having entered Dareu and laying their eyes on the vastness of the land that the world encompassed, Uriel and Gabriel's reactions were as follows.

[How can this be?]

[Son, do you like playing The Sims?]

Yu IlHan watched the survivors of Heishia being incorporated into the world of Dareu and replied in a light mood to Gabriel.

"I did like it before, but I don't like it now. Games are only fun when they're enjoyed as games. It's like how racing games are fun, but the morning commutes feel like trash."

"But you didn't play racing games nor did you ever drive on your morning commute."

"Shut up, Earth spoon."

[Dad!]

"IlHan!"

The ones that were waiting for him while he visited over thirty thousand worlds soon rushed to where he was. Yu IlHan made Yumir stop at a suitable distance before stroking his head, and embraced Liera without any resistance from her.

"I was a little late, wasn't I?"

"You were too late, you idiot! You could have taken me along as well, why do you always leave me behind? Bad guy."

"Sorry about that."

Liera rubbed her face in his chest for a while but then realized that Yu IlHan was accompanied by a man and a woman who were not Orochi and Mystic.

"Huh, this aura is..... Lady Uriel and Lord Gabriel of the Four Great Archangels!? How did this happen!?"

“You took another two other as hostages after killing one!?” – Yu IlHan smacked Liera lightly on the forehead and spoke while looking at Gabriel.

“And your human form?”

[Fine, I’ll do it. I just have to do it, right?]

Gabriel grumbled and closed his eyes. Following that, the three pairs of wings, the halo unique to angels as well as the imposing mana that radiated from him all disappeared.

No, it wasn’t correct to say they disappeared. It had just all disappeared into a realm of concealment so deep that it couldn’t even be recorded by anyone. With the mana gone, wrinkles started appearing on his skin. But unlike before, he looked to be in his mid 30s.

As he naturally lost the power to maintain himself in mid-air, he should have fallen down immediately, but Uriel move to receive him before that happened..... when she was interrupted by an Aegis that appeared and supported his father. Liera finally realized the identity of this person.

“.....IlHan’s dad? Huh? He was Lord Gabriel until just now.”

“He’s the same person. Oh, he’s also the leader of the Garden of Sunset as well.”

“That trash?..... huh? What?”

Liera’s eyes were filled with question marks. Gabriel laughed awkwardly.

“Yes, I’m the trash that made you suffer all this time, child. I’m so sorry. Hahahaha.”

“Ah..... Mm.....? Lord Gabriel is my father-in-law? Father?”

“Oooh, father! That’s a nice word to hear! Why don’t you call me father again?”

“Dad, shut up.”

“Yes sir.”

“Huh? HUUUUUUUH?”

Liera’s brain halted all activity as it overheated from trying to but not being able to accept the sudden change in situation. Yu IlHan patted his lover that was perfect in every way but one, which made her lovelier, and spoke to Gabriel.”

“Dad, you can go to mom first. I’ll take care of some things before I follow along.”

“Haa, I guess I can’t avoid it. Okay, fine. It really is depressing…….”

[Gabriel…….]

If Kim YeSeul joined the Garden of Sunset before, he could have explained everything to her, but thanks to her rejection in one go, he had to live apart from his wife without any time to explain anything to her.

His wife was such a firm-willed person. Though, that was also why he truly fell in love with her even though he was one of the Four Great Archangels…… but precisely because of that, did he fear meeting his wife.

However, the Aegis that Yu IlHan had called out completely ignored his hesitation and feelings and lead him to where Kim YeSeul was. Uriel followed him until she received Yu IlHan’s glare and fell back.

“Since two of the Four Great Archangels have left their position, this should have been revealed to the Heaven’s Army as well. But why aren’t you falling down to a lower existence even though you went against the laws of Heaven?”

[Because the ones in charge of making angels fall into lower existences are the Four Great Archangels.]

That was so OP. This is why corruption never disappeared in politics! Since the ones that had to punish corruption were corrupted themselves, there’s no way the lower ones would stop! Of course, this helped him right now!

[But I cannot stay as an angel forever. If you shall allow it, I wish to join Dragon’s Nest. I can retain my power so it won’t be a bad deal for you.]

“That’s a nice suggestion…… but what about dad?”

[Gabriel just needs to transfer all his powers into the Garden of Sunset. Once that happens, it will become possible to gather all the power of the Garden of Sunset that was scattered across the stars until now. Moreover, no one across all the worlds can steal his pow…… hiik.]

Uriel, who was making an expression filled with love while explaining about Gabriel, shrunk back after being glared at by Yu IlHan once again. Yu IlHan interrogated her more.

“Is there something you did against this harmageddon or whatever?”

[Both Gabriel’s and my actions were extremely limited and secretive. It is not that we did not act to persuade those in the Heaven’s Army, but because most of them are loyal to Michael.....]

Sure. Although he lost completely to Yu IlHan thanks to his affinity with fire, Michael was the biggest power that allowed Heaven’s Army to maintain its presence everywhere and still be stronger than the others. Rather than betraying him, the angels would probably choose to commit suicide.

If there was one way to change their thoughts, it’s to slash Michael’s neck and have a calm conversation with them, but.....

“But I can’t just kill him because of that..... I left Michael as a means of stopping Satan. Can we completely trust in Satan?”

[When we first went against God, he was definitely on our side. I think that is the case..... But now, I’m not so sure. Perhaps, like Michael and Raphael, he may already be.....]

“I kinda thought this was the case but you guys don’t help at all.”

Uriel shut her mouth. However, Yu IlHan ignored the useless Uriel and fell deep into thought.

First, he was done preparing against the self-proclaimed God, or, the ‘God of Heaven’.

He had scattered Traps of Regeneration in all lower worlds that he had been to at least once, and even made them so that they could encroach on other lower worlds by crossing the dimensional wall, so it wouldn’t take too long for all Traps of Destruction to disappear from lower worlds. Of course, he had to do the same thing to higher worlds. Although this was something that was in progress, it was smooth sailing at least until now.

What he had to guard against next was the rest of the higher existence factions that didn't care about what the God of Heaven was doing, and were just moving under the assumption that 'Earth is important so it's mine'.

A clash with the Heaven's Army couldn't be avoided since they treated Yu IlHan like he was their archenemy, while the Army of Brilliant Light was on hold since he didn't know what they were thinking, and fortunately the Garden of Sunset looked like they'll become his allies since Gabriel was the one leading them.....

Just the Destruction Demon Army, was a mystery.

"Uriel, how would the Destruction Demon Army move? Didn't dad say anything?"

[As you know already, all they are thinking of is the destruction of everything. As such, they are also the most dangerous beings as well. Not only are the Battalion Commanders and their forces threatening, the most frightening of them all is their leader, Greed. Satan and Gabriel were both originally from the Heaven's Army, but only Greed formed his own organization after reaching the realm of transcenders with his own power.]

Of course, thanks to Yu IlHan's mess, the powers of each faction did decrease a lot. Despite that, Greed's power was still overwhelming, and was even increasing right now. In other words, if there was another being that he had to be wary against on top of God of Heaven, it was Greed.

"Tch, so in the end, I can only do one thing."

Greed told Yu IlHan to become God. Yu IlHan did not believe in his words and ignored him, but in order for them to survive, and to live on, he knew that they have to go to war with the original higher existence factions.

Well, then. What did he have to do first? First, he had to lock the doors of Earth and Dareu, and.....

"Let's invade Heaven and get some supplies of higher metals."

[You're calmly uttering some amazing words.]

"After that, I'm going to make them into Traps of Restoration and steal higher worlds that the other factions possess."

[Are you planning to cause harmageddon yourself!?!]

Uriel asked in surprise. Yu IlHan liked her words and let out a hearty laugh.

“Yes. I hate being attacked. Fights are all about attacking first!”

“That’s something I like. Fights are all about attacking first after all!”

While Yu IlHan and Orochi were in sync with each other, a loud slap could be heard from the horizon. A voice of pain that filled the world came after.

“Where do you think you’re going? This is just the beginning!”

“Honey, please take it lightly on me. Lightly…… Ack!

One of the Four Great Archangels, Gabriel, was suffering against rapid fire slaps from his wife. Seeing Uriel twitch every time skin met skin and caused a melody, Yu IlHan muttered in satisfaction.

“Slap him one thousand time more in my stead, mom.”

While Gabriel was undergoing a world of suffering, Yu IlHan checked for any events and changes that might have occurred while he was away, and vitalized the ‘carpet’ since it became somewhat unstable after the addition of Heishia. He didn’t forget to supplement his mana.

“Mr. IlHan.”

Not so long after, Kang MiRae came looking for him. As she knew the reunion of Kim YeSeul and Gabriel, she seemed to be more confused than ever.

“Is what I heard and experienced all real?”

“If you’re talking about how my dad is Gabriel at the same time as being the leader of the Garden of Sunset, then, yes. You’re indeed right.”

“What!? He’s also the leader of the Garden of Sunset!?”

Oh, she didn’t know that bit of information. Yu IlHan just smiled at her. Kang MiRae smiled awkwardly after finding out that Yu IlHan felt the same as her. Although meaty slaps could be heard throughout their conversation, Kang MiRae ignored those and spoke to him.

“I brought all the people on Earth to Dareu. Although they’re feeling slightly panicked due to the sudden change in space-time, they should adapt soon.”

“Oh, I kinda felt that was the case, but you brought them all. Thanks for the hard work.”

Since the people of Heishia had come as well, he might as well take care of everything. Yu IlHan saw that his mana pool was full and activated the Declaration skill to explain the current events to all beings in Dareu.

[Ah, ah. Mic test. Hello, ladies and gentleman of Dareu. I am your God, Yu IlHan.]

“That sounds like an in-flight announcement, master! Have some more grandeur!”

However, the following announcements from Yu IlHan to the entire world didn’t sound that much different from an in-flight announcement either. The current Dareu only spawned 3rd class monsters and above, so they would act within designated areas, not be outside too late at night, have a nice time in Dareu, and other stuff like that.

Everything other than that was meaningless. They were either meaningless for them to know, or would scare them even further!

“Oh yes, how about Legnae? Did they invade?”

“It seems they can’t completely ignore Mr. Yu IlHan’s influence quite yet. We weren’t invaded even once.”

“It’s about time they came.....”

The God of Heaven was not the first transducer for nothing. No matter how strong Yu IlHan’s defenses were, Yu IlHan didn’t think that they’d give up on this world and just let it be.

“Well, it doesn’t matter when they invade. Well, let’s start our next project.”

“Mr. IlHan, will you really be fine? You are moving without having any time to rest.....”

He was going to act once his mother calmed down a little, but the meaty slaps never seemed to cease. By his side, Uriel looked very worried. Even while sighing, Yu IlHan went to the Guardian castle with them. Kim YeSeul and Gabriel were there.

“S, son! Save me! Son!”

“Son, mom’s angry right now so leave us be.”

“Got it.”

“Sooooooooooooon!”

Even though his mother was now a true dragon under Dragon’s Nest, and Yu IlHan was the leader of that faction, Yu IlHan couldn’t go against his mother. Wasn’t that how parent-child relationships were?

More so if his mother’s rage was directed at his father. Not only could he not go against her, he had no thoughts of doing that either. Yu IlHan decided to calmly wait until his parents finished their reunion event. But at such a good time, he could feel the insolent things that tried to invade Dareu.

[Irregulars, the largest hindrance to the plan.]

[He orders, eliminating irregulars.]

[Execute, eliminate, destroy.]

“how can this be.....!”

Executing God’s orders, the group of Legnae lightly ripped Yu IlHan’s shield apart as if it had been made of paper! Yu IlHan was really surprised after meeting them.

“That’s really a villain android’s line from the 90s games! Even their timings are so lame!”

“That’s what you’re surprised about!?”

There were over twenty Legnae that invaded Dareu. Twenty-three whole beings that were over level 500! Moreover, considering how they possessed power to restrain mana, these twenty-three could probably wipe out the majority of higher worlds by themselves.

“Good, I got another source of metals before I go to Heaven.”

Of course, Yu IlHan’s perception of them was slightly different. He smiled and faced the rude invaders in mid-air. He shouted towards the ‘God of Heaven’ that was definitely peeking at him behind them.

“If you want to defeat me, then bring around three thousand times more troops than this! Come at me!”

Okay. Here's what happened.

Yesterday's chapter, which was a 'sponsored' chapter, should have went up the day before. And this is the 'Thursday regular' which is a day late since I was away due to attending a funeral.

So, the 'translator's notes' from yesterday is ONE DAY OLD....

Anyway $10 left.

To clear things up a little

Legnae = plural of Legna (according to my puny Latin knowledge)

I am still accepting and doing sponsored chapters until chapter 324. (not much left eh)

Chapter 325 onwards is the 12 chaps/week regular schedule.

Chapter 321: I'm One That Closes The Curtain – 5

[Eliminating irregulars.]

[Traitor, betrayer, the largest obstacle.]

[El, iminate.....]

Yu Ilhan's extended his hand into the air. The first thing he did was to revitalize and control the carpet to redirect the maximum amount of mana into himself before activating the Dimensional ruler skill with that power.

[No more shall enter.]

The world closed. With that, Legnae could no longer receive orders from the God of Heaven, nor could they receive any additional energy.

[You cannot acquire anything here. You cannot resist.]

What glowed next were the Traps of Restoration scattered over Dareu. What did the Traps of Restoration do? They ruled, amplified, restored, engulfed, and resisted mana.

They weren't simply artifacts that imprisoned monsters into dungeons. They contained Yu IlHan's meticulous magic formation, and were a sort of booster that supported him.

"Uaaaaaaah! My head hurts, master! My head hurrerrrrrts."

"Hold it. Orochi, you console her."

"To think you'd make me babysit her....."

"Who the hell's a baby! Hey don't stroke my head..... fuu."

".....It's rather awkward for me if you really end up calming down with this."

Yu IlHan activated two rounds of Declaration and lightly drew his hand across the air with the remaining mana. Just that was enough to activate Transcendent trajectory.

But somehow, despite the fact that his supreme skill that showed such grandeur before, the twenty-three Legnae were unfazed in the slightest.

[Impossible with mana.]

[The prophecy is wrong. You are not a leader.]

It seems like the will of God still remained inside them as they uttered some strange words. Yu IlHan snorted and asked them.

“What else did God say? That you came to Dareu so next up is Earth? No, there’s no way he can so easily enter Earth. The magic formation on Earth has been upgraded after all.”

[.....]

[.....]

However, even though he talked to them, he received no reply.

Well, obviously, since their bodies were being sliced apart.

[Critical Hit!]

[Critical Hit!]

[Critical.....]

[Cri.....]

Horizontally, vertically, diagonally, from the bottom, from the top, like knives pressing and sliding against vegetables on top of a cutting board, countless trajectories assaulted them and diced them.

Impossible with mana? The power of mana differed vastly according to who used it. How could they endure it when they were turned into honeycombs under Kang MiRae’s dimensional magic? Moreover, as long as the energy they used were sourced from souls, they will not be able to ignore Yu IlHan’s power that wielded the essence of souls.

“Just you aren’t enough. But the God of Heaven will still not move, right? To move himself, the leaders of the other factions should weigh on his mind.”

[G..... gg..... ggg.....]

The last of the Legnae emitted some strange sounds. However, it was merely an array of vibrations that did not possess meaning. Yu IlHan laughed and drew his finger across the air once again. Its body was sliced apart. With that, the short uproar was finished.

[You have earned experience.]

[You have become level 536. 5 Strength, 2 Agility, 2 Health, 6 Magic increases.]

[The skill, Transcendent trajectory, has become level 24.]

The world became quiet once more. The ones aware of the existence of Legnae had resolved themselves for a harsh battle the moment twenty-three of them came to Dareu, but they were left in a daze after realizing that they were merely mobs that the lord of this world, Yu IlHan, only needed to sweep his hand from left to right to exterminate them all.

It was a kind of relief on top of being overwhelmed. The relief that it would be safe next to him.

“IlHan, you really became a lot stronger..... I don’t even know how strong you really are.”

“Even Miss MiRae can do this much.”

“No, without YuNa’s miracle backup, I wouldn’t be able to deal with them at all.....”

Spoke Kang MiRae stiffly since she thought that Yu IlHan was overestimating her. However, Yu IlHan spoke as though he knew what she was thinking.

“It will be harmageddon soon, so we’ll be in a fix if Miss YuNa doesn’t cause miracles like you are eating food. So don’t worry about that part.”

“You just said something that made me very worried!?”

Yu IlHan turned around, leaving the shocked Kang MiRae be. The important members of Dragon’s Nest were all there. His mother Kim YeSeul, who was shocked at Yu IlHan’s unbelievable power, and Gabriel who rejoiced that he no longer was hit by the chain of continuous slaps, were the most comedic of the bunch.

“Dad, as you saw just now it seems like it’s finally starting. We’ll need to move quickly as well.”

“We should. I thought he’d send Archlegnae, but from how it ended with just Legnae, it seems like you grew up much faster than God had anticipated. It looks like we dealt a big blow before we even started.”

The father and son moved busily. Gabriel threw away his form as Yu YongHan as well as his Archangel form, and transformed himself into the leader of the Garden of Sunset, while Yu IlHan urgently gathered the mana of this world to pour into the Cradle of Miracles. He also put inside a portion of the dead Legnae inside. Then, he pointed at Uriel and flicked his finger.

“Here.”

[“Here”, you say? Do you perhaps mean for me to enter that lump of red fire where those strange things just went inside?]

“Exactly. Here.”

Uriel shivered after seeing Yu IlHan’s flawless fresh smile.

[L, legna! I saw the traces of God entering that! Even though I can ignore everything that composes heaven, I am not free from God’s power, if I came into contact with them and something unexpected happens.....]

“Sheesh, you’re noisy. With those Legnae that just entered, they recognized you and dad! Before God does anything strange, you need to strip your angelhood completely!”

Yu IlHan flicked his finger again and Declaration skill activated. Even though she was one of the Four Great Archangels, she was merely a feeble lifeform that could only choose to obey Yu IlHan’s law while inside Dareu!

[Please wait a little, I believe in Gabriel, and don’t trust you completely, I’ll do it when kyaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaak!]

“Huh, I think I saw this scene somewhere. .... The Emille bell?” <sup>1</sup>

“Shut up.”

Uriel was helplessly thrown into the Cradle of Miracles. Her scream was eventually buried inside and could no longer be heard. Kim YeSeul, who instinctively felt Uriel’s deep feelings towards Gabriel, quietly whispered to her son.

“Son, I think it’s fine even if that angel doesn’t come out from there forever.”

“I also think that, but I still need her power so I can’t really help it.”

“It is such a sad thing to feel powerless. It looks like mom should become a lot stronger quickly.”

Even while a frightening conversation was exchanged between the mother and son, the evolution inside the Cradle of Miracles was going smoothly.

The corpses of Legnae simply amplified Uriel’s power, and increased her resistance against those type of golems.

Not only that, the higher mana that the Four Great Archangels and Luciel expropriated from God was wholly absorbed by the Cradle of Miracles and turned into the power of dragons, and with the records and energy that Uriel had to push herself to retain until now, being shared with Yu IlHan, his level instantly increased by almost 20.

[You have become level 554. 41 Strength, 11 Agility, 25 Health, 23 Magic increases.]

[The skill, Declaration has become level 71.]

What an upgrade from just analyzing and transforming the power of God! These records were shared to Yu IlHan’s subordinates through him, and their levels would increase as well. Uriel’s words weren’t wrong. Just by going under his wing, she gave him tremendous help!

“With this, I’m looking forward to what Raphael’s body holds in store!”

“Mom also looks forward to it!”

“Everyone’s so bad.”

Eventually, the Cradle of Miracles cracked. To exaggerate a little, an even larger aura than when Helièna was reborn into a 7th class dragon, was thumping inside. Well, a being that possessed a portion of God’s power had been completely reborn into a dragon, so it was no wonder that she emitted an overwhelming aura!

But the next moment, a completely unexpected line of text appeared on Yu IlHan's retina.

[Lv 600 Uriel was born from your nest.]

"Huh, she crossed the bottleneck."

"A bottleneck? Don't tell me it's 8th class? No way!"

"Fuu....."

The Cradle completely shattered, and 'four pairs of dragon wings' unfolded from the inside. This was the moment one of the Four Great Archangels, Uriel, had been reborn into an 8th class dragon. The power she stole from God transformed into a dragon's and caused an unexpected synergy!

But the first words Uriel spoke with that intense force coming off her was a complaint.

"Lord, Dragon's Nest has too few rules. Other than the fact that they cannot go against you, there are no rules that controls and restrains them. Well, Gabriel could propagate the Garden of Sunset this way, but you should have seen for yourself how they work right now. Like this, you will not be able to rule them unless you step out and supervise them yourself."

Yu IlHan gave a chic reply.

"After I erase everyone that cause trouble for Earth, I'm not going to care if the members of Dragon's Nest go on a world conquest, or have a relaxing farm life on the countryside so it's fine. Father once said – that you should enjoy life."

"It's fine if Gabriel said that....."

"Miss angel, no Miss Uriel? Shall we talk about that for a sec?"

".....I was also thinking that I should have a conversation with you."

Next to Gabriel, who was under the process of transforming into the leader of the Garden of Sunset mode, Kim YeSeul and Uriel were glaring at each other. Kim YeSeul quickly realized that she was at the disadvantage in terms of power.

"Ladies."

“Yes, mother!”

“Yes~!”

Yu IlHan paled when he saw that the female members including Liera were standing behind her and shouted.

“Attention to all true dragons of Dragon’s Nest! We’ll now be entering operation codename Final Operation!”

“Son, give me 10 minutes!”

“I have objections on the codename!”

“Even though the enemy is acting like a villain from the 90s, I don’t think we should go with a 90s naming sense too.”

“Final Operation commence!”

All objections were ruled out. Yu IlHan looked around at the true dragons gathering around him and gave orders.

“Although there was a series of annoying events until now, the most annoying event of them all will begin soon. You can consider all higher existences not in Dragon’s Nest and the Garden of Sunset as enemies.”

As ever, there was no dream nor hope in this plot.

“First, dad said that he will make the mobs of the Garden of Sunset into a somewhat useful force.....”

[Son, I think you’re mixing some inherent bias in your words.]

“Be off then, dad.”

[Fu, I really raised my son wrong.....]

The unseen figure of the leader of the Garden of Sunset appeared in front of everyone for all to see. The figure was surprisingly a handsome youth with white skin and a mysterious blue hair! Of course, his facial features from when he was Yu YongHan still remained, but now that he had exposed his presence, he was unexpectedly really handsome!

If he wished, he should be able to hide from everyone other than Yu IlHan, but he no longer concealed himself. Now that he had completely thrown away any traces as an Archangel, there was no need to hide himself anymore. Seeing that, Kim YeSeul coughed awkwardly and nodded his head.

“You look quite young in that state.”

[Wife, didn't I say so? That I don't need to level up.]

“Don't bring up such a useless foreshadow from ages ago!”

Gabriel was hit once again after saying useless words. Even while being hit, he activated warp magic.

[I'll be off then. It's time to gather the power of the Garden of Sunset into one large force.]

“I'll be unsettled if I send you alone so I'll go with you.”

[Okay then.]

“Ah, Gabriel. I too.....”

“Uriel, you stay here without moving. I'll need you for something later.”

“Understood.....!”

This was isolation no matter how you looked at it! However, even though she wanted to resist, she could not go against the Lord! Uriel folded her wings as if to contain her frustration.

Kim YeSeul stuck out her tongue as she disappeared beyond the dimension with Gabriel, as if mocking her. Watching that, Uriel felt very difficult on the inside but still smiled after seeing her act like a youth, alike her appearance.

Yu IlHan sent the two off until they completely disappeared and ordered the three elves and Mirfa.

“You will be in charge of Earth. Unlike Dareu, Earth won't so easily be penetrated, but it will be penetrated once before I finish. That is why I'm sending you four. I'm sending you because it's an important matter. Paté, you can do it, right?”

“.....Of course.”

Having become a true dragon of 5th class, Paté could easily control undeads of the 6th class and above. As such, Yu IlHan had left him with all corpses that he hadn't made use of until now. In fact, other than the main members that were at 7th class, Paté was practically the strongest.

He handed Paté a feather decoration that he made in his spare time.

"It's not much but here's a God-ranked artifact."

"It's God ranked!"

"Your Majesty, I'm honored to tears.....!"

"You might lack power against Legnae that restrain the use of mana. I mixed the materials I got from higher existences along with harkanium and el hazra, so it will enable you to focus the Traps of Restoration on Earth on you. The Will of the Guardian will also support you, so you should be able to defend against the Archlegna somehow."

"A power that can defend against Archlegna that I've never heard about before and not just Legna....."

By this point, it made people wonder whether if Yu IlHan was the true last boss or not. Yu IlHan threw a Trap of Restoration into the gate that Kang MiRae opened, and engulfed the Traps of Destruction on Earth through Mystic. With this, all the unstable variables were eliminated.

"Well then. You should get going as well."

"We shall be back with no casualties!"

Having sent off the elves, Yu IlHan turned around. He could see two pairs of ears twitching.

"The next are you two."

"We have been waiting for master's orders."

"As your command, Lord."

The next was Ericia and Flemir. Although the two were merely 5th class, Ericia possessed an incomparable might to before as she had been reborn as a 5th class with the help of the blessing of the moon.

Moreover, she could now bless and strengthen dragons, which she became one of, and in the case of Flemir, who was originally one of the wolfkin, the strengthening ratio was so high that it even made Yu IlHan shocked! With these two, the stronger of the dragons, like Ruby and First, should be able to bring out a power that surpasses ordinary higher existences.

“You can protect Dareu with the other dragons. The other higher existence factions shouldn’t have any time to screw around because of me and they shouldn’t come to Dareu, but Legnae and similar things that are slightly stronger may invade again. Orochi and Mystic saw what I did just now so you should know what to do.”

“Got it. I just need to stroke this woman’s hair, right?”

“Idiot! You idiot, Orochi!”

Even while saying ‘idiot’ so many times, Mystic didn’t deny his words. Yu IlHan watched as romantic feelings arose between his creations and felt very strange sensation on the inside, but did not retort to them. All’s well that ends well!

“Miss MiRae and Miss YuNa should stay here as well. They’ll need the power from the holy region.”

“Understood.”

“Mr. IlHan, do I really need to continuously use miracles? Mmmm, I think I can do it but I will be really exhausted, you know? Really, really exhausted!”

“I’ll grant a wish later so do your best.”

“Okay!”

“Not the one you’re thinking of right now, but something else.”

“How was my pink-colored delusion found out!?”

Yu IlHan called all the members that weren’t called until now and made them board the Guardian fortress. Yu IlHan himself, Yumir, Liera, Erta, Helièna, as well as the Dragon’s Army.

“Like I said last time, everyone is an enemy. Heaven’s Army are enemies, the Destruction Demon Army are annoying enemies, and the Army of Brilliant Light, well, we’ll beat them up first because we don’t know what they’re thinking. Anyone doesn’t understand?”

No one could misunderstand this operation. It was just that some of them couldn't really accept it. However, there was no way Yu IlHan would listen even if they grumbled. Liera spoke in despair. Uriel by her side, had a dejected expression as well.

“Let's go, to Heaven.”

“Yes, let's go.”

Yu IlHan's lips twitched into a smile as he activated Warp. His destination was obviously Heaven. His objective was the expropriation of harkanium, fecinom, and el hazra. Really, he was no different from a highway bandit.

“Well, here we go then!”

“Uaaa, we're really going!”

“Ufufufu, this is the best!”

The Guardian fortress completely disappeared from Dareu. The curtains to harmageddon had finally risen.

Chapter 322: I'm One That Closes The Curtain – 6

‘It’s a beautiful day outside. Clouds are floating under the endless skies, and the birds are singing.’

[On days like this, Angels like you.....]

Yu IlHan extended his hand into the air. Eternal Flame and Echjar’s breathing synchronized and the two of them released mana simultaneously. The energy of dragons and the energy of flames fused into one to form a huge wave of force, in the very next moment, Yu IlHan’s domain was declared in this world that had lost its master.

[.....Should be burning in hell!]

Along with the Declaration skill, the Manifestation skill activated and colored an extremely small portion of the vast world into the color of Yu IlHan’s aura. It was a dominating scene, but Liera, who was watching, screamed.

“Dangerous! We’ll really be sued!”

“I re-arranged it so it’s fine.

Yu IlHan was no longer a lower existence. He was the master of the vast world known as Dareu, and was also the lord of all dragons! His records were depthless and vast, naturally, the reserve of mana which he possessed was also in a completely different dimension from before. With such mana taking over a portion of Heaven, what would happen? All beings, that is, all the angels of Heaven, recognized his presence.

[This, absurd.....!]

[A leader has attacked directly!?!]

[E, emergency! It’s an emergency! A leader of a higher existence faction..... Yu IlHan! My God, Yu IlHan from Earth has!]

“You didn’t know I’d invade the last stage first, did you? All plot foreshadows in the world can go eat shit!

However, what Yu IlHan was doing wasn't anything new either. Until now that is!

Yu IlHan shouted in satisfaction after seeing the angels rushing towards him. He brought up his ruling power through the Declaration skill!

[From this moment on, and for only this moment, there will be a grand event for the announcement of Dragon's Nest's existence!]

Such light words, were not something anyone would expect from a leader of an entire organization. But,

[Recruiting new members to join Dragon's Nest! As long as your records are intact, it's fine even if you completely fall to a lower existence! From an angel into a dragon, an opportunity to be reborn into a cooler self! There are not that many chances nor there is much time, grab your tickets now while they are still available!]

[What.....?]

Thought light words, his meaning behind them struck Heaven strong. Of course, the majority of the angels snorted at his words, but none thought that he was lying. Angel to a fallen angel, fallen angel to a gatekeeper. There were plenty of precedents.

It was just that they thought that Yu IlHan was struggling to increase his forces since his faction was relatively new.

[This world is the main camp of the Heaven's Army! I can commend you for having the talen to become a higher existence on your own, but how dare you try to drag angels into becoming mere reptiles! In God's name, we the angels shall pierce you until you die!]

[Stab the eyes of that cretin and pull his heart out! Envoys of God, it's time to execute!]

So there were so many angels in the main army. Yu IlHan made a bitter smile while looking at the angels that couldn't be counted with just thousands or tens of thousands. Well, he did know that it was a rather crucial time, but why were they all stuck at home when they had so many lower worlds to attend to?

It seems like these guys needed a rather striking awakening. Yu IlHan resolved himself and brought up his mana once again.

[I shall bind myself with the power granted unto me.]

“I thus declare, [I cannot lie.]”

[Nonsense!]

He bound himself through Declaration. With this, he could really not lie. Using his power to restrain himself... such a foolish thing to do!

However, he needed that right now.

[God is no longer in Heaven. Your God is creating a new army in order to erase everything. You are all abandoned as a failed project. To the God of Heaven, you are merely luggage that will get in his way.]

[Nonsense!]

[H, how dare you try to taint the name of the LORD.....!]

[I shall tell speak again.]

Yu IlHan’s lips curved into a thick smile. With the ensemble of Declaration and Manifestation skills, his expression could be seen from anywhere in Heaven, and his voice was omnipresent.

[I do not lie. The God of Heaven has abandoned all of you.]

[Y, you.....!]

[Kill him! Punish the evil cretin that taints the name of the Creator!]

The 7th class archangels that were so hard to see normally appeared all of a sudden here and there. As expected of the biggest faction. Even though Yu IlHan had killed and stolen away many of them, there were so many high-ranked angels left. They were one frightening force alright.

[How dare you lie!]

[He’s a leader that just ascended! Bring down that false God and butcher him! Such is God’s orders!]

[I declare in the name of Archangel Miriel! He’s an evil that we must eliminate, more so than Satan!]

There's no way Yu IlHan's voice could reach them so easily when they denied everything. However, he could still see ripples here and there. Now, it was time to deal the strongest strike.

[Open your eyes and see for yourselves. Open your ears and listen carefully.]

Yu IlHan's lips still retained its smile. Mocking their foolishness, he extended one hand toward his side.

[From where did your so called 'orders' come from? I can guarantee that they were from the Four Great Archangels rather than God. Isn't this true, Uriel?]

"Yes."

[.....What?]

[Lady, Uriel.....?]

He had the strongest trump card that could strip all their falsehood, namely, Uriel. Under Yu IlHan's orders, she stepped forward but still glared at him once.

"Quite the vicious person you are. You could have told me about this beforehand."

"That's no fun though."

"You really..... take after Gabriel."

She finally realized what Yu IlHan needed her for, accepted it and joyfully played her part. Poaching angels! There was no way she would refuse this. In fact, this was natural. Since she had revealed her identity and left Heaven, what was there for her to fear! What was there for her to hesitate! If she could draw in the feeble and ignorant companions to her side without killing them, what was there for her to be indecisive about!

A ripple spread around to all angels that formed the Heaven's Army.

[No way, there's no way it's her.]

[It's a lie, she's a fake! There's no way Lady Uriel of the Four Great Archangels has joined that evil cretin.....]

[It's a lie. It's false. It's Yu IlHan's deceit.....]

“I am Uriel. Everyone, I could not reveal my true feelings until now in fear of Michael’s power. However, please listen.”

Uriel looked down at everyone with her brilliant looks so that anyone could realize it was her. Four pairs of dragon wings being unfolded behind her was a grand spectacle. Everyone could feel her league, grandeur and mana.

[8 wings.....]

[That. That’s a lie. That is not Lady Uriel. She isn’t an 8th class either. It’s a dragon! There’s no way a dragon’s wings can represent her league!

“I.”

Uriel’s nonchalant, yet firm voice broke all suspicions and doubts.

“Am Uriel herself; one of the former Four Great Archangels, and am now a dragon of the 8th class. I am here to prove the absence of God. The God of Heaven is in no way, the Creator, nor was he a good ruler. He’s merely a tyrant attempting to erase all worlds and create a garden of puppets.”

[No! That isn’t true!]

[There’s no way that is the case..... Please, Lady Uriel!]

[Please tell us that it isn’t true! Ooh, please!]

Whenever Uriel spoke a line, angels could be seen struggling in various places. They could probably no longer reject Uriel herself as the angels, and even high angels and archangels, no longer tried to attack them.

Yu IlHan thought that it was about time where he could enjoy some popcorn.

“This is quite interesting to watch.”

“Darling. I thought that too.”

“Aah, how did I end up falling for such.....”

“I keep feeling like we’re the bad guys!”

However, Uriel’s mass-range mental attack had just begun.

“Please listen to my words. The Lord of Dragon’s Nest, Yu IlHan, that you see right here is very rude, arrogant and egoistic, but is a person that tries to protect all who enter his service. Just with that, he is worthy for us to serve!”

“What the hell was that!”

The mental attack did a collateral damage! However, Uriel ignored Yu IlHan’s sharp glare and continued.

“We had to endure too much sadness until now, and had to watch as countless lives were sacrificed. Order was broken, while law had collapsed. God is attempting to bring doom to all worlds for his desires!”

Uriel gave a glance to Yu IlHan. Yu IlHan understood her intentions and took out an intact body of Legna from his inventory. A deformed ring of light and twisted pairs of wings made the angels drink a gasp of air after looking at it. None of them had the Record skill, but could vaguely estimate what power it possessed, and how it was created.

Uriel’s voice maxed out in rage after looking at Legna.

“This is his new army. We were..... abandoned. He was never the Creator. He requested sacrifices for the greater good, but his ideal of a greater good was merely for the sake of furthering his own trivial desires! Angels of the Heaven’s Army! Please listen to my words.....!”

Uriel’s eyes glistened in tears. She could probably win the leading actress award with that.

“Please, do not accept any more sacrifices in vain. By the side of this immature ruler, please protect this ugly yet oh so beautiful world!”

“Hey, I sense thorns in your words.”

Uriel ignored his words again and wiped away her tears again. With that, the world temporarily regained its peace. The flames that composed Yu IlHan’s domain was still burning but the angels no longer felt a sense of rejection towards them.

Was Uriel’s heartfelt persuasion transmitted to them? Little by little, some angels threw away their hostility and approached Yu IlHan and the others. Of course, they could not achieve their objective.

[I will not accept it even despite that.]

A voice that snapped the wills of all resounded across the sky. Yu IlHan felt that it was his turn and raised his head.

He was there. The one that ruled fire, and was the greatest in this God-less world.

“I knew you’d be here around this time, Michael.”

[I never knew you’d so fearlessly rush into Heaven. However, Yu IlHan, do you not know that this place is where all power of Heaven is focused? Do you really believe that I only have the power to brawl mindlessly?]

Michael was inferior to Yu IlHan in all aspects. His flames obeyed Yu IlHan instead and all of his artifacts were influenced by Yu IlHan. However, that was different in Heaven where God’s power ruled. Holding onto the name of ‘God’s executor’, he possessed the largest fragment of God’s power and would possess a power and mana that equaled any other supreme being!

However, Yu IlHan’s expression was still calm even after feeling that vast power.

“I’d be disappointed if that were the case. You lived countless times more than me but there’s no way you can only get into brawls.”

[Then you came here knowing all that? Even accompanied by a traitor.....!]

Michael’s gaze on Uriel glowed strangely. Oh, from his sticky gaze, it seems like they weren’t in a simple relationship either. Yu IlHan instinctively felt so.

[The fact that Uriel, you are there means that Gabriel is also a traitor! Yes, Gabriel! So he’s the one leading the Garden of Sunset! So you two deceived the Heaven’s Army, the world, and even the Akashic Record!]

“It is you who deceived us. Why did your mind change? You were shining brightly and purely when we promised to protect the world with our power and declared God as wrong!”

Shouted Uriel. All angels looked at Michael. They requested an answer from him.

[I am the same as that time.]

Claimed Michael.

[God, has definitely chosen a wrong path. I had to turn my back on him in order to protect his dignity. And yes, I still haven't changed my mind about that. I will protect the current world.]

"Then why!"

[And I will stand above him.]

"What..... was that?"

Uriel asked back. At that point Michael's body was wrapped by a mysterious brilliance.

[I have been enlightened after a bout with that trivial being. I have realized the power I need, and took it. With that, I have become anew. Yes, now that all are looking at me, this is the right time.]

"Michael.....?"

Uriel panicked. In her scenario, she had no line to counter against Michael's craziness! However, Yu IlHan made a thick smile after looking at him.

"Good, now this is done."

"What is done, Lord?"

[I shall stop being an angel, Uriel! I will transcend fire and become light! I! AM GOD!]

Michael released a blinding brilliance. As he had said, everyone could see the fire around him subliming into light.

Everyone realized. It wasn't just pure magic power. It was a phenomenon when a being stepped onto a new realm.

Michael was now reaching the position of God from being just an executor who worked for him. He took in God's power, and absorbed all the records necessary for him to ascend and reached the realm of supreme beings!

[The God you want, is here. You need not doubt, nor worry. You shall follow me!]

Five wings of light sprouted behind Michael's back. It was a dominating scene. Realizing one's own powerlessness and growing... that was only allowed to main characters though! So Yu IlHan wasn't a main character after all?

"Lord, everything has gone wrong! We need to run!"

"What do you mean run. It just became easier to differentiate between ally and enemy."

However, Yu IlHan was still as calm as ever. His gaze towards Michael that ascended to the realm of transcenders even looked like a girl in love.

"I was worried that he might not hold out because he was so weak. But with this, I'm relieved. At least he won't die until I kill him."

His calmness even dropped Uriel's nervousness into naught! She asked, given up.

".....Lord, do you have anything that you're afraid of?"

"Of course I do. Mom being angry is one of them? So don't go seducing my dad okay?"

"....."

Uriel gave up on understanding. At the same time, Michael held up a spear of light and pointed it at Yu IlHan, while Yu IlHan leisurely created a spear of flames in retaliation.

[I shall kill you and bring order to the universe!]

"You must have killed me a thousand times over using words alone! Why don't you come at me for real this time!"

[As you wish! Die, Yu IlHan!]

Two spears swung against each other. With a vast distance between the two, two transcenders clashed.

Author's notes

1. Well, then. Why is Yu IlHan clashing against Michael wish leisure even though he said he'll rob Heaven's treasury? Is he such a fool to even forget his own objective?

Okay. Uhhh where to begin.... Okay. I received donations on Saturday, (100$) but I was busy with attending a funeral (Thurs, Fri, and Sat). So I did one chapter that day, intending it for to be released..... but KKS didn't see the donation status and didn't release any.

That is, until today.

Today's two chapters are 2 Monday regulars....

And the queue is..... $207. Or should I say... just $100 since there are only two chapters left of this book/volume.

I won't be closing the sponsor button. They will be open for the generous people that still wish to donate. There will be 12 regular chapters per week once this book finishes. (Probably tomorrow)

Chapter 323: I'm One That Closes The Curtain – 7

Michael was originally inferior to Yu IlHan attribute-wise, even before he became a transcender, he already had enough power to go head-to-head against the leaders of other factions. However, he couldn't do anything against Yu IlHan, so he had no other option but to retreat the moment he realized that. Moreover, he knew that Yu IlHan had let him go willingly, so how could he not feel insulted!

He gritted his teeth in vexation, and finally became a transcender with the indirect records he received while fighting against Yu IlHan. He substituted all the power he got from God into his own, and pioneered his own path into a higher realm, exiting angelhood, just like how Satan did in the past!

[But, how.....!]

Shouted Michael while biting his lips. His spear and mana were all blocked before he could even fully extend them, almost as if it was blocked by a huge wall right in front of him. The cold sweat that formed on his forehead was quite unbecoming of his stature..

[How can I still not overcome you!]

"You think that you sublimed fire into light, but you know?"

Yu IlHan swung his spear of flames to counteract Michael's movements. The spear of light that Michael wielded held out much better than before, but the spear of flames didn't just stop at the clash and tried to spread out to attack Michael's body. Yu IlHan's fire as the lord of all dragons and flames, could easily damage the body of a transcender. Michael groaned.

"Light, in the end, is a part of fire. Of course, it's a good thing that you tried to take just one aspect of it and raise it to the extreme. Your method of growing into a whole new, independent transcender was the second most suitable method after Satan's. But that doesn't amount to much in front of me."

[Nonsense..... you minor being!]

Michael was enraged and created magical formations of light everywhere. He was so vile in the sense that a portion of them aimed for not only Yu IlHan, but the others next to him as well.

However, just before the five pairs of wings of light directed mana into the magic formations and before the magic formations could transform it into destructive power that could decimate an entire world, Yu IlHan covered them all with his own flames and activated Counter.

[Critical Hit!]

[Khaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaahk!]

“How does it feel to be struck by a minor being, Michael? And oh, do you know that ‘minor’ and ‘Michael’ starts with the same two letters?”

Thousands of strands of fire struck through Michael like sharp lasers. Michael’s body was riddled with holes that would bring death to anyone, but he drew on the endless mana in Heaven and recovered.

[I, shall.....!]

Michael’s golden eyes were filled with murderous intent. However, unlike his expression, the words he uttered were relatively calm.

[Yes, I shall acknowledge you now.....! You are my equal as well as Satan’s. You are Greed’s equal, and Gabriel’s equal.]

“Coming to your senses now are you? After everything that was said and done, you are a transcender after all. You shouldn’t show such an embarrassing side, right? Trying to attack my companions instead of me. Even petty villains don’t do that nowadays.”

Yu IlHan moved with a smile. Michael was forming chakrams in each hand while replying.

[Senses? I really did. That was a brutal wake up call.]

Giving up trying to face him with pure attribute powers or wide-range magic, he decided to compress his magic power eh? This was the wisest choice he could make right now. His uncontrollable rage and embarrassment were washed away with pain, and his reason that befitted his status as a transcender finally came back.

[Yes, you are amazing. You overwhelmed all the techniques that others had piled up in a mere millennium, and ascended to a great realm by greedily devouring all their records. I finally realized my own lack of power after looking at you. I could finally reach the realm of transcendents, the realm of God thanks to you.]

“If you praise me that much, I’ll get.....embarrassed!”

Even while praising Yu IlHan, the two chakrams were being swung fast. However, Yu IlHan had long since mastered Physical combat mastery. He could read Michael’s movements without difficulty and block them before he could put his full power into the attacks.

[I shall acknowledge you as my master. As God once was in the past, you too deserve to receive my respect.]

“God ‘once’ was, eh..... So you want to steal my power this time?”

[Kuh!?!]

Yu IlHan said his next line! Michael stiffened due to the sudden panic, but still burned his will to fight after seeing Yu IlHan smirking.

[You probably don’t know who made it possible to expropriate God’s power and chase him out. ....Do not only think that only Greed has the power to devour the strengths of others.]

“Yes, anybody has that kind of power. I know that!”

Overwhelming magic power, formed into light and fire respectively, clashed against each other and caused blinding sparks to shoot out at every point of contact. Michael, as the ruler of light, even used those as means of attack, but Yu IlHan blocked them without much difficulty. Such petty tricks wouldn’t even leave a dent on the Flamesoul Dragon Body.

[If you utilize your records as weapons, then so have I. I have become the sole ruler of Heaven. All beings worship me. Why don’t you try to snap my light with your oh-so-mighty fire? The moment it no longer gives way is the moment you will lose.]

“Well, let’s see about that? Really?”

Yu IlHan mocked him. His Manifestation was still maintained. Although this region was under Michael’s domain, it was simultaneously under Yu IlHan’s domain. The Fifth and the Brightest-shining Star – Yu IlHan was a star that shone brighter than anyone and from anywhere!

[More..... Not yet! Not yet!]

Michael charged against Yu IlHan with a mass of light. The chakrams that contained his dominating power spun rapidly as if to grind apart Yu IlHan at any moment, but Yu IlHan blocked all of Michael’s attacks without much effort thanks to God Force that strengthened his body beyond the limits within the domain of Manifestation. Not only that.

“I have an interesting artifact I made before, you know?”

[Uh..... kugh!?!]

The spear made of flames suddenly rotated. It seemed to be equal in power with the chakram’s rotation, before eventually completely grinding apart the magic power that formed the chakrams!

Michael released light while gritting his teeth to block the attack, and activated Counter to deflect Yu IlHan’s spear while calling out another pair of chakrams. Yu IlHan blocked the counter with Aegis and let out a smile.

“Push yourself a little more. You are over level 700, you shouldn’t be losing out to a level 500 like me, no?”

[I..... I.....!]

Spear vs chakram, leg vs leg – once again clashed. The five pairs of wings on Michael’s back shot out feathers in various angles as if they had their own will to attack Yu IlHan.

Yu IlHan deflected them without difficulty with Transcendent Trajectory and left wounds all over Michael’s body. Yu IlHan’s attack techniques as a new transcender was beyond any original transcendents.

[How..... how can this be!]

Michael gritted his teeth. Even after the chakrams multiplied into four, eight, sixteen, thirty-two, and even sixty-four, the one that was overwhelmed was still Michael.

[How could you have reached such a high realm of might in such a short time! How can you have become so strong! How can you stand for so long! How could you have been enlightened by mana and rule over it! How are the flames worshipping you! How could you comprehend the Akashic Record!]

“You know? I think I need to admit to something at this point.”

After a short bout, Yu IlHan kicked Michael and swung his spear. The moment he shouted, a streak of translucent flames appeared in the air, and the next moment, the abilities of all the spears he had made until now started being strengthened in the spear of flames.

“It looks like I’m a genius.”

“Ah, he’s my man but he’s so evil..... still so cool though.”

Even Liera, who was with him for one millennium admitted that. Yu IlHan lightly ignored her and unfolded his arms. His character was still the same as before, wasn’t it? There was no need to hesitate now! The trend nowadays was to act arrogant after all!

“Do you see this? The current me can even do this. [Be reborn into one.]”

[Wha, you.....]

The limitations on the number of options or the conflict in magic power did not exist with him anymore. Everything in Yu IlHan’s records gathered into one and sublimed into the spear. Within the domain of Manifestation, Yu IlHan possessed absolute influence, and had used the Declaration skill to cause Creation with his own mana!

[Creation is activating.]

[A new realm of Creation is pioneered through the combination of records.]

God? Eternal? They were merely existing ranks until now. Right now, the spear that was being created within Yu IlHan’s hands was beyond the realm of having a way of description through language.

[Executing the power of the god of smithing.]

[Executing the power of the god of fire.]

[Creating a miracle.]

Characteristics and form lost their meaning in front of the vast quantity of records, and it could not be called by any name, but to bestow a suitable name to it, it would only be known as the 'Godspear'.

[Y, you..... that's.....!]

Yu IlHan threw his spear without hesitation or the slightest shred of mercy to Michael who was at a loss. Michael retreated as he knew that he wouldn't be able to do anything to it, and the world of Heaven, which was his domain, rejected the spear, his mana, and his breath.

[Critical Hit!]

Yu IlHan's spear didn't reach Michael, but with just that single strike, he weakened the entire world. Every time the spear moved, the world itself was wounded and shrank back as a result. Accordingly, Yu IlHan's magic power was being drained rapidly, but he would be able to kill Michael with leisure before it was completely drained.

[That is..... the new transcender.]

[The, brightest, shining, star, you say.....?]

[God, my LORD!]

[Lord Michael has declared to be God. That God is absent..... Then do we need to serve him as the new God?]

[There is only one God that we serve. However, Lady Uriel has.....]

Michael wouldn't have earned sufficient trust even had he overwhelmed Yu IlHan in battle, but with him being forced back repeatedly and mercilessly, seeds of hesitation and distrust began to sprout in the hearts of all the angels.

Their reactions were mostly split into three groups, and they were those that rejected reality saying that there's no way God had abandoned them; those that followed Michael; and finally those that were shaken by Uriel's heartfelt persuasion and Yu IlHan's overwhelming power.

[Well, here's one last advert.]

Yu IlHan didn't follow Michael, but instead winked towards the surrounding angels.

[Don't lose this last chance! You can enter Dragon's Nest smoothly without any trouble. Don't miss this opportunity! Magic stones of higher existences? Higher metals? Well, don't be surprised. Right now, you can come and join us even if you're empty handed!]

"Why do you keep saying it like it's some home shopping advert!"

[I.]

At that time, a heavy voice covered the field.

[If I surrender myself to you..... Will you accept me?]

Yu IlHan chuckled. The voice was of someone he knew.

"Of course, Raciel. You gave us the perfect artifacts once before. Right now, you can even earn some bonus points!"

His identity was the Archangel Raciel that guarded the treasury of the Heaven's Army.

Although it was only according to the contract, he gave Kang MiRae and Yu IlHan the artifacts they needed. Of course, the Heart of Fire was tampered with by Michael and Raphael, but he had no role to play in that fiasco.

Thanks to that, Yu IlHan could ascend to the realm above higher existences, so he could be considered an indirect contributor to Yu IlHan's strengthening. There was no way Yu IlHan would reject him.

[Will you..... really accept me? No, would you please accept me?]

[Raciel, you dare!]

"Welcome! Here's our first customer!"

Yu IlHan's spear once again blocked Michael's attacks, and the Cradle of Miracles appeared when Raciel joined the group successfully. Everyone fell back in fear after seeing that it was surrounded by a dominating mana, and the Cradle of Miracles greedily opened its mouth to swallow Raciél whole!

[H, he died.]

[An Archangel died so easily.....?]

[No, he didn't die. Lord Raciél right now.]

['Lord' Raciél? No, he's a traitor! A defector that abandoned Heaven to choose mere reptiles!]

Raciél's change didn't take that long. Yu IlHan already specialized in maintaining the power and records of other factions from the time he revived Helièna, so now that he became the Lord of Dragon's Nest, that ability had been amplified even further.

The Cradle of Miracles cracked, and Raciél, who appeared from the inside, had become a complete dragon with three pairs of wings, and in fact, possessed a stronger power than before.

"I can tell the truth now that I've been liberated from the shackles of Heaven."

Raciél glared at Michael with frightening eyes and shouted.

"He is false! He is a false God that only chased out God who was in the wrong and vied to take his place, and a coward that fulfilled his greed for power under the 'greater good' and delusion that it was all for Heaven! I now found the truth, and now discovered true freedom! Angels, open your eyes! Look at the eyes of the self-proclaimed God, the rotten wings that is hidden behind the light!"

The world froze. Yu IlHan added with a smile on his face.

[It's today's popular product. Telephone inquiries are flooding! Hurry up if you want your order fulfilled!]

Chapter 324: I'm One That Closes The Curtain – 8

The angels broke out in whispers. It would be extremely abnormal for them to be calm after seeing a 7th class Archangel becoming a 7th class dragon.

They had finally realized. Yu IlHan was in a different league from them, he was a being that could revolutionize existences.

“Michael, do you still feel like this is your own world?”

Yu IlHan smiled. In the process of becoming the Lord of Dragon's Nest, Yu IlHan's figure came to possess a mysterious sense of dominance, but the image of him making a playful smile exuded a strange charm. Of course though, Michael was feeling somewhat dejected while facing him!

[You are shaking everyone. You ignored the rules and the law and now you're ignoring the very order of life and even the insurmountable records.]

“Who made those rules or laws and order? Whose records were it? ..... Not yours, is it?”

[You, Yu IlHan.....]

Yu IlHan smiled once again. Even the Cradle of Miracles seemed to be pressuring Michael right now.

Michael felt dejected after feeling inferior physically, mentally, and even in words. Even though he was higher in level, and this world was his domain! Refugee angels were appearing here and there even all this while.

“Escape Heaven. Then you shall become stronger! Do you know why I'm strong? It's because I ran away from organizations!”

“You mean you were dropped out, not by choice.”

He ignored Liera's retort as he always did. The advantage had already tilted to his favor right now. Above all, Raciél being the first ripple to start the wave was extremely effective as many higher angels and angels were coming over to his side.

“What? The fall to a lower existence? Don’t worry about such things! It’s fine, no matter how much you lose, I’ll get them all back for you!”

“Stop saying it like you’re dragging them into doing drugs or gambling!”

[S, stop..... stop! Look at me, your God! You will follow a mere reptile and not this Michael! ..... No, wait?]

At that moment something even bigger happened to kick Michael while he was down. The Wall of Chaos that separated Heaven and Elo Katra started shaking at this time!

[Dammit, how can this happen now!]

[My word, the Wall of Chaos is.....]

[Why were there so many vibrations in the Wall of Chaos recently! Is this all because God left Heaven?]

[I, I became the new God, but how is that wall still unstable!]

Now that Heaven’s forces are at its lowest, it was a very good opportunity for the Destruction Demon Army. Once they made one mistake, the Heaven that Michael proceed so dearly would collapse! That became a trigger for both Michael and the other angels to change their thinking.

[Even so..... we need to protect Heaven regardless.]

[It’s not that I want to follow Michael. However, we need to protect Heaven. We need to go against the monsters.]

“I’ll get that back for you as well so don’t worry about it.”

At that moment, Yu IlHan spoke. With confidence in his thick smile, he declared to all the angels.

“I cannot become God. I cannot become the sole supreme power. I am not merciful nor do I think that I will sacrifice myself for everyone. However, I can hereby swear, that I will need to acquire Heaven in order to survive. So I will acquire it. Whether it’s Michael, the Destruction Demon Army’s leader, the God of Heaven or Satan, whoever it may be that takes over Heaven, I shall take it back from them.”

Yu IlHan threw a special variety of Trap of Regeneration that he made in the extremely short time before he came here. It eventually disappeared deep inside the clouds that composed Heaven, but the potential was already blossoming. It was the seedling of hope that no one other than Yu IlHan could discover, and was one that only he could reap.

[Block them!]

[But how?]

[Lord Michael, we need to block them right now. Yu IlHan may be an enemy, but the ones we need to defeat right now are the predators that are crawling up the Wall of Chaos!]

The angels that were on Michael's side, or those who denied the entire story were against Yu IlHan anyway and could not block his actions, nor could they recover the Trap of Regeneration. No, even if they could, they had no time to waste on Yu IlHan!

"Fuu."

"IlHan, are you alright?"

"Of course I am."

That was a lie. He felt as if his head would burst at any moment.

If Mystic was here, she could scatter the Traps of Regeneration in his stead, but she was not with them right now. So, Yu IlHan had to control the Trap of Regeneration with his own mana, and after a few rounds of Manifestation and Declaration, as well as Transcendent trajectory and a few other skills, the creation of the Trap of Regeneration took a final hit on him and the vast quantity of mana he possessed started nearing the bottom.

Although he was utilizing his powers as a Supreme being now, the moment his mana was completely depleted, the fight would not go his way. However, Yu IlHan didn't show any signs of that at all. In fact, he instead consumed his mana once more and used Declaration.

[Lost lambs.]

Yu IlHan struck a final time while the angels' minds were spinning due to Michael, the God of Heaven and the Destruction Demon Army.

[Follow me. I will show you the path, the only path where you will not have to face me as an enemy.]

“.....You sound a little cool now.”

Muttered Erta while blushing. Yu IlHan smiled after listening to her words and held his hand upwards. The Guardian fortress opened its entrance accordingly and let the angels that submitted inside, while the ones that tried to attack his companions were simply pushed back before they could enter.

Despite Yu IlHan’s overwhelming dominance, he could only take one tenth of the angels belonging to the Heaven’s Army, but among that tenth were Raciél and Tachiél, two Archangels, so it could also be considered that he had taken a third of Heaven’s battle force with him. There was one person who came that made Liera very happy as well.

“Liera, I shall go with you now. I understand that your eyes were right!”

“Titaera, welcome! New dragons are always welcome!”

“B, but you know..... what kind of women does the Lord prefer? I’m just curious.....”

“You’re not needed anymore. Go back now.”

Yu IlHan saw that he was almost finished and looked back. The one that only he could sense right now in this entire Heaven was standing there.

“Mir, are you done?”

“Yeah, dad.”

The 6th class dragon that went on a sole, but very important mission after they came to Heaven, replied in a confident voice.

“I robbed them clean. Harkanium, fecinom, el hazra as well as other higher metals and the entire treasury. Thanks to Raciél’s absence, I finished it even quicker!”

“Good boy. As expected of my son.”

“It’s all because I learnt it from dad!”

“Yes, yes. You wonderful little thing.”

“Quite the satisfying father-son relationship there.....”

Erta even lost the will to retort and muttered powerlessly. Even meanwhile, Heaven was becoming a mess.

The angels fell into a state of panic after realizing that God was indeed absent, the angels that thought to follow Michael after they saw him ascending to the realm of transcenders, the ones that were nervous thinking that they had to defend against the Destruction Demon Army and didn't care about anything else right now! Of course, the most panicked was Michael himself.

“Hey, Michael.”

[Yu IlHan, this is all because you.....!]

“Don't die until I see you again, okay? Your experience is mine so it will be frustrating if you give it to someone else.”

[You..... dare to speak those words in such a situation!]

Even though Yu IlHan didn't have the slightest intention to taunt him and just said that out of goodwill, Michael was enraged. Sheesh, it was so hard to get along with him!

Yu IlHan shrugged his shoulders and swung his spear. Michael shrunk back thinking that Yu IlHan was about to use Transcendent trajectory, but obviously, Yu IlHan was just acting.

When Michael realized that he was fooled, he threw a spear of light, but by that time, Yu IlHan's Warp skill activated and enveloped everyone inside the Guardian fortress. The spear of light was deflected by Uriel. Yu IlHan eyed her in thanks and swung his hands at Michael and the other angels.

“Well, then everyone. Have a nice day!”

“Does that look like they'll have a nice day to you!”

Yu IlHan's leisurely farewell greeting and Liera's retort struck Michael's ears. And that was the end of them. They melted into thin air as if they didn't exist in the first place. The angels, including Michael, felt as if they were all made into the biggest fools in history.

[Just, what are they.....]

[L, lord Michael! We need to defend. This kind of trembling from the Wall of Chaos is unprecedented!]

[G, gather all angels that are dispatched outside! It's the biggest emergency yet! Perhaps..... perhaps the Destruction Demon Army may actually invade Heaven!]

The angels all moved about busily. Yu IlHan was a walking disaster and a villain that took away their forces, but it was no time to speak bad about him! Michael also moved while gritting his teeth.

[The Destruction Demon Army, huh. In fact, this is a good opportunity. You there, bowing your heads to me but not for real, keep watching. I shall show you the power of the new God.]

Michael's power was a level 700 transcender. Although he was pushed back against Yu IlHan thanks to being inferior in attributes, he wasn't so easy to be mocked by others as well. Now that he had completely transcended angelhood, he had the confidence to not lose against anyone except Yu IlHan, be it Greed, Satan, or even the God of Heaven!

[I shall show you. I shall engrave into all the worlds that I am God!]

[Lord Michael.....!]

[Follow Lord Michael. Our only remaining hope, the new God.....!]

Like that, Heaven was reborn. After experiencing many things, such as the eradication of traitors, and the insulting incident of angels being poached by Dragon's Nest, they could finally gather around Michael as the central pillar, albeit imperfectly.

He showed himself by suppressing all the predators directly by going to the Wall of Chaos, and with that, everyone was known of the birth of the new transcender. Simultaneously, the fact that God was absent in Heaven was also made known to all higher existences.

Meanwhile, Yu IlHan who had temporarily returned to Dareu after a successful mission, refueled his mana from the world and activated the Cradle of Miracles rapidly.

However, he found out about one important aspect of the Cradle of Miracles soon, and it was that there wasn't much of a problem when there were a few beings that were being reborn into dragons, but was unbelievably annoying when there were too many of them.

"Goosh, it's annoying. You guys, go all inside at once."

[But how.....]

[Wait, my new Lord.....]

"Get in already!"

Yu IlHan and the Cradle of Miracles turned into fire after receiving a huge quantity of mana from nature, assaulted the angels at once. Without any context, anyone would think that they were going to be burned alive!

However, the fire eventually turned into a red cloth, and was ripped apart again soon and the ones that turned into true dragons poured out from within.

"Lord Raciél underwent such a fancy process, but why were we herded like sheep!"

"It's fine since you guys are nameless extras. I'll put you guys up on the ending credits if you survive Harmageddon."

Yu IlHan ignored all the complaints from the ex-angel-now-dragons and activated the Cradle of Miracles once again. Even though he took care of many of them at once, he still had more of them to evolve.

The Dragon's Army grew a lot while facing higher existences and soon would produce exemplary specimens who would evolve into true dragons, and with more time, Yu IlHan thought that it would become simple to wipe another faction with forces armed with God-ranked artifacts.

And then, he realized that his father had contacted him.

"What is it, dad? I'm working at the factory..... I mean, evolving others so I'm busy."

[Ah, I'm calling since something happened.]

His father, Gabriel, spoke as if nothing much had happened.

[It seems like my movements were read. The Legnae teamed up with the fallen angels and are invading us. Oh, I see Satan here as well.]

“Kyah! I never would’ve known that those two would team up!”

Wait, why the hell was Satan teaming up with God when he protected Yu IlHan once before! Life was truly full of mysteries!

Translator’s notes

Okay, next arc is literally titled ‘harmageddon’.

And I think I need to clear this up.

The word ‘Harmageddon’ is a mixture of the words ‘harkanium’ and ‘Armageddon’. Not something like ‘harm’.

Harkanium is the main ingredient that makes up the Traps of Destruction, the Traps of Regeneration, as well as the strange angels aka Legnae.

Harmageddon is basically apocalypse that involves those three.

Chapter 325: Harmageddon – 1

Even though the saying that life never goes as expected made sense to Ilhan, why was it that he had to react after something had happened? Every single time?

And this time, he was dealt a heavy blow right on the head. He had relaxed, thinking that he could finally fight on even ground with the rest of the transcender factions, but things turned out like this!

Just why would Satan team up with God? Were Greed's words that he's truer than anyone else a foreshadow for this moment? Damn, that was a resentful mistake! <sup>1</sup>

No, but why was this Satan guy helping God out when he helped the other Archangels drive out God? Why was this damned guy so frivolous, switching sides like summer rain? This time, his mother was there with his father too, what was he to do now!

"No, this isn't good. I need to calm down precisely at times like these."

"Yu IlHan, the earthquakes in Dareu right now are your fault, isn't it? I get that you're nervous but please stop the shaking."

"G, Gabriel..... what do I do? There's no way Gabriel can face both God and Satan together..... Gabriel, oh, my Gabriel.....!"

"Hey, there's another one with quaking legs."

Yu IlHan ignored all the noise around him and fell deep into thought. The Heaven's Army, Destruction Demon Army, Army of Brilliant Light and the Garden of Sunset. Now that he knew the status of all four factions, what course of action would leave him in the most advantageous position? What did he need to do in order for his father and mother to be safe?

At that moment, a miraculous thought appeared in his head.

Not only could he save his father and mother with this, he should also be able to sweep up the higher ground in this war – it was such an absurd and insane thought.

“Dad, how long can you hold out for?”

[Let’s see, around two days.]

“Uhhhm... I’ll barely make it.”

[This is the limit against those frightening guys! Don’t you know that one of dad’s specialties is slowing down time? IlHan, you might not know, but you should have the talent as well.]

Of course he knew. He had to spend a thousand years on Earth because of that! The fact that he could utilize the magic formation he made on Earth with the help of his mother, and the fact that he could become the master of the Hourglass of Eternity, wouldn’t just amount to the fact that Yu IlHan had talent in wielding artifacts.

[It’s just that it’s really difficult to consciously use it so I need some time until I can activate it. The world needs to be closed, and there are other insane conditions as w.....]

“Dad, close the world first and hold on for as long as possible. Oh, and tell me the location of your main world.”

[So you have something planned out, son?]

“Tell me quickly.”

[*Sigh*, I really raised my son wrong.]

Unlike his sigh, Gabriel immediately told Yu IlHan the main world of the Garden of Sunset. Where could it be? It was none other than the world where space and time were halted, the same world where his mother Kim YeSeul was sent to!

“It’s that one?”

[You probably didn’t realize when you went there before since you weren’t a transcender yet.]

“But it was definitely a lower world though!? I definitely read that with the Record skill.....”

[The leader of the Garden of Sunset is a genius that can disguise himself as a level 3 civilian. That's not an exception with worlds either and.....]

"Ah, yes, yes. Sure it is. It was just the lack of ability on my part. Sure."

Yu IlHan's boasting attitude when he was in the advantage must have been inherited from his father! Yu IlHan immediately cut the connection with his father and looked at the others.

"Everyone, a trivial problem came up and things are a little urgent now."

"It's neither 'trivial' nor 'a little' urgent isn't it, darling?"

Why was it that everyone's retort skills rose when they spend time with Yu IlHan? Yu IlHan pouted at Helièna's remark and nodded his head.

"A clash happened between the factions much sooner than I had anticipated. Everyone listen carefully, right now, the Heaven's Army is going against the Destruction Demon Army, while the Army of Brilliant Light is clashing against the Garden of Sunset. Also, God's forces are allied with the Army of Brilliant Light."

"Just why does everyone split up and team up and then split up again?"

"That's what I want to ask as well, but that's not important right now. The two important matters right now, are that we need to rescue the Garden of Sunset for sure, and the second being....t."

The words that no one expected came out of Yu IlHan's mouth."

"The factions I just talked about left their homes empty."

"Huh....."

"Wha....."

The Heaven's Army had even called their dispatched forces back in order to defend against the Destruction Demon Army. And naturally, the Destruction Demon Army would have focused their power there in order to not miss this opportunity, while the God of Heaven sent his forces to punish Gabriel, who was behind the birth of Yu IlHan, and ambushed the Garden of Sunset.

And the one with God was none other than the Army of Brilliant Light. Since Satan was with them from what they heard, there is no doubt that all the forces of the Army of Brilliant Light were there.

So to sum up, none of the above factions were currently managing their higher worlds properly!

“That’s true!?”

This was the power of reading between the lines. Although, in other words, their tails were just set on fire, but to Yu IlHan, who had already decided on the course of action in his head, adopted a leisurely attitude now. He looked around at the shocked companions and spoke again.

“Well, then. What course of action do we take here?”

“Dad, I know!”

Special agent Yumir, who had just undertaken a similar mission, shouted the correct answer with shining eyes.

“Robbing empty houses!”

“Correct!”

“This father and son pair are doomed for.”

Liera shook his head. Ignoring her, Yu IlHan activated the communication device to call together all those who had scattered, and settled the Guardian fortress and the Flying fortress in their respective positions.

The engines of the two fortresses started resonating with Dareu, and their functions started being drawn up to the limits, and then the holy region was vitalized and covered the city. The plan that Yu IlHan had in mind from the moment he created the city was finally blossoming!

“Miss YuNa, it’s your turn now.”

“Do I need to strengthen you, Mr. IlHan?”

“No, you need to strengthen Miss MiRae.”

“M, me?”

Kang MiRae, who was suddenly placed precariously as the centerpiece of the plan, panicked and shrunk back, but Yu IlHan's eyes were very serious. The only other time he was this serious was when he guessed '3' as the answer for the last two questions in his college entrance maths exam.

Of course, he got both of them wrong. There's no way he'd get it right when they weren't even multiple choice questions!

"By massacring many higher existences until now, I perfectly discovered which higher worlds they came from. Excluding the Garden of Sunset, there are around twenty-three thousand higher worlds."

"Twenty-three thousand higher worlds!?"

Kang MiRae creased her expression since she already estimated his net words. She wished for her worries to be for naught, but that was for naught. Yu IlHan's kind gaze proved that her worries were indeed correct.

"From now, you need to create gates to all of these worlds, Miss MiRae. Hmm, around 50 at once for 5 minutes each would do. With that, we'll be done in less than 40 hours. Dad said he'd be able to hold out for two days, so we should have plenty of time left over."

"I'll die with plenty of room if I do that! It's impossible, I may rule over mana, but there's a limit to that!"

Kang MiRae objected in shock, but Yu IlHan didn't back out. Not only Kang MiRae's, he grabbed Na YuNa's hand as well and stared at them passionately with his red eyes!

"You can do it if it's the current you, Miss YuNa, and Miss MiRae. Everyone else will help. Of course, that includes me."

".....O, okay."

"I guess I can't help it if you request it so dearly~....."

Originally, he wasn't going to do something reckless like this. This wasn't even a 'plan' per say. He was originally going to make Traps of Restoration and engulf each of the worlds one by one. He would erase the biggest pressure on him, and let the others stay as safe as possible.

However, it seemed that his attitude as a leisurely villain was a problem, and the situation suddenly started taking a turn for the worse, so he didn't have a choice now. Everyone had to push themselves!

"Mystic, you can consider yourself dead. You're the subsystem that will manage Dareu after me, so you'll have it the second hardest after Miss MiRae."

"I'm already preparing for that....."

Mystic had already vaguely caught onto what Yu IlHan was thinking about and stood at the edge of the Flying fortress in a depressed expression. Orochi was standing next to her, and it was extremely frustrating to her that Orochi being there was able to console her quite a bit.

"Do you actually know how I feel?"

"Yes. I know everything so don't worry about that."

"O, Orochi..... really?"

"After this Harmageddon thing is over, I'll never touch your head again so bear with it for a while. I'm not doing this because I like it either."

".....Master, let's start now. I really want to see some bloodied corpses now."

Mystic's will to fight started burning. Seeing Orochi chuckling, it was obvious that he provoked her even while knowing that. Yu IlHan chuckled after seeing that and activated Manifestation.

A region of overflowing flames first enveloped the Flying fortress and the Guardian fortress, the city, and eventually the world. It was a very mysterious and grand scene, and was also a proof of Yu IlHan's growth in this short while.

[Sorry for putting pressure on you, everyone. We will head straight into a slightly harsh battle right now. Perhaps some may die. After all, the enemies are all higher existences.]

Yu IlHan's voice entered everyone's ears. Liera, Erta, Kang MiRae, Na YuNa, Helièna, Uriel, Raciël, Tachiël, Eriçia, Felmir, Orochi, Mystic, Paté, Jirl, Mirey, Mirfa, Yumir, Kang HaJin, Michael Smithson, Carina Malatesta, Takagaki Asuha, as well as the numerous humans and dragons and dragonkin that followed him.

[What I'm even more sorry about, is that this is merely the preparation for the final battle. You can say that we're doing the last boss battle only to know that there's a hidden boss behind it. Let's just settle with the fact that we already know who the hidden boss is.]

The holy region was vitalized. The holy region was influenced by Yu IlHan and instantly spread to the domain of Yu IlHan's Manifestation skill, and in the center of it all, Na YuNa bit her lips in pain. Kang MiRae opened her eyes and raised her hands.

With her as the center, an enormous amount of mana rippled. Yu IlHan had already transmitted her the records of those worlds. What was left was to open the gates to those worlds.

[I promise. If you survive, you will all experience tremendous growth. Perhaps all of you here many become higher existences. At that time..... we will definitely win.]

When Yu IlHan raised his hand, a gigantic spear of flames appeared in his hand. The biggest battle power in this place was Yu IlHan, but he had to focus on 'fusion' rather than the battle. Meaning, it was difficult for him to enter the battlefield himself.

There was no way they could avoid this fight, and there was no way there would be no casualties.

Despite that, he had to force this through. In order to strike the backs of the enemies, to regain the lost advantage, in order for everyone to survive, to laugh, and in order to screw all foreshadows.

[Then.....]

Yu IlHan closed his eyes. Kang MiRae clenched both of her hands.

Dimensional magic, which already blossomed beautifully when she was a lower existence, and evolved even further in the process of becoming a 6th class dragon, activated against several dimensions simultaneously to create a hundred gates in mid-air. All of them were connected to different higher worlds respectively.

He opened his eyes.

Looking through the gate and towards the higher existences, he spoke.

[Commence battle.]

Chapter 326: Harmageddon – 2

Even though all the factions were having a gigantic brawl, it wasn't like there were no personnel remaining in the other worlds. However, Kang MiRae had created not one, but one hundred gates connecting to one hundred different worlds that contained higher existences!

[Wh, what is that!?!]

[Lord Satan has just..... damn, that's a man I know!]

[Yu IlHan, it's Yu IlHan! Dammit, they realized what's happening!]

10 higher existences in each world would make a total of 1,000 higher existences, and one hundred per world would make up 10,000. Too large a number for the current forces of Dareu to face. It was fortunate that there was Uriel, who was now an 8th class, as well as many others that had power which rivaled 7th class beings.

[From this moment onwards, your mana supplies will not run out.]

Looking at the higher existences that still hadn't grasped what was happening, Yu IlHan spoke very seriously.

[So, do not consider the side effects and just keep attacking. Rip apart everything that comes at you. I will do the digestion for you.]

Yu IlHan finished his words and threw the spear of fire in his hand. It reached in front of the hundred gates and was divided into seven, and each spear entered one gate and killed the higher existences inside. Just one strike had such an effect.

[Acquired authority over the higher world, Fallen Editt, ruled by the Army of Brilliant Light. Commencing fusion.]

[Acquired authority over the higher world, Dtchaë, ruled by the Heaven's Army.....]

[Acquired authority over the higher world.....]

A tremendous movement in the continental crusts could be felt. The gate to seven worlds that instantly lost their owners closed, and the higher worlds that had a new owner appeared next to Dareu and began to fuse with the land.

The Great Fusion of dimensions that no other leader of a faction could dream of! That was what Yu IlHan was doing right now.

“Uaaaaaah, my head hurtsssssssss.”

“Hold it, Mystic. There are still 22,993 worlds left.”

“Orochi you idiooooooot!”

Seven worlds, higher worlds, no less, were being fused into Dareu. There was no way there was no load on her mental processes! Yu IlHan took on the majority of the load himself as far as his Rule could handle. He only gave Mystic what he could not.

It was good that he had upgraded her beforehand. It was also good that he had made her God-ranked artifacts!

“The world is becoming wider.”

“My word, I finally understand what the Lord is doing, this is.....!”

The ‘carpet’ expanded at an insane rate and absorbed the new lands that were fused into the world, and the mana that sprouted from the continent was absorbed by the Carpet before being given to Yu IlHan, Mystic and the others.

The Carpet activated one final magic. It was suction; suction that forcibly dragged all the higher existences within the 93 worlds that the gates lead to, back to Dareu!

“No one shall escape!”

“They probably didn’t want to hear that from you!”

It was an unbelievable scene. All higher existences beyond the gates leading to 93 different worlds could not endure the suction force from Dareu and were dragged in!

They were panicked and shocked. They also realized that something was wrong after seeing the members of Dragon’s Nest sending them murderous gazes, but it was too late by then.

“Everyone chaaaaaaaaaarge!”

“WHOOAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAA!”

[Kraaaaaaaaaaaaar!]

With Liera’s shout as the signal, everyone charged forward. It was quite the spectacle to see thousands of them throwing their bodies with as much force as they could muster to battle against higher existences without so much as a trace of fear in their eyes!

[Th, these insane seedlings.....!]

[Do you intend to make all other factions your enemy! We may fall here, but the army lead by Lord Satan himself will soon.....]

“Come back after you contact that leader of yours!”

[N, no! Right now, Lord Satan is.....]

“Uoooooooooh!”

Spears caused shockwaves, magic froze flesh, fire from dragons burnt bones, while chakrams of water cut apart muscles. The angels and the fallen angels also fought back since they didn’t just want to die, but the problem was that the location of the battlefield had long been shifted to Dareu.

“Kurgh..... you have become strong, charge!”

“We really did!?”

“This is the power of the carpet!”

With the Dimensional ruler skill, Yu IlHan shaved away at the abilities of all intruders (though, he did drag them here by force, but they still counted as intruders), and strengthened all who guarded Dareu. Moreover, there was the support from the Manifestation skill and the carpet, so even dragonkin who were barely over level 250 were strengthened to the point that they could bite higher existences to death!

“We can do it! We can win!”

“Drive them back! Kill them! Dareu is being expanded!”

Every time the higher existences belonging to one world were annihilated, the authority over that world was transferred to Yu IlHan, and it would immediately be fused with Dareu. The carpet increased in effectiveness every time it expanded in size, and as more mana sprouted in the process of the fusion, the stronger the others became.

“And my head feels like it will split! Uaaaaaah! Orochi, Orochiiiiii!”

“Tch, master! I think this woman will die soon!”

“I think I will die sooner, dammit! Uaaaaaah! It’s a mess! There’s more work to do!”

By the time around thirty gates disappeared, that is, around thirty higher worlds were fused into Dareu, it finally happened – repeating fusion many times and producing too much mana, as well as the endless expansion of the world caused Dareu to rapidly evolve and undergo the 7th Great Cataclysm!

Yu IlHan looked at the trembling crust of the world and realized that it was time to use his first trump card, and shouted without hesitation.

[Maintain the form of a fortress! The world shall evolve into a battle fortress! Only I shall decide on the direction of your growth, and hence you shall maintain the current state of the world!]

Yu IlHan’s Declaration didn’t seem to do much on the surface. However, that was what made things more frightening. The world was undergoing the 7th Great Cataclysm and nothing much was happening!

The world just expanded in size as Yu IlHan had ordered. The atmospheric mana concentration increased, and was producing even more mana to supplement Yu IlHan’s consumption of it through the usage of Declaration.

The city expanded in size by itself, and the Flying fortress and the Guardian fortress, which were connected to the city, evolved and were strengthened as well. Mystic, who could be considered the central system of all of this, had to clench her teeth to endure. Yu IlHan consoled her.

“It will be better afterwards if you endure this!”

“Lies! You liar!”

The already vast world was being widened real-time and the mana density was increasing, so how could anyone facing them not be scared? The ones fighting on Dareu's side were being strengthened with each passing moment, while the ones dragged to Dareu were weakened by the moment.

At that moment Kang MiRae uttered scream-like shouts.

"It's been 5 minutes! Mr. IlHan, we didn't even digest half of these gates..... do we really proceed?"

"Please, Miss MiRae."

Yu IlHan covered his aching head and shouted.

"Open them! A hundred more!"

"Eeeek, okay!"

"Lady Leytnaaaaaaaa! Please do something! Everything's gone insaneeeeeeeee!"

Kang MiRae activated grand magic while Na YuNa called out to her goddess, and the next moment, a hundred more gates actually opened!

[Just what happened so suddenly..... don't tell me the enemies are invading this world as well.....?]

[What, are those? No, that's a man I remember seeing before..... Yu IlHan!? Don't tell me this place is!?!]

"The ones in front of you did all the intro so you guys can skip ahead!"

Dareu was still emitting a tremendous suction force even while undergoing the 7th Great Cataclysm and dragged the enemies in the newly opened worlds without exception. Of course, they were thrown into Dareu while they still didn't grasp the situation. Liera shouted.

"Fight! Do not die and fight! We must do this around 200 more times!"

"We'll die..... we will really die at this rate!"

Amidst the 7th Great Cataclysm, the valleys and the city that Yu IlHan had created acquired an even higher density of mana and started becoming independent from their surroundings.

The mana within the city recovered not only Yu IlHan but the other members within as well and supported them. A hot fire burned on the bodies of all enemies that ‘intruded’.

[What is this now! Dammit! Dammiiiiiiiiiiiiit!]

“Kill them!”

Yu IlHan knew what caused this phenomenon very well. Like how the Flying fortress and the Guardian fortress settled in this world as independent entities, the entire city was becoming independent and was being divided from the whole world as an artifact with special options! The city was literally becoming an aerial fortress.

Of course, there was no time to check each and every one of the options it had. Whether it was fully independent or not, he would just fuse it back with the world!

“The important thing is that you are now stronger! Charge!”

“You crazy maaaaaaaan!”

[You bastards..... how dare you play with us! I will not forgive you, I will punish you in Satan’s stead!]

Oh, it seemed like they called a 7th class being from the Army of Brilliant Light from one of the hundred newly opened gates! Moreover, he immediately realized what the situation was and even cast grand magic after throwing himself into Daeru of his own will.

[Burn in the flames of hell, Doom Flare!]

“It will not work!”

[Heh..... haap!]

Of course, Uriel could block the attack without much difficulty, but that was what he aimed for in the first place, in the moment when Uriel was tied down due to casting defense magic, he immediately bypassed Uriel whom he knew he wouldn’t be able to face, and attacked Mystic. He knew that Mystic was the center of all this along with Yu IlHan!

“Kyaaaaaak!”

“Tch, receiving attacks for someone else isn’t something I like!”

[Hah!]

However, Orochi blocked the attack without being too late. The purple flames burning on his body drove back the magic power of the fallen angel and forced him back as well. Orochi was still 6th class right now, but since he was being strengthened by Yu IlHan in many ways, he could go against Battalion Commanders head on!

[This strange mana..... is a dragon? You’re not a pureblood but of a mixed race!]

“Yes, I’m a mixed race of all sorts of things..... but it seems you don’t know, eh? In whatever media, the ones that nag about purebloods is always the one that dies first!”

Orochi’s fist split into eight branches like his tail when he was ‘alive’ and struck the enemy all at once.

No, to be exact, it was a stab rather than a strike. At the moment of contact, a fatally poisonous fang protruded from his fist and imbued curse and poison into the enemy’s body! The 10th Wing of Brilliant Light, Limaère, who was struck with the attack, widened his eyes in disbelief and staggered.

[A curse that penetrates my magic resistance? No way, I can’t accept this!]

“You don’t have to! You just need to die!”

Mystic’s heart pounded while watching Orochi fight for her sake when she was focusing on controlling Dareu, but she didn’t say it out loud. It was obvious that Yu IlHan will nag her to focus.

However, the situation was changing rapidly even while her girly emotions were sprouting.

[I, I cannot accept this..... me? The 10th Wing of Brilliant Light will fall so easily-]

“I’ll recover the death flag that you just raised!”

[No, NOOO.....!]

There was no need for anyone else to help. Orochi was not foolish enough to let Limaère recover after he had been paralyzed by his fang poison after all.

He charged with his full might for the first time after acquiring Echjar's body, and put a blade of concentrated purple flames on his foot to slice Limaère from head to toe!

[Critical Hit!]

[You have earned experience.]

Silence pervaded the battlefield, albeit temporarily. Although numerous higher existences had died until now, this was the first time there was a 7th class casualty!

“Kraaaaaaaaaaaaaah!”

Orochi roared loudly amidst all the attention. At the same time, a bright purple light covered his body! From within, his entire body was being twisted and purple flames were rising high.

All records that comprised him took a step forward and lead his very being, and added an aura of pressure on him while concentrating his mana.

“Whoa, don't tell me.....”

“No way.”

Yu IlHan knew what this implied very well. He didn't know Orochi would be even faster than Liera, but Orochi had finally reached the 7th class by defeating a 7th class being and proving his league!

[Fight more!]

It was at that moment that Yu IlHan took out his second trump card. This would be very effective against the others that became excited after seeing Orochi advance.

[I shall evolve anyone 'with the qualifications' in battle into true dragons!]

The Cradle of Miracles levitated into the air before scattering without any sound. Of course, this was not its destruction, and was merely an expansion of its domain while hiding its true form. It melted into the atmosphere of Dareu, which had a very high density of mana after experiencing the 7th Great Cataclysm, and allowed for its ability to be realized anywhere!

[The ruler has spoken.]

[True dragons, of 5th class.....!]

[I will do it! I will definitely do it!]

Needless to say, it was very, very effective.

Chapter 327: Harmageddon – 3

The battle intensified. In the midst of that, yet another five minutes passed and Kang MiRae opened another 100 gates. Yu IlHan annihilated the inhabitants of around ten more worlds using spears of flames that he made with the excess mana he had, but any more than that was impossible for him. The moment the magic power escaped his control, every bit of mana in Dareu would boil and go berserk!

[Dareu is undergoing the 7th Great Cataclysm.]

[Dareu is undergoing the 7th Great Cataclysm.]

“I know, I know that already..... tch!”

Yu IlHan switched to controlling Dareu again. He used several Declarations in a row to calm down the world and take some of the load off Mystic.

When it became impossible to release the energy outside or for the world to increase in size any further, the world started focusing on adding durability to the already existing matter rather than bringing about a big change in size, and this was the ideal change that Yu IlHan had been aiming for!

“The mana density..... is becoming tremendously high!”

“The blessings will get stronger as well! Don’t hold it in and release it all towards your enemies in front of you!”

[Kyaooooooooooh!]

Thanks to Orochi becoming 7th class at the right time, their allied battle force became stronger, casualties in the relatively weaker dragonkin and dragons couldn’t be avoided. However, the ones that survived swallowed the flesh of those that died and became even stronger, which in turn allowed them to attack the never ending flood of higher existences with stronger attacks.

Following Yu IlHan’s orders. Bite the enemies to death! Become stronger! For that, they would even put their lives on the line. Yu IlHan’s second trump card worked perfectly.

“Look at me, children! I have what you want, the sweetest of the very sweetest of rest!”

Helièna, who was strengthened in all fields after becoming a 7th class dragon, fought proactively at the front lines. Mana of charm spread around to the surroundings and halted the movements of the enemies that tried to deal fatal blows to the allied Dragon’s Nest members.

No one could avoid Helièna’s charm. The instant their concentration drifted or lapsed for the slightest moment was the time of their death! Like moths to fire, the ones that ‘invaded’ Dareu died, drunk on Helièna’s charm.

“Here, it’s here. I will not run. Aren’t I standing here and not moving?”

[Kugh.....!]

[Damn, my mana is moving against me. I need to resist.....!]

Helièna was beautiful. Viciously beautiful. That became power for the allies, poison for the enemies, and a source of relief for Yu IlHan.

She knew that Yu IlHan was sensitive to the injuries and deaths of allies, and hence did not rest even for a moment. She seduced others not for her own amusement, but to prevent others from dying.

How long had it been since she put others in front of her own desires? She didn’t know this yet, but she was reaching a higher realm of power the moment her heart which had halted for tens of thousands of years, finally moved once again.

[Father! Aaah, father!]

Amidst this chaos, the first advancer appeared among the dragons. It was Ruby who stood out among the lower existences!

The Cradle of Miracles that was already on standby enveloped her without any delay, and not long after, a girl with red hair and crimson eyes walked out. The girl was cute as if she was from an anime, but her power was frightening.

“Aaaaaaah! Thank you, father! My beloved father!”

[She really became a higher existence! I can feel it!]

[A true dragon.....! Ooooooh, we can also become true dragons! If I can reach that realm even if I have to burn out my soul!]

Their situations weren't that bright, but their morale was at their peak. All dragons, all dragonkin wished to become like Ruby. Their yet-untainted heart since birth was filled with admiration for power!

Ruby achieved that goal, and now it was their turn. 5th class, 6th class, 7th class – they feared none. All the dragons charged on. Dragon's Nest roared louder in the face of adversity.

Liera grumbled while looking at that.

“Their births and advancements..... make it look so easy. Who said that higher existences were once the peak of their respective worlds?”

“It was you, duh.”

Of course, as their lives and depths of training differed, it would be impossible to compare Ruby to other higher existences. However, since she was being supported by the world right now, her firepower overwhelmed the majority of 5th class beings! The lacking depths could be filled later. Right now, it was time to rampage without thinking.

[The 7th Great Cataclysm of Dareu is ending.]

“Everyone, prepare yourselves.....!”

Shouted Yu IlHan while biting his lips. It was the same moment that Kang MiRae opened another round of hundred gates and thousands of higher existences were dragged into Dareu, and it was the same time that Na YuNa clenched her teeth in order to maintain the holy region, and it was also the moment when Liera's spear pierced the heart of a 6th class fallen angel.

“Here comes a big one! [Gather! Do not scatter, and focus!]”

[The 7th Great Cataclysm was successfully finished.]

The world shook. Countless worlds fused, and many more were in the process of fusing, but now that Dareu increased both in density and size, it finally finished undergoing the 7th Great Cataclysm and emitted a bright glow! Mana was concentrated in the center of the world where the Flying fortress, Guardian fortress, and the city was. Mystic spat out insults.

“Damn master, how the hell is this any easier!”

[Substitute! Boiling rage does not become creation, but destruction!]

Shouted Yu IlHan. The next moment, translucent flames appeared in the visions of all of his companions and burned the enemies within their sight!

The absolute retribution that neither 5th nor 6th class beings could avoid reaped their souls, and what remained were only piles of ash and magic stones.

[Critical Hit!]

[You have earned experience.]

[You have earned records.]

[Collecting their souls.]

“Wh, what the hell?”

“Master.....”

A dominating silence, one that was incomparable to when Orochi killed Limaère, pervaded the field. Well, the ones that could make the noise had all died, and the ones facing them could also only stop and become silent.

The worlds now under Yu IlHan’s rule all closed their gates in order, and no more gates remained. Yu IlHan’s companions that were watching were all enraged.

“I won’t ask how you did it, but you could have done this from the beginning if you could use such an overwhelming magic!”

“Wouldn’t it be fine if you did it by yourself!? You just wiped nearly two hundred worlds, didn’t you?”

However, Yu IlHan laughed awkwardly at them.

“You know how hordes of monsters are born every time a Great Cataclysm occurs? I only used Declaration at the right time to change the mana that would have been used to make all of them into flames. It’s a super attack that I can only use once every Great Cataclysm.”

“...Is it supposed to be that easy to use?”

“Nah, perhaps only I can use it even among the leaders. Oh, there’s one more important thing.....”

[The world.....]

[The world.....]

[The world.....]

Yu IlHan grabbed his head and shouted as he watched over two hundred worlds appearing from everywhere around Dareu and being fused into it.

“...And it’s that we need to fuse all of those worlds into Dareu!”

“How the hell is it easier, you idiotic masteeeeeeeeeeeeeeer!”

“H, help! Help me somehow!”

An even more intense than the 7th Great Cataclysm, in a way, found itself over to Dareu. A fusion with not ten, not hundred, but two hundred higher worlds was unprecedented since the beginning of time!

[Do not expand and compress! I said compress! Please, I beg you. Don’t lose to w*nrar!]

“Who the heck uses winr*r anymore! Uaaaaaaaah!”

Mystic’s straw hat emitted a brilliant glow. The straw hat amplified Mystic’s ability beyond her limits and controlled the fusion of the continents.

Skies with skies, lands with lands, seas with seas! Everything found their places and fused, compressed, concentrated, and sublimed.

“C, Creation of the world.....”

“Big bang.....?”

“I know, Gurr*n L*gann!”

“Don’t make jokes and be quiet!”

Everyone that had the power to lead mana helped Yu IlHan and Mystic to tune the world. The busiest one right now was of course the carpet!

Absorbing the different mana possessed by different worlds without discrimination, it dissolved the mana inside it, and expanded its territory using that as fuel. At this point, Dareu was physically bigger than Heaven in pure size.

“Is the prophecy really right, darling!? Isn’t Dareu becoming the best and not Earth!?”

“Nah, I’m going to fuse Earth too later!”

“That’s nice!”

Streams of mana went berserk everywhere. Explosions that could destroy a planet the size of Earth happened five or six times every second. Of course, the aftermath was all absorbed by the carpet and went to the members of Dragon’s Nest as mana, but the ones residing within the holy region of the city were making frightened expressions at the disasters that occurred in front of them.

“Wouldn’t any random stray lump of mana kill all of us?”

“My god, it’s way more intense than when Michael fought Satan. Just what is the Lord thinking? Just how is he going to take care of all of, oh my god.”

[The world you rule interacts with you and brings your league up. You have become level 600.]

“Oh..... shit.”

Exclaimed Yu IlHan. He was busy tuning the world, but his mana and records resonated with his soul and body and was causing a change from within.

However, it was kind of natural as well. The evolution of a world meant the expansion of records, and would bring about an awakening in the master!

Before, he thought that only killing monsters would give him experience to level up, but that was either his mistake or a lie someone spread on purpose! You bamboozled me, world!

[All status increases. Additional 500 increase in Magic.]

When he was fusing the worlds, there wasn't much change in Yu IlHan's records, but the 7th Great Cataclysm and the fusion of two hundred worlds dealt a serious blow. Yu IlHan's records synchronized with Dareu and dragged him to a higher position!

[Reflecting all records until now into growth. You possess the endurance to experience the pain that comes with change. Commencing physical body evolution.]

"Uuuuuuuugh, I don't! I don't have the endurance!"

"Don't act weak!"

Along with the soul-splitting pain, Yu IlHan's body twisted, and an even more extreme change than what Orochi and Ruby experienced found its way to him.

It would be good if he could just let go of his consciousness, but annoyingly, Yu IlHan had to fine tune the fusion of Dareu with many worlds, the expansion of the carpet, and the flow of mana within the city so he couldn't just straight up faint, and so instead chose to close his eyes.

"IlHan....."

"Darling, do your best!"

"What do I do? Another 5 minutes passed....."

"MiRae, let's wait a little more!"

All bones dissolved into nothing and new ones grew. Cardiac muscles were ripped apart and a new heart appeared, devouring the old one.

All of his blood vaporized and gathered in his heart, and new blood sprouted from the seedling. New flesh, muscles, skin, and mana sprouted. It was brilliant, yet depressing, mysterious yet horrifying.

Even after entering a state that was nothing near a normal human, Yu IlHan did not stop utilizing his mana. It was to the point that no one could believe that he was the same person that acted weak just now, as he showed a tremendous amount of endurance and focus.

And when some time passed, and another five minutes passed after the first five, and Kang MiRae was at a loss of what to do.

“Fuu, haaaa.....”

Yu IlHan finally opened his eyes and started breathing. After the intense pain, his body was perfectly reconstructed.

At the same time, Dareu perfectly melted, absorbed and compressed the worlds that clashed with it.

The world was resonating with Yu IlHan.

With this, everything became a lot easier. Without the help of the carpet of the Declaration skill, he felt like he could move everything in Dareu as if he would his own limbs. Yu IlHan realized that his judgement was indeed correct.

[Master, master!]

[O, ruler!]

A new pair of wings sprouted on his back as he answered calmly to Eternal Flame and Echjar’s worries.

They were the same as Ruin Calling, but if the first was burning in flames, the second pair were perfectly reflexive and metallic! Both of them showcased Yu IlHan’s characteristics clearly.

If Dareu was accepting all external sources of mana and records and was compressing them internally, Yu IlHan was displaying his growth from the compressed records within externally. Both of them became stronger, but their growth methods were completely opposite.

This probably wasn’t the end. As long as Dareu grew even further, Yu IlHan will also continue to grow. And the moment Earth, the origin of his being, was combined.....

“Heaven huh.....”

“Mr. IlHan, are you really alright.....?”

“Miss MiRae.”

Yu IlHan smiled at Kang MiRae who was worriedly looking at him.

“Please open the gates.”

“.....Got it.”

Yu IlHan escaped his thoughts and raised his head. When he raised his two hands, the world started emitting a suction force once again.

Gates opened, and the higher existences were all met with a despair known as Yu IlHan.

He still had numerous worlds to fuse.

Chapter 328: Harmageddon – 4

There was a world where directions did not exist, neither front or back, up or down, left or right, before or after, wind nor water could be distinguished.

It was the crystallization of the ultimate concealment that Gabriel, a former member of the Four Great Archangels of the Heaven's Army, and was now the leader of the Garden of Sunset, had made with all his heart and soul, and the same space that he used to hide his wife and made her grow, and simultaneously the main world of the Garden of Sunset where most if not all of its power resided in.

It was unknown since when it became like this, or how long it would remain as such, nor was it known when it began or where it would end. In this space where everything was illusory, two leaders were facing each other.

[I didn't know I'd have such a hard time dealing with you, Gabriel.]

A handsome man with golden hair and a pair of bat-like wings behind him, Satan, made a bitter smile. Feeling the strong magic power that pressured every inch of his body, he let out a deep breath.

Strong, it wasn't like he didn't expect this level of resistance since he came straight to the main camp of an enemy faction, but this kind of restrictive force was way beyond his imagination. The fact that the origin of this pressure was neither from physical force, nor magic power but from a unique ability made him even more shocked.

[If you have a hard time dealing with me, you won't even be able to lift your hand against my son.]

The handsome man who replied in a straightforward posture was none other than Gabriel. With bluish green hair, he did not possess any wings. He blossomed God's power anew into his own, escaping angelhood completely by pioneering his own new realm.

[You're quite proud of your son, eh. But yeah, I knew that. You two were similar in so many aspects. Oh yeah. Did you know that I helped him to open his eyes properly? Go on, thank me.]

[It was unnecessary help for my son. And strictly speaking, you didn't help but enjoyed watching, didn't you? You always tried to enjoy whatever comes at you, from way back then.]

[Oh my, you really know me too well.]

The two men seemed to be having a friendly chat, but in fact, the quantity of mana exchanged between them was overwhelming. The will to destroy and the will to protect were close to each other in power, and considering how this was the main headquarters of the Garden of Sunset, Satan's strength could be discerned.

Of course, there was the issue of affinity as well. Gabriel's strengths lay in concealment and controlling time, while Satan possessed the ability to scatter any magical structure with brute magical power.

[It's really interesting. I'm stronger than you, but weak in front of Michael. But Michael is also weak in front of your son from what I heard. Yes, then is your son weaker than you?]

[It's nothing interesting, but my son is strong against anyone. Moreover, he's very sneaky too.]

[Oh, well. He is your son after all.]

The two weren't the only ones here. Satan lead an army of Legnae and fallen angels and invaded the 'Crevasse Garden', the main world of the Garden of Sunset, and Gabriel called all gatekeepers to this world.

The world was closed and no one could enter any more, but within, a battle unknown to any was occurring. Amidst the group of foes were the Archlegnae that Gabriel was so worried about, and there were also beings that were of even higher league than them.

The mutated angel Legna that originated from souls but were no longer one. Their power to restrain mana was had a very vicious side, and if it wasn't the main world, the Garden of Sunset would have been pushed back already.

They only gained a slight advantage thanks to Gabriel freezing their movements and slowing down their time, they were still having a difficult fight.

[Why are you cooperating with God again? You helped us when we drove him out. Aren't you being too whimsical here?]

[What? You know already. I always preferred fighting for the disadvantageous side. In the past, I helped you because I felt that it was dangerous to go against God, and now I've decided to help him since he looks like he's in the disadvantage. Oh yeah, do you know? That guy holed himself up in his world without moving at all. He's scared of you! You should've seen it too. It was so funny!]

He thought that this would be the case from the very beginning. After all, when the Four Great Archangels and Satan drove out God and expropriate his power, he was ruined to the point that it made them wonder why he hadn't died already.

However, they still couldn't kill him in the end. It wasn't that they didn't but they couldn't. God's influence on them that they thought they completely escaped still bound them and blocked them from dealing the final strike.

God barely survived and hid himself while cursing at them. Even Gabriel didn't know where he was hiding. However, the guy laughing in front of him, Satan, probably knew.

God also should have recovered the majority of his powers after that time. If not, there was no way he would act now, utilizing so many Legnae.

[It was the same time when I went against Heaven, and it is the same now. Thanks to the actions of your son, aren't things becoming more interesting? The evolution of worlds that appeared in your prophecy will arrive in not too long, too. Everything is something that you've set up. You shouldn't complain to me when I'm playing your game.]

[My own game, you.....]

That was nonsense. However, Gabriel closed his mouth when he was about to say something in return. Being provoked by an enemy? That would make him a laughing stock later if his son found out.

[We had enough conversation now. Let's fight, Satan. No, should I call you

Lucifer?]

[That's a nostalgic name, but it's also one that I've thrown away. I don't really like that name since it sounds like a loser's.]

Gabriel raised one hand to call out a sword made of water to face against Satan. Satan also called out a sword sculpted from magic power and smiled.

[In the past, you weren't so proficient in moving your body.]

[I don't know which past was that, but to defeat the current me, you'll need at least 20 years!]

[20, 20 years, eh..... who knows, I think 20 minutes is enough!]

The two leaders clashed. Gabriel bound every inch of Satan's body with the magic he drew from the Garden of Sunset, and Satan severed all of them with his overflowing magic power and attacked Gabriel. Offense and defense, the two clash between the two polar opposites would not decide an outcome soon.

[Gii, ggaa, movement control impossible.....]

[Lord Satan, please save..... kugh!]

The skies of this world was neither night nor day, and could be considered 'sunset' or dawn that was the crevasse in eternity. The things that filled those skies right now was none other than Legnae and the groups of fallen angels. Due to Gabriel's grand magic, all of their actions were restrained, but their sheer numbers and magic power were still a big threat.

[Defeat all of them! Once the world collapses, we will all meet with doom!]

[It's not the problem about us. The structure of this entire world, the pillar that makes us possible will collapse! The Lord has said so and his words are absolute. We cannot collapse here!]

The Garden of Sunset had basically been raised for this day. The gatekeepers of the Garden of Sunset that endured a long period time collecting information and tuning worlds, mostly followed their leader truthfully, although there were some that went berserk and did not comply to orders.

The fact that the majority of 7th class Chief Gatekeepers didn't act recklessly and were being cautious until now was also to accept orders from their leader when needed! And this was precisely at that moment. All gatekeepers that arrived here on the orders of the leader faced against Legnae and the fallen angels without retreating.

“Honey..... don’t get hurt. You’ll be in for it if you do.”

Gabriel’s wife and Yu IlHan’s mother Kim YeSeul were also among the gatekeepers, fighting against the enemies. The spirits that contacted her in the past were all actually higher existences belonging to the Garden of Sunset that protected the main world, so her teamwork with them was flawless.

However, even while dealing massive damage to Legnae and the fallen angels with her space-time magic, Kim YeSeul’s gaze was fixed on Gabriel, who was battling Satan. No matter how hateful of a husband he was, he needed to be alive for her to do anything to him!

Everything changed from the day Earth met its Great Cataclysm, but if there were two values that she could never let go of, it was her husband and her son.

In the time that was pointless to count how long, everything rotted away, but her emotions towards her family, and her relationship with them were shining like jewels without withering away.

‘No, there’s the girls now too.’

The son that she reunited with after a harsh time became a very capable man. She also discovered that her husband was also a very capable man, but that didn’t matter now. The important thing was that there were many girls that liked him.

She may not accept her husband cheating on her, but it was very satisfying to see many girls with her son. She knew that she was being hypocritical here, but she couldn’t help but be happy about it. Until the moment she saw those children uniting, no, at least until the moment she fulfills her dream of seeing her grandsons make up a baseball league, she wouldn’t die even if someone killed her. (Goddamnit we have shirou again-KKS)

“So I need to live.”

She couldn’t be the only one to survive. Her husband, her son, and the girls, and her grandchildren – all of them needed to live on.

Kim YeSeul activated the artifacts that her son gave her all at once and glared at the front lines. She sensed a group of Archlegnae that couldn't move properly thanks to her husband's magic.

Each one of them possessed a power that rivaled an 8th class being, and possessed restraining powers against mana. Just how did he render them so helpless, she couldn't even imagine.

"But, I can at least help my husband."

She raised her staff and vitalized all the mana she had. Her trademark magic, and one that she realized thanks to the conditions of this world, and the magic that she evolved to a new direction thanks to her son, was emitted from the artifact and hit the enemy squarely.

[Critical Hit!]

As she had trained her magic in this trapped space because of her husband, she had awakened similar abilities to her husband as well. From her husband's words, he didn't even expect this much from her, but perhaps her talent was special.

Well, he did prophesize that his son would be even more capable than him, so her potential as the son's mother should have been great as well.

Gabriel did foresee the birth of his son, but did not foresee the growth of Kim YeSeul, his wife. To speak of it, she was a variable, and a joyful miscalculation indeed. And the artifacts that Yu IlHan forced on her also added another part, and a completely unpredictable outcome was made.

[You awakened a new magic.]

[You may not be able to create the beginning, but possess the power to twist the already existing flow. You can destroy cause and effect by manipulating and interfering the already twisted space-time. You have learned the space-time magic 'Break'.]

[Your level has increased.]

A single Archlegna was twisted and disappeared. Watching that, Kim YeSeul found it slightly exaggerated and somewhat unrealistic, but still smiled happily.

An overwhelming quantity of experience poured into her, and she even recovered her mana thanks to levelling up and could prepare another round of magic.

The Garden of Sunset and the Army of Brilliant Light toward the pits of destruction together.

Tip: Do not think about anything when reading the chapters. Even I have no idea wtf is going on.

E.g. The skies of this world was neither night nor day, and could be considered 'sunset' or dawn that was the crevasse in eternity wtf does that mean

Just sit back, and enjoy the reading. Do not attempt to 'understand' anything. You'll get nowhere.

Chapter 329: Harmageddon – 5

While the Army of Brilliant Light and the Garden of Sunset were waging a war of an unprecedented scale, the Heaven's Army and the Destruction Demon Army were also partaking in an intense battle. Surprisingly, the situation was overwhelmingly leaning towards Heaven's favor, and it was naturally due to the newly transcended Michael.

[I always felt uncomfortable when looking at you.]

Every time Michael's spear of light flashed, hundreds and thousands of predators lost their power. Going beyond just defending Heaven, the angels had already invaded beyond the Wall of Chaos, into Elo Katra.

[Disappear, maggots, you insects that nibble on the fabric of Heaven, dissolve into light and turn into nothing!]

[Lord Michael, you need to calm down a l.....]

[No, his actions are correct against the predators. We were too defensive until now! Right now, Lord Michael is doing the correct thing!]

The ones that appeared next to him were those that acknowledged him as the new God and followed him. Meanwhile, the ones that did not acknowledge him but still did not follow Yu IlHan resided in Heaven, protecting it. They were no different from dogs guarding their owner's graves.

However, Michael thought that was well too. As long as they remained in Heaven, and as long as he became the ruler of Heaven, they would eventually have no choice but to acknowledge him!

Michael acquired Heaven. He shall make everyone else kneel and stand above all to become the perfect God, the Creator. And the start shall be the complete extermination of the Destruction Demon Army.

[Disgusting predators, you are never productive and only continue to destroy and devour. You maggots.]

[Khaaaaak!]

[The ugly hypocrite has finally thrown his masquerade away..... kyahak!]

Light scattered every time Michael uttered words, and every time that happened, predators screamed.

However, to Michael, their voices were merely the screams of ants. There was no one who walked while trying their best to avoid stepping on ants? How many people even tried to listen to their pleading and try to protect them? To Michael, they were merely obstacles that annoyed him and he had to put some minor effort in to push them away.

[Get lost, out of my way. If you have eyes then poke them out, and if you have a heart then burst it to commit suicide. If you can reason, then stop all cerebral activity. If you feel me, or if you can see me, then do not dare leave your disgusting traces in front of me.]

There's the words "Go home and kick the dog". The current Michael was exactly like that. Even though he retreated with humiliation against Yu IlHan, he was taking out his anger on the relatively weaker Destruction Demon Army! Well, in the Destruction Demon Army's shoes, it was quite frustrating!

[He possesses dominant power. Our choice was not wrong. Lord Michael has truly become the new God.]

[However, that's merely his physical might. Will that really lead to true creation? In the future, we need to create and protect countless worlds. Will Lord Michael be able to lead us properly?]

[However..... it is indeed thanks to Lord Michael that we can maintain our power even after we entered the Destruction Demon Army's main headquarters.]

The angels who were still skeptical while following Michael had no choice but to acknowledge his power. As he was at such a disadvantage against Yu IlHan, they thought they were doomed, but he was bringing out such power as a Supreme being in Elo Katra!

[Bring me your leader Greed. Drag that insolent beast who dared to try to bite Heaven, and dared to attempt to erase everything, here!]

[How dare you mention the Lord's name! Does he look so easy now that you acquired a little power after hiding behind the clouds all this time!]

The Destruction Demon Army also couldn't stay quiet at Michael's provocation. The first one to face him was the 10th Battalion Commander Melohinne! Anyone below the Battalion Commander level couldn't stop Michael for so much as one second. Michael did not retreat and mocked her instead.

[The 'Lord'? Referring to such a beast as 'the lord', you are such a lowly being. Yes, is the only one that can satisfy your giant body that man, Greed?]

[You speak ill words even though you refer to yourself as an angel.....!]

[I am no longer an angel. I am God and the absolute, there is no wrong in my steps, no hesitation in my words, and no mercy in my actions!]

The light Michael threw out expanded and completely enveloped Melohinne. She tried to release all her cold energy in attempt to block it, but she lasted less than the time a droplet of water evaporated would take to evaporate in front of the sun.

[Kugh, you..... ergh.....!]

[Hmph, your mass is a waste of matter!]

[You..... oh.....!]

In the end, she could not even leave behind any proper final words and was destroyed, turning into a strand of vapor that disappeared as fog. It was the price for fearlessly going against him despite being completely disadvantageous in affinity. Michael had confirmed his overwhelming dominance against the others and became more arrogant.

[Who is next? Who will be the next one to bark at me? Or will it be Greed? You are listening to my words after all, are you not?]

However, what kind of boss appeared when there were still mobs around? It wasn't like there aren't any unpredictable bosses that appear randomly and deal a blow to the main character, but the Destruction Demon Army kept true to their ways. The enemies attacks continued from within the fog of vapor that Melohinne created as she died.

[You are being overly arrogant, angel!]

[Kugh!?!]

With a creepy voice, the corpses of dead Destruction Demon soldiers exploded and attacked the angels.

Michael blocked the attacks without much difficulty, but the angels accompanying him didn't have such an easy time. Their attacks were very delicately timed, and there were casualties before Michael could extend his barrier to all the angels. To be exact, it was only possible because Boomer'ol aimed for the angels and not Michael in the first place.

[Kik, Kikikik! You are quite merciless, not taking care of your companions. You are ignorant, idiotic, rude. Yes. You are pushing yourself past your boundaries. Angel Michael!]

Michael gritted his teeth as the figure of the 5th Battalion Commander Boomer'ol appeared amidst the rain of flesh and blood.

[I said I am not an angel!]

[Yes, the current you is no angel, but a mere traitor that's rampaging around without knowing your own position. The past Satan is very similar to the current you. Is the rumor that you two are brothers true after all?]

[Hah!]

It wasn't just Boomer'ol. 4th Battalion Commander Telzaider, 6th Battalion Commander Belkatoo, 8th Battalion Commande Zenusva, and the remaining survivors of the Battalion Commanders had all teamed up to block his way. The few angels that remained with Michael also stepped up to face them.

The Archangels were full of faith in him from the moment he dealt with Melohinne so easily, but what was mysterious was that the Battalion Commanders that were facing them all had joyful expressions.

[What is so enjoyable?]

Even after ascending to the realm of transcendents, Michael still had a complex. And he asked.

[What is it that makes you laugh? Blocking my path means that you will be destroyed without even enjoying the destruction you enjoy so much, but how can you make expressions that imply you are truly having fun?]

[You should know the answer already.]

The 9th Battalion Commander Siferai, answered. He was a giant that had an even larger body than the now-deceased Melohinne, and had horns on his body as though they were armor. Going by pure physical force, he was the second strongest after Greed within the Destruction Demon Army, and was also the one that would probably last the longest if he fought against Michael.

[We love destruction. The reason we were taken under his wing is also because we felt the onset of larger and larger destructions in the future. And he was right, and now we get to face you. How can we not be joyful? Michael, you are a maggot, but you possess power that I have never experienced before. How can I not look forward to this?]

[Hmph, I was a fool for expecting something from you. You guys are all completely insane.]

Michael threw a spear of light. Befitting the name of light, it struck the giant at blinding speeds, but the giant received it without flinching an eyebrow.

Michael thought that he was too much stronger than Melohinne even though it was true that he was advantageous in terms of attributes, and in the process, he realized one thing. It was that the fog of vapor that Melohinne created as she died still had not disappeared completely. That it still remained by Michael and the angels. Siferai twisted his lips into a smile.

[Melohinne was a woman that loved destruction. She enjoyed the destruction of herself as much as she did others. Destroying herself in order to destroy others was the greatest bliss for her. She told me, her brother, that.]

The speed of light slows down in water, and refraction occurs. It would be a different story if it was all vaporized, but the curse that Melohinne activated at the cost of her own life wasn't so easy to deal with. It was a powerful curse that not only weakened the light that Michael wielded, but the movements of the other Archangels as well!

In the past, Yu IlHan also had a hard time thanks to the 13th Battalion

Commander Echjar's curse, but Melohinne's curse was just as vicious if not more frightening.

[Kugh, do you think, I'll be done in, by merely a curse of a 7th class.....!]

[You were driven into such a corner by Yu IlHan even when he was merely a lower existence, and you are still restrained by league, I'm wondering how you even became a transcender!]

Despite the fact that Michael spat out blinding light from every inch of his body, Melohinn's vapor still held on. All the light he emitted were weakened, and all of his magic power decreased. While he was attempting to erase the vapor, the Battalion Commanders assaulted the immobile Archangels, and one Archangel ended up losing his life.

[L, Lord Michael.....!]

[Eeeeeeeek!]

[Khahahahahahah! Kha, Khahahahahahah! A transcender brought his mobs! And lost one right in front of his eyes! Laughable, it's truly laughable! Michael, you are truly laughable!]

[You will all face death! I will scatter your blood on the ground as I open a new era of Heaven! Without a single exception! I will also rip apart the limbs of Greed and Satan and scatter them as snow!]

While Michael was still in the process of erasing the cursed vapor, another Archangel lost his life. The 9th Battalion Commander Siferai, threw his body directly at Michael and stood up all of the horns on his body; his eyes filled with madness.

[Harmageddon, it's Harmageddon! Everything will be destroyed, and the curtains to the world shall close!]

As Michael's light touched his body, his horns dissolved, his blood scattered, and his bones corroded. Despite that, Siferai did not stop.

Looking at things now, extreme poison was flowing in his blood, and they crept up the light instead and tainted Michael's body. A being on Michael's level would not die merely thanks to extreme poison, but unless he mastered extreme poison resistance, he would not be able to stop from the poison weakening him.

[Ones who do not dream of eternity have no right to discuss tomorrow in front of me. O, foolish one, meet your death!]

Michael finally realized that Siferai, too, had sacrificed his own life to block him. It was truly inexplicable. However, Siferai mocked him instead.

[You are the one who is truly foolish, angel! It is because I do not believe in eternity, because I can accept my impending death, that I can enjoy today!]

[That is powerlessness and an excuse that mortals give as they have no choice but to accept death! If you believe that the value of time changes according to how much you have, then I can admit that the next second will be the most valuable to you!]

Michael's magic power went berserk. Melohinne's curse was finally completely lifted, and light enveloped the world! Siferai laughed heartily as he faced Michael's burning magic power and died.

[Khahahahahahaha! Khahahahahahahahahahaha! You are right, right now is the most enjoyable time for me and it is the most precious! I am joyful! I thank you, Michael! I thank you, my master and the sole God! Khaaaaaaaaaaaaaak!]

With the final words that made the listeners creeped out, Siferai's body exploded and scattered poison on every angel present including Michael.

The scene was so gruesome and desolate that everyone became silent for a moment.

[Damned, seedlings.....!]

Eventually, Michael spat out spit that contained poison and raised his head. What appeared in his golden eyes were none other than malice and rage.

[I shall erase everything! The Harmageddon that you dearly wish for, I will bring it grandly!]

Chapter 330: Harmageddon – 6

Now that all worlds were swept up in Harmageddon and lost any semblance of peace, there was a world that was experiencing the most intense of battles, and it was none other than Dareu.

That was the world that the Lord of Dragon's Nest, Yu IlHan, ruled, and a terrifying world that was bigger than any other, after fusing with numerous higher worlds.

[Kill him!]

[Even if I die here, the sole God shall punish you!]

[Lord Satan, why have you.....!]

Hundreds of gates opened even now in this worlds and were pouring out angels, fallen angels and predators, and after experiencing the same thing tens of times, the true dragons of Dragon's Nest were now used to this horrible scene, and gathered where gates opened, and were having a relatively easy battle by pouring out attacks into the gate.

"Miss MiRae, another five minutes passed."

"Okay, I'll open them now. YuNa, I'm running out of miracles. One more shot."

"MiRae, I want to rest now~."

"Don't rest."

"Don't rest."

"You aren't even consoling me now!?"

Yu IlHan and the others stopped their thought processes after the number of worlds fused with Dareu was over two thousand. They could finally understand what kind of torture would make someone want to stop thinking altogether!

[You shall never achieve your objective!]

[The lord shall end everything that you own!]

“Oh, fine I get it.”

The number of higher existences that died at Yu IlHan and his subordinate's hands now were in the hundred thousands.

There was no way they all uttered different lines, and the ones belonging to Dragon's Nest thought random things like 'Oh, this is only the third time I heard this now', or 'I already heard that more than a hundred times, I should put that in the book of 'most used villainous lines ranking', oh wait, were we the villains?' and other random things.

[Father, I think I can evolve too now!]

“Yes, you don't have to report it to me anymore and just evolve on your own.”

Since they fought against so many higher existences, dragons, or dragonkin, or the Dragon's Army under Yumir's lead gave rise to 5th class true dragons, and this eventually became a not-so-surprising matter.

The one that received Yu IlHan's attention was only First, after the case with Ruby. He paid the rest no heed. The Cradle of Miracles had absorbed so many records and executed the ritual so many times now that it could evolve lower existences to higher existences without materialising!

[Father, me too!]

[Aah, father!]

[O, ruler! I am being reborn now under the blessing of the ruler!]

“Captain, me too! I'm also becoming a dragon like the hero!”

“I said you don't have to report to me!”

The Cradle of Miracles sent energy to the ones that had the intention to proactively follow Yu IlHan and had the qualifications, and evolved them to higher existences, be it wherever.

Moreover, Yu IlHan was no longer needed in this place, so perhaps the Dragon's Nest was becoming more of a proper higher existence faction.

[The 8th Great Cataclysm of the higher world, Dareu, will commence.]

“Ah, it’s here. Everyone watch out for continental movements.”

[Khooooooooooooooooooh!]

The moment everyone was prepared for had arrived. It was the 8th Great Cataclysm of Dareu!

Originally, a world would experience several hundred changes in era after the 7th Great Cataclysm before grasping the slightest chance of the 8th, but this damned world had absorbed so many worlds and compressed them and established the ‘world’ record of 10 hours, the time that it took from the 7th Great Cataclysm to the 8th.

That was a record that will be unbroken even if the multiverse was to start 36 times more in the future.

[Ah, dragons are being born again! Dad, we got more of them now!]

“You’re right, dammit!”

Although Yu IlHan had consumed all the mana that would otherwise be used in the creation of creatures after the 7th Great Cataclysm to wipe out the higher worlds, but by the 8th Great Cataclysm, the quantity of mana was so large that even the master of the world, Yu IlHan, could not control all of it.

All the changes were occurring simultaneously, so it was a miracle that he was barely in control of anything! He reached the conclusion that he would be finished first before the fusion was finished at this rate. So he clenched his teeth and turned his head around.

There was the never-seen-before genius dimensional mage Kang MiRae in his view.

“Miss MiRae, how many more gates can you open at once?”

“Uh, that’s..... I think I can manage about 570!”

This was obvious, but Kang MiRae had also reached 7th class in this battle. After all, it was all thanks to her that the others could fight like this!

Right now, she was acquiring the second most experience and records after the leader Yu IlHan. Naturally, the number of gates she could manipulate had also increased exponentially and her level of power was incomparable to the her of the day before.

“Open as much as you can! [You shall become able to do more than you imagine!] [You shall execute my power in my stead!]”

The mana density of this region had become so high that the lower existences could barely breathe, so he needed to do something to consume the mana. Yu IlHan saw that the region of death where only higher existences could survive becoming larger and activated Declaration while closing his eyes!

[Mana is amplified.]

[Transcending your league temporarily.]

[Your Lord is executing his power through you. The more you synchronize with him, the more powerful the magic you can use!]

In a situation where Na YuNa’s miracle power was already focused on Kang MiRae, Yu IlHan activated Declaration to give her an additional buff, so Kang MiRae felt as if she had become Godlike, albeit temporarily.

She did not lose the feeling of this moment. Embracing the sweetness as though her lips were touching Yu IlHan’s, she released all of her power!”

“Open! Open and open again! Any and all worlds that reject the rule of our Lord and hide shall all be brought here!”

[The power that the Lord of Dragon’s Nest possesses strengthens your dimensional magic. You are creating gates that lead to ‘all hidden worlds’. Absorbing insufficient mana from the world, the grand magic succeeds.]

At that moment, an even more quantity of mana than what Yu IlHan had used through Declaration flowed into Kang MiRae, and was released to become 6,891 gates that each lead a different worlds.

Kang MiRae just thought ‘I did it!’, when she realized that something was wrong.

What? Six thousand eight hundred and ninety-one?

The next moment, a very unfamiliar line of text appeared on her retina. It was very similar to what Yu IlHan had once seen before.

[You have realized the extremes of dimensional magic. You have acquired a magic that the Akashic Record cannot record, 'Galactic Trajectory'. This magic cannot be activated by your power alone even in the future. You require help from the being that cannot be recorded, and you may receive help from him at any time.]

“Huh.....”

Kang MiRae lost her words. A unrecordable magic? An unrecordable being? When he turned her gaze around, Yu IlHan realized what happened and turned his head away.

“Mr. IlHan, just what 'Declaration' did you use on me now.....?”

“Half...half responsibility.”

“Mr. IlHaaaaaaaan!”

Yu IlHan and Kang MiRae's psychological unification and the absurd quantity of mana in Dareu that appeared as a result of the 8th Great Cataclysm ended up making such a miracle.

Moreover, Galactic Trajectory wasn't simply a magic that opened gates to other worlds, but created half-permanent gates that would never close unless one of the two worlds was annihilated!

[Just what.....!?!]

[The world is opened. My word, this place cannot be stolen..... no, wait, Yu IlHan!?!]

[Just what is happening!?!]

Looking at the thousands of large gates and the over hundred thousand higher existences inside them, everyone temporarily halted on the spot.

It was a surprising matter to the enemies, but more so for the allies. Kang HaJin, who managed to reach 5th class, but had no confidence to face hundreds of thousands of higher existences, ended up screaming.

“I thought you could only do 570! I guess you didn't say 'only'!”

“I think you heard just now, but it's a joint responsibility for me and Mr.

IlHan!”

“I didn’t know it would come to this..... but it’s actually better!”

A situation where they had to face thousands of worlds at the same time was closer to a disaster than a miracle, but right now, Yu IlHan was happy. He finally found a playground for the mana that was rampaging in this world without a place to go!

“Everyone buy me some time! Uooooooooh. [Everyone lend me your strength!]”

That was a generic line! The ultimate technique that only the good people could use was now going to be used by the evilest guy in the multiverse!

[Yu IlHan, that guy is shaking the world!]

[We need to stop him. We need to stop whatever he’s doing.....]

[We can’t prevent him.]

Any faction possessed a group of secret forces. It was not that much different with the higher existence factions that existed before Dragon’s Nest, and the leaders prepared a backup higher world just in case their main world collapsed, and dispatched their core forces there. Some of them contained secrets that could not be let out into the main army.

All of these worlds were unrevealed to any outsiders except the ones dispatched there. There were even nine places that underwent the 7th Great Cataclysm!

However, with Yu IlHan’s power and Kang MiRae’s gate combining with each other, the worlds that were closed and unrevealed until now were all mercilessly tied to Dareu. What was more vicious was that their attempt to close the gates were all for naught.

[Halt the gate! Huh? It doesn’t work?]

[I can’t stop it! No!]

[Then we can only kill the source.....!]

[This is madness! I will leave this place!]

However, they were way too late. Not only was it difficult for them to resist the suction force of Dareu after when it was undergoing the 8th Great Cataclysm, they were lacking in order to pierce the defense line made by true dragons and above all.

“Everyone, sorry to keep you waiting. Hi guys.”

[No, oh, no.....!]

Yu IlHan, who had gathered all the overflowing mana of Dareu had successfully turned them into flames and threw them all into the gates!

“Ultimate attack..... Final Busterrrrrrrrr!”

“You have a horrible naming sense!”

[Critical Hit!]

The world was colored in white, and everyone closed their eyes. A tremendous quantity of mana vibrated and messed with their minds.

Records went haywire, worlds were shaken, and mana was consumed. What existed died, and what didn't exist was born; recorded things were erased while new records were created.

[Khaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaak!]

Horrifying screams resounded across all the worlds. Listening to the screams that sounded as though they were cursing all living creatures, Yu IlHan thought that it was a voice that he had heard before.

At that moment Yu IlHan heard a voice amidst the screams.

[Liberator, I thank thee.]

[We have finally met our end. The path to death hath finally opened thanks to thee.]

[We were recorded by surviving, and could finally escape the records by dying.]

[I wish thee luck for the world you will create. I praise the realm of being that thou shalt reach. I shall curse the ones that thou shalt defeat.]

[Savior and punisher, destroyer, and creator.]

[We dare to call out to thee.]

[[Now Thou Art the new God.]]

“.....What?”

Yu IlHan abruptly raised his head. However, the gates in Dareu’s atmosphere had already disappeared and became clean. He had actually succeeded in simultaneously calming the chaos resulted from the 8th Great Cataclysm and destroying nearly seven thousand worlds at the same time.

Soon, all these worlds will commence fusion into Dareu and deal massive damage to Yu IlHan and Mystic’s minds. However, that wasn’t what was important now, but the voice that Yu IlHan had heard just now.

“Right now, that was definitely.....”

“Mr. IlHan? Are you alright, Mr. IlHan?”

Even though she was right next to Yu IlHan, Kang MiRae hadn’t heard the voices, and called out to him in worry.

It wouldn’t be abnormal for something to happen to Yu IlHan’s mind since he had released mana that annihilated several thousand worlds. Thinking like that, she called for Yu IlHan, but his mind was very clear.

“That, just now, was definitely.....”

“IlHan?”

“Wow, amazing! They really disappeared!”

“And it will begin soon, my headache that is! Master, I hate you! I hate youuuuuuu!”

The others only exclaimed in joy at the fact that the 8th Great Cataclysm was successfully finished, and that the nearly 7 thousand gates had completely disappeared. No one reacted to the voice just now.

Yu IlHan was sure that the voice could only be heard by him and muttered.

“That just now, were the recorded gods, right.....?”

1. Hahahaha! This place is still a mess! (rubs nose)

Chapter 331: Harmageddon – 7

Why were there traces of recorded gods in a world under a higher existence faction's rule? He had realised that these so called 'recorded gods' weren't just lumps of intelligence in the Akashic Record, but never did he imagine that they resided within the hidden worlds!

No, did they really 'reside' in a hidden world? They referred to Yu IlHan as 'liberator' and 'savior', so in other words they were.....!

However, there was no more time for Yu IlHan to think. With nearly seven thousand worlds fusing with Dareu at once, Mystic ended up experiencing death while she was still alive.

"Master, what the hell are you doinnnnnnnnnnnng!"

"Ergh, fine I'll do it! [You stick there, you stick there, you just go underground, you just go inside the Trap of Restoration. I said no more increase in size. Compress, equalize the density of mana in the world. The only exception shall be our city alone!]"

Yu IlHan put all other thoughts aside and fused the worlds desperately. Fusing several thousand worlds at the same time as fine tuning the 8th Great Cataclysm wasn't such an easy thing to do, but as the number of worlds he had to take care of was decreased dramatically thanks to Galactic Trajectory, he could do things at a relatively leisurely pace. It was quite doable.

"Quite!? Doable!?"

"Orochi."

"Yes, yes, I get it."

Orochi just patted Mystic on top of her straw hat, as Mystic was about to explode at any second. Mystic had the urge to beat up both Yu IlHan and Orochi half to death, together, at once. It was frustrating that she couldn't do so, since she was rendered immobile thanks to the worlds that were still not yet perfectly fused. Damn side jobs!

“Mr. IlHan, the city became a pseudo-holy region now~?”

“In fact, the region is expanding as well.”

Until now, the battles were mainly centered around the Flying fortress, the Guardian fortress and the city.

Moreover, these places were the locations that received the most influence from Yu IlHan’s records within Dareu, so it wasn’t so impossible for there to be traces of evolution in the city thanks to the newly acquired mana and records, on top of Yu IlHan’s influence from Creation.

A trivial problem was that the region was expanding continuously, and the holy region had expanded to the point that the area it encompassed should be classified as an empire rather than a city, but he decided not to think too much about it.

“I don’t think that’s trivial at all though.....”

“We got more dragon fellows, so it’s all good.”

“Whoa, we were just having a battle, but the world is changing drastically in the meantime!”

Liera was shocked while looking at the ever-evolving scenes in Dareu. Well, absorbing over ten thousand worlds and on top of experiencing two Great Cataclysms.... it would be really weird if there weren’t any changes!

“The atmosphere changes again. I think I can see rainbows in the air.”

“That’s because the mana density is too thick and they became half-materialized.”

“The feel of the land is also different. It’s as if.....”

“Due to the influence from my records as it evolved, the aura of metal and dragons are now mixed into the dirt.”

“.....Snapping a branch off a tree got me a rare-ranked artifact?”

“That’s.....”

Yu IlHan carefully turned around to Liera and asked carefully since everyone was filled with shock.

“.....All worlds are like this after the 8th Great Cataclysm, right?”

“You do know that they aren’t, don’t you?”

“Okay, my bad.”

In Liera’s knowledge, the world that experienced the most number of Great Cataclysms is Heaven. She heard that it only became a world fit for angels and God to reside after nine rounds of Great Cataclysms..... but compared to Dareu right now, Heaven was merely a slightly larger world with some peculiar traits.

“In fact, I’m surprised that it remained a ‘world’ that can still be defined by us. With this much mana, I wouldn’t be surprised if it turned into some darkspace or something.”

“That’s what I and master are trying to stop! !! and! Master, worrrrk!”

“Sorry, I meant to say that it’s just that amazing.”

“Hmph.”

Liera apologized formally at Mystic’s irritation. She had no experience nor skill in managing and controlling a world, but she could still see how much effort Yu IlHan and Mystic had to exert in order to stabilize Dareu like this.

Raising her head to look at the sky, there were clouds made of mana floating around. At a glance, they looked like ordinary clouds, but it was actually a magical trap that changed form to restrain enemies and deal damage to them once they came into contact with an external source of mana. Everyone that invaded Dragon’s Nest became a target of those traps.

The rainbow of light that hung underneath was a nature version of the destruction mirrors. Any time Yu IlHan wanted, they would attract the surrounding energy and shoot it at the enemies!

Not only that, the countless dots of light that appeared like stars in the sky were all mana bombs, and the hurricane of metal dust that stormed in various parts of Dareu was a natural trap that ground apart all beings that possessed malice to dragons!

Other than that, naturally occurring traps that even higher existences couldn’t escape unscathed, began to cover various parts of Dareu.

It wasn't like Yu IlHan specifically intended for this to happen. It was just a result of evolution after countless worlds were fused with Dareu and the Great Cataclysms occurred and reflected his records into the world.

As all of these traps were fatal, they looked very wondrous and beautiful from the outside, and the members of Dragon's Nest that were unexpectedly given a time to rest after an intense battle, ended up exclaiming in surprise when they looked around the world.

"It's truly..... beautiful."

"It's more beautiful with you here, Carina."

"Michael....."

"These idiots....."

Carina Malatesta, Michael Smithson, and Takagaki Asuha had all safely become true dragons amidst the heated battle.

Originally, it wasn't like it was so easy to become 5th class purely through piling experience, but were any of their experiences 'normal'?

They survived amongst countless higher existences, higher magic, and advanced techniques, so it was perhaps only natural that they grew into 5th class beings!

"Michael."

"Carina..... the battle still hasn't ended yet. Let us do our best for a little longer. Even if it's for our child that will be born later."

"Yes, Michael. Definitely....."

"Aaah, I wish they exploded..... that's it, Lord Susanoo."

Takagaki Asuha was fed up with watching these two lovebirds say cheesy lines all the time even on the battlefield, and turned his head around to Yu IlHan, her sign of peace and salvation.

"Lord Susanoo, I, too..... Lord Susanoo?"

She tried to approach Yu IlHan but halted midway. Yu IlHan was atop the highest place in the Flying fortress, his two eyes were closed, and a translucent membrane of fire was preventing anyone from interrupting him.

She decided to give up trying to approach him and retreat. She just thought that it should be fine if it was watching.

‘Fuu.....’

The person in question was currently breathing slowly and watching inside him, as well as the world.

The violent trembles that came with the 8th Great Cataclysm and the fusion of many worlds were also beginning to settle down. As an effect of that, Yu IlHan had acquired a tremendous amount of experience again, and became level 650 after wiping out several thousand higher worlds.

Fortunately, there was nothing like the recreation of his physical body or anything like last time. It was just that an insane amount of magic power began to emanate from his body. It made him feel very uncertain about himself. He felt as if he would become drunk on this sense of omnipotence and go wild with his power.

With 50 levels rising at once, he even doubted and wondered if it was fine to level up so fast, but the change that came along wasn't light at all. The strengthening of his bones, the thickening of his blood, the toughening of his muscles and the hardening of his skin was all too noticeable and so clear that it made him shiver in anticipation.

The higher his level became, the feeling that each and every level had an enormous power increment that came with it. He even admired his past self for killing beings that were several tens of levels higher than him.

Level was the most fundamental differentiation in league. When he was bound by league, he was blocked by the wall of league known as 'class', but the foundation of league was in the end, levels. The proof was that it was impossible to level up once an individual hit the threshold without surpassing the league.

Levelling up didn't simply mean an increase in physical ability and mana, but that he could exercise more power in the world, comprehend more of the world, and fundamentally change his view of the world.

It was not a sudden realization but a deeper understanding of what Yu IlHan had learned and acquired before.

He understood how to swing the spear, which slight adjustments to make to metalwork better, and comprehend the meaning of the texts he had read before, but couldn't understand fully. So, levels were one's own records, and level up was the increase and accumulation of records.

'So, it's not like one's training is deeper in the mind just by becoming a higher level or a higher existence. Level ups aren't something that give you something that doesn't exist, but strengthens what you already have. Insolence will bring about more insolence, and dictator-like beings will become even more like a dictator. I finally understand why Greed turned about to be like that.'

Now, he organized the truths about levelling up clearly. Yu IlHan ordered his internal mana and resonated with the world to breath fresh air, when he thought up of the question that he had put on hold.

'Yes, recorded gods.'

He forgot thanks to the fusion of the worlds and the Great Cataclysm, but when he erased all the worlds that appeared through the Galactic Trajectory, he could definitely hear the voices of recorded gods.

Yu IlHan's Final Buster(though no one else called it that), the moment seven thousand worlds were erased, if they were alive, then they should have died then and there.

And they called Yu IlHan 'liberator'.

'Meaning, they were bound.'

But then, by whom? First up, Greed of the Destruction Demon Army was an idiot who only knew how to eat, so there was no way he would have left such a delicious treat like recorded gods alive, and the current Heaven's Army didn't have that ability, so that leaves.....

"The Army of Brilliant Light."

He felt as if cold water was just poured on him and abruptly raised his head.

His father was in danger. He said that he was going to be fine, but if Satan really had the power to imprison recorded gods, then he was currently the most dangerous person with the most mysterious objective right now!

Thinking about it, it was all clear. He had met with all other main forces of other factions, but he had never met the 1st Wing of Brilliant Light, Lazière!

Why did he only realize that fact just now? Danger, his father and mother were in danger! More than Michael, and more so than Greed, perhaps Satan was the most frightening being, more so than even the God of Heaven that sent out Legnae!

“Warp.”

Yu IlHan activated the Warp skill while having his eyes still closed.

It wasn't that he was going, but that he was calling them here. In whichever world, even if it was a closed world. If it was a being that he could contact through his records, then he could bring anyone here.

If he summoned his parents right now, then the confrontation between the Garden of Sunset and the combination of the Army of Brilliant Light and God would end, and their target would turn to Yu IlHan, but that was still better than letting his father and mother be in danger.

Also, Yu IlHan was confident that he could fight against anyone since he had grown so much stronger.

However, just as he was about to ditch the fusion of worlds or anything and call for his parents, a message he had never encountered before while using Warp appeared on his retina.

[The target is rejecting your summon.]

[Summoning a part of the Warp skill's targets.]

[A severed world has opened and you receive proper records and mana. All status increases, and Magic increases additionally by 700.]

“.....What?”

“.....Son.”

Yu IlHan definitely summoned both his mother and father, but only his mother, Kim YeSeul, stood in front of him. It wasn't like she was fighting against thousands of worlds like what Yu IlHan and the others were doing, but she had reached the 6th class in such a short time.

That was shocking, but there was something else that really shocked him.

“Mom, what about dad? I called both of you together!”

Well, it wouldn't be too surprising for someone on Gabriel's level to be capable of deflecting his Warp magic, but the problem was why.

Kim YeSeul replied to him with a dejected expression.

“Your dad..... said that he will hold the enemies back.”

“Why! Why, dad! That's a blatant foreshadow!”

What was more frustrating that, that wasn't the only problem that came to him.

“IlHan, one corner of the world is looking really strange!”

“Father, that's as if..... I'm looking at hell!”

Aaaaaaaaah, sheesh! It really feels like something bad will happen with so many things happening at once! – The foreshadow meister Yu IlHan screamed.

Chapter 332: Harmageddon – 8

An unknown amount of time passed in the Crevasse Garden, the halted world, as the two armies fought. The majority of the gatekeepers of the Garden of Sunset had disappeared, and the Army of Brilliant Light was no exception. The insane number of Legnae and Archlegnae were also beginning to reach their end.

However, frustratingly, and surprisingly, Gabriel was at a disadvantage right now.

[It was your son, wasn't it?]

[You noticed?]

[Well, a strong aura pierced through the wall of dimensions and took a single person. There's no way there's another one capable of doing that other than your son, is there?]

Satan smiled as he finished talking. Gabriel also let out a smile while taking a step back. On their bodies, wounds that couldn't be healed through normal means were inflicted, since all of their attacks had bet their records on the line. At the level of the leaders of each faction, they didn't simply use skills but their records to fight, it was such a method of attacking that caused this.

[Why did you only send your wife to him?]

[You know, already, don't you, Lucifer? Someone needs to stop you. My son is growing up rapidly so I can't really stop him midway.]

[Grow, growth, eh.....]

Satan, aka Lucifer looked at his arm and made a bitter smile. He could feel his power and records disappearing even now.

Aah, Gabriel's son was one heck of a monster alright. In the moment that the wall of dimensions was breached, he expropriated an enormous amount of energy from Satan. It was the records and mana that Satan possessed as the ruler of many higher worlds.

‘Just how many higher worlds did he take from me while I was occupied.’

He didn’t know since this dimension was severed from the rest until now. He had believed that they would remain as his forever and wielded their powers without holding back.

However, the moment Yu IlHan used Warp magic and breached the wall of dimensions, the records and power that resided in Satan had left him for their proper owner.

As a result, Satan was weakened. Unbelievably, he was feeling powerless for the first time ever since he fought and chased out God from Heaven. He looked at Gabriel with a face of absurdity and spoke.

[This is no growth, Gabirel. It’s a desire that’s beyond Greed’s. He’s devouring all the higher worlds.]

[No, he is not devouring them. He’s fusing them into one. Lucifer, my son will become the new Creator. The realm that God did not reach, and the realm that we could not ever reach – he shall reach it, I am sure of it.]

Gabriel made a satisfied smile, but Satan mocked him.

[That’s impossible. Even God fell without ever being able to reach that realm. Do you think a prophesized being could reach such an unpredictable realm?]

[There are many ways that miracles occur. I still cannot find an explanation for my foreknowledge ability. Concealment is the same. But, my son even surpassed me in this regard. Lucifer, what I could see is merely the starting point of that path. Where it reaches, even I cannot see.]

[In that, you’re correct.]

Satan gathered his power into his palm. Although he panicked due to the sudden loss of power, but that was it. Unless his main world disappeared, the source of power for Satan would not decrease by too much.

[Indeed, no one can observe the end of that path. Yes, that’s why, it won’t be too surprising if his path just snapped midway, right? Though, you won’t live to see that!]

Dark magic power blossomed from Satan's body. Behind him, five pairs of bat-like wings sprouted. However, his change didn't stop there. Surprisingly, he had a single wing that consisted of pure white feathers. Right now, Gabriel and Satan differed by that one wing of power.

[Prepare yourself, Gabriel. I will be lenient with my hands, but.....]

[Eeeek!]

Satan's voice hit Gabriel's ears. Gabriel realized that it was time, and hurriedly released his energy to the surroundings, but what he could erase were only the group of Legnae that invaded the Crevasse Garden.

Although he wiped out all the small fries, there will be plenty more of Legnae unless God was dealt with. And the enemy in front of him, Satan was.....

[It will, hurt quite a lot.]

[That's what I should be saying, Satan. I won't let anyone disturb my son so easily!]

[Well then, shall we have another dance!]

Satan's eyes glistened mysteriously and strangely. The moment he faced that, Gabriel clenched his teeth and released all of his energy!

***

[Gabriel has been dealt with, and the Crevasse Garden is now under the rule of the Army of Brilliant Light. Well, this is a splendid ending, right?]

Spoke Satan. His leisurely attitude didn't change, no matter who it was, and the 'God of Heaven' that he had once betrayed, and met again was no exception.

[Though it's a little insufficient to pay for your betrayal in the past..... but very well. We got rid of that prophet, so the only remaining one is that eyesore..... Well, then. Give me Gabriel's corpse, Lucifer.]

Ordered God in a grand and firm voice. However, Satan laughed and shook his head.

[Think about it, old man. Do you think Gabriel, who was smart enough to drag everyone in the whole multiverse into his stage, would foolishly leave his precious body behind? I think his son splendidly inherited the concealment ability, but the prophecy was only his power. And it will remain as such forever too.]

[.....I should have told you to bring me his corpse.]

[Well, I didn't even have the time to recover it, duh. If you're so unsatisfied, why didn't you go get it yourself?]

God lost his words at Satan's reply. It wasn't that Satan didn't know his current state. In other words, Satan was making fun of him right now.

God gritted his teeth. Although he did put Satan onto his side since he was cooperative, but there would be no other man as unfaithful as Satan.

[Did you erase the Legnae? Did you hog Gabriel's corpse yourself after getting rid of my watch?]

[Why would I attack my allies? And old man, you too should have recovered their records right? Don't you know that it was either Gabriel or the gatekeepers that killed them all?]

God's eyes narrowed.

[Lucifer, you bastard..... you didn't lie, did you?]

[And you have a way to find out if I lied?]

No. God was neither omniscient nor omnipotent as the other angels thought.

[See? So just believe me. Believing in me will be better for you.]

[.....]

He was sure that Satan was thinking of something else in his heart, but God couldn't interrogate him right now. He bared his teeth and said in a voice lined with malice and wrath.

[If you keep doing things like this..... I may not accept you in the new world that I will create.]

[Well, as you know, I'm a hedonist so it's fine if it makes me joyful even if it leads to the bottom of the abyss. But..... you, sir, shouldn't be talking to me like that right now, should you? You still can't move your body as you wish right now, no? You need 'him', don't you?]

God shut his mouth. Satan's words were completely correct. Right now, God needed Satan. His limbs were still not free, and the strange angelic beings, Legnae, were still much weaker and feebler than he had thought. For now, he needed the help of this devil.

Satan smiled as though he knew all that he was thinking. His smile was truly disgusting and unpleasant.

[Just what are you afraid of? The curtains to Harmageddon have successfully been raised, and everyone is clashing hard in their respective positions. Although Michael's light became more brilliant, but that's all within our expectations. They are all merely deliciously grilled meat. You just need to step up and bite them apart.]

[Lucifer.....]

Satan and God exchanged fierce glances. Both of them were not completely open with each other, and both sides knew that. However, they each had what they wanted from each other, and so they could not be honest.

They could not return to the master-servant relationship of before. The two were currently utilizing each other as being at the same level of power.

However, one sure fact was that Satan 'cannot' betray God. He was a being that originated from God, and no matter how hard he struggled to escape, he was bound by God after all. 'Going against the heavens' was not possible!

At that moment, God's internal injury suddenly burst and agonized him.

[Khak.]

[You hurt now?]

[Yu IlHan..... that bastard!]

[Aha.]

Satan chuckled.

[Gabriel's son, right? Ain't he amazing? He stole a looooot of power from me as well. Just how did he give birth to such an amazing son, I wonder.]

[It's good that he was born then..... if he was given more time, the new world might not have opened.]

[You sure like that new world very much. Why don't you make a song about it? Let us, make, a new, world!]

Though, that will be a horrible one with God in it.

Satan turned his head around as he mocked God until the very end. What he could see was a poisonous atmosphere, vicious life forms, vicious mana, and vicious everything.

Beyond that, he felt a faint aura from beyond the huge wall of dimensions and chuckled.

[The curtains are rising. Well, then. Are you ready to step onto the stage, old man?]

[Shut up, Lucifer.]

Replied God as he gritted his teeth.

[I was ready from a long time ago.]

***

"What the heck is this?"

"Who knows? A slice of hell?"

Replied Liera in a calm voice. Right now, they were at a place where the skies and lands had reversed and were boiling. Turning their heads around, they could see the normal Dareu, but only this portion of it was like this.....

"It's like someone swallowed a whole world and vomited it back out with all the stomach fluids on it~."

"Thanks for the vivid description, Miss YuNa. Thanks to you, I feel slightly more disgusted now."

"Eheheh."

Yu IlHan waved his hand as he scolded Na YuNa. Mana and wind came along and covered both the skies and the lands, and they melted into the world after becoming pure records and mana.

While he was at it, he also took care of all the strange-looking regions and fused them with Dareu.

In that process, he could gather more concrete records about them, and it seemed that the Galactic Trajectory had opened worlds not only belonging to the Heaven's Army, the Army of Brilliant Light and the Destruction Demon Army, but a few subspaces that were well hidden beyond their control.

Of course, Yu IlHan's Final Buster mercilessly destroyed all of them and dragged them to Dareu..... and by now, God, Greed, and Satan should be having a painful time.

"Hmmm."

Yu IlHan received and analyzed the records of countless worlds and sorted out his thoughts again as he raised his head. Kim YeSeul was watching him with worried eyes.

"Are you alright, son?"

"I'm alright. I'm rather worried about dad. Satan is no ordinary guy."

"Your father will be fine. He's lived much longer than we have."

".....Oh yeah, that's true."

Neither Kim YeSeul nor Yu IlHan could be considered young in age, but compared to Gabriel they were like newborn babies. Yu IlHan thought about that and looked at Kim YeSeul's expression.

"And mom? Are you alright?"

"Of course I am, son. ....Though, it'd be a lie to say that I wasn't surprised."

Kim YeSeul chuckled and added.

"Looks like mom should level up hard now. Whew, I fought higher existences for several years, but I'm barely 6th class. Just when did your father become so strong?"

"Several years? Did you perhaps fight for many years in that main world?"

“Yes.”

That’s one heck of a magic against an enemy like Satan. Yu IlHan marveled at his father’s capability. Yes, since his father could utilize a magic of such a scale, he should be fine even now. He had to be, he believed that it was as such and.....

“Okay, let’s finish up what we were doing. I wish I could do another round of Galactic Trajectory...”

Final Buster was a special technique that he could only use at the moment of the 8th Great Cataclysm! Truly unfortunate.

“It’s not unfortunate at all!”

Shouted Mystic. Kang MiRae made a bitter smile as she raised her staff.

Hundreds of gates appeared in midair once again.

Chapter 333: Harmageddon – 9

[The 9th Great Cataclysm of the higher world, Dareu, has successfully concluded.]

[Absorbing records and mana from the world under your rule. All status increases and mana increases additionally by 300.]

[Yu IlHan.]

[Lord of Dragon's Nest Lv748]

[Strength – 1,754 Agility – 1,545 Health – 1,443 Magic – 3,559]

[Passive skills – Blacksmith Lv Max, Magic engineering Lv Max, Cooking Lv Max, Dimensional Adaptation Lv99, Fleet Command Lv99]

Kang MiRae raised her head and spoke.

“There aren't any more worlds.”

“Really?”

Yu IlHan checked again with a worn-out expression. Kang MiRae firmly nodded his head.

“Absolutely none. Not even a single one left. If there are, it's only the main worlds.”

“Fuu.....”

Yu IlHan sighed deeply at the reply before lowering his head and raising it again. Everyone was looking at him.

Merely thirty hours ago, the majority of the ones here were lower existences, but right now, it was instead difficult to find any that weren't higher existences.

He could guarantee that the past 30 hours were absolutely, most intense 30 hours that the multiverse experienced since the beginning of time.

“Everyone’s tired right.”

“Yes.”

Replied everyone honestly. Especially, Mystic who had almost become a pile of flesh on the floor. She had reached beyond the 7th class and into 8th class thanks to managing the central pivot of the world and coming into contact with countless records, but no matter how strong she became, her exhaustion seemed like it would be endless.

“How the heck did I survive all of that.....?”

“It’s all thanks to the artifacts that I made you.”

“I’ll beat you up, master.”

She threw a fist at the same time she spoke, but Yu IlHan dodged as if he had seen it coming. Although this was like this before as well, there was an insurmountable wall of the 4th dimension between the two. Especially in Dareu.

“Dammit, Orochiiiiiiii!”

“Even if you look at me like that, I’m weaker than you. Just obediently eat some popcorn.”

“Let’s see, dad is.....”

Yu IlHan left Mystic to Orochi and activated Warp again, but again, the only message that came back was that the target was refusing. Yu IlHan thought that this would be the case and shook his head with a sigh.

Right now, he believed that Satan had something to do with the recorded gods. Assuming that Satan was the most dangerous enemy of them all, even his father wouldn’t be fine even with all of his trump cards..... dammit, had he come back with his mother in the previous warp, then at least they could have stomped on Satan together, damn his stubbornness!

“If you’re dead, I’ll tease you to death again.”

“How do you tease someone who’s dead?”

“Heh.”

Yu IlHan only laughed without much of a reply, but Liera felt a shiver running down on her back.

Twenty-three thousand higher worlds. Simple to say it, but this meant that he had absorbed 23,000 entire worlds that had countless records piled up over the course of the longest periods in history. As the ruler of Dareu and the Lord of Dragon’s Nest, their essence should have flowed into Yu IlHan. Liera would probably believe even if Yu IlHan said that he could create a whole world from scratch.

Eventually, she asked him in a careful voice.

“IlHan, you aren’t God yet, right?”

“Nope, not yet, probably.”

“Hiik.”

She shouldn’t have asked. It got her more scared! Yu IlHan chuckled after seeing Liera shivering. At her age, she should be more than mature enough, but somehow, this ex-angel was becoming more immature as time went on. Of course, though, that’s what made her cute.

“If taking over many higher worlds makes me God, then any other transducer would have become God long ago. The God of Heaven for example..... Of course, I can’t say that there’s no effect in fusing all the worlds into one, but no, Liera. I still can’t grasp it yet. I’m an imperfect Creator, and a Halfling that can’t even make mana by myself properly.”

Liera’s lips pouted. The more she spoke with him, the more distant he felt and she became worried.

“In the past, you always denied that, but right now, you didn’t. Halfling, means that one half is already completed, no?”

“No one knows when the other half will be filled. It may come within the next second, but it may not come even after countless eons. Perhaps all transducers are at this stage.”

That was a lie. Yu IlHan knew that he was quite special among them. The fusion of worlds just had that special meaning. Every time a world was added to Dareu, he felt something fundamental change within him. This was possible only for him.

Perhaps this was not evolution but a process of regressing to the very beginning of time? If everything fused and fused, and eventually became one, then perhaps a new path may be finally open to him? Yu IlHan was both afraid of, and expectant of that.

If there was one thing for sure, it was that he had nothing to fear now. There was only one reason he didn't end everything now – to try to finish everything with no casualties.

“Anyway, we absorbed all the higher worlds possessed by other factions other than the Garden of Sunset, right? Except the main worlds?”

“You do know that the beginning of all factions are their main worlds right? Their main worlds are literally where all the power of that faction, and their leader stems from. I know that Dareu has evolved beyond the extreme, but there are things that can't be surpassed with just the quantity of records. You especially can't look down on Heaven. Elo Katra, and The Netherworld are the same.”

“Liera, there's no need to be so worried. I'm not saying that you should not be careful, but rather to not undervalue yourself. It's plenty possible. Just open your eyes, and look at the current darling. He's no longer the kid that you once knew, Liera.”

“He was twenty the first time I saw him!”

“You foolish lady.”

Helièna's view on this situation slightly differed from Liera's. In her eyes, the power Yu IlHan possessed was stronger than anyone else. More so than even Greed that she once thought to be supreme.

This meant that Yu IlHan was the strongest. The Strongest, quite the sweet ring to it. She believed in Yu IlHan, and was sure that he was an absolute and unshakable pillar.

“Darling, are you going to do it now?”

“No.”

However, Yu IlHan shook his head at Helièna’s question.

“I don’t like gambling that much. I don’t know if it was just my life on the line, but in a situation where my dad’s and other people’s lives are on the line, I can’t just recklessly charge into enemy lines.”

“I’m going to follow darling’s words. Please ask for anything that you wish for.”

Yu IlHan only had two hands and one body. If he could have dragged all the leaders of the factions and fight, then he would’ve done it long ago. If Gabriel was by his side, then the two would have thought of a plan together but he wasn’t even here.

His companions became strong enough to fight against any higher existences, but in the end, they couldn’t fight the leaders. Yu IlHan knew that much. He didn’t have that high of an expectation from them in the first place. In fact, he was rather surprised that they grew so much until now.

In the end, the final strike had to be done by Yu IlHan himself. And Yu IlHan had planned everything out presuming that was the case.

That was because he was born a loner. He had learned to do everything with his own effort.

“You’re being too much! We put so much effort into helping you, IlHan!”

“I’m not saying that you don’t help at all. In fact, you’re supporting me and are of more than just some help to me.”

Yu IlHan pushed out his hand and grabbed at the sky and spoke to Liera.

“This is just my personality. A personality I cannot throw away even after discarding everything else.

What if something happens? Or something else? Shouldn’t I prepare for that eventuality? And that other one too?

I’m worried that if no one helps me and I make too many preparations...

And having done everything alone since no one was willing to help me...

Even after doing everything like this...

I'm afraid that when, having missed something...

With a pessimistic outlook purely because I don't want to get hurt...

Expecting to fail...

I try to act like I'm calm...

And prepare desperately in order to be able to act calm...

I end up being clumsy since I learned nothing from anyone else...

I'm afraid I'll end up really embarrassed if someone discovers the me then...

That I will want to die...

That I will want to give up on everything...

But being unable to run since there's no one to run to...

No one to leave my burden to...

I will still eventually have to do everything by myself...

I dread being laughed at by the people who treat those that act like fools, even though they themselves did nothing...."

Ahh, the dark side. No matter how many people met and however many people he was loved by many, the dark side of Yu IlHan that could not be erased, and was right now exploding out. What was even more grave that his words hadn't ended yet!

"That's also the reason I always talk about foreshadowing. Ever since I was young, I had great eyes in determining and predicting negative possibilities. And in fact, experienced many of them too."

"Please stop, IlHan, my heart will melt at any second. It was my bad! I'll do everything for you!"

"S, smooch! Mr. IlHan, I'll give you a smooch! Bad memories should fly away~!"

Not to mention Liera, even the others didn't know how to act while listening to his dark history that they couldn't listen to without crying. Even Kim YeSeul momentarily forgot about the worry for her husband and seriously considered patting his back.

My word, what was this? Subordinates were trying to console a nearly level 750 superman! (Sungdaein bolt) However, Yu IlHan laughed and shook his head.

“But thanks to that, I learned something. I became able to breathe, became able to hide, became able to put in more effort, became able to endure, became able to prepare, and became able to laugh back at them.”

“I don't think the last one was necessary though!?”

“I became able to not request help to anyone else. I became able to prepare everything myself. I raised my abilities to erase all negative possibilities and to bring a happy ending. So, in conclusion, I don't plan to lose even if everyone else is an enemy.”

“This is a loner's final form.....”

Everyone was struck dumb. Just what kind of growth must one experience to reach such a stage? Yu IlHan had a look at his companions and gripped the hand in the air into a fist.

Explanation was over. Time for work.

“We'll need one more gate. Miss MiRae, please use Galactic Trajectory again. This time, I need something much more than simple gate, a giant bridge that connects two worlds.”

“Just what world are you going to connect.....?”

Kang MiRae estimated the answer but still asked anyway. Yu IlHan replied without hesitation.

“Earth.”

Chapter 334: Harmageddon – 10

“I, if you connect with Earth right now, then the people scattered to various other lower worlds will be able to come back to Earth again.....”

“I can stop that. For around 3 hours.”

“That’s meaningless though!”

“It is meaningful. That’s enough time to destroy all the other transcendents from other factions.”

3 hours is enough? Kang HaJin looked at Na YuNa in plea to stop that madman, but Na YuNa replied to not interfere with someone else’s marriage business. In the end, Erta was the one to nitpick with him. Helièna was the same.

“Do you have to connect with Earth right now? Really, really really?”

“You don’t have to keep to the prophecy darling. You said you hate prophecies but are you really going to act in accordance to it?”

“No, the prophecy is correct. Not because dad prophesized it as such. The current Dragon’s Nest is still incomplete. Our main world needs to be Earth. That’s because the world I was born and raised in is Earth.”

“This is..... still incomplete?”

Yu IlHan’s will was firm. Everyone already realized that Yu IlHan was looking at a completely different realm from what they were experiencing by themselves.

They could no longer go against him. He was the leader of the faction and the supreme being, so they had no choice but to comply.

“Good, let’s say that we make Earth our main world. Then can’t you just summon Earth and fuse it like you did with other worlds?”

“If that happens, Earth will be permanently subordinated to Dareu.”

“Then can’t you just go over to Earth and fuse Dareu with Earth.”

“If that happens, Earth will be crumpled to bits without any traces left.”

“Then!”

“And so.”

Spoke Yu IlHan seriously.

“I have no choice but to open a gate and fuse it directly.”

“.....Okay, Mr. IlHan.”

Kang MiRae found her calm first.

“Let’s do it. I’ll help to the best of my ability. I just need to make a really, really large gate right? I just need to make it so that Earth and Dareu are facing each other, right? Everything else will be handled by you, right?”

“You are always quick to understand, Miss MiRae. As expected of a genius.”

“This is in the field of instinct. I still half-doubt that it would work.”

However, to not believe him, the things he had achieved now were all completely insane as well. They were already riding on the back of a tiger. It was too late to turn back, and had to accompany him wherever he went. Kang MiRae utilized the Crown of Wisdom and raised her staff, while Yu IlHan agitated his mana with a smile.

“Miss YuNa, please take care of the holy region. This time, you have to strengthen me on top of Miss MiRae.”

“I knew you’d say that~. Fine, fine. Holy region goofers should do their job. I really hate this side-character treatment.”

“But no one other than you can do it.”

“I know. I just complained because I want you to care about me more!”

At this point, she was shameless to the point that she was rather adorable! Yu IlHan patted her hair as she wished and turned around to Mystic.

“Mystic will support me. Don’t forget that this is a parallel connection between Earth and Dareu.”

“What are you going to do about the fact that Earth is relatively too low in league, master?”

“I’m going to pour Dareu’s power into Earth to balance it.”

“That’s absurd! That’s absolutely impo....ssible.....”

Mystic became speechless midway her sentence. Although she thought that was impossible, she also felt like Yu IlHan could do it. In the end, she also closed her mouth and pushed her straw hat onto her head, covering her eyes and breaking her line of sight with Yu Ilhan.

“I don’t care. You were the one who said support. Whatever happens is not my responsibility.”

“That’s enough. And..... mom.”

“Me?”

Kim YeSeul never knew she would be called out and widened her eyes. Yu IlHan smiled and nodded his head. Instead of a concrete explanation, he added another sentence.

“You’ll need help from Erta and Helièna.”

“Me? The only thing I’m better at than the others is magic formations.....”

“Darling?”

“Erta and Helièna’s help? Oh.....”

The three women had the same expressions. They finally realized what Yu ilHan was talking about.

“Sheesh, son. You’re always dreaming of absurd things.”

“I would have gone with a different method if it was me alone. So mom, I know how to ask help from others now. I’m different from the me of before.”

Even though he uttered all the dark history he had, it seemed that nagged on his mind. Kim YeSeul found her son so cute when he hurriedly added since he thought that the thing from last time may bother her, and ended up giggling.

“Of course, my son. You make me proud. You’ve grown up well.”

“Darling, is this really a perfect plan? No matter how I think about it, this is too unstable.”

“Actually, the rest of it is guts.”

“Shit, we’re doomed.”

Yu IlHan smiled at Helièna and breathed deeply. When he gave a glance to Na YuNa, she bit her lips and extended her two arms. A thick pink aura rose from her body.

“Lady Leyt..... no.”

She shook her head mid-chant and stopped. Was she about to play around at such an important time? – everyone thought that as they looked at her, but Na YuNa’s eyes were more serious than ever. Then why?

The next moment, a new chant was uttered from her mouth.

[All mana shall obey ‘me’, the one that raises the beauty of all matter.]

Yu IlHan abruptly raised his head. It seemed that she had also discovered the loss of the recorded gods! The ones that received the blessing from other gods will probably realize in the future as well. However, it was very like her to realize that first.

[Envelop all that I love, bless, and strengthen them.]

[To the one that is qualified to monopolize my beauty, with all my love, I shall execute my miracles in god’s name – Everything shall become as you will it to be.]

The holy region enveloped the entire city. The two focal points of the aura were none other than Kang MiRae and Yu IlHan! Yu IlHan had a lot of things he wanted to complain about Na YuNa’s chant, but for now, he had to do what he had to do.

He opened his mouth, and Declared while gathering the mana of Dareu that had a higher mana density than any other world after the 9th Great Cataclysm.

[Thou shalt be the master of the miracles, and execute my power on my permission.]

[Thou art the master of magic, and shall stand as the connector of dimensions.]

Two strands of Declaration raged violently after it became mana. Kang MiRae abruptly opened her eyes in the midst of the turmoil. The Crown of Wisdom flickered wildly while releasing light of varying intensities and accelerated her thought process.

Eventually, when all her magic power was focused into one point, Kang MiRae's mouth opened. Surprisingly, the structure of her magic power was similar to Yu IlHan's when he used Declaration.

[Connect.]

Mana was concentrated before it sublimed. Three beings that surpassed the records combined their powers to create a miracle.

The atmosphere opened in Dareu. The skies of Earth could be seen.

"It was really connected....."

"It's beginning."

The two dimensions had only become connected. True fusion had yet to begin. Kang MiRae maintained the gate with all her power, and Yu IlHan started his next process. A message appeared on his retina.

[Earth had been waiting for the moment to be subordinated by you from a long time ago.]

[You are prepared. Will you declare Earth has a territory of Dragon's Nest?]

[From this moment onwards.....]

He could feel all the mana that filled his body, the resonance with Dareu, and the strand of connection he had with Earth. Yu IlHan spat out a deep breath and uttered the fateful line.

[Earth is the main world of Dragon's Nest.]

[Earth is leaping to a higher world. All restrictions on Earth are lifted.]

[The higher world, Earth, is fusing to D.....]

The message that was appearing on his retina disappeared with an almost inaudible noise, and a new message appeared.

[The two higher worlds, Earth, and Dareu, are fusing.]

The skies of Earth and Dareu burned as they faced each other. The mana and matter that comprised Dareu, were rising into the air like mad. The only thing that remained intact was Yu IlHan and the city they were in.

“Master, is this really possible.....!?”

Mystic, who never talked about what was possible or impossible when fusing seven thousand worlds at once, now screamed. However, Yu IlHan called for Kim YeSeul instead of replying to her.

“Mom, I’ll connect you with that thing. Please take care of the rest.”

“You really are making me work hard. Okay, let’s do it.”

Yu IlHan Declared with a smile.

[My subordinate who has the same objective as me, shall have the same thoughts as mine.]

The moment Yu IlHan’s declaration was fulfilled, a deep voice of a man’s rang in Kim YeSeul’s head.

[Just what is this? Why is the concept of Earth being shaken?]

Kim YeSeul smiled and called Erta and Helièna to her side. They had to make a masterpiece of mana and magic formation crafts in the fastest time possible. A magic formation of space-time that contained all of their essence!

“I think you will have to change your corporeal form according to what we say. Let’s see. Can I call you Will of the Guardian?”

[My god, that world is.....!]

The Will of the Guardian that finally recognized Dareu screamed without being able to hold back. It also realized what was happening right now.

[Fuck! You insane madman!]

“Let’s hurry! I don’t think failure is allowed after all!”

Yu IlHan hadn’t even begun properly yet.

Kang MiRae’s role was more important than Yu IlHan’s in fusing Earth and Dareu through a gate. Synchronizing the records of Dareu with Earth's could be done by Mystic alone. Predicting the world after the fusion of Dareu and Earth was the job for Kim YeSeul, Erta, and Helièna.

There was only one thing Yu IlHan needed to do. To fuse Dareu and Earth together to create a perfect world. Yu IlHan knew very well what kind of abilities he needed to utilize in order to do that.

“Blacksmithing.”

“.....IlHan?”

Liera, who could only cheer from the sidelines, was shocked after hearing Yu IlHan mutter. At that point, she thought ‘no way’, but couldn’t stay like that after hearing his next words.

“Mana crafting.”

“Dad, is that perhaps.....”

“Soul enchant.”

He had plenty of materials.

The crafter was here.

There was more than enough mana.

The lifeforce also existed as well.

[In this time and place, Dragon’s Nest.]

The power of ‘miracles’ that Na YuNa made was finally consumed this moment. Yu IlHan brought out all the power he could bring out. The Cradle of Miracles that was scattered in the atmosphere of Dareu had decreased into the size of a bean and appeared on Yu IlHan’s palm, before disappearing without a trace.

[Shall be created.]

An unrecorded record. A technique that was already completed the moment it was made. A miracle that was allowed only to Yu IlHan. An incubator that incubated possibilities into reality.

The Cradle of Miracles appeared once again. This time, it enveloped both Dareu and Earth and formed a humongous egg that could not be fully observed with the eyes.

The prophecy was finally fulfilled.

Chapter 335: Harmageddon – 11

When Kim YeSeul opened her eyes, she was met with an endless sea of flames. Her front, back, above her, below her, left and right – each and every side was tinted a bright red. She was momentarily afraid that she would be burnt to death, but ended up being confused since it felt more comfortable than anything.

She remembered having felt this once before, and realized that it was during the process in which she became a higher existence through the Cradle of Miracles.

She finally realized what was going on. Yu IlHan had definitely activated Declaration along with Creation and threw the Cradle of Miracles high up into the sky, and due to that, Dareu and Earth started being tied into a single entity.

Just what exactly happened after that? She was scared because she couldn't see anyone else in her surroundings. However, it was mysterious since she could clearly feel Helièna's hand and Erta's hand in each of hers.

Wait, hands? She muttered carefully.

"Erta, Helièna, can you hear me?"

"Probably."

"It seems like darling is doing his best to protect all of us."

"Fuu, so that's what's happening..... I wish he could have done it in a.... calmer way."

This was probably a type of interspace created by the Cradle of Miracles. Even right now, a horrifying scene of mana going haywire and matter and non-matter being assimilated with each other. Yu IlHan had chosen this method to protect all the members of Dragon's Nest.

[You have stopped your calculations. The great leader is wishing for the completion of this magic formation. O, mage, please hurry up.]

"Yes, let's keep going."

Kim YeSeul held onto her faint consciousness and continued calculating the magic formulae. She had to calculate the total mass of energy as well as the surface area and epicenter of the world that would be born after Yu IlHan compressed the entirety of Daeru, and had to complete a spherical magic formation before then.

[The two magic formations shall become one. You shall mark the center of the world.]

His son's Declaration could be heard from an unknown place. The Creation abilities it possessed instantly amplified the power of the Will of the Guardian. Kim YeSeul soon realized what the two magic formations were referring to. It was the ancient elven magic formation that covered the entirety of Dareu (aka 'carpet), and the body of the Will of the Guardian.

[Khaaaaaaaaaaaaah, just what is this insane lump of power, and records! Before I am a magic formation, I am a golem! You gave me such a huge burden! Yu IlHan, my master and my most detested enemy! You force upon me unspeakable pain even after I stood on your side!]

"Please hold on for a little. I'm calculating now!"

"But it's still too hard. Unless Yu IlHan forms the vague outline of the world.....!"

"You know that it isn't so easy to do, lady."

"We can do it. We only need to formulate a universal magic formula that can be applied anytime, anywhere. Don't we?"

"That's easy for you to say..... But fine. We have to do it."

"Good, let's do it."

The two mages gathered their heads. The Will of the Guardian accepted their intentions even under the intense pain that almost made its mind go black and changed form continuously, while clenching its teeth in order to settle down in the incubating world.

[What I wish to protect, what I wish to see is Earth.....! Let's see whose will is stronger!]

***

Kang MiRae too, was thrown into the red interspace. She made a bitter smile while feeling a string of mana that connected her to the gate.

The gate was pressuring her as if it would shrink and close at a moments notice, and maintaining that with massive amounts of mana without resting for so much as the smallest fraction of a second made her feel like her mind would shut off first before the gate did.

However, Kang MiRae didn't give up. She was the lord of mana, and a dimensional mage. If she couldn't maintain a single magic, then she wouldn't be qualified to call herself a mage anymore.

"Because no one helped him, that he prepared everything so that he could do everything himself, huh....."

Kang MiRae ended up laughing after muttering what Yu IlHan said last time. She once wondered why she was so attracted to Yu IlHan, but thinking about it now, it was so obvious. Kang MiRae and Yu IlHan were similar fundamentally.

'Everyone flattered me and tried to do everything for me because of my family backing, so it was hard to properly judge my own value.'

She wanted to be acknowledged with her abilities alone. Without any assistance from her family, her father, her brother, or her friends, she wanted to stand with her own power, and put the best of her efforts in everything. Although their motivations were the complete opposite, Kang MiRae and Yu IlHan's actions ended up following the same pattern. Quite ironic.

'So that's why I was attracted to him. I finally get it now.'

Honestly, she thought that the reason didn't matter much, but still felt refreshed after knowing exactly what happened. At the same time, an assurance of some kind, or the thought that leaving things this way was fine, smeared into her body.

Even though maintaining 'Galactic Trajectory' brought her a tremendous headache, Kang MiRae made a bitter smile. She raised her staff high, and closed her eyes after putting one of her hands onto the Crown of Wisdom.

“It was possible to connect two separate dimensions, so it should be possible to make two into one. Please let me be of help to Mr. IlHan. My will shall blossom into hope.”

Rainbow-colored magic power was added on top of Galactic Trajectory. Her outrageous attempt at going beyond just connecting two dimensions but to fuse two dimensions into one became another small miracle.

***

Na YuNa, who had also been thrown into the red interspace as well, did not panic at all. Her power of miracles was currently closely connected with Yu IlHan, and she could feel vividly what he was doing.

“Huh?”

Rather, what surprised her was a strand of thought-soul that approached her through her miracle. She was very familiar with this thought-soul, and it was very warm, and exuded a sense of beauty simply with its presence.

[YuNa, I’m not dead yet.]

“Huh, Lady Leytna. I thought you were completely dead~.”

[Just how can you be so rude with every single sentence you speak. Well, you were born pretty so I guess you can’t help it.]

This was the moment the reason behind Na YuNa’s blessing was clearly revealed. Na YuNa went a step further.

“I think I’m prettier than you right now, Lady Leytna.”

[Hmm, I admit that.]

“It’s not only that. You saw my man, right? He’s so cool. He’s probably one of a kind, whether it’s the past or the future.”

[Well, yeah. In the current world, that man was indeed the best. But that man still isn’t yours though.]

“He will be soon!”

[Mm.....]

Leytna seemed to ponder a bit before speaking.

[You can't just go at such a man with just a face. I thought that was enough before, but it didn't turn out to be the case.]

"Then what do I need to do?"

[You can't go with just a face, but an insanely pretty face!]

"Ah!"

Na YuNa gained enlightenment after hearing Leytna's weird advice. So that's it! If Na YuNa was waaaaay prettier than Liera or Helièna, to the point that she was pretty enough that no one could not look at her, then Yu IlHan would have shown a reaction much earlier on! Leytna's teaching came down on the foolish Na YuNa, hard.

[No matter how pretty you think you are, you got to make yourself up a little more, and bless yourself with miracles every time you wake up, before you eat breakfast, after you eat breakfast, as you brush your teeth, as you put on makeup, as you do your business, as you walk, before you eat lunch, after you eat lunch, and every other bit of time you have and try to make yourself prettier! You are still too naïve, too arrogant!]

"How can this be! I was so foolish. I thought I was the top beauty since you died, but I still have a long ways to go!"

[If you keep my words in mind then you will be able to seduce that man. He's a good man so you can't let go of him. It will be an embarrassment for the goddess of beauty if you let go of such a man.]

"I'll keep that in mind, lady Leytna!"

At that time, a strand of warm energy entered Na YuNa's body. She realized this was the final bit of power that Leytna possessed.

"Thanks, Lady Leytna."

[I'll really go and die now. Oh, can you tell your man that we thank you for liberating us?]

"Then I can't listen to your voice from now on?"

[In the future, when your man can sense records that are unrecordable, perhaps we may be able to meet once again.]

“Records that are unrecordable..... So that’s it. It works like that.”

“Recorded gods”? How funny was that. Akashic Record called them ‘gods’ because they surpassed the limits of what it could record because they were too exceptional in a single field, and there would likely be no successor to them in the future.

But the ignorant could not accept that their vision was narrow and degraded the beings that transcended records by referring to them as ‘recorded gods’. There couldn’t be a more foolish thing.

“I think that much will be able to work on Mr. IlHan~.”

[Yes, that’s it. Your faith will make the impossible possible, and become your man’s power in the name of ‘miracles’. Do your best, the new goddess of beauty. I’m tired after all this time. I want to rest now.]

“See you later, lady Leytna.”

Na YuNa bid farewell with a bright smile. That voice didn’t go anywhere and only remained in Na YuNa’s consciousness. Leytna’s will had appeared in her consciousness after all.

[Yes, see you later.]

Then she disappeared, as quietly as she had arrived. Na YuNa made a smile, and added more miracles with her newly acquired power.

[Mana that follows me, all creation that has fallen for my beauty! Please help the one I love, please make everything that he wishes to do, possible!]

***

Yu IlHan closed his eyes. Fusing two equal worlds into one is already hard enough, but right now, he had to drag Earth’s position up to where Dareu was, when it was overwhelmingly inferior in comparison.

If he could just mix in any way possible, then he wouldn’t have used a difficult magic like Galactic Trajectory. Neither would he have had to ask Na YuNa for miracles.

[You are both mine.]

Perhaps what he was doing had similarities to cooking. Since the results of cooking differed a lot according to the amount of ingredients put in.

He had to be delicate, precise, and sincere. Though, this wasn't something he should say since he learned cooking through trial and error, but since he understood the essence of cooking with the help of the Akashic Record, he was, in any case, at the very peak of cooking!

[So you shall become equal through me.]

Just why did I do a Declaration like this one – the moment he uttered that line, Yu IlHan regretted it. Well, yes. Through the ruler, Yu IlHan, it was indeed possible to equalize the two worlds, but didn't that mean that the power of Dareu that was completed would assault Yu IlHan once again!

However, this was the only method, screw it all! Either all of his thoughts will halt, or the two worlds will be complete as one.

At that time, an unexpected source of support came. The dimension magic that Kang MiRae used synchronized not just Earth and Dareu but the two dimensions that they were in and made the flow of power between the two worlds more natural. It was a perfect assist to the point that it made him wonder if she read his mind or not.

“Miss MiRae, she's amazing indeed.”

To think she'd enhance Galactic Trajectory which was a miracle in itself... Yu IlHan chuckled since this was so absurd. However, that wasn't the only help. The miracles that Na YuNa emitted had become significantly stronger and started protecting his body!

“Hah.”

He would have poured kisses on her if she had been by his side... though, perhaps it's fortunate that she wasn't, because he'd get beaten up by Liera later if he did that. Yu IlHan sighed in relief and raised his head again. He could feel that the pain that assaulted his body from the moment he uttered the Declaration, decreasing slightly.

The assurance that he can actually succeed came to him for the first time. The incubation process for Earth and Dareu fusing into one. Although this was a very short time that didn't even last even a millionth of a second, that instant would dictate their fates.

“Good, with this..... with everyone's help.”

He raised his hands. The mana that comprised the two worlds entered his body and flowed out again before being synchronized at an incredibly slow pace. No, the two were already one. If he was the world, then the world was him as well.

A smile appeared on Yu IlHan's lips. Thinking about this world in the future, and the expressions of his enemies, he couldn't help but be overjoyed.

“Let's do this.”

Why was he called God, why was he called the Creator.

He finally understood why.

He was now ready.

Chapter 336: Harmageddon – 12

He once learnt about the universe.

The sun, and the planets that orbited it, as well as Earth that was just one of those few planets; the galaxy that surrounded the solar system, the universe that enveloped the many galaxies – what did Yu IlHan feel while learning about those?

He was afraid. Very, very afraid. He was afraid of his small span of recognition being widened, and was afraid of the fact that he was worth less than a speck of dust compared to the universe.

Then, he was left on Earth alone, met Liera, learnt the truth about other worlds, broadened his horizons and finally came to see the world in a new light .....

.....and now, he became able to fill the entire world just by himself.

He was no longer afraid. He was in perfect control of everything, so he had nothing to fear.

“If I worried about the distortion of the atmosphere due to the size of the planet, or the change in solar gravity, then I wouldn’t even have started all this. The world changes so much according to how you see it and at what angle you are viewing from.”

Thinking about it, it was funny. Yu IlHan looked down at the two worlds while chuckling. The two were both planets but at the same time not planets, separated by many, many galaxies yet coexisted in the same space.

Perhaps he could glance up and look at the ceiling of the universe, or crouch down to see the floor of it. He extended his hands to connect the two worlds and laughed. So what if he could or couldn’t reach them? The universe shall be redefined based on his recognition of it.

[I shall repeat but the two shall become equal. Become equal to each other, harmonize, and become one.]

What if he had headed to Earth instead of Dareu at first? Of course, not everything would have been over even if that were the case.

Earth would have immediately ascended into a higher world, and he would panic due to the sudden influx of the people of Earth, but he would have looked for a way to fight against the enemy while protecting them regardless of the outcome. There would not be new dragons in Dragon's Nest, there would have been a lot of enemies invading Earth, and a lot of people he had to protect, and so he would have a hard time, but that would also become a precious experience.

There was no 'wrong choice' in the first place. It was foolish to think that a right choice had made everything different. Whichever path he chose, a variety of different outcomes will be produced depending on how much effort he put in.

So, foreknowledge, prophecies and all that were all meaningless. If he wished to, then he could make them come true, and if he wished to prevent them, then he could prevent each and every one of them from being fulfilled. Everything could be decided by him alone.

No, that's not it.

Everything could be decided by Yu IlHan, and the ones by his side; all of them, together.

[I shall repeat, the two shall become equal. No imbalances shall be allowed. Face each other, and give each other dirt, water, skies, mana, and all other things that exist.]

Right now, Yu IlHan was a Creator who stood on top of countless miracles. According to his order, the two worlds started synchronizing without much difficulty. The moment a double-sided scale with each of the world in its arms were truly balanced, the 'fusion evolution' of the two worlds would finally begin.

[The skill, Cooking, can evolve.]

It was at that moment that a completely unexpected message filled his retina. Yu IlHan momentarily forgot about the balance of the two worlds and absentmindedly stared at that message.

Wait, why was the Cooking skill evolving at this point? There should have been no advanced version of Cooking, just what could be created from this opportunity?

Wait, something new could be made with two different skills? When he realized that, a lightning struck past his head. What he also remembered was the moment when he became the leader of Dragon's Nest.

What did he do then? He created himself with the Creation ability, and made new skills by fusing other skills, didn't he?

Yes, that was it! What else was Creation if that wasn't? Yes, he already had the ability to create skills as he wished! He was so bound by the original method of sole evolution and fusion evolution that were 'recorded on the Akashic Record' and missed the crux of his foundation!

How foolish. How idiotic! There was a much faster and easier method, but he had come such a long, roundabout way simply because he didn't realize he could do this!

'But it's not like all of this was meaningless.'

All steps have their value, and are recorded. He became able to understand Kang MiRae deeper than before, got to meet the true Na YuNa, and had acquired without doubt, the loyalty and hearts of everyone else here.

The current realization was all thanks to them as well. Yes, it wasn't too late. In fact, this was the perfect moment.

[Using your Creation ability, fusing all of your skills into one and creating a new skill.]

A message popped up. Even though there was not a speck of emotion within that message, Yu IlHan felt as if the Akashic Record was mocking him.

It threw him the message the moment Yu IlHan realized that he could do it even though it knew that he had long since been capable of that. Of course, it was merely telling him what he could see, but he still didn't like it so much.

[Fusing Cooking, Blacksmithing, Mana crafting, Soul enchant, and Magic engineering into one.]

Soul enchant should be impossible to be used in fusion-evolution since it had already fuse-evolved before. Well, it was according to what was recorded. But how was that important? He had already surpassed records once, so why not twice?

[An unrecordable skill creation is activating.]

[Restructuring the Akashic Record. 'Creation' is newly added.]

[You have acquired the active skill, Creation. Now you have understood the method.]

“Yes, now I know the method.”

Yu IlHan pouted and replied to the Akashic Record. Not that there would be a reply from it. Akashic Record was merely a mirror that accurately reflected Yu IlHan as he was.

“Creation.”

[Activating Creation.]

Dareu and Earth were now at an equal level. The scale that weighed the two worlds did not tilt to one side anymore. Once he raised his hand, the fusion of the two worlds would finally commence.

Yu IlHan checked the states of the others before he implemented the skill. He had already separated the city that possessed an insane mana density, and operated with the two fortresses as the core. His companions were being protected in that place. Everyone was safe. Although they were having a hard time, they were still safe.

Ah, it seems like Kim YeSeul did it. He could see the Will of the Guardian completely gaining control of the carpet and preparing for the transformation. Really, it couldn't have been at a better time.

[Will of the Guardian, I shall grant you a new name.]

Even without purposefully activating the skill, his words that contained his will became Declaration and entered the ears of the Will of the Guardian. It didn't reply back, but he could know that it was paying attention to his words.

[You are henceforth Earth. You are, the Earth itself.]

[So you finally admit it?]

[Yes. I admit it.]

Smiled Yu IlHan. The Will of the Guardian, now called Earth, also smiled.

After that, everything found its way to their respective places. The two words fused, and became 'Earth'. Everything progressed at a rapid rate as if all the difficulties they had faced until now were a lie.

No matter how much mana flooded the world, it could no longer harm Yu IlHan. Everything was his, and at the same time, the world's. There was no differentiation on their ownership.

The Cradle of Miracles that enveloped everything cracked, before eventually splitting apart with a cracking sound. The Cradle of Miracles that became one with Yu IlHan, fulfilled its mission and spread around to the world. The world was his, and the Cradle of Miracles was also his.

A beautiful, attractive, yet huge world appeared in the place the Cradle of Miracles disappeared. Yu IlHan uttered a chic line.

"The Earth is blue, and here is the God."

[Earth was complete.]

[The skill, Creation, has become level 2.]

"Whew, a single level up after all this insane stuff. It will be a long and arduous path to mastery."

Even while grumbling at the message that appeared, his lips were still held in a smile. Then, he immediately lowered his altitude and landed on the city.

The city was still suspended in midair without being fused with Earth, and the others were exclaiming at the state of Earth after they opened their eyes.

"Wow, it really is Earth!"

"I think it became huge. Though, I'm too small to recognize any of that."

"Mr. IlHan. We succeeded right?"

Asked Kang MiRae with conviction in her eyes. Yu IlHan smiled and nodded his head.

“Of course. Everything is perfect and complete.”

“Then why is our city still floating in the air~?”

“I can fuse it back anytime, but now’s not the time. We aren’t quite done yet.”

Yu IlHan pondered for a moment. At this point, everything would go his way, but he still thought that it would be for the best if he did things the way he wanted.

“Then I should do what I was originally going to do.”

“What is this thing that you were originally going to do, son? Care to tell me?”

There’s no way Kim YeSeul was completely aware of the changes that occurred in Yu IlHan, but she seemed to vaguely notice the fundamental change in him. Her calm words made Yu IlHan refreshed. He playfully winked and spoke.

“The Hourglass of Eternity.”

“.....Huh!?”

That comes in here at this point!? While everyone was flabbergasted, Yu IlHan uttered utter nonsense with shining eyes.

“We could slow down time so much when we were lower existences, but now that we became so strong, and became able to utilize artifacts better, and the Will of the Guardian, Earth, became perfect as well, so how far can we slow down the flow of time! Isn’t this fun! Aren’t you looking forward to it?”

“Wao.....”

Uttered Na YuNa. Liera sighed and palmed her forehead.

“My heart never stopped pounding ever since I met IlHan..... in a bad way!”

“Ladies, have you heard of the words ‘it’s better to be safe than sorry’?”

Yu IlHan’s voice was uselessly serious. Helièna nodded with a joyful smile.

“It means that we need to prepare enough to be safe rather than doing something vaguely and be sorry for it later, darling.”

“Yes. It’s a great idiom meaning that I should not act until I am convinced that I can defeat the last boss, the true last boss that comes after that, the hidden dungeon that comes after the true last boss, and the hidden last boss that comes out at the end of the hidden dungeon, and the true-true last boss that can only be met when I install a super expensive downloadable content later, even after I have the strongest equipment and maxed out all my levels.”

Yu IlHan took out the Hourglass of Eternity and gripped on it. Earth reacted and started emitting light. Naturally, he could now create a barrier that could cover the whole Earth and have plenty of room left over.

Earth replied.

[I am prepared.]

“Good, let us prepare then, so that we can remain leisurely even if the true-true-true-true last boss appears.”

The barrier activated.

This was the longest instant that someone stopped time, since the beginning of time.

Chapter 337: Harmageddon – 13

While Dareu and Earth were still in the process of combining, the ones that were isolated in the aerial city weren't just the members of Dragon's Nest. The people who Yu IlHan had brought back from the various worlds were all there as well.

As such, they could all watch the transformation process of Earth, and how the flow of time changed outside Earth.

"So he was God after all!"

"I won't have any regrets even if I die now, since I got to see something so amazing."

"Time stopped..... No, were we thrown into the gaps of time instead?"

Even the most foolish of humans could not help but feel a sense of wanting to worship Yu IlHan and his companions after they showed them this astounding scene. Two worlds combining into one, a giant city levitating in the air, a magic that envelops the world with not much more than a wave of his hand..... It was no wonder that they subconsciously felt admiration for Yu IlHan.

Decisively, Yu IlHan's current figure had an aspect that differed from everyone else's right now. Trivial to the point that he may disappear at any moment, yet brighter than anyone in that place – his very existence right now was a contradiction, so who else could be called God if he wasn't?

"Please answer us, God."

"What do you demand of us?"

Yu IlHan, who only thought about what he had to prepare from now on regardless of what others called him, glanced at them and gave a short reply.

"Just go anywhere and don't die in a ditch. You just need to live well."

"Live....."

Yu IlHan gradually lowered the city and put all the people back on Earth. The world that looked both like Earth and Dareu at once, was rather chaotic due to the scenery taking on characteristics of both mother nature and the remnants of human civilization, but it still looked exceptionally beautiful.

Every place was a mystery, and every place was now their land.

“Go to wherever you want. The final battle will not occur here. You are becoming my source of power just by being in this world.”

“Wherever we want.....”

This was why he had left the aerial city levitating in the air. The city was definitely a part of Earth and was bound to it, but for now, it was possible for it to move according to Yu IlHan’s intentions.

Well, if Yu IlHan wished to, then he could actually bring Earth anywhere and go to Satan or Greed or whoever, but why would he do that? A tiny portion of it was enough. A portion was the same as the whole and the whole was the same as a portion.

Yu IlHan returned to the city with his original members. Of course, the dragons that resided in the city before were also with them. Some said that they wished to look around Earth and were flying around with their wings fully outstretched.

“Really, a great spectacle.....”

“MiRae, I can see a tree that’s growing bigger than the 63 Building right next to it. <sup>1</sup>. The people will probably cut it down because it blocks the sunlight. How pitiful...”

“You’re worried about the people cutting the giant tree instead of the fact that such a big tree can actually grow?”

Yu IlHan looked around and explained to the speechless companions.

“The internet should be working as well.”

“Can you explain more logically?”

“If you explain mana to me logically then sure.”

“Then can you explain it simply?”

“The entire Earth entered the barrier of the Hourglass of Eternity. No matter how much time passes within the barrier, it will be a mere instant once we exit. It’s different from the time I was dropped out.”

“Aha.”

“Dropped out.....?”

Yu IlHan and Liera exchanged their regular banter, but Kang MiRae reacted sensitively. Na YuNa also perked her ears up.

In fact, they still hadn’t heard properly about the story of Yu IlHan’s past. The higher existences that Yu IlHan clashed with all knew of his millennium dropout period, so they weren’t that surprised at this point, but the majority of people here weren’t aware.

“Son, will that be fine?”

Kim YeSeul had noticed that Yu IlHan had started talking about this on purpose and looked at him with worried eyes. However, Yu IlHan nodded with a small smile.

“It will be rude to keep it a secret forever, and the people here are all qualified to know anyway. It’s strange for some to know while some don’t, isn’t it? Being left out is not a good feeling. I know because that’s the emotion that was with me my whole life.”

No, this wasn’t what he was truly thinking. He just said that because he was too embarrassed to say the truth.

The reason Yu IlHan started talking about the dropout period himself, in front of everyone is because.....

“I have the courage now. I felt that it would be fine to share more about myself with others now. And so..... I want everyone to listen.”

“I want to listen.”

“Me too, I was always curious about you. I was always waiting for you to say it!”

“.....”

Kim YeSeul felt stifled and closed her mouth. The emotions she felt as a parent that watched her son grow splendidly without much of her help weren't just pride and affection.

"And also."

Worried that his mother would burst out crying, Yu IlHan playfully added.

"We have a lot of time now. Well, we might as well film the epilogue, the afterword, and even season two before we head to the last battle."

"Me! Me! I want a 2nd season about your and my son in action!"

While Na YuNa was being punished by Liera for that, Yu IlHan headed to the Flying fortress within the aerial city.

No, before that he 'Declared' with the monsters as the focus, (Since all of Earth is within the barrier, the innumerable monsters that arose in the fusion of Earth and Dareu were walking around.) such that they couldn't attack humans first.

"Isn't that a cheap move!?"

"Non-aggressive monsters always make the player's heart rest easy. I've already set my mind regarding the right to survive for monsters."

"You really haven't changed your mind about that ever since!"

At this point, he was shameless to the point that he was cool! Yu IlHan brought the speechless companions to the guest room of the Flying fortress.

A single wave of his hand made a teapot on the side boil water by itself, before pouring tea for the others. Yu IlHan sipped his tea and heaved a great deep sigh.

"Then..... I guess I should start from the Great Cataclysm on Earth."

"Not before that!?"

"Before the Great Cataclysm I was a normal..... well a little serious.... loner."

"So he was conscious of it!"

The story that started continued until Na YuNa had her 7th cup of tea. Since the time outside had completely stopped, the color of the sky didn't change at all, so it was unknown how much time had passed, but it was for sure that it was incomparably short compared to the duration that Yu IlHan experienced, alone on Earth.

“.....So that’s what happened.”

After Yu IlHan finished his story and silence flowed for a while, Kang MiRae eventually raised her head that drooped very low throughout the story and stared at the unchanging sky before muttering.

“So you stared at the halted sky like that one for one whole millennium.....”

“Even the clouds didn’t flow back then.”

“He wasn’t alone. I was there too. I was there by his side all the time!”

“Liera-unni, you’re cheating.”

Meanwhile, Na YuNa nitpicked with Liera with a pouting face.

“With a whole thousand years, I could have seduced Mr. IlHan with room to spare!”

“Why weren’t you born early and ascend to angelhood before then?”

“No, wait. Then are my preferences older male~? No wonder I felt nothing of my peers!”

“It was a preference problem?”

Even while talking, Yu IlHan was concerned about the potential change in attitude towards him, and so, he was relieved that they still looked calm.

Kang MiRae understood what he was thinking about and accepted the current him, and Na YuNa wasn’t acting serious as ever. He laughed and clapped once to gather attention.

“That’s the end of my story. Well, I did wonder if I was a genius or not since I became so strong with just a thousand years of training in a world without mana, but it seems like I am one indeed. It actually does feel like life is all about bloodline and talent. That’s it, finished.”

“It was an emotional and a sad story but the ending was the worst!”

“Well, then. Let’s get back to work.”

Yu IlHan placed the Hourglass of Eternity on top of the large table. The sand within the Hourglass was moving ridiculously slowly and made people wonder if it was even moving at all, but just looking at it would make anyone stifled.

“I’m going to allow all of the people of Earth to see this. By the time all of this falls, we will gather in this city once again, and finish off the ones that disturb our slow life. Please remember that nothing is over yet. I won’t give orders on how to act other than that, but let’s make it a well lived life without regrets, if possible.”

“Yes, dad! I’ll make Dragon’s Army stronger!”

“He sounds like the principal of a prestigious school.....”

The only one that listened to his words seriously was his son Yumir. Other than him, all of the others were falling asleep without replying as though it was the first day of school, after a long and relaxing break.

“Well, then..... [You shall be visible to everyone.]”

Yu IlHan’s Declaration skill activated and projected the Hourglass of Eternity into a huge video in the sky. Since everything would go his way if he wished to, this couldn’t even be called a miracle anymore.

“Wouldn’t this last about a thousand years as well?”

“I’m fine with only one experience like that in my life.”

Yu IlHan smacked Liera’s forehead lightly and stood up.

Although he ordered free action to the others, he himself had a lot to do. Although he was a little bit self-aware that he was now perfect as the God of Earth, that did not necessarily lead to might. Like how the strongest chef cannot win against the strongest fighter, the two fields differed slightly.

Of course, the strongest chef may be able to win by lining the stomach of the fighter with poisoned food. What Yu IlHan was about to do now was like that – to create an environment where only he would win. This was a specialty of loners.

“Good, let’s start with Archlegna and Raphael’s bodies. Oh, how joyful.”

“I’m going to watch IlHan like I always did. Like what I did for that thousand years!”

“Wow, you’re making it so obvious that you monopolized him for a thousand years.”

“Then I will also be by darling’s side. Fufu.”

“You still have areas where you can become stronger in. Kim YeSeul, you will cooperate with me in researching magic, won’t you?”

“Of course, Erta.”

Since the long story was over and they were given orders to scatter, they had no reason to remain here. The others all found their work to do. Yu IlHan also went to his workshop with Helièna and Liera that attached to him like bugs.

“And MiRae?”

Kim YeSeul, who was about to leave the guestroom with Erta noticed Kang MiRae who was still sitting by herself and called out to her.”

“We have a lot to learn from you, MiRae. Can you help us?”

“Of course, mother. But for now..... could I rest for a bit?”

Spoke Kang MiRae in a voice that didn’t project her emotions. Kim YeSeul nodded with a warm smile.

“Okay then.”

“Ufufu, at the time you became the lord of magic, your aura is completely different. I also want to be enlightened on the truth of magic.....”

Even after a long time had passed since Kim YeSeul and Erta left, Kang MiRae stared at the skies. She stopped and stared indefinitely, along with the halted time.

‘I thought I understood everything, but in the end..... I did not know how to see him, but was only looking for my own figure within him. Aah, so embarrassing and painful.....’

A teardrop rolled off the side of her cheek and fell into the empty teacup. Kang MiRae stayed there until Kim YeSeul came back to call for her.

Meanwhile, Na YuNa was bawling her eyes out on her bed, with her face buried in the pillow, in her private chamber. Although she thought that she did good by not showing it because Yu IlHan may get worried, she couldn't stop her emotions from overflowing.

“sob, I can't let my eyes be swollen. I'll become ugly if my eyes become swollen.....”

It was very like Na YuNa to be worried about her looks even while crying. She wouldn't be able to appeal to Yu IlHan if she cried the whole day! Even while making such useless worries, she bawled her eyes out. In the end, it took almost an entire day before she could calm down and exit her room.

Meanwhile, the lord of the city, and at the same time, the owner of the Flying fortress, Yu IlHan, became really embarrassed after unintentionally watching all of their actions. Although he cut his connection as soon as he saw them, but he had already seen some of it.

“IlHan, why are you rolling on the floor like that?”

“I'm cleaning my workshop using my body as the mop so don't talk to me for now.”

Yu IlHan could only start working after the workshop floor was speckless.

Chapter 338: Harmageddon – 14

Yu IlHan first decided to analyze the composition of Raphael's body. In the process of accepting Uriel into Dragon's Nest, he did get to know a lot of information about the extent of God's powers as well as that of the Four Great Archangels, but in the end, Uriel had become a dragon midway. The records he acquired from her weren't complete.

"However, Raphael had died as an archangel. My dad completely threw away his position in the Four Great Archangels, and Michael surpassed that and became a transcender, so the only remaining member of the Four Great Archangels is Raphael."

"Though, he's the worst in terms of performance."

Added Liera. Yu IlHan picked up his tools with a bitter smile.

"Well then, let's start the analysis."

His wings, skin, brain, flesh, muscle, bones – he dismantled everything perfectly and delicately extracted the shoulder blades. In a scene where other people would mistakenly assume to be a murder investigation, Yu IlHan eventually came to a conclusion.

"This guy's a miss too."

"A miss?"

"He has almost no power as one of the Four Great Archangels. Compared to the Uriel from before she became a dragon, he's almost weaker by two entire classes."

"Isn't it because he died?"

"No."

Yu IlHan remembered that Raphael's specialty lay in healing. He had a tremendous self-regenerative powers, but his power to heal others had also reached the extreme as well. And at the moment where he healed Michael, he definitely did possess a tremendous amount of power. But.....

“He was so easily killed by me.”

“Isn’t it just because you’re absurdly strong, IlHan?”

“Considering how the Four Great Angels stole power from God. They should practically be leaps and bounds stronger than the Battalion Commanders of other factions.”

However, Raphael’s death was in vain, much more so than that of any other Battalion Commander. That was because he was insta-killed by Yu IlHan’s Transcendent Trajectory.

Not only that, he didn’t die alone, but was killed together with the 1st Battalion Commander Keshein of the Destruction Demon Army. Even the buy one get one free packages of cookies at the store wouldn’t have such a vain ending.

“Raphael’s power were transferred to Michael before he was killed by me. I’m sure of it. There are traces here.”

“Is that why Michael could become a transcender easily?”

“It would have been impossible if he didn’t have the qualities at all, but, mmm.....”

Yu IlHan pondered for a moment. Too many things appeared on his head.

“I made a countermeasure for Michael and whoever that was backing him, but I guess I’ve got another weapon now.”

“..... You thought of something with just that?”

“Didn’t you say Raphael gave Michael his power as one of the Four Great Archangels, darling? Do you mean that you can do something with this empty shell?”

“No, Helièna. I did say the power of the Four Great Archangels was transferred from Raphael’s possession to Michael’s, but never did I say that Raphael willingly gave it to him.”

“Huh? Mm.....mm!”

Helièna soon realized what he meant.

“Michael stole it!?”

“Well, it’s not surprising for you girls to not know since you weren’t there. But before Raphael charged towards me, there was a brief moment where Michael was healed by Raphael. And Immediately after that, Raphael charged at me, and Michael pretended to hold him back.”

“Pretended to hold him back? What do you mean.....”

“He only called him back with words. If he really wanted to hold him back, then he would have beaten him up then and there.”

They became speechless. That was actually true!

“I didn’t think much about it since I don’t have a lot of interest in Raphael, but Raphael made an expression as though he wasn’t supposed to die in a place like this. It wasn’t that he was overconfident in himself, but a natural kind of confidence. But? He instantly died with one Transcendent Trajectory. Why? Because he had lost his healing powers by then. I can even remember his last words. [Aah, how can-] (T/N: Chapter 296 for those who are interested). [How can this be, to think I’ll be betrayed. I shouldn’t have trusted that damned bastard!] or so it could have been.”

Raphael should have had complete faith in Michael, but Michael splendidly betrayed him and even stole his power. He had already realized something the moment Yu IlHan awakened as a transcender and was preparing something! And he stole Raphael’s power for that reason!

“Wait, darling. I get that it’s very likely for that to be the case.”

Helièna still had some questions remaining.

“But that doesn’t change the fact that this is an empty shell. Just what are you going to do with it?”

“The important part is the origin of the body, I guess you don’t know yet. What is more important about an artifact than its functionality is ‘its history’.”

“Sorry, darling. I’m a complete idiot in that field.”

“Good, then I shall put it in words that even elementary schoolers can understand.”

Yu IlHan picked up one of Raphael's resentful eyeballs and made a refreshing smile.

"What could have this guy thought the moment he died realizing that everything he had was stolen?"

"He harboured deep resentment."

"Not that one."

"I want to kill everything."

"Similar, but not that one either."

That was way too simplified! After Liera's parade of wrong answers, the one that gave the correct answer was Helièna.

"I want to take revenge in the exact same way."

A smirk appeared on Yu IlHan's lips after hearing her answer. That was the most Destruction Demon Army-like answer, and at the same time, the most human of answers.

"That's it. Do you now get what I'm trying to make?"

"Yes, I understand. So that will become the greatest weapon."

"Dammit, you won't normally think of such a creepy thought."

"When you are almost dead and dying, you can naturally think of such creepy thoughts."

Yu IlHan separated the unnecessary parts and the less sturdy parts from Raphael's body and melted them down. This process allowed the flames to be more synchronized with the materials and raise the league of the completed product.

"Well then. We have the fire and the materials, so I guess I should begin."

"Where's the anvil, and the hammer?"

"I don't need such things anymore."

Yu IlHan chuckled and activated the Creation skill.

[Activating Creation. Achieving what you aim for, in this place.]

Creation embodied both life and non-organic materials, and since he was not the inferior self of before, he didn't have to try and infuse a soul every time he created something.

However, it wasn't like there wasn't a being that was suited to this weapon.

Raphael? Well, of course, since it was his powers that were stolen, he would have the most resentment towards Michael, but the most enraged was someone else regarding this incident. The most upright, angelic, beautiful, yet tragic person to Yu IlHan's knowledge.

Yu IlHan took a deep breath..... and carefully, very carefully called 'her' name.

"Spiera, are you awake?"

".....IlHan, what did you just say?"

"Darling?"

Having heard his voice, Liera's and Helièna's eyes both widened. They still wondered if things could get any more surprising than this, but this really took the cake.

"What do you mean Spiera, IlHan, don't tell me you...?"

"Yeah."

After Yu IlHan fought and killed Spiera, Yu IlHan had never voiced the words 'Spiera' even once. That was because he knew that he had to kill her, but he still felt unpleasant for having killed her himself. Every time he thought of her, he even felt that he was facing the inhumane, cold and utterly merciless side of himself.

The others also didn't voice her name out in consideration for him. That was why it was hard to believe his words right now.

"You possess Spiera's thought-soul?"

"I got over half of your soul, Helièna. You don't suppose that I couldn't take Spiera's, did you?"

"I thought you didn't take it."

"What are you saying."

It seemed like the others still didn't know what kind of powers Yu IlHan possessed as a deathgod. Yu IlHan chuckled and corrected their misconception.

"All actions that end a life have an inerasable responsibility behind it. For others, it may be a debt to their heart, or sin, but for me, the responsibility for killing, after a certain point..... were souls."

"IlHan, those words....."

Liera's eyes trembled. Yu IlHan made a merciful smile and finished his words.

"It's impossible to not take them. They are all here with me. They are all together with me."

"Darling....."

The two higher existences became speechless. And as if having waited for that moment, a streak of a clear voice entered Yu IlHan's ears.

[I am awake, Yu IlHan. After I was taken with you, I did not close my eyes even once, and have not covered my ears even for one instant.]

Her voice could be heard by Liera and Helièna as well. The two became quiet as they remembered Spiera's final moments. Only Yu IlHan replied to her.

"You have not called out to me even once, have you?"

[I tried to leave Heaven with you, and tried to teach you the spear. The former, you have rejected, and the latter you have achieved an even higher realm than me, so I no longer had any matter to tie myself to you with. Moreover..... I did not wish to give more burden to you who already bears such a huge cross on your shoulders.]

"You are really, such a kind person."

[Call me foolish instead.]

The two exchanged conversation as though they had never battled to the death in the first place. Perhaps others may view them as weird, but that was the relationship the two had. This did not change even after she had died.

[But you called out to me first. You must have really met with yourself. Escaping the you that treated everything you did as wrong in fear of the contemptuous gazes of others, and now you truly reflect on all of your actions, admit the right and wrong of all of them, and accept them while proceeding forward.]

“You are completely right. .... Honestly, I think I did plenty to wrong you. I apologize.”

[Same goes for me. I always enforced my views on you and did not listen to yours. I apologize.]

To think Spiera, whom he considered to have possibly broken but never to bend, would speak such a thing. No, well, perhaps she had broken? Yu IlHan made an awkward smile and continued.

“Not everything is revealed yet. Perhaps calling you out like this may put you through more suffering. However, I wanted you to confirm with your own eyes. I wanted to pay you back for teaching me the spear even if it was like this.”

[Now you became able to not only reflect back on yourself. However, as a side effect, you started cherishing all of your acquaintances too much. Be careful. Women may misunderstand and fall deeply in love with you all by themselves.]

That hit a sore spot. Looking at the world with his newly founded eyes, his love and appreciation towards all of them overflowed and couldn't do anything about it. That was also the reason he called Spiera back to them.

[However, in my position, that does not sound unpleasant either. Did you just mention that it may put me through more suffering? That is not the case. I am thankful and grateful because I finally have a path to vent my emotions in. So Yu IlHan, please ask me. Please ask me the one thing you wish to ask.]

Yu IlHan gladly complied. He was happy that Spiera understood him, that he could communicate with her again and let himself reveal a great big smile, but uttered a question that was in complete contrast to his expression.

“Spiera, what do you want to do with Michael and the one called God that played around with the lives and wills of countless beings since the beginning of history?”

The reply was even crueler.

[I wish to rip them apart to death and then some more.]

“Then may I decide on your ‘temporary’ residence?”

[I would like to request that instead.]

“Good, I heard your request.”

Yu IlHan raised one hand with a smile. In his hand was a spear of pure white that was the result of Creation. Strangely, it was completely identical in shape to the spear that Spiera had used in her long life.

“If I wish for it, I can make their start, but I still cannot comprehend the essence of souls properly. Though, I have vaguely grasped on how to treat them. The point is that they are extremely rare and complicated compared to other materials, but they are, in the end, a ‘being’! In other words, materials!”

[I really wish to slap myself for thinking that you have become slightly better. You are now just accepting everything as is into your arms and going forward recklessly!]

“That’s exactly it! I sometimes do nice things, but I’m fundamentally a bad guy!”

[You became more evil!]

Spiera couldn’t enter the spear right away. Although it was somewhat sorry to say this after he had seduced her into doing this, but the current Spiera’s thought-soul was too weak. As such, Yu IlHan prepared a special enhancement process for her. It was none other than a super-luxurious buffet composed of specially selected thought-souls!

“Spiera, it’s meal time!”

[Somehow, your way of saying it irritates me to no end.....]

Even while regretting the moment where she had exchanged a kind conversation with him, Spiera faced the thought-souls that he had prepared for her.

What kind of karma had he piled up until now? There were an innumerable number of pitiful thought-souls, and there were still a lot even after he had hand-picked them.

[Painful.....]

[Kill..... me.....]

[I do not want to think any more.....]

Facing thought-souls that spoke eternally-traumatic lines for every line they spoke, Spiera fell into a truly tragic feeling. However, Yu IlHan's will was firm, and since she had decided to grab his hand again, she couldn't escape reality at this point.

[Tch, I guess I can't help it.....]

Spiera resolved herself. Then she opened her mouth.

[I shall bear all of your resentment and karma. Now leave everything to me.]

[Khaaaaaaaaaak!]

Spiera's thought-soul hunting started. Like how Yu IlHan said he was able to treat souls now, he could directly feed her thought-souls that were even stronger than her when she was alive without much difficulty.

This was the biggest difference between the past Yu IlHan and the current him. How much suffering did Orochi go through in order to face thought-souls stronger than him? But Spiera became much stronger with no effort whatsoever.....

[Is this the path of an Asura? Yes, going against God will require me to become the devil himself. Fufu, so I fell to such a point.]

“Hey, your words are hurting me.”

Spiera may have a strong sense of justice, but to Yu IlHan, treating thought-souls as food and ingredients wasn't even considered 'evil'. Even though they said they understood each other, there was still the width of the Rubicon river between the two.

“Ooh, I can feel Spiera's thought-soul becoming stronger.”

“Hey, wouldn't anyone become the strongest if they get killed by darling and come back after eating all the thought-souls?”

“It's near impossible to completely take in a dead soul. You and Spiera belong to the relatively whole faction. And as for Orochi and Mystic, they could be considered to have been completely reborn.”

“I’m scared now…….”

Spiera regained her former might by preying on the thought-souls recklessly, surpassed it, and eventually acquired a power that rivaled the 7th class in league. However, that was not the end. The special buffet course that Yu IlHan had prepared still had one remaining.

[.....Raphael.]

[This cannot happen.]

Raphael’s thought-soul that he had imprisoned so that he could never again see the light of day ever since he took it, also awoke deep within Yu IlHan’s consciousness.

If Yu IlHan interrogated Raphael’s thought-soul in the past, he would have realized that his powers were stolen much earlier, but in the first place, he never treated Raphael as someone worthy to be his enemy, so he didn’t even see the need to interrogate him.

“Raphael, thank me for putting you on the show twice even though you are a side character.”

[I, I am not thankful! I am not thankful at all! You, dared! You actually dared to!]

[Fuu……. Raphael, I shall take your last bit of emotions with me as well. Pour it out with no regrets. I am currently in need of your disgusting and sticky emotions.]

“I think she really became evil.”

Yu IlHan tilted his head and utilized his power. Raphael, who struggled to escape from Spiera, could not resist Yu IlHan’s dominating power and was restrained without being able to do anything. He could only shout while cursing his own vulnerable state.

[Dammit! I only believed in the lord and followed him! Why do I have to meet such a tragic end! I am one of the Four Great Archangels! One of the four brightest ever since God, and still should be! Why has Lord Michael betrayed me? Why did Gabriel not mention anything to me? Why is Uriel in love with Gabriel!]

Hmm, it seems like Uriel received the affection of both Michael and Raphael. Though, the person in question loved Gabriel..... Even the Four Great Archangels that lived countless years have a morning drama-like relationship. Yu IlHan acquired a new realization.

[Thank you for the meal.]

[KHAAAAAAAAAAAAAK!]

Spiera ignored Raphael's words and ate him whole. At that moment, a strong shockwave was emitted from within Yu IlHan. Spiera had succeeded in absorbing everything of Raphael and growing.

[It feels more stifling the more my power grows.....]

"Don't worry. I am still in possession of your body. Once everything is over, I'll return it back to you."

[You are being unpleasant when you act overly kind. Just be the trash that you always are.]

"So that is why I never saw Spiera's body when you disposed of the other angels' bodies."

Liera would have persuaded Yu IlHan to give her Spiera's body if he was going to use it somewhere, but it seemed that Yu IlHan had just left it alone.

She just thought that he didn't want to be related to Spiera in any way anymore, but Yu IlHan also seemed to be agonizing over it. Liera smiled, and Spiera entered the pure white spear even while feeling somewhat unpleasant.

Once all materials were in place, Yu IlHan activated Creation once again. A delightful message appeared on his eyes.

[Blade of the Avenger was completed.]

He saw the name of the artifact, and put it inside him. Since he had made it perfectly, he would be able to call it out in the form of flames whenever he wanted.

“Spiera, adjust to your condition in there for a while.”

[Understood, I shall wait for the necessary moment. Please call me then, Yu IlHan.]

“Huh.”

Looking at him, Helièna tilted her head and asked.

“Don’t you have to check the artifact rank or the details of it?”

“I made it the way I want, so why should I look at something that I already know about? It possesses the functions that I need so what good is the rank?” <sup>1</sup>

“Oh my…….”

That was a cool line he always wanted to say! Helièna’s heart skipped a beat due to the sudden intensity of the line, while Yu IlHan proceeded to the next job without hesitation. Since he had limitless amounts of all types of materials, he could make limitless things.

He had to take a look at the equipment that the others would use, and had to make a one-time artifact that would protect them in case of emergencies, and had to make specialized artifacts that contained Yu IlHan’s Declaration power just in case something outside of his expectations arose, and…….

Hearing Yu IlHan’s perfect plan without any gaps at all, Liera asked him in a defeated voice.

“IlHan, is there any method to win against you?”

“Nope. Now, I will probably win against anyone and everyone.”

“Wao!”

Yu IlHan firmly replied to Liera and activated the Creation skill once again. He put a flame in midair as in resolve to erase all the materials that he had gathered until now.

Just like that, a year passed.

Author’s notes

1. Huh, that’s strange, why is it so long now……. (eyes shaking)

Yeah... this chapter is suddenly 50% longer than usual...

DUN DUN DUNNNNNNNNNNN~!!!!!!! Spiera is still here!

And also, uh, 10 chapters left of the main story.

Chapter 339: Harmageddon – 15

Yu IlHan used up all of the materials in his possession. When he finally came around to thinking about it himself, he realised it was a miraculous achievement. He was aware that his power rose exponentially within his domain, ever since he was acknowledged as the new God by the recorded gods, but just as Na YuNa beauty had, it seems like Yu IlHan's ability as a blacksmith also matured.

"I'm finished! How much sand has fallen from the top half?"

Judging that he could provide arms to not only the core members but the secondary army and even the civilians and possibly still have some left over to weaponise the entire planet at this point, he swiped all the artifacts into his inventory and raised his head after a long time while stretching his neck, and asked.

The one he could see was not Liera or Helièna but Erta.

"Around one tenth."

"A tenth already!? And oh, it's Erta."

"You didn't even know that I was here, did you?"

"Well, I was grabbing onto my Creation skill all this time. Though, it's only level 5 right now."

"You used the skill for 1 year straight and it's only at level 5!?"

"It's already been a year!?"

The two exchanged shocked looks. Though, Yu IlHan regained his calm soon while Erta still had an expression of flabbergasted-ness even after a period of time had passed.

"Just how can you not notice the flow of time? Didn't you get hungry? Didn't you want to go to the bathroom? How are you still so handsome even after not washing up for an entire year?"

“It’s been quite awhile since I surpassed normal human metabolism.”

Answered Yu IlHan as he thought. 1 year equaled one tenth. That meant that there was still about 9 years to go. Although he did think it will be quite a long period of time, to think it was that long... Yu IlHan was emotional at his own growth.

“Oh, if anyone feels bored then send them out for a little bit. I can just warp them to another world and call them back later.”

“It’s a tremendous privilege to own a decade that others do not know about. I will ask the others, but there should be no one that wishes to leave.”

Well, Yu IlHan also didn’t feel that 10 years was long when he was first left out on Earth. Perhaps the others felt similar to him. Yu IlHan shrugged his shoulders and changed topic.

“Any progress on your magic?”

“No!”

Erta suddenly shouted. Her voice was filled with frustration.

“Kang MiRae, that woman, is a genius! She achieved a realm I couldn’t even when I trained for thousands of years, in a mere two or three decades! How can it be so unfair! I couldn’t even understand half of what she said!”

“Don’t get mad at me. It’s scaring me.”

It seems like her frustration piled up when she came to Yu IlHan to vent it but saw that he was doing his work without even glancing at her. Yu IlHan thought that he stepped on a landmine and patted her on the back to console her.

“You can do it. Although, the position of a recorded god shouldn’t be possible because Miss MiRae is there.”

“You aren’t helping at all!”

Erta shouted while pouting, but it seems like the patting did work. Yu IlHan thought that she was such a simple woman, but didn’t voice that out audibly.

“It’s good that you’re here now. I was just about to start researching into Archlegnae.”

“Didn’t you say you just finished working? Sheesh, your ability to look for work is really top-notch.”

Laughing, Yu IlHan took out several bodies of Archlegna. Although he couldn’t acquire many records from the bodies of Legnae during the period where he was very much inferior to the himself of now, it was currently a different story.

He was going to discover every single bit of information on how these Legnae golems were made, as well as what this so-called God did in order to imitate the Creator, and nullify all of his efforts.

“Well then, from now on, this guy must be.....”

However, when he was about to start analyzing by putting his hand on the Archlegna, he intuitively realized one thing.

“These things, they are recorded on something else other than the Akashic Record.”

Akashic Record is the record of everything at the same time being the multiverse itself. Yu IlHan did not know what form it possessed, but did not think that mattered. The multiverse existed as Yu IlHan was aware of, and what meaning he gave to it was up to him.

However, it seemed like there was one being that didn’t think so.

“So that’s it, God considered the Akashic Record as a hindrance.”

“What does that mean, IlHan?”

“It’s quite clear if you think about it. I should have started from questioning the reason that prompted him to reject mana.”

There are two changes that inevitably arrive in a world after the Great Cataclysm. One is mana and the other one is the Akashic Record.

Wherever mana exists, the Akashic Record did as well and wherever the Akashic Record existed, mana could also be found. So, rejecting mana meant the denial of the Akashic Record, and to escape mana, one would need to escape the reach of the Akashic Record.

“Yu IlHan, I just had a lecture on incomprehensible magic until now. Are you going to lecture me about incomprehensible Akashic Record too? I will assault you if you do. If you wish to renew your family register, then let's see you continue!"

"I'm both happy and sad that you became aggressive while I didn't know about anything....."

Yu IlHan explained it in simple terms in order to maintain his fidelity.

"Middle school uniforms differ by schools, right?"

"Right."

"The school uniform that the Akashic Record has decided on is mana. There are no other middle schools nearby. Well, then. What do you need to be done in order to wear another uniform?"

"Make a new middle school."

"That's what God was trying to do. He was trying to make a new form of universal recording other than the Akashic Record."

"....."

Erta became speechless. She eventually asked him in a careful voice.

"Is that possible?"

"Look at the corpse of this Archlegna. Did these guys manage to completely and perfectly reject mana?"

"They did not."

"Correct. So he failed."

It wasn't the case that it failed completely. Legnae did have high resistance to mana after all.

However, that was it. God tried to make a new record storage, but that storage ended up being incorporated into the Akashic Record. A lamentable matter.

"Moreover, the way he tried to make that new storage is.....Oh, my."

Yu IlHan realized one thing when he continued analyzing the Archlegna and groaned. One puzzle piece entered its correct position as well.

He finally understood the reason why he could hear their voices at that time; why they referred to Yu IlHan as the liberator; as well as why they gave so many blessings to Yu IlHan and the others around him!

“Recorded gods..... that’s it.”

“Why do they come out here as well? Didn’t you liberate them all?”

“I did, I did liberate them with the help from Miss MiRae. So.....”

Yu IlHan claimed while seriously nodding his head.

“I now reclaim the title of the foreshadow master. I am the one who creates and destroys foreshadows!”

Erta licked her lips and was about to viciously assault Yu IlHan.

“Yu IlHan, why don’t we discuss the name of our future child right now.....”

“Uh, I meant! Uh, I erased it already!”

Yu IlHan hurriedly pushed Erta’s face away and shouted. It was even scarier since she looked absolutely serious.

“The storage that God was trying to make! I erased it already!”

“With the Galactic Trajectory that Kang MiRae first used?”

“And with the Final Buster that I poured into all of them! I didn’t know that it would actually finish it off.....”

“Wait, so you’re saying.”

Erta had finally understood the situation and shouted in shock.

“So the God of Heaven created a replacement Akashic Record by imprisoning the ‘recorded gods’!?”

“The term ‘recorded gods’ isn’t correct in the first place. They are ones who have transcended the limits and surpassed records. So this God tried to make a completely new system(record) that is outside the influence of the Akashic Record by gathering the ones that surpassed it.....”

“I still don’t get it, but that means.....”

How horrifying, cruel, insolent and shocking of an action. Erta felt as she was hit on the head by a hammer.

“All this time, a length of time where all of our ages added up together won’t possibly match, they were.....”

“You said how the Legnae talked about they were ‘loading’ records, right? That means that God tried to win against mana by records that have transcended the realm of mana and are unrecordable. With that as the engine, and the fuel sourced from completely crumpled and deformed souls.”

“My word.....”

The recorded gods resisted but were captured by God in the end. They were imprisoned in a world that couldn’t be found, and became a portion of the new storage as God had intended.

However, God’s misconception started there. Just transcending the records didn’t mean a complete separation from the Akashic Record!

In fact, they blessed the ones that came close to their own realm in their own fields through the Akashic Record, and the ones that grew splendidly with their blessings would become enemies of God. Of course, God would have gritted his teeth and cursed at the recorded gods, and may have wished to beat them up to death, but couldn’t do so easily since they were integral to achieving his goal.

In the end, he could only proceed as planned. Some time passed and Yu IlHan appeared, and God, who thought that he grew up way too fast, created Legnae and Archlegnae with the help from the incomplete storage, and started cleaning the other worlds along with Satan.

However, the record storage that God made somehow ended up being connected to Dareu through a gate thanks to Kang MiRae’s miracle, Galactic Trajectory.

At that point in time, Yu IlHan didn’t have the slightest clue about this new record storage, but he coincidentally found it, and cleanly destroyed it with his Final Buster!

Now, God couldn’t even make Legnae even if he wished to. Even if he wanted to make a new record storage, there was neither a world to hide it in, nor a target to capture and imprison. The only thing he could do was to appear in front of Yu IlHan and be completely screwed before dying a pitiful death.

Such a tearful story. Perhaps a person who, saw that the failure rate for an item repair was 1%, and so clicked 'repair all' for his thousands of items, and found out that he failed the repair for all of them, might feel like this!

"I now understand why you call yourself as the foreshadow master. So you erased the greatest weapon of the final boss when you only got to know a tiny bit of his might!?"

"That's exactly it. He's completely doomed now. Completely doomed....."

Yu IlHan's voice sounded distant for some reason. Erta didn't know how to reply and became silent.

My word, the final objective of the final boss was destroyed before the last battle! At this point, anyone would sympathize even though he wasn't someone worthy of any sympathy. He just had to have been on Yu IlHan's wrong side!

Yu IlHan thought about what he had to do, but eventually loosened his shoulders and spoke.

".....I think I can just put away the barrier now."

"Ah, you're making an expression that you are annoyed of everything!"

"Can we just jump straight to the epilogue now?"

"Please restrain yourself"

Yu IlHan waved his hand to lump all the bodies of Archlegnae into one. They became a lump of white. It looked like metal, at the same time, wood, mud, clouds, or even just sweets.

"This is the only one."

"How is it the only one?"

"Unrecorded, unrecordable matter. The record storage was destroyed and the Akashic Record does not accept it, so this lump of..... things is a contradiction in and of itself."

"I now get what you're trying to do."

Erta made a smirk and asked.

“That’s a very good material, isn’t it?”

“Yeah. I was just looking for the materials for the ‘cannonball’ ..... I don’t think I’ll find anything better than this.”

“Cannonball..... Aah, of course.”

Erta chuckled.

“You possessed a very splendid ‘cannon’, didn’t you?”

“Well, then. Let’s finish off my work then.”

Yu IlHan activated the Creation skill. After knowing that there ‘was’ an independent record storage from the Akashic Record, his comprehension on Creation increased, and so was able to process the lump although the material wasn’t properly recorded.

Of course, he couldn’t add or take away anything from it, but forming a shape from it was enough. The cannon possessed everything else, after all.

“Good.”

Yu IlHan stored away the only cannonball in the world and exited the workshop with Erta. At that time, Michael Smithson, who was running in the corridor, immediately ran to him and grabbed him.

“Mister Uniqqqqqqqqqqqqqque!”

“I hate that name so call me Yu IlHan. What is it?”

“Carina! C, Carina is about to give birth!”

“.....Wao.”

The moment he heard that one line, he felt as if all the time he spent until now was meaningless. No matter how long the barrier was, someone even made a baby! But Michael Smithson didn’t just come here to boast it in front of him.

“I was looking for you! Could you become the godfather of the child?”

“Me!?”

Michael Smithson nodded his head with a serious face.

“If the master of the world, you, become the godfather of my child, then there would not be a better thing.”

“.....”

Thinking about it, his encounter with Michael Smithson was the funniest and the most mysterious. How could they have known that it would come to this?

Michael Smithson was a man who could commit any selfish actions for the profit of the group he was in. Perhaps he was similar to Yu IlHan in that regard. Their clash was inevitable, and Yu IlHan thought that he would kill Michael Smithson if he did something that annoyed him, while Michael Smithson also resolved to kill Yu IlHan if they ever met again.

However, the situation didn't come to that. Yu IlHan became rapidly stronger and found leisure, and asked Michael Smithson for cooperation in protecting Earth rather than fighting him.

Meanwhile, Michael Smithson succeeded in widening his perimeter and found something that he started to protect by himself, his clan members and other precious people. He fell in love with another clan master, and accordingly suppressed his hostility to his enemies.

After that, a long time passed before the two entered a relationship of a leader and a member of the higher existence faction known as Dragon's Nest. Although they couldn't be considered close friends, they were in a position where they could understand each other to a large extent and cheer for the other.

Perhaps he might be able to have such a relationship with other people as well – thought Yu IlHan before shaking his head. Regretting the past only gave him sighs. If he acquired something, then he could only step forward once more using that as the basis.

Yu IlHan asked carefully.

“.....I wasn't baptized you know?”

“It's fine. You are the God of this world.”

“Okay then. I'll do this godfather thing.”

Michael Smithson smiled brightly at Yu IlHan's smile. A healthy voice of a child could be heard from one corner of the Flying fortress. Possessing brilliant golden hair and emerald-colored eyes, a healthy..... dragon was born.

Author's notes

1. This chapter may sound somewhat difficult. I tried to scatter and solve foreshadows midway, but in the end, it came to this because I wasn't capable enough.
  2. Next arc is the epilogue!
  3. In some countries including Korea, they decide on a godparent according to the gender of the child when the child is baptized. A boy would have a godfather, and a girl would have a godmother. However, there are some countries where they decide on a godfather and a godmother regardless of the child's gender.

Translator's notes

Next arc is not really the 'epilogue' because the last chapter is literally titled the 'epilogue'....

Chapter 340: Sole God – 1

(T/N: Sole God in Korean is 'Yu Il Shin'. Quite similar to MC's name eh.) "Just what is going on here!"

Michael complained to Yu IlHan while looking at the loveliest princess..... well, dragon rather, in his beautiful wife's arms. Yu IlHan asked him some questions.

"Mr. Smithson, what is your current race?"

"True dragon....."

"And Mrs. Smithson?"

"True dragon....."

"And then your daughter will definitely be?"

"A dragon.....?"

There were no problems at all. They accepted it all naturally! Only the princess in Carina Malatesta, no, Carina Smithson's arms had a bright smile.

"Kyaha!"

"She probably understands what we're talking about right now. You need to be careful with her education."

A child that understood speech immediately after birth! Considering how her foundation was extremely high since she was born as the daughter of two true dragons, her growth wouldn't be ordinary either. Carina Smithson thought that she chose a good godfather and asked him.

"Godfather, please take care of this child. You will accept her into Dragon's Nest, right?"

"Of course, as long as she fulfills the qualifications. So? What's her name?"

"Yuni Smithson."

".....And if it was a boy?"

“Nick Smithson.” <sup>1</sup>

Yu IlHan became speechless. Yuni, in her mother’s arms, probably did not know how her name came about nor would she want to... probably.

Please let her grow up without knowing the origins of her name – Yu IlHan prayed to the non-existent gods while patting her forehead. The child smiled even brighter.

“But she’s really pretty~. She must take after her mother.”

“That’s true. Hahaha, she looks completely like her mother.”

Since it was the birth of new life, almost everyone other than Yu IlHan were already gathered at that place. Na YuNa, who still didn’t like Michael Smithson that much, indirectly dealt damage while stroking Yuni, but Michael had become really toned down after he became a father and just laughed about it.

He completely changed as a person!

“IlHan.”

Looking at Yuni struggling in Carina Smithson’s arms, Liera’s eyes glistened.

“Let us make a baby too!”

“I wondered why you weren’t saying that earlier. No.”

“Why! I want to have a baby! I want to have a babyyyyyyy.”

“Not yet.”

Liera clung to Yu IlHan, but he firmly refused. And the reason went like this.

“I hate it because it feels like the epilogue is coming soon.”

“.....”

She wanted to retort, but couldn’t find a way to do so and became silent. Yu IlHan tapped her shoulders and received Yuni from Carina Smithson. Since he became her godfather, he had to at least do his job properly.

[Yuni, you shall become beautiful and happy. You shall become someone who can share joy and bear the burdens of sadness with others. You shall have a warm heart as strong as your sturdy claws, and as much emotions as your clever smarts. You shall become one that's loved and one that shall love.]

Yu IlHan's Declaration became a heartfelt wish that enveloped Yuni. It was a wish that would grant upon her a bright potential, though not absolute.

"Wow, look at all that mana. Amazing....."

"Beautiful. Only he can wield mana so beautifully like that, can't he....."

Would Yuni know how much of a blessing Yu IlHan's Declaration was? Yu IlHan grabbed Yuni's finger before giving her back to her parents.

"Congratulations. I was so absorbed in work that I didn't even know you two got married."

"We will do the marriage ceremony later. So that is..... after everything is over, once Earth is back in orbit, with both of our parents. Please visit us at that time with everyone."

"I pray for their survival."

Yu IlHan smiled, saying that he really wished it was so.

It would be a lie if he said that the figure of his father didn't flash past his head. No matter how strong he became, it would all be meaningless if Gabriel had met with grave misfortune.

'.....He should be fine.'

He convinced himself that his father was alright. Nothing would change just by worrying. As he always did, he only had to do what he could do right now.

"Then the Smithson pair should busy themselves with raising their child....."

"And we create our own child, ouch!"

"And we shall train."

Smacking Liera's head, Yu IlHan retorted in a serious tone. It became like this after he realized that there was 9 years left after making artifacts for an entire year! Liera asked with a crying face.

"When are we filming the epilogue, hey?"

"I will blow the whistle when it comes down to it."

“That’s a very suspicious foreshadow! Are you going to question the origins of my birth at this point!?”<sup>2</sup>

Time flowed very quickly after that. While Yu IlHan was absorbed in training along with the other main battle members, while the other, more ordinary people actually lived a very joyful life, much more so than he had thought possible.

There was no threat from monsters, and they were living in a world where civilization and nature were mixed into one, so in fact, it could be said that they were living their most peaceful life since before the Great Cataclysm.

Of course, regardless of what they were up to, Yu IlHan did his own thing like a loner. Although he took the first step as the Creator, he still had long ways to go. And he until reached the end of that path, his steps would not halt.

***

Originally, Yu IlHan was very skilled in not noticing the flow of time, but since there was someone who showed clear changes among the ones he was constantly in close proximity with, he couldn’t stay unaware of it now.

“Godfather!”

A pretty little girl with brilliant golden hair tied into a ponytail shouted while the end of her hair fanned out like a sunflower, as she zoomed past him in the training zone within the Flying fortress. Yu IlHan waved his hand with a bitter smile.

“So it’s you, Yuni.”

“Yay! I can go in, right?”

Yu IlHan’s goddaughter Yuni grew rapidly as expected of the daughter of two true dragons. Since there were masters of all fields around her, she had plenty of opportunities to learn techniques, and she, like a dragon, had very-difficult-to-satisfy thirst for knowledge, and tried to learn as many things as possible in a short amount of time.

This was top-tier talent in Yu IlHan’s view! Dragons are really the best!

“Godfather, please spar with me!”

“Again?”

And the one that Yuni admired the most, like all other dragons and dragonkin on Earth, was Yu IlHan, the manager of Earth. Well, his strength was the highest too anyway.

From the first instance that she was able to hold a weapon in her two hands, she has picked up the spear like it was the most natural thing to do, and now that she possessed an outer appearance of a fifteen-year-old girl, she had developed a pretty high level of technique.

“I think I might be able to grow if I go against you just once more. Please? Pleaaaaase?”

“.....Okay, come then.”

“Yess! lyaaaaaaaaah! Ergh!”

Of course, she didn't even last 3 seconds against Yu IlHan. Yu IlHan was a man who was merciless to anyone regardless of ages or genders, after all. The reason she could even last 3 seconds in the first place was because he went easy on her! Yuni, collapsed on the floor like a dead frog, grumbled while rubbing her nose that became red.

“Dammit, I thought I would be able to last longer since I got to the 4th class now!”

“Huh?”

Wait, she is actually 4th class already! Yu IlHan asked her in shock.

“Yuni, how old are you again?”

“Hm? It will be my ninth birthday the day after tomorrow!”

That means that the barrier will disappear soon! Yu IlHan was shocked, and he despaired.

“I still haven't mastered Transcendent Trajectory yet!”

“What level is it?”

“99.....”

“Wao!”

Thinking that he should punish Na YuNa for spreading unpleasant habits around, Yu IlHan retrieved the spear that was floating in the air.

When he looked at the sky, the projection of the Hourglass of Eternity indeed revealed to him that there wasn't much time left.

“It looks like I'll be busy for a moment.”

“Is it a fight?”

“Unfortunately, there's no place for you in it, Yuni.”

“I want to help you though.”

“Let's think about it again after you become a higher existence.”

The world would be a beautiful place if everyone was like her – sighing, Yu IlHan patted Yuni's head. Yuni shivered saying it was ticklish and made an innocent laugh.

“Good, then shall I go out. We need to be back safely for your birthday party Yuni.”

“That's such a cool line!”

“Of course, I had that line at the ready ever since you were born.”

Yu IlHan replied in cool words and exited the training zone while retrieving his spear.

As though having read his mind, his companions were already waiting.

“It will be soon, IlHan. There isn't even one hour left.”

“Darling, will it really be over in 3 hours?”

“It might take a little longer than that. If there's no hidden last boss, then 5 minutes, if there is, then 20 minutes, and if there's another one after that one is defeated then one hour, and an extra 30 minutes for each one that appears after that.”

“.....”

His trump cards were uncountable! Yu IlHan left them speechless and exited the Flying fortress.

Perhaps everyone knew, but the non-battle members had already gone down to Earth and the others were already on the aerial city.

[I greet the Lord.]

Uriel, with four pairs of dragon wings, greeted him. She was the only 8th class other than Mystic, and had the most amount of mana among his subordinates. She was one of the two 'people' that were most motivated for the matter that was about to come.

"I know, I know. You want to go save dad, right?"

[Th, that is true, but not only that, that uh..... Ga, Gabriel is.]

"It's the same for me so it's fine. You settle things with mom on your end. What's important is the mindset to clear up the important things."

Sometimes, people make the impossible possible. Though, what laid in front of Yu IlHan were all possible things!

Yu IlHan consoled Uriel who still had a worried expression in worry of Gabriel.

"Don't worry so much. Everything will go as I planned it out."

[The Lord's amazing point is that you can make me accept with your speech alone but..... understood. I believe in the Lord. Let's go save Gabriel. Let's go stop God. Let's bring an end to our bad karma with the Destruction Demon Army. Let's interrogate Satan on what he is doing. ....Let's bring peace back.]

Uriel raised her head after saying that. Behind her were all the official members of Dragon's Nest lined up. They were already armed with the gear that Yu IlHan had handed out, and were ready to fight against any and all enemies.

"Everyone should know this already, but."

Spoke Yu IlHan in a voice that was neither loud nor small. At this point, he could make his voice be heard by everyone without having to use the Declaration skill.

"There's not much of the enemy forces left. While they were foolishly whittling away at each other, we created Earth, and they widened the gap all by themselves when they would have lost even if they came at me head on. So, our victory is pretty much set in stone.”

“Wao!”

“I will take care of the leaders, so I will ask you to take care of the remaining ones. Honestly, if you get so much as a scratch on your skin while fighting with the equipment I gave you, you probably don’t have the qualifications to be a higher existence. I will immediately strip your qualifications if that happens.”

“How can he make others so unmotivated.”

Disregarding what everyone was saying, Yu IlHan finished his speech off quickly.

“We will invade the enemy main world immediately. As soon as the barrier is dispelled…… Oh, and before that, someone send Yuni back to Earth.”

“Ah, Yuni, this girl, how dare you sneakily come here!”

“Me, Me too! I want to fight! Godfatherrrrrrrrrr!”

After Yuni was chased to the ground by the others, Yu IlHan really confirmed that everyone here were members meant for, and ready for battle before speaking once again.

“If you’re ready, then I shall immediately warp after the barrier dispels.”

“Wait, darling.”

Asked Helièna.”

“I get that we’re invading enemy main worlds…… but which one are we going to first?”

“Of course, we need to rob the emptiest house first.”

Yu IlHan winked and spoke to her.

“The Netherworld.”

Chapter 341: Sole God – 2

The barrier shattered. The aerial city that contained the Flying fortress and the Guardian fortress instantly floated up toward Earth's atmosphere,. The people who remained on Earth watched as the city levitated further and further away from them and finally realized that time had started flowing again. Below that, Yuni was jumping around.

"I'm going to marry godfather when I grow up! So you have to stay safe! You can't get your face injured!"

"Stop dreaming, kid!"

Liera, who punished anyone and everyone who aimed for Yu IlHan, firmly rejected that. Yu IlHan activated the Warp skill while wondering what she was doing to a little kid and why she took her seriously in the first place.

[Come back after eliminating all who aim to inflict harm upon Earth, o, ruler.]

The one that was born of chaos, became a guardian, and eventually was reborn in to Earth itself spoke in a grave voice. Yu IlHan nodded his head with a laugh.

"Don't worry about anything, just leave it to me."

He had long since mastered the Dimensional Ruler skill. Since all the worlds he had to protect became one, the barrier that he cast over Earth also became incredibly sturdy. That was also the reason he could prevent the original population of Earth from returning for a few hours.

"I'm going to end everything before that. It's not like Earth is 100% complete either."

"It still isn't!?"

Shouted Erta in shock. Yu IlHan tapped on the ground he was on and nodded his head.

"Didn't I say so? This city must be fused back into Earth before the end of everything."

“Oh yeah, speaking of this city, just what is this city? I can feel that it’s supposed to be a part of Earth.”

“You can consider it a part of Earth but at the same time, a small, independent world. It’s simply a matter of perspective.”

No one understood his words, but they could understand that Yu IlHan was about to use that concept to do something interesting. However, the Warp skill activated before they could ask him more about it.

Yu IlHan had mastered the Warp skill as well, so the others were all moved to the Netherworld before they could even feel anything weird. They were all taken by the surrounding scenery, so they couldn’t even ask the details of the aerial city.

“It’s the Netherworld!”

“It is indeed!”

“It’s the first time that I’ve ever come here.”

An endlessly dark, and ominous world. It was the world that Satan came after he fell from Heaven, and the world that contained his foundation.

“This world..... does not have Satan right now?”

Yu IlHan nodded his head without hesitation when Kim YeSeul asked.

“The battlefield should be somewhere else. Satan apparently teamed up with God so he’s probably going there right now.”

“That world is.....”

“Unknown as of yet. However, it’s not something absurd like an unrecorded world or something. The God of Heaven isn’t capable to that extent. So, I’m planning to find more information about it here.”

“Lord, if possible, Gabriel must be saved as soon as.....”

Uriel was looking left and right for Gabriel with a nervous expression plastered onto her beautiful face. He wondered how she lasted all these ten years. Yu IlHan nodded his head with a bitter smile.

“At my level, I can do a lot of things even while I’m talking. I’m scrolling through the records of this world as fast as possible right now, so don't worry about it too much. Dad should be safe, and we will be able to find him. Though, you won't be able to get him for yourself."

Regardless of Uriel's dejection, Yu IlHan continued searching through the Netherworld. As expected of the main world of the Army of Brilliant Light, the Netherworld was extremely vast and had a frightening density of mana, but what was weird was that there was not a single fallen angel in this world.

"How can it be so clean?"

"The most important world for the Army of Brilliant Light is the Netherworld. Even though Satan may have left, how could they have left it completely empty? Was Satan such an idiot?"

"Well, I don't think so."

Since he discovered the connection between the recorded gods and the Archlegnae, the possibility that Satan was a schemer beyond Yu IlHan's expectations became nonexistent, Yu IlHan still didn't think that a leader in charge of a faction, and the one that first found a way out of God's reign, was such an ignorant man.

"If this was an important place, they should be guarding it. But they aren't. That means that this place is not that important."

"It's not so simple..... how can a main world not be important?"

Yu IlHan answered.

"It can be that there's no longer any meaning to the main world anymore."

"No..... meaning to the main world.....?"

They just talked about how the main world was the most important for a faction, but he just straight up denied it! And he was a leader of a faction too!

Yu IlHan shrugged his shoulders and explained for those who didn't get it.

"He teamed up with God, didn't he? God said he'll make the world anew, so wouldn't he erase the Netherworld as well?"

"But once that happens, Satan's power would be....."

“He won’t be able to perfectly erase the main world unless he does something about the leader, so to be exact, God will erase the Netherworld under agreement from Satan. You can say that he will be making himself weaker.”

“Then does that mean that Satan really believes in God and has taken a place next to him once again.....?”

Wasn’t that the most foolish thing to do! However, Yu IlHan shook his head and did not give them the answer they wanted.

“It’s not like there’s absolutely no guard after all. Moreover, this one’s even aware of me.”

“Where?”

“In the center of the world. I’m going to go there now.”

When Yu IlHan’s mind drifted there, the aerial city received his intentions and immediately started moving. Thanks to the Warp skill, the members in it couldn’t even feel the slightest turbulence despite moving absurdly fast. They were only exclaiming while looking at the changing surroundings.

“Aah, I can feel it now. That’s an amazing aura.”

“I would have been scared if it was the past me.....”

Muttered Erta. That meant in reverse that she wasn’t afraid of it at all right now. Really, the number of the days she spent with Yu IlHan could be clearly seen here.

After a blink of an eye more, the aerial city arrived at the destination. There was a truly huge palace, and there was another one that was sitting alone on top of the rounded roof.

[You came here earlier than I expected.]

The one there was a woman who had an impressive head of black, long hair. Wearing a black silk dress that did not seem suited for battle, and even black silk gloves, she was a lady that exuded a deep aura of luxury. However, the eight wings sharply protruding behind her back made them rethink about the true extent of her power.

“Lazière. So you were a woman.”

Said Yu IlHan. The others all flinched for a moment after finding out that the woman in front of them was the 1st Wing of Brilliant Light, but the person in question actually just nodded her head nonchalantly.

[That is so. I am the 1st Wing of Brilliant Light, Lazière. And you must be Yu IlHan, the Lord of Dragon’s Nest.]

“I am he.”

Lazière glanced at Yu IlHan very carefully as though she was afraid that she might seem rude. Even while knowing that they were enemies, she was very polite.

[I have heard that you were someone who became strong rapidly, but I never imagined that you became even stronger since then. I cannot fathom the depth of your power even with my powers as an 8th class being..... My Lord may be a good opponent for you.]

From what Yu IlHan had seen until now, Yu IlHan was sure that Satan wouldn’t be his match unless he somehow became at least five times as strong since they last met, but it would be embarrassing if he said it and it turned out to be wrong, so didn’t say it out loud.

Instead, he asked her.

“I have something i would like to ask.”

[As long as it’s within my knowledge.]

“Is Satan really my enemy?”

The world stopped.

Or at least it felt so. Everyone was looking at Yu IlHan in shock.

“What do you mean!? You were preparing to kill him up until moments ago while steeping in rage!”

“You nailed a straw doll to the wall three times before you slept while shouting Satan’s name!”

“You resolved that you will break him if you couldn’t have him~!”

“You looked so expectant and excited while saying you were going to rob an empty house!”

“Please put away all those false information and BL delusions.”

Yu IlHan just nonchalantly corrected the mistakes. His gaze was fixed on Lazière, but he found it cute that she was making an absurd expression. He urged her to answer.

“And so? How is it?”

[Do you think that way because Lord Satan has protected you until you became a transcender? Unfortunately, Satan is your enemy. Perhaps not if you were not a transcender, but you are already complete. Bakers may wait for the bread to be baked, but.....]

“Yes, yes. You mean to say that there are none that will watch the completed bread in satisfaction. I know, I heard that before.”

[Did you accept it now?]

Yu IlHan shrugged his shoulders and replied.

“In some way.”

[Then that is fine.]

Lazière slowly stood up.

[I am aware that I am not a match for you. However, I shall block you until the moment my life disappears. At that point, Lord Satan will return and take your life himself.]

“No, I’m not going to fight you.”

[.....What?]

“Heh.”

Yu IlHan extended his hand and let out a short shout. With just that, Lazière was bound to the spot.

He had subdued an 8th class Battalion Commander that received the largest share of support from the world after Satan, within the domain of the Army of Brilliant Light!

[H, how can this be. Even though you are a leader of a faction, even though you may be a transcender, you shouldn't be able to so easily.....]

"When I lacked power, killing all my enemies was the best way. That's because I felt like my insides were burning every time main characters in novels were humiliated because they let an enemy live. I could never understand why they would leave a potential problem be. In fact, there were some novels where I just straight up liked the antagonist better."

"Isn't that because you're a villain too, IlHan?"

"Shut up. Anyway, that's why I maintained my philosophy of killing enemies as soon as I see them before I decide to think about anything past that. But living like that..... mm, had some annoying bits to it as well."

He killed anyone that he found difficult to distinguish between enemy and ally, killed the ones that were enemies, but could potentially have been future allies, and even erased numerous future possibilities in fear of potentially pessimistic future possibilities.

[That's natural. You have chosen the correct choice in order to survive. I will not resent you even if you kill me right now. Enemies should be treated like that after all.]

"Of course, there are many kills that I do not regret at all. Sons of bitches, bitches that I wanted to kill, bitches that I had to kill, bitches that must be killed and so on..... But it's not like all my victims were like that. There are too many that I killed because I was afraid of the consequences. So."

[So?]

Yu IlHan said to her with a refreshing smile.

"If I could erase all negative future possibilities, perhaps such an unpleasant act of monotonous killing might not be necessary anymore."

[.....Are you saying, that, you will, not kill me?]

Lazière asked back in shock. Surprisingly, Yu IlHan nodded his head.

"Yup. Especially in your case, you need to die after stalling for time even though you don't specifically hate me. I really hate killing harmless ones like you. Especially because I feel like I’m being toyed with by the scenario.”

[If you let me go, you will definitely regret.....]

“I won’t. Didn’t I just say so? I’m going to erase all negative future possibilities.”

Yu IlHan took out a small cube from his bosom. Lazière titled her head while looking at that.

[What is that item?]

Yu IlHan replied.

“This is called the Trap of Restoration.”

Chapter 342: Sole God – 3

Lazière did not have the slightest bit of power to impede Yu IlHan's advance. He threw the so called 'Trap of Restoration', and it settled down in the center of the palace before encroaching onto the far borders of the world. Lazière shouted as if to deny its power even after having estimated its might.

[That's useless! Whatever you do, as long as Lord Satan exists, you cannot do anything to the Netherworld!]

"So you want me to kill Satan. Because he's my enemy, and I cannot solve this matter without killing him.

Lazière denied that while biting her lips.

[I am his follower. I do not doubt his certain victory.]

"You have made a few mistakes just now. And these two mistakes all stemmed from one misconception – your misjudgement of me."

Yu IlHan snorted at Lazière.

"Who are you to estimate my power? Who are you to know what I am thinking? Who are you to force me to select a single choice? I'm going to do everything my way. I have destroyed all foreshadows, so the only thing waiting for me is the oh-so-generic happy ending."

[I..... cannot understand you at all.]

"You don't have to; I didn't expect you to anyway. We all know that both of us are wearing masks, what is there to talk about?"

Yu IlHan turned around. Lazière still couldn't move an inch. She looked quite funny, but Yu IlHan really didn't do anything to her anymore.

"Let's go. Our business here is over."

"Didn't you say you were going to rob an empty house?"

"I just did, didn't I?"

The only thing Yu IlHan did, though, was to restrain Lazière and throw a Trap of Restoration, and that was all to expect from robbing an empty house? – Just as Liera was about to ask, she changed her expression after feeling the ripple of change in the Netherworld.

“My.”

Helièna exclaimed. She asked Yu IlHan while feeling the warmth that spread out from the center of the Netherworld.

“So this isn’t just any Trap of Restoration, is it?”

“It’s a special edition. Main world version. I focused its function on restoring and engulfing, seducing and imprisoning, to resist and rule over all there is in this world.”

He wouldn’t acquire the Netherworld just by scattering one seed. But then, what changed? – Helièna watched the world while thinking, and realized that the Trap of Restoration didn’t just stop at taking over the Netherworld.

“It’s connecting to other places.....”

“I have connected all places to here. I do not need to make any more Traps of Restoration.”

“All places.....”

Yes. The Traps of Restoration had the property to bloat up in size gradually, and eventually transfer itself to other dimensions. It didn’t just stop at erasing the effects of the Traps of Destruction, but would proliferate at a frightening speed as if trying to conquer all worlds.

“To all lower worlds as well? So..... even the worlds where the people of Earth live in?”

“Whether there are people of Earth there or not, whether the world has undergone the Great Cataclysm or not, whether it’s a higher or a lower world, any and every existing world will be affected.”

A shivering sensation ran down Helièna’s back after she instinctively realized what that meant. Although she claimed to be a woman who understood Yu IlHan’s true value as soon as she met him, she realized that even that it was just her unsubstantiated arrogance.

“So darling’s objective in making the Traps of Restoration laid ‘somewhere else’ in the first place.....?”

Yu IlHan did not bother answering the question and activated the Warp skill. Liera asked.

“Is it Elo Katra now, IlHan?”

“No, it’s Heaven.”

“But according to the order, it should be Elo Katra next.....”

“What are you saying? Didn’t I just say so right now, Liera?”

Stroking Liera’s hair softly, Yu IlHan spoke.

“Whether it’s a lower world or a higher world, all existing worlds will be affected by the Traps of Restoration.”

“That’s why Elo Katra should..... huh?”

“So our next destination.”

Yu IlHan activated the Warp skill with a smile.

“Is Heaven. Everything will come to a close there.”

***

The poison that invaded Michael’s body was extremely vicious, to the point that he found it painful every time he breathed in or out. However, Michael was a proper transcender and the one that would become the Sole God. There was no way he would be defeated by a mere poison from insignificant Battalion Commanders.

[Who is next. Who shall compete against my light next?]

The only surviving Battalion Commanders after a harsh and drawn out battle were the 4th Battalion Commander Telzaider and the 8th Battalion Commander Zenusva. It would be ideal if they attacked together, but for some reason, Zenusva retreated and Telzaider stepped up first.

[Please show me, Michael. The power of a transcender, show it to me!]

[Both of you come at me, it’s annoying. I will take care of you two together.]

[If I did that and you somehow got injured and become weaker, then that would be no fun. We have waited for this moment; how can we deprive ourselves of the joy?]

[What.....?]

Michael gritted his teeth. How can they say such things in front of sure death?

[You look down on me..... too much.....!]

The brilliance around Michael became thicker. When even his figure couldn't be made out, hundreds of strands of light pierced the space where Telzaider was.

[No, your light should be faster than that. I have bet my entire life all for this moment, Michael!]

[How dare you say that, you are a mere idiot that only knows how to destroy the things in front of youuuuuuuuu!]

The light pulsated violently, almost as if it were enraged. However, Telzaider dodged them all with unbelievable speed and even found the timing to attack Michael with his magic power.

Michael clenched his teeth after realizing that he had become slower due to the poison. He couldn't even kill a lowly Battalion Commander below level 600!

[Michael, you are preserving your energy.]

Telzaider's voice became louder.

[Are you saving your power in order to fight the Lord? Is that why you cannot kill me?]

[Shut up. I have no need to use my full power against the likes of you!]

Taking out a God-ranked artifact, Michael's two eyes glowed with a vibrant light as he swung it. Telzaider didn't manage to avoid it in time and allowed a hit to land. A fountain of blood sprayed into the air before forming a magic formation that tried to bind Michael.

[A curse again? Away with it. I have seen enough of your petty tricks already!]

[If you are so strong, if you are a transcender, why do you still need to preserve your power?]

Telzaider taunted Michael with a mocking smile. Michael was triggered by the provocation as he was already very enraged after two rounds of this and raised the output of his light.

[I said shut up.....!]

[What are you so afraid of? You have already called yourself as the Sole God with your mouth, but your actions are like a rat in front of a .....]

Telzaider's words could not continue. The light that Michael released had covered the entire world and erased him without a trace of his existence.

Michael felt the poison acting up a little more as he spent some of his energy, but he eased himself by spitting out some of the poison. The energy that he stole from Raphael in the past was assisting in his recovery. Looking at the few angels that still survived, he ordered.

[It's over. Let's go kill Greed.]

[It is not over.]

[.....]

Michael stiffly raised his head when he heard a voice even though he did not doubt that he annihilated his enemies. The firebird Zenusva was still there.

[I have not died yet, Michael. Does your power amount to only so much? The other transcendents will mock you if they find out. Are you really the same Michael that overwhelmed Satan head on? Are you sure Satan didn't exaggerate your abilities?]

[You..... really make me enraged.]

Perhaps if rage had a corporeal form, it would be the current Michael. He held a spear of light in his hand while glaring at Zenusva. Zenusva mockingly laughed as it saw that.

[I am flame. The light you have acquired is, in the end, a part of flame.]

[I have already heard that once before!]

He felt as if Yu IlHan's face was overlapping Zenusva's. Michael threw his spear in rage, but Zenusva didn't look that much injured even while receiving that head on with its body.

[I will not die as long as a single speck of my fire remains. Even the Lord will not be able to kill me, much less you, Michael. Just send out another Archangel instead. Ah, were they all dead? Yes, everything is impossible for you, isn't it.]

Among the angels, the 7th class Archangels had all passed on during the battle with the other Battalion Commanders since he couldn't protect them in time. Zenusva was just mocking him in various ways with that one sentence.

[Impossible?]

However, ironically, that instead made the enraged Michael calmer.

[Light cannot erase fire? Light is merely a part of fire? Yes, there was definitely someone who said that other than you. And he was strong enough to back up his arrogant words. However.....]

Although it surprised himself as well, Michael decided to admit to Telzaider's words as well.

Yes, Michael was a transcender. A whole being created from light itself! There was no need to save his power in preparation for Greed. He was acting cautious because he still hadn't fully escaped his past self.

[You are not Yu IlHan. Your fire is neither solitary, nor perfect.]

[I am the essence of fire made of the purest flames.....!]

[However, I am different.]

Michael interfered Zenusva and uttered.

[I need not look back. I need not prepare. I am absolute and I am solitary. Vapor? Poison? Flames? I do not care. I did not see the present as I was bound by my past, but now I have realized thanks to you. I have realized thanks to the imperfect you.]

Michael's brilliance became thicker. No, it was at the point that it couldn't be defined as 'existing' any more. It was unknown if the bright light stemmed from Michael or if Michael originated from the Light.

[I am whole.]

Declared Michael.

[Nothing is impossible for me. Even if there is anything currently impossible for me, I shall, with my power, make it possible.]

[Nonsense, this is, no way..... no, don't tell me it's actually.....]

Zenusva took steps back while uttering words that flagged defeat or death. But somehow, he could not move. It was as if he was bound by Michael's brilliance.

[Power is subdued by an even stronger power. Light is erased under stronger light. Your flames are weak, so weak that it cannot dent my light. Aah, yes.]

Light once again enveloped the world. It was a qualitatively different light than before.

[I. Am. Light.]

[How, I am also.....]

Feeling its body melt down in the blindingly evil yet pure light, Zenusva despaired. At its last moment, it could see that Michael went beyond just becoming one with light, and manipulating all light at will. Zenusva's eyes twisted after looking at that.

[I, also had the qualifications..... why couldn't I become one!]

With final words filled with despair, Zenusva cleanly vaporized. Since the ability was so strong, the other angels with Michael also melted into nothingness, but Michael didn't care about such trivial matters right now.

[You have awakened yourself. All light shall obey you. You are the god of light, and now possess a record that has surpassed the Akashic Record.]

[God.]

Michael was drunk on power. He had finally reached the realm he dearly wished for.

[I am the one and only, and whole. I am God.]

Since he became whole, he no longer needed anything else. Aah, finally, he could slightly understand why Yu IlHan was so strong.

[Get out here, Greed. I have come as you wished.]

Shouted Michael in confidence. Who would be able to win against Michael now that he was light itself? Now he didn't even fear Yu IlHan! Nor Greed! Nor Satan! Even if the God of Heaven came back! The winner of Harmageddon shall be him!

At that exact moment, in a corner of this world, that was chaos; that was Elo Katra.

A voice replied to him

[Yes.]

The owner of the voice, Greed, replied.

[I have been waiting for you.]

Chapter 343: Sole God – 4

Michael proceeded onward. Advancing through the world filled to the brim with curses and poison, he erased everything that ticked him off with his searing light. There was not a strand of light that originated from Elo Katra, but that did not matter. Michael was light itself, and he could generate light by absorbing magic power.

Putting mass into light, adjusting its speed, and even increasing their destructive power by focusing it at a point was all possible for him. Just why was he focusing on other magic or martial-arts related research until now? He could have just focused on one thing!

[Greed.]

[Come.]

[Greed!]

[You are almost here.]

[GREEEEEEEEEEEEEEED!]

The moment after Michael shouted while releasing light, the curtain in front of him was lifted and a giant castle appeared. It was the first time Michael had seen such a strange thing.

[I have always longed for you. I was waiting for you to be complete all this time.]

[Foolish. You're a mere greedy beast and you're even arrogant. I can see where this is going.]

[You can? Ahahahahahahahah!]

The world shook. It was probably the influence of Greed's ruling power within his domain. Michael finally realized that this was the main world of the enemy, and he was going against the leader of this world by himself.

However, he did not retreat. He would kill Greed and subordinate Elo Katra into Heaven. Heaven will become his, and he shall put an end to Yu IlHan's rampage and take Satan's life with his very own hands. He would not let any other faction do as they wished.

Heaven needed to be the one and only faction. Since he was the sole God, all beings had to follow him. He had to stand at the very peak of existence.

[Show yourself, Greed.]

[Come in yourself. Why? Are you scared?]

[Scared?]

Michael laughed.

[Is that the trait of you Destruction Demon Army? Taunting others shamelessly? It seems like only your tongue has gotten training, insolent beast. Fear is something that the weak feel when going against the strong. Your actions of running away the moment you came to Heaven, even when you had come to Heaven as if you would swallow the entirety of Heaven itself, that was the action of a coward that is scared.]

[Then enter.]

The castle opened. An abyss. Even a 7th class being will be deflected without being able to do anything here due to the pure density of mana. However, Michael received it head on with his prideful countenance, and melted it away with his light.

[I shall face you head on.]

[You do not need to. You can call me a robber.]

Michael's light melted the very darkness of the world. He burned every curse and poison, purified them, and made them his. And in the next moment.

[I shall take away everything from you forcefully.]

Michael charged at the speed of light. The darkness that seem to devour him whole all disintegrated the moment it came into close proximity with him, all spatial distortion within the castle melted down.

Eventually, Michael met Greed face to face. A hideous monster whose entire body was bound to the wall. A lump of greed with unknown origin, a fusion of nearly every species.

He subconsciously became enraged. He didn't like the fact that he had to use his power against this vile thing.

[It has been a long while since you tried to bite at Heaven. Time has passed and you have turned even more hideous.]

[Ah, you mean that time..... it was such a pity. If the other factions didn't help out Heaven at that time, I would have regained everything without a hitch.]

Michael's eyebrows twitched.

Yes. Heaven didn't block the Destruction Demon Army with their own power. The Garden of Sunset and the Army of Brilliant Light helped them. To be exact, they had helped out all on their own accord.

Leaving aside Satan since he originated from Heaven, he didn't know why the Garden of Sunset helped them out at that time. However, now he knew. The leader of the Garden of Sunset was Gabriel. Without even knowing that, he was played the fool until now.....

[*Crunch*.]

Michael channeled his rage for Gabriel into hostility for the enemy in front of him. Gabriel could be taken care of later. Right now, he had to kill this freak of nature.

[Fight me, Greed. It's time to deliver divine punishment unto you.]

[Why don't you..... just try it!]

Along with Greed's shout came tens of strands of metal chains from the castle ceiling. It was unknown what it was made of, but the blood that had turned black, and the blackish-purple poison made Michael feel unpleasant.

He immediately released light in order to block it, but leaders' attacks weren't ordinary. It didn't disappear so easily. Greed mocked at Michael after looking at that.

[Your light only amounted to so much? Didn't you shout about how you were the 'one and only' or something?]

[GREEEEEEEEEEED!]

The light Michael emitted became stronger. High-energy light spread around to the surroundings and blocked the metallic chains that came from the ceiling, the floor and the windows.

[Child's play..... kugh!?]

Along with the sounds of chains, Greed threw out his left hand! It wasn't just the physical force that was overwhelming. The suction force within it was devouring all mana around it.

The light that Michael released was no exception. The ability to devour energy just by moving! This is what made Greed the leader of the Destruction Demon Army!

[But.....]

Michael punched out a fist enveloped in light. His fist was like a toothpick compared to Greed's, but it actually managed to absorb energy from it and push it back instead!

[You aren't the only one that can steal, you foolish beast!]

The reason the Four Great Archangels (plus Satan) could push God out was not because of Satan's defection, not because of Gabriel, not because of Raphael's healing, and not because of Uriel's restriction power.

It was the power of stealing that Michael had been born with, like the prophecies of Gabriel; one that he refrained from using because it did not suit his position, but was stronger than any other.

[I know..... I know very well!]

[Then you should know that your specialty is useless against me!]

[Not at all! I! Shall! Devour! Everything! Both the alive and the dead, and even the records of this world!]

Fist clashed with fist as the duo exchanged countless blows. It was also a competition of power as well. The metallic chains that sprouted from various parts of the castle continually aimed for Michael, and he erased them without difficulty with his five pairs of wings.

[Your power is weak, Michael! You became weaker! Did that power work against Yu IlHan!]

[Weak? Me? How dare you say that when you can barely match me after devouring everything with that insatiable greed of yours!]

Michael snorted, but couldn't help but be shocked internally. How did this guy know that his power was weakened?

'When we chased out God, I lost a portion of my power in compensation for the treachery. Though, I could finally recover thanks to acquiring God's power..... but yes, my ability has definitely weakened.'

Even with the power of stealing, it was impossible to completely steal God's power. However, the fragments of God's power he acquired in exchange was stronger so he wasn't aware of that until now. Since God's power was what triggered him to be able to become a transcender, he didn't worry that much.

[However this is more than enough to face the likes of you!]

[I shall, devour everything of yours!]

The castle exploded. Tens of thousands, hundreds of thousands, millions, and tens of millions of chains assaulted Michael. The ancient metal that composed the castle crumbled and morphed into countless spears that attacked Michael, and even the wall that bound Greed until now had collapsed and he had become free.

The gigantic freak big enough to fill the entire world, assaulted Michael from the top.

[Since it is the Harmageddon, I do not need to hold myself back anymore!]

[Insolent beast!]

Less than a heartbeat later, light was released and covered the expansive region. A brilliance that made Greed unable to open his eyes properly! Metallic chains melted, the spears melted, and all the fragmented remains of the castle melted down.

Thanks to the strong shockwave from the two's magic power, the surrounding environment was utterly devastated. Every time parts of Elo Katra lost its shape, a part of Greed's gigantic body melted down as well, but there was seemingly no end to his gargantuan body.

The two did not even look directly at each other, they only clashed with their full power in order to take the other's life.

[You and I are similar, no?]

Greed suddenly said. Michael snorted and denied that.

[Comparing a firefly to the sun?]

[You have mentioned a good analogy. Yes, our current relationship is truly like that of the sun and a firefly. The firefly emits light with its rear thinking that it's the very brightest, but how ephemeral is the light? The tiny bit of light that can be devoured by the sun only lasts for a few days, the life of that tiny insect cannot even handle its emission of light and is fated to die.]

[Thanks for the explanation, firefly.]

Michael abruptly widened his eyes.

The past him may have shrunk back in the face of strong magic power. However, not now.

The main world of the enemy? How was that important? He was here, and he was shining brightly. Where Michael was, was his own domain. Light existed everywhere, and light was his to command, all creation was his!

[I shall have you know, that I am that sun!]

Michael became light. He who had surpassed records used all of his magic power and was transforming it into light!

The speed at which Greed's body melted down became faster. Despite that, Greed could not hide his joy. Since Michael was rejecting his original power for the sake of pursuing stronger light, Greed's own power of devouring was successfully pushing his power back even further.

And when that power reached the peak.....!

[Melt into nothingness, Greed! Foolish firefly!]

[AAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAH!]

Greed: [I would have regained everything smoothly.]

Since Michael was rejecting his original power for light, Greed's own power of devouring was successfully pushing his power back even further.

Hmm, Michael's power of stealing acts quite similar to Greed's power of devouring, no?

Chapter 344: Sole God – 5

When was it that they realized God's change in attitude? God, who was supposed to look after and take care of all worlds, was aiming for something beyond that. When was it that they realized it? The only concrete fact was that Gabriel was the first to talk about it.

[This won't do.]

[Did you see something again?]

Michael, who didn't like Gabriel's foreknowledge so much, but still believed it with certainty, creased his brows and asked him. The 'five', that were known as the strongest Archangels who got along with each other, all returned from their duties and had met up in a moment of impossible coincidence.

Of course, Gabriel probably gathered them here precisely because they were all off duty.

Gabriel saw that everyone had gathered and glanced at one man.

[.....Luciel, please.]

[I am Lucifer. Do not address me with the name that God gave me.]

[Yes, you are right. Lucifer. Please.]

[.....Fuu, you annoy me.]

At their level and league, they could reason freely without being interfered by God, but if they were somehow heard by God, and God misunderstood them, that would be bad. However, what allowed them to do here was Luciel, or rather, Lucifer.

He was the most exceptional of the five, had the least reliance on God, and even twisted God's power with his own ability. It was natural for him to create a gap in time that was outside God's knowledge.

[It's fine now. Speak of whatever you have in mind.]

[Fuu..... I did not want to doubt him, but I'm sure now. I could see it.]

[Mr. fortune-teller, please get back on track.]

Uriel, who didn't even have the slightest intention to hide the fact that she liked Gabriel, poked his cheek and urged him on. Michael and Raphael felt awkward while looking at that, Gabriel, who had the power to see the future, but had zero wits and delicacy, continued on with a serious voice.

[God is looking at somewhere else.]

[I am staring at your cheeks right now. They look really ripe for a beating.]

[He is looking for something that does not exist. He wishes to become the Creator.]

Michael widened his eyes and retorted.

[He is already the Creator.]

[No.]

[That isn't true.]

Lucifer and Gabriel denied that simultaneously.

[The things he creates are twisted. They cannot become whole, and are close to destruction upon birth.]

[Everything has an end, but he makes things without looking at their end so they can only be twisted. He cannot become the Creator.]

[You guys, are you denying God!]

[In fact, I wish I could. However, the problem is that he IS God and is an extremely strong being.]

Gabriel's voice deepened even further.

[At this rate, everything will be over. It won't be long before then, and it will happen for sure. All worlds will come to an end.]

[Exactly why?]

[Because he is trying to destroy every existence and to fill it anew.]

[.....]

Michael became speechless. He wanted to deny Gabriel's words, but he couldn't do it so easily since he heard something similar during his conversations with God.

He groaned while palming his forehead. Gabriel spoke once again as he saw that Michael was hesitating.

[He needs to be killed.]

[How, how would we dare kill the Lord? Our Father!]

[Lucifer, can we do it?]

[We won't know until we try.]

Replied Lucifer nonchalantly and flapped the five pairs of wings behind his back. While he was pondering, the wings flickered between black and white. He was already capable of easily escaping God's domain of influence.

He stayed like that for an unknown amount of time, before a small smile hung on his lips.

[But that sounds very interesting. Let's do it. No, I'm going to do it. Even if any you disagree, I'm going to do it.]

[I wish it could be fun for us as well.....]

[Gabriel, I will help you. As I always have. Everyone else will too, right?]

[E, even Uriel..... then I guess I can't help it.]

Gabriel succeeded in persuading Lucifer, and Uriel, who was going to follow Gabriel in anything he did, persuaded the others, so Raphael, who was weak to her smile, ended up nodding. Their gazes now headed to Michael.

[Michael, please help. This would be impossible without your help.]

[You guys, really..... We'll really.....?]

[Michael.]

Gabriel looked at him head on and asked. The eyes that saw through into the impurity of Michael's heart. Michael hated those eyes.

[Do you still think that he is in the right?]

[I..... no.]

Michael bit his lips.

He did not think that. In fact, he thought that something was wrong all this time. Alarm bells had been going off in his head all this while.

That the God he was looking up to shouldn't be like this, that the one who had to stand whole, could not show such a side.

[But..... please let me watch for a little more.]

[Do as you wish. Nothing will change though. Gabriel, then let's go back now. I'm already thinking of what I need to prepare for that.]

[Do not get found out because you act cocky, Lucifer.]

[When I get found out, it will be my time to 'go against Heaven'.]

Laughed Lucifer as he dispelled his magic. The four angels headed to their positions with a sigh, but only Michael remained in place and pondered over it.

'Does..... Does God really have the qualifications to be the creator?'

Michael observed God's state after that. He watched as God dispatched angels to look over lower worlds, widen Heaven's domain by going to worlds that were ready to leap into the higher realm, and as he managed the worlds.

And one day.

[.....It is unsatisfactory.]

[Father, what is it?]

[Mana is too irregular. The Akashic Record doesn't have a standard, and life always carries a threat with it.]

[Isn't that the result of you loving the world?]

[Yes, indeed, it was.]

God nodded his head before clicking his tongue.

[It seems there is a need to set it right.]

[.....I follow your orders.]

[Michael, my adorable son. Go back for now. I shall call you to my side the day I need you.]

It was that moment that Michael decided to go against Heaven.

He immediately looked for Lucifer and Gabriel. Lucifer laughed his heart out, while Gabriel met him with a dejected smile.

[The core members are you and me.]

Uttered Lucifer in arrogance.

[I'm going to make God unable to control us. His restriction is not perfect, and is also merely a portion of the Akashic Record. Once you know that, escaping him is almost as easy as pie.]

[After that?]

[Only then can we stand in the ring. Even after all that, the cold hard truth is that he is still tremendously powerful..... so, as the strongest among us, I shall defend against him.]

Lucifer's fingers that pointed at himself until now, now pointed to Michael.

[Meanwhile, the source of God's power, his league, and his records have to be stolen. By you.]

[.....I cannot manage such a thing.]

[You just need to share it with all of us. Dividing it by five should be possible.]

Michael urged him on while clenching his teeth.

[Then, next.....?]

[We need to kill him.]

Spoke Gabriel.

[This will not be over unless we kill him. Unless he dies, the world will encounter the same fate once again. So, we need to put an end to all of this.]

His voice entered Michael's ears like thunder.

[Kill God, and we shall manage all the worlds ourselves.]

[We, manage, all, worlds..... right, properly.]

That was the moment a burning passion and a dirty desire blossomed in Michael's heart. Lucifer realized that and laughed.

[Ooh, Michael. I quite like the expression that you're making.]

[Shut up, Lucifer..... I only came to a realization. That the God I was looking up to did not exist in the first place; and that I need to attain what I wish for by myself.]

[Good, splendid attitude. I always liked that part about you.]

Like, what meaning did that have? Michael wanted to ask Lucifer about it, but there was no time for that right now.

[.....Let us go, everyone. To kill God.]

Gabriel stood at the front. The Great prophet and the sacrifice; the man at the center of all of them despite the fact that he could not top anyone in terms of physical might. The man who made even the arrogant Lucifer listen to him.

However, Michael did not hesitate in being swept by the flow even while clenching his teeth. Since he realized that he had to make what he wanted with his own hands, he was only going to carry it out now.

***

The plan succeeded only halfway. Lucifer successfully pulled the group out of God's domain of influence, and Michael also successfully expropriated God's power and shared it between the five of them. However, they had failed in slaying God.

God escaped in a pitiful state, while Lucifer headed somewhere else while laughing. Michael, the one who possessed the most of God's power among the five, referred the 'four' remaining as the Four Great Archangels and became the de-facto leader.

Michael made it look like only Lucifer had gone against God, and hid as much of God's disappearance as possible. And the four all started acting like they still believed in God.

That was the end of the era where Heaven's Army was the only higher existence organization.

Having changed his name to Satan, Lucifer eventually became a higher existence on his own and created the Army of Brilliant Light, while the Destruction Demon Army, a group of monsters that only aimed for total and utter destruction, formed not long after, and the ever-mysterious Garden of Sunset formed silently.

Everything fell into chaos, and Michael lamented. Then, he started dreaming of becoming the sole God. Wishing that he will become God and will set everything straight, he proceeded forward.

Like that, with countless years having gone past, he became similar to God. To be exact, the power he absorbed from God had changed him from the inside.

He managed the worlds, widened Heaven's domain, slew all kinds of different beings, calling them heretics, picked new angels, and pulled out the roots of all that threatened Heaven.

He met with Yu IlHan, and was even humiliated by him, but in the end, he still became God. Now, this was the time he was waiting for, so all he had to do now was to eradicate all heresy and create his ideal world.

He thought that he would be able to do that.

[But how.....?]

Michael asked the one in front of him – Greed, at the same time as being God.

[How can you be here! How can you be here right now!]

[Did you not notice? I was using the power I have stolen from you.]

[Stolen from me? Just what.....]

Michael naturally realized midway.

Yes. Michael had never met a being that used the same power as him before meeting Greed. He realized that his power wasn't the only one capable of depriving others' with the rise of Greed, but that wasn't actually the case.

Powers were unique.

However, in 'compensation' for acquiring God's power, his own power split and flowed into God.

[That is the restriction I have cast when I received you as my subordinates. Lucifer also struggled to escape that, but failed. Michael, my son. Were you aware of that?]

[I..... was not.]

[Yes, you were ignorant.. and still are.]

God made a merciful smile.

However, the magic power that pressured Michael from all sides was not merciful at all.

He spoke firmly. As if scolding his son that has made a mistake.

[So you need to be punished.]

Chapter 345: Sole God – 6

The strength God possessed as Greed was mostly exhausted from his clash with Michael. However, thanks to sacrificing that, God could regain his very own powers from Michael.

And now, it was time to steal Michael's power as well.

[How, but you..... how.....!]

[The five of you, in the end, were still unable to surpass me. That is simply because you are bound to me. You, Lucifer, and Gabriel too. Lucifer has expressed his subservience to me once again, and Gabriel has passed on so you are the only one left. And unfortunately, my child, I do not plan to leave you alive. I need your strength. So offer yourself up to me.]

[How, how can you be here!]

[Child, my naive child. Let me ask you one thing.]

God pointed at one object. It was the Wall of Chaos that separated Elo Ktra from Heaven. The final wall that protected Heaven from the predators.

[Who put up that wall?]

[Who? What do you mean who? Of course, it was.....]

The wall was built by..... who? The wall was built around the end of the great war, and the Destruction Demon Army could not invade again. With that, the war came to a halt and..... but how?

Michael momentarily could not find the answer. God smiled and told him the answer.

[It was me.]

[How, how did you!]

[How exactly could Elo Ktra be right next to Heaven?]

God's eyes flashed with a glint of sadism. All this while, Michael's power was being stripped away little by little, but his realm wasn't something that was lowly and easy to manipulate.

Although it originated from God, Michael, like Satan, had become able to stand whole by himself. He wouldn't so easily go down just because he lost God's power.....!

[That, is you utilizing your powers as a predator.....!]

[Wrong, you are wrong. It is because both of them are my worlds. Elo Katra is just an imaginary world that I made up. They are both part of Heaven. They are one and the same.]

Michael gritted his teeth. He couldn't hide his frustration at the fact that he was played the fool from beginning to end.

[Even so! I, Have become God! You were wrong, and I am right! My father, I do not consider you as my father anymore! I shall not serve you as your son, I will not kneel in front of you, nor will I harbor any hope for you!]

[Yes, you are completely correct. I was wrong. However, that does not mean that you were right either. We were both wrong.]

God's lips twisted. By peering into his mouth, all that one could see an endless abyss of nothingness.

[Mana is wrong. I should not have relied on it. I should have walked a different path from the beginning. I should have acquired something else, and should have created more... creative things. I have finally recognized my mistake. That is why I intend to fix it. I will erase everything that I have done wrong, and make them anew.]

[That's impossible!]

[It's possible!]

God put his arms wide. Michael sharpened his light with the intent to pierce through his body, but the tide that had changed wouldn't come back so easily.

[Yes, my children! When I fell thanks to you, I thought that all was over. However, it was ironic that you also gave me hope! The power you gave me in compensation for my divine power! The power of stealing! With that, I regained my will to surpass records once again!]

He devoured everything in sight. The power of stealing that originated from Michael had evolved in a completely different direction thanks to his evil intentions.

He gathered all records, and dreamed of making a new record with it. He intended to comprehend the entirety of the Akashic Record, and dreamed of an improved Akashic Record.

[And I have regained my power! I have found a new path! I have gathered not those who harbored will to betray me like you, but monsters that only aimed for one thing in the first place! I have long since fallen from the ever-glorious and sacred position and had to take in those maggots! Michael, can you imagine the dejection, the despair I felt then! The feelings I had when I had to console lowly monsters that praised my hideous body! DO YOU UNDERSTAND!]

[Not my problem! I don't care and never will, you damned monster!]

Michael's light brightened. His power was endless! As his power was stolen by God, Michael instead actually started gaining enlightenment into his own unique realm of power.

Since what was God's went back to his possession, Michael only had the light left. The light that he had wished to acquire for all his life, it still remained his. It was solitary, but retained its brightness and assaulted God once again. No matter how much of it was devoured, it continued to burn even more brightly!

[I am God! You are merely the God of the past, a record that cannot return to prominence, the sun that has long since fallen below the horizon!]

[I am not the past, but the future. What you are grabbing onto is but an illusion, and what I shall acquire is true Creation!]

God's body expanded. The stronger Michael became; the stronger God became as well. Then, the tide was reversed again and God pressured Michael again.

[The era of humiliation is over. I have endured for a truly long time, working to raise my power, went berserk, erased, prevented myself from being discovered, and lay hidden while crouched in a corner. In my long years of waiting, Lucifer understood me, came to me and I regained what I had lost in the past. So, I no longer need that wall anymore.]

Just as Michael was about to counterattack, he heard something of tremendously large size crumbling. He instinctively knew what it was and turned around.

The Wall of Chaos that separated Heaven and Elo Katra was collapsing. The border between two worlds that were part of one, but still separate, had already disappeared. Mixing without harmony, attacking each other amidst the chaos that was left behind.

Despite that, the two were one. God's past and God's present were unwilling to accept each other but still homogenised with each other. It was as if one were looking at the figure of God now.

Power drained from Michael's body. Because the world he reigned over was being ruined?

No, his magic power was actually decreasing. He could feel the league of his soul decreasing.

[Just, what.....]

[Heaven and Elo Katra are one and the same. They are all merely illusions that will disappear soon, but it is a suitable object to crush you with. So, my child..... do you feel it? You have become alone.]

God's power was becoming stronger. As Heaven and Elo Katra mixed into one, power was stripped from Michael and flowed into God. Michael finally realized why God was in a hurry to regain his power.

Heaven obeyed whoever possessed God's power. Since that power returned from Michael to God, this was a natural flow of events.

Michael lost his world. Now, all of this was God's again. Not even aware of the tyrant that will destroy the world, this world was granting power to that man.

God opened his eyes. With the unstable, but strong body, he pressured Michael and spoke again.

[Where are the angels that was with you? Where are the ones that followed you? Where is the world under your management? What is the source of power that gives you strength?]

[I..... I am light. I am wholly complete, and luminescent, I do not need a place to call home!]

[In that realm which you believe to be wholly complete, many, many, have ascended to it.]

[What.....?]

Michael lost his final bit of will as well. However, God mercilessly forced the cold hard truth onto him to rip his morale to shreds.

[You have merely reached the realm of recorded gods.]

Recorded, gods.....? The original owners of those blessings that Yu IlHan and his group use all the time? The unique power that is granted unto a single being through the Akashic Record? Michael clenched his teeth and denied that.

[R, recorded gods..... they are merely records! They are merely agglomeration of records and are not real!]

[And who was the one that told you that?]

[You! It was you! None other than you!]

[Yes, it was indeed me. So, my child, I will correct it for you.]

God's lips twisted hideously. Mana gathered and covered his body, and became a murky armor that escaped the boundaries of mana due to the integration with countless mutated soul fragments that he had devoured until now.

[That is a lie.]

[What.....]

[That term is the biggest insult and arrogance in front of them. They are not 'recorded gods'. In fact, they originated from records but have surpassed it. I estimated that the answer to surpassing mana would lie within them. That is why I captured them. Because they were beings that could not be bound with records, I attempted to capture them with something that were not records. I put them all into one world and bound them there.]

[Just, what are you saying.....]

[Can't you even imagine? You are foolish, my child. I have attempted to make a new record storage for the multiverse. I wished to become the Creator, and the manager of that multiverse.]

If Yu IlHan was here, he would have been annoyed, saying something like 'don't mention something that was mentioned before already', but unfortunately, God didn't even realize that Yu IlHan not only saw through his schemes, but had even obliterated it into tiny pieces.

[I have attempted to make them into a new library to store new records. Gathering soldiers that obey only my will, to gather information, reflect on them, manage them, and create them. Although I temporarily lost my power thanks to your interference before I could finish, I have in fact been able to complete a more perfect record storage after my fall. Thinking back on that, I should instead thank you.]

Michael took a step back without knowing.

Recorded gods were real, making a new Akashic Record by capturing them – these were things he actually knew of before, but this man was definitely insane. He mistook his emotions for reason and was enforcing them on others as well!

[And now, I have gathered many, many beings that have surpassed records. Although some of them escaped and dreamed of rebellion, that's merely a portion of them. I can just get them back later. I can just fill the empty slots again. The new world will arrive soon. Though, I had to test it before it was fully complete because the situation became urgent.....]

Thinking about the Legnae and Archlegnae that weren't fully satisfactory, God shrugged his shoulders. All of this was due to Yu IlHan. He could only shift his plans forward as his growth was much too fast.

[However, all is well. Yu IlHan has grown, and acquired power that is close to Creation. This is what it means to reverse the tides.]

Although the power that Yu IlHan had acquired was that of Creation, one that surpassed God's by miles, God still looked down on him. That was why he could be at such a leisure.

[And then I reunited with you again. Now I will devour you, and devour Yu IlHan as well, in order to become more perfect than before. I will create a new world, and a new set of records.]

[You're looking down on my power..... a being that is in the wrong; a relic of the past, you can only boast with the powers you have stolen from me, and you insult me for desiring something that was not mine.....!]

Michael brought up his power for one last time.

However, what he chose was to escape. He judged that there was no hope of victory head on.

What did he have to do, and how? He thought that he had to ally with Yu IlHan albeit unwillingly. Yes, since God was aiming for Yu IlHan right now, Yu IlHan would also have to kill God. With their powers combined, someone that just fell from power in a hideous and unsightly manner should easily be dealt.....

[My child, where are you going.]

[Kugh!?!]

God appeared again in front of him when he tried to cast magic to flee. Michael tried to activate Warp with his eyes widened in shock, but his hopes didn't come to fruition. God's hand was already right in front of his head.

[Truly foolish and unfortunate. There wasn't even a one percent chance of victory for you in the first place.]

"Just, what....." (T/N: Quotation marks in the raws as well)

[Didn't I already say it, that you have been left alone.]

God chuckled and twisted his hand.

Michael's head split into two with those movements.

[There is nowhere for you to go, my child.]

[G, ggaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaak!] (T/N: Back to brackets for this one....)

Michael died, and God devoured him whole.

The rightful ruler of Heaven had returned.

Chapter 346: Sole God – 7

“I, I had a feeling that this would happen.”

Yu IlHan shrugged his shoulders the moment he arrived in Heaven. What spread out in front of them was the limitless skies, along with the clouds that filled it, as well as.....

[It's the first time we meet like this, is it not, Yu IlHan?]

Satan was standing amongst the mountain of angel corpses. The thirteen wings behind his back flapped loosely as if mocking Yu IlHan and the others.

“My word, all the angels were.....”

“Satan, what did you do! All of these innocent angels..... Although Yu IlHan did something similar in the past! But even so!”

“I still believed in you in one corner of my heart, Lucifer.....”

The ex-angel dragons became enraged and Uriel shed tears filled with sorrow and disgust. Satan made a bitter smile for a moment after hearing Uriel's words, before shrugging his shoulders.

[You should have trusted someone else who you could place your trust in, Uriel. I was your enemy from the moment I created the Army of Brilliant Light. Didn't you know that?]

“Why? You and the four of us were of one mind. Me, as well as Gabriel as well as-.”

[Stop dreaming, lady.]

Satan sighed. With a voice that sounded neither like the truth nor the falsehood, he blamed Uriel.

[It was only you that thought like that in the first place. All of us five were aiming for different objectives.]

“Lucifer, no, Satan.....! I am sure of it now. You are our enemy! Unforgivable, a treacherous existence that has to be killed!”

Uriel abruptly turned around to Yu IlHan. She felt like a little child that asked her parents to scold her opponent after having a quarrel, so Yu IlHan ended up laughing even though the situation was urgent. Then, he scratched his head and spoke.

“I would have been able to minimize damage if I came here a little earlier. I hurried a lot but it still turned out like this. It hasn’t been that long since you came here too, no?”

[You are quite smart, fellow. Well, you can hear that loud noise over there, right?]

Satan pointed his hand beyond the Wall of Chaos. Yu IlHan nodded his head. He already knew who were clashing there.

“Michael and Greed.....no, the God of Heaven, I guess? I think they’re still fighting with each other.”

[.....!]

“What!?”

“IlHan, what did you just say?”

The others doubted their own ears after hearing Yu IlHan’s words. The leader of the Destruction Demon Army was actually the God of Heaven? What sort of connection did the two have? Yu IlHan just replied nonchalantly.

“What? It’s nothing surprising. Even the ex-Archangel Satan made the Army of Brilliant Light and my old man Gabriel made his own faction too, so there’s no way their master, God, couldn’t do the same thing? Hey, even I could have done it.”

“Can you really do it too..... no, no, no. That’s not the important thing here. So did you just say that God, is the leader of the Destruction Demon Army himself.....!?”

“What, did no one actually realize that? There will never come a day where I’ll hand down the mantle of foreshadow master to you guys. Such a pity.”

“How!”

“Why!”

“My head hurtsssss!”

The others all fell into confusion at the same time! And Satan wasn't an exception either.

[You..... how did you know that?]

“I wonder if I really have to tell you, but fine. It's a special service from me.”

Yu IlHan shrugged his shoulders and explained in a warm and kind voice to Satan.

“There are quite a lot of capable people in my group. There's even one that can discover worlds that each factions have been hidden away or even interspatial dimensions.”

[Discover, hidden worlds.....?]

“And I happened to have the ability to erase them and bound them to our world.”

[That's definitely an interesting topic. Yes, I also had a time when I found fun in hiding things. So you're saying that you erased them all and made them yours?]

“Correct, and among those worlds.”

Yu IlHan nonchalantly uttered.

“Was Greed's, that is, God's, flesh.”

[Flesh.....?]

“Ah!”

Yu IlHan's group also understood when he phrased it like that. Na YuNa widened her eyes and exclaimed.

“The one that looked like someone swallowed it whole and vomited it back out with stomach fluids splattered all over it!”

“Thanks for the reminder of that disgusting scene, Miss YuNa.”

“Ehehe.”

“I wasn't complimenting you.”

Replied Yu IlHan with an unpleasant expression as he raised his hand. Inside there was a small vortex, and everyone realized that it was a very small interspatial dimension.

“At my level, creating such an interspace isn’t hard at all.”

“Whoa, so cheeky.”

“Of course, this means that it isn’t hard for Greed to, right? And inside his own stomach too.”

[Indeed..... that should have been the safest place.]

Even Satan didn’t know about this. God did not reveal everything to him after all. If he knew everything, then Satan would have already found numerous ways to screw God over.

Satan didn’t know the process of making Legnae and Archlegnae, and did not know what mechanism God’s so-called new world will run with. No matter how capable he was, there was a limit. However..... if he thought about it, it was actually quite possible.]

[Yes. Perhaps someone like him can do that. And you..... and your comrades, opened the doors to that hidden world.]

“Yup, the mage on our side is amazing.”

Kang MiRae blushed. She might die of happiness if he praised her any more. Yu IlHan smiled at her and continued explaining to Satan.

“No matter how amazing I am, there was no way I can see through his real identity just with one meeting with him. But then, I got a piece of his flesh, and something that was deep inside his body, so wouldn’t it be strange if I didn’t know anything about him? Moreover, there are plenty of samples around me that contain traces of God’s power.”

[That maybe from him devouring angels and acquiring a tiny portion of God’s power.....]

“Not that one, God’s power that the Four Great Archangels ‘and you’ shared. A portion of that was with him as well. So, who else could it have been apart from God himself? Greed is the fallen God, the same God that was chased out by you five, and the same God that vowed to avenge the betrayal of his children.”

Satan decided to give up on this battle of smarts with Yu IlHan. It would in fact, be better for his mental health to converse with him under the assumption that Yu IlHan knew everything.

He was the worst kind of monster since genesis. He was a talent that could achieve everything he wished for and still have room for more. He would truly stand with his chest held high, in a place where the God of Heaven, Michael, Gabriel nor Satan, could stand.

Satan felt his heart thumping. With the existence of Yu IlHan, his plan would be a success. Without hiding his joy, he stopped Yu IlHan; not doubting that he would speak of even more amazing things!

[Then I ask, Yu IlHan. ....What was inside!]

“Recorded gods, and the new record storage that he tried to make using them.”

[.....]

No, but even so... Satan became speechless because he didn't expect this. Yu IlHan finished off with a bright smile.

“So, God can't do anything now. He's doomed. Legna or Archlegna, he can't even make a single one of them, much less anything else. Even if he tries to make a new record storage by gathering new gods, they're all within my group now. So, in the end, he will have to kill me, but he wouldn't be able to win against me even if he dies and revives three times. So, it's game over.”

[Pff.....]

The dumbfounded Satan burst out in laughter.

[Puhahahahahahaha! Keke! Kehihihihihi! Oh, my stomach hurts! Kuhahahahahahaha! Wheeeeeew!]

“Was that so funny?”

[The best! It is the best! Yu IlHan..... You just gave me the greatest joy of my life! This is really amazing, I will admit it! You are the best across all worlds!]

Aaaah, I knew I was in the right to have let you go! I would have been in so much trouble if I killed you by mistake.]

“That Lucifer actually praised someone else this much.....”

Uriel, who knew the past Satan, muttered in a voice of disbelief. However, Yu IlHan nodded his head in satisfaction.

“Hm, as expected of a leader, he knows his stuff.”

[Yes, of course I do! That is why it’s even more funny! Looooool, I want to show you the serious expression he made when he mentioned the new world he was going to make!]

“Yes. And so..... are you forfeiting because you know everything?”

Yu IlHan’s cold words run inside Satan’s ears the next moment.

Satan stopped laughing and raised his head. The thirteen wings reflected the ripple inside him and trembled slightly.

[Forfeit? Me? Forfeit what? I’m not four-footed at all, fella.]

“That’s the third time already. What I meant is that..... you have already given up on yourself.”

[I did? On myself?]

Satan asked back and concentrated mana on one hand. He, who was greater than any other mage in the world, had the ability to manipulate magic that was twisted to the point that no one could tell the original source of, or type magic.

The magic in his hand was also a high-levelled one that looked extremely difficult to block or dispel.

[I don’t know what kind of misconception you have, but my fellow young transcender. I have never stopped believing for one moment. I’ve been proceeding towards my destination all the time, and I’m planning to arrive there soon. And that is why you are wrong. Or..... should I let you experience it for yourself!?!]

The sphere disappeared from his hand. It was a magic that could strike anywhere with unknown effects! However, Yu IlHan extended his hand as if he knew what was coming.

Then, he pulled Uriel into his arms.

“Whoa?”

Uriel, hugged by the son of the man she likes, thought ‘perhaps it would feel like this to be hugged by your own son?’ and was slightly happy even while feeling awkward, the sphere that appeared where she was disappeared after being gazed at by Yu IlHan. Satan’s expression turned strange.

[You.....?]

“What could have made you aim for Uriel and not me? What could have allowed you to kill my father Gabriel by yourself? Why is it that you are trying to get yourself killed by me at this point in time, especially now that Michael is being killed by God and victory is oh so close?”

[Yu IlHan, you.....]

“Although I was suspicious, I’m sure of it with that attack just now. I would be an idiot if I hadn’t realize with all these hints.”

Yu IlHan spoke with a strange conviction.

With the sharp and cheeky expression of the high school boy trapped in a little kid’s body, five minutes before the ending of an episode of an anime, he asked Satan. (T/N: Conan probably)

“In order to kill God, the ones that stole God’s power must all die, right? That is why, you five were unable to kill God in the past.”

Satan closed his mouth. Uriel widened her eyes. The others were shocked.

Satan eventually nodded his head.

[Yes.]

Like the culprit confessing his crimes, he admitted to Yu IlHan’s claims powerlessly.

[You are correct.]

In just the right time, the Wall of Chaos started collapsing. Soon, Michael’s aura could no longer be felt while God’s own presence increased. He had managed to recover his powers and became slightly stronger.

The final battle was coming.

Chapter 347: Sole God – 8

“W, wait..... I didn’t know anything. I didn’t know about this!”

Uriel exclaimed in a panic. Her eyes were trembling.

“How? Wasn’t it because we were lacking in strength? Wasn’t it because God slipped away nimbly? Isn’t it because your final attack missed him that he was able to escape?”

[Michael’s ability was not perfect. He could not steal God’s power completely from him and ended up leaving a slight trace. He ended up foolishly giving a part of his own power to God, and we, having received a portion of God’s power, became unable to kill God. That included Michael as well.]

“Are you serious.....!”

Uriel was flabbergasted. They failed for such a stupid reason? They finally came back to this point after countless sacrifices, but what was this? They were toyed with like clowns! They did all that in vain! Yu IlHan asked in her stead.

“Michael doesn’t know about that, right?”

[If he did, he wouldn’t have foolishly charged towards God. I’m the only one who realized this until now.]

Uriel shouted with an expression as if she would vomit blood at any moment.

“You should have said something to us! You should have explained it properly!”

[Haha, no way. Will you obediently give up your life if I said that you needed to die in order for God to die?]

Uriel became speechless. She couldn’t do that. She couldn’t give up. She couldn’t give up on herself, or Gabriel..... Satan nodded as if he knew it all along and continued speaking.

[That is why I needed to prepare a more perfect stage. I had to aim for an opportunity to kill God as well as everyone who possesses God’s power. I thought such an opportunity will never come, but Gabriel's son, that is, you, Yu IlHan, came and the opportunity arrived. I was sure that you will accomplish our goals for us.]

"And you tried to kill my father because you knew I wouldn't kill him myself. Right?"

[.....So you even know that I failed to kill him.]

"Ah.....!"

Color came back to Uriel's face after hearing that Gabriel was alive. Kim YeSeul was relatively calm looking though. As though she was sure that he had been in no real danger from the beginning.

[Yes, he ran. That is also why I blocked your path. He's not a man who would hide when his own son is in danger.]

"So you were going to kill Uriel, and kill my dad as well using me as the bait and be insta-killed by me in a fit of rage."

Even third-rate movies don't have that kind of generic plot nowadays. When Yu IlHan mocked him, Satan started becoming enraged. Yu IlHan's ability to tick others off was top-notch as well!

[Although the scenario didn't go as I had anticipated, since you know everything, can't we do this smoothly? It's a good news that you erased God's final objective cleanly, but that guy just became stronger after eating Michael over there .....You seem to believe in yourself very much, but God isn't such an easy target to deal with.]

"8 things."

Yu IlHan suddenly uttered. When Satan asked back "What?" Yu IlHan explained nonchalantly.

"I have 8 different methods to kill God for sure even if he is stronger in physical terms than I am. You seem to take me lightly, but unlike you, I can easily kill someone even if that guy has God's power, or a predator's power or even if they are a monster that manipulates the Akashic Record. So shut up and listen to me."

“Wao…….”

Na YuNa exclaimed. Such charisma. There was no way she wouldn't fall for that. Seeing Yu IlHan uttering words with even more arrogance than Satan himself, he was stunned for a moment when Yu IlHan pushed one hand in front of him.

Space distorted and Gabriel popped out. Satan shouted with his eyes open wide.

[You were hiding in Heaven!?]

“Sheesh, I can't even hide properly.”

When he lost the fight with Satan and ran away, he would have been found out if he maintained the world of the Garden of Sunset.

So, Gabriel had currently let go of his power as an Archangel and the power he possessed as the leader of the Garden of Sunset, and was currently an ordinary human. Of course, with a portion of God's power, his might wasn't anything to scoff at.

Yu IlHan glared at his father and spoke.

“You heard that, dad? It seems like you need to die in order to kill God.”

“Tch, I guess I can't help it. Do I need to die?”

“You can foresee everything and still didn't see that?”

“If I could read the future and know everything, I would have beaten God's ass long ago.”

The father and son were just having a casual banter as if nothing serious was happening. That was what was more shocking. In order to kill God, Gabriel had to die, so why was the person in question making such a peaceful smile, and why was Yu IlHan, the one who had to watch his father die, still making such a calm expression?

Of course, Gabriel's smile was fundamentally different from Yu IlHan's. Gabriel's smile was one from someone who had resigned himself to fate and gave up thinking about everything, while Yu IlHan's smile was that of desire that only those who did not let go of anything could have.

“Dad, you want to live, right?”

“Sure, who would want to die? At least the only one I know is Lucifer right there. But wouldn’t I need to die in order for you to kill God?”

“Good, I’ll give you 70 points. That’s a B grade.”

“Son, you’re so harsh.”

Yu IlHan groaned and estimated the distance between God and them. It seems like he still needed a little time to fully absorb Michael’s power, but he sooner or later he would come. So, in fact, there wasn’t much time left.

“As Satan said, we’re in quite a hurry so let’s get this over with quickly.”

Yu IlHan pushed Uriel who was in his arms, forward. Satan and Gabriel instinctively looked towards her. Yu IlHan spoke to Uriel.

“Hey, you still have God’s power in you, right?”

“I do.”

“Use it.”

Uriel felt strange, but still obediently extended her hand and used her power that was stolen from God. Beautiful red mana flowed out and burned up as flames.

[What!?!]

“Hah, now that I think about it.”

However, Satan and Gabriel became pale after looking at that. Uriel also soon realized why they were making such an odd expression.

It was partially God’s power, yet it was something fundamentally different.

“Listen carefully you two.”

When they were busying themselves by being shocked about the scene in front of them, that hadn’t been possible when they stole God’s power in the past, Yu IlHan spoke as if to boast.

“I’m the Lord of Dragon’s Nest. I’m the closest person to the Akashic Record as of now, and a person capable of changing whatever comes at me as I wish.

What I mean is that, everything that enters my hands will all-”

When he put his hand towards the flames that Uriel had made, the flames divided into countless little butterflies of fire and scattered.

The power that was Uriel’s but not under Uriel’s control, easily obeyed Yu IlHan and flew around in the air.

“-become mine.”

The surrounding quietened down. Everyone knew what he was talking about and the implications of such words.

Gabriel had to admit that his prophecy was wrong, and Satan had to admit that he had misjudged Yu IlHan to a great extent.

He had long since surpassed both Gabriel and Satan. There was no way he wouldn’t be able to surpass Michael. Unlike Michael who had to leave God’s power alone as it is, Yu IlHan made God’s power his own and even evolved it to a higher level.

Would he fear God? Would he really be unable to kill God?

“You surpassed my prophecy.”

[You are beyond what I could have possibly imagined.]

The two that harbored a similar train of thoughts ever since their rebellion against God had failed; the two who made the Garden of Sunset and the Army of Brilliant Light in an attempt to stab at God’s heart once again, uttered similar words and looked at each other before laughing.

Just like the flow of a river, new water would constantly replace the old. The two painfully realized and admitted that it was their mistake to think that everything would go their way simply because they wished as such.

“Son, let’s do it your way.”

[Yu IlHan, do as you wish.]

“I was waiting for those words.”

Yu IlHan raised one hand and shook it. It didn’t matter whether if it was in heaven or Elo Katra. Right now, they were within a portion of Yu IlHan’s domain of Earth, the aerial city that resonated with the Flying fortress and the Guardian fortress. Without any delay, the Declaration skill activated his abilities as a leader of a faction.

Of course, there would be no need to say what that was for.

***

At that time, God, who had regained most of his powers thanks to devouring Michael, laughed out in a joyous mood. Now, there was no need to be bound to anything anymore. There was no need to skimp and save on strength anymore. There was no need to hide himself, or hesitate.

[Fuu.....Kuhahahahaha! I can finally move freely! It is now the time of judgement! I shall destroy everything and create them anew!]

However, there was still one more thing he had to do before that. The man who possessed the key to opening the new world, Yu IlHan. That damned son of Gabriel that grew up too rapidly!

[He is here. Satan too, and..... Gabriel? That bastard still hasn't died yet?]

No, this was for the better. Gabriel's soul would become a great material for Legna! In order to punish them all at once, God moved forward and called out his loyal subo.....

Called out his loyal subor.....

Subordinates?.....

[.....?]

God stopped in place. He tilted his head and tried once again, realized that something was wrong, and the next moment, he thought that there was a need to check up on it himself.

Then, he realized.

[Wait..... how?]

Gone. He couldn't feel it. How did he not know until now? Well, he thought that there was no way it could disappear so he never noticed it until now. Yes. There's no way it could have disappeared. No one could possibly have entered his stomach.

But why? And how?

[Critical Hit!]

A message that he hadn't seen in a long time filled his vision. However, he didn't remember attacking anyone, so this message meant that.....

“Hi, Greed. Oh, should I call you loser? Anyhow, hi! Isn't it such a good day with wonderful weather to die for?”

.....it was him who got hit.

Chapter 348: Epilogue

[YOUUUUUUUUUUUUUUUUUUUUUUUUUUUUU!]

Shouted God at Yu IlHan, the one who had thrown the 'Blade of the Avenger' right through his head.

However, Yu IlHan didn't even pretend to listen to anything and aimed at God with a long cylinder in his hand. An enormous amount of mana, that couldn't even be described with the word 'enormous' at this point, had agglomerated and in the very center of the tube, a white metallic cannonball could be seen.

"Can you please be honest here?"

Asked Yu IlHan.

"Are there any hidden bosses, true bosses, hidden dungeons or expansion packets after I kill you? If there are I'll kill you less painfully, and if there aren't....."

[YU IL HAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAN!]

"I'll just pour everything on you and treat you like the true last boss."

Yu IlHan winked after saying that.

"It's not a loss either way, right?"

[I will kill you! The very sin of looking down on God, the sin of injuring this Lord! Kill yourself now to repent if you know the severity of your crimes!]

"This child still has a long way to go until he can walk on his own."

"He can't even stand properly!"

No matter how hard he tried to move, God's body didn't flinch. God was going to utilize all of his transcendent powers that he had regained and even upgraded, to pull out this puny spear and crunch Yu IlHan to pieces, but if everything went the way he wanted them to, he wouldn't have fallen to such dire straits in the first place.

In fact, the more he tried to move and to resist the effects, more and more of his enormous energy was sucked into the spear!

[How! How can I!]

“No! If you’re the last boss, say something cooler! Say something that sound like you still have tricks up your sleeve!”

[KHAAAAAAAAAH!]

God was enraged, but the more he furious he became, the more energy was sucked into the spear! Spiera, who was in control of the spear, asked Yu IlHan in worry.

[Yu IlHan, what happens if the spear suddenly explodes without being able to handle this crazy amount of energy?]

“You just need to go along with my guts at that point.”

[You deceived me, Yu IlHan!]

“You can do it! I have faith in you!”

[KHAAAAAAAAAAAAAH!]

God struggled without being able to endure Yu IlHan’s leisurely attitude. A single spear on his head had disabled him from doing anything, it didn’t make any sense. He had to be able to do something! He was going to be the Creator of the new world!

AT that moment, Yu IlHan fanned the flames.

“Oh, by the way, it was me who erased the fake record storage. Didn’t you feel more empty inside?”

[YOUUUUUUUU!]

“Very good. The suction sped up. Wait, should I provoke him a little more?”

“Yu IlHan, It’ll really exploooooode!”

[.....]

Satan, no, the dragon Lucifer with thirteen dragon wings behind his back, had his eyes flipped because he couldn’t believe the situation.

Even he would have to risk utter and complete annihilation while fighting

God, but right now, Yu IlHan had pretty much immobilized God with just a simple spear attack.

“Son, just when exactly did your concealment level surpass mine?”

“Dad doesn’t know what a true loner is like. You need to study more. Everyone in Dragon’s Nest will help you. Let’s try starting from eating alone in school everyday.”

[Lucifer, Gabriel! Have you fallen to the status of a mere dragon! You went under a mere insect and are trying to go against me?]

Since it was pretty much impossible to provoke Yu IlHan, God changed his targets to Satan and Gabriel.

“Honestly, aren’t these wings way cooler than those pigeon wings, old man?”

[It’s useless no matter how calm you act! I will not die, I will come back and punish all of you before opening the door to the new world!]

“Honestly, I thought I had to die too, but apparently I don’t have to.”

This time, it was Gabriel. Although there was a bump on his forehead after being smacked very, very hard by Kim YeSeul, he was still a very healthy 9th class dragon.

“So old man God. Let’s test if you’ll die or not. According to my foreknowledge ability, I think you have 100.1% chance of death, but my senses have dulled a little nowadays so I’m not so sure.”

[You dare..... you dare!]

God’s body expanded rapidly. Just as Michael did in the past, he was getting stronger with rage. Though, he still couldn’t pull out the spear from his head!

[If you wish to stand against me, then fine! I shall destroy all of you! The me you once called God, has already fallen thanks to your rebellion, I have become Greed of the Destruction Demon Army! I shall destroy! And devour! I’ll let each and every single one of you reunite inside me!]

Yu IlHan thought that this scene was quite familiar and pondered about it briefly before realizing. That’s it. Isn’t this the typical pattern where a game boss recovers to full health and becomes stronger?

As he had surpassed the expectations of everyone, God also had the potential to grow beyond his expectation. This was also why Yu IlHan came up with 8 different methods of killing him.

However, he could kill him quickly, so was there any need to wait for him to become even stronger? Why was it that in games or in anime, the main character always obediently waits for the enemy's awakening? You should just kill him when it is still easy!

Yu IlHan always wondered about that, and had already resolved to not miss any chances if he came to the same situation.

So, he fired the cannon without hesitation.

[Critical Hit!]

[Khaaaaaaaaaargh!~]

Even though he fired a material cannonball with a material cannon, no one could see the firing process or the path of the trajectory that the cannonball took. However, it splendidly landed at the region surrounding God's heart and exploded in an extravagant fashion to wound him with all of its explosive energy.

Moreover, even though it was just one shot, God's entire body was bursting apart and riddled with holes in various places. Yu IlHan had applied his Transcendent Trajectory skill to instantly multiply his attack by tens and hundreds of times! Even the Creator himself would have died!

[This, is, Legna's.....]

Due to being hit squarely by the cannonball, God felt his very existence being split up into pieces and being annihilated thanks to the power within them, and uttered some words. Yu IlHan smiled and nodded.

"You're right. I put this together using the fragments from the Archlegnae that you created. Doesn't it hurt?"

[Grrk, how can..... I, I..... die, die, die her.....]

He probably held a lot of resentment. He probably had a lot to say. However, Yu IlHan didn't bother listening to him anymore, so he approached him and twisted the spear on God's head in a random arc, churning it round and round until...

God's health rapidly fell towards the bottom, and eventually disappeared.

[You have earned experience.]

[You have earned the records of the Lord of Heaven's Army, .....]

[You have become level 911.]

[You have mastered the skill, Creation.]

"Uaaaaaaaaah."

Never did he know he would undergo a mass level up again at this point! Yu IlHan checked to make sure that God's body disappeared for real and gathered the remnants to burn them cleanly before retrieving the Blade of the Avenger. Then, he grabbed onto his head due to the headache.

Seeing Yu IlHan cleaning everything up properly even while grabbing onto his head while grimacing, the others were flabbergasted.

"Son, did he really die with that? Really? Has God really, finally disappeared now?"

Asked Gabriel. This looked too easy considering the suffering they had to go through until now. Yu IlHan shrugged his shoulders and asked him instead.

"Dad, did you get experience when you chased out God before?"

"No."

"I did."

"Okay....."

Assume that all enemies are not dead until you get their experience points! Vice versa, it followed that logic that acquiring records and experience from one's enemy meant that the enemy was dead for sure! He erased the body as well just in case some undead overlord rose from the corpse and even collected his thought-soul, so there was nothing to be afraid of now!

Having been persuaded by Yu IlHan with concrete evidence, Gabriel felt a sense of defeat and turned around. Lucifer placed his hand on Gabriel's shoulders and was giggling, so he punched him in the guts to assuage his annoyance. Yu IlHan spoke to them.

“Oh yeah, Lucifer, you ordered Lazière to provoke me, didn’t you?”

“I thought you’d fight me more easily that way. And there was a need to clean up the fallen angels under me so.....”

Lucifer quickly figured out that Lazière was alive and widened his eyes. Yu IlHan mocked him even more.

“You tried to commit suicide but still couldn’t control any of my actions.”

“.....I should just.”

“Think of it as the price for mocking the others until now.”

Just as when Satan was about to use magic, he was held back by Gabriel. Yu IlHan ignored them and raised his hand, and Heaven reacted sensitively to it. The Trap of Restoration that he had planted here before had started activating with Yu IlHan’s magic power.

“All the faction leaders have either died or have come into my camp, so the only existing higher existence organization is Dragon’s Nest. The higher existences that have lost their leaders should still be alive, though they should have fallen back to being lower existences..... Of course, I shall give them an opportunity to enter Dragon’s Nest if they wish to, so don’t worry about it so much.”

“What are you doing, wasn’t everything over, son?”

“I’m about to begin the next step. I still can’t fully toss aside away my worries about hidden bosses so can everyone stay alert?”

Just as the others were about to get fed up at Yu IlHan for meticulously preparing for anything else that may occur, he laughed and waved his hand many times.

Whenever he did so, The Trap of Restoration expanded and enveloped the remainder of Heaven, as well as the dark recesses of space that was once called Elo Katra. The ownerless world had accepted the new owner and started changing.

“Anyway, we did what we came here to do, so it’s about time we do what we were originally going to do.”

“What we were originally going to do.....? Oh.”

Muttered Liera before clapping. How could she forget! Yu IlHan’s aim was this in the first place!

“The people of Earth!”

“Yeah, we need to return them back to their proper home now.”

Just how many of them have survived? Wouldn’t the parents that have lost their children in the Great Expulsion wish to live on in another world without accepting the truth?

“But even so, we need to return them to their original places first.”

“Okay.....”

Although it was all to kill God, their sins were not small as well. Whether it was Lucifer, Gabriel or Yu IlHan himself. Their sins could not be washed away by the righteousness of their actions despite whatever objectives or good intent they had at that time. They would all have to bear the burden for the remainder their lives.

“And well.”

Yu IlHan continued speaking.

“I think I can return them the ones they’ve lost.”

“What? How?”

“Just watch for a minute.

The world changed according to Yu IlHan’s hand gestures. Although they were in Heaven until just now, they were currently teleported to the Netherworld, no the Crevasse Garden, no, not that but Breya, Lanpas, Earth.....

“Don’t tell me.....”

“The Traps of Restoration have now completely proliferated across all worlds.”

Yu IlHan gripped his fist.

All existing worlds started being summoned to Earth and started being fused with it.

“All worlds…….”

“Every single world? Into one……?”

No one could possibly dream about this. No one could possibly imagine such a scenario. And that, it was actually happening for real. They still could not see through Yu IlHan completely.

[The world is subliming into one.]

[You become the lord of the world. Using the name of the world you were born in, the completed world shall be called ‘Earth’.]

“Earth, shall become a world vaster than Heaven…….”

Muttered Gabriel as he watched the fusion of worlds.

“Yes, so this is what it meant…….”

“Hhp.”

Yu IlHan closed his eyes. He could feel countless souls scattered across the vast expanse of the universe.

The souls of those he had killed and taken in, the souls of those he did not kill but still ended up staying by his side, the souls that did not leave this world, they were all here.

It wasn’t like he didn’t wish to revive all of them, but since he couldn’t do, that he gathered only the purest of souls;

Of the children that had to die just because they were born, and watched over them.

[O, children who died unjust deaths.]

The mana that his level 900 soul possessed became a strand of Declaration and enveloped the world.

[Come back to the world, and we shall live on together in peace.]

“Ah, aaaah.....”

Seeing his Declaration being realized, Kim YeSeul ended up crying. Was it happiness, or sadness? It was an emotion that she felt after looking at something beyond the realm of recognition, so that emotion should be well beyond the realm of recognition as well, she did not mind whatever that she was feeling and just cried according to her parental instincts.

“Fuuuu.”

Yu IlHan, having spent an enormous quantity of mana to complete this process, sighed and looked around to the others.

Some were crying like Kim YeSeul, some were looking at him with adoration like Na YuNa, and some were making vain expressions like Lucifer and Gabriel, while there were some that looked forwards toward the future like Kang MiRae, while some looked at him with warm eyes like Liera, while some shrugged their shoulders while thinking ‘oh well, whatever happens, happens.’ and smiled like Erta.

“Now let us go greet the returnees.”

“Returnees..... yes, they are indeed returnees.”

Chuckled Kim YeSeul while some tears still remained on her face. The others let out hearty laughs as well. At that point, Na YuNa suddenly shouted.

“Mr. IlHan, epilogue! The epilogue between you and meeeeeee!”

“You really have an amazing tenacity as well as the audacity to suggest that.”

Yu IlHan giggled as well and lowered the aerial fortress to Earth. Although he was slightly sorry for Na YuNa, his mind was currently filled of thoughts about what he had to say to the people who have gathered in this world.

Oh, yes. This would be quite suitable to start off the speech.

Hello, ladies and gentlemen of the returnees faction.

I’m the loner that had been waiting for all of you.

Author's notes

1. Yup, this is the end of the main story. I don't know whether I'll write a side story or not but the main story is definitely over with this (T/N: There are four)
  2. In fact, this was going to be finished with 350 chapters, but somehow, I seem to have made a mistake in the process of reserve-posting, and looks like I cut a 3 chapter worth of quantity into 2(.....) I knew 9,700 characters was a little too high, goddamn!!!
  3. If you have any story that you'd like to see in the side story, then please comment (T/N: This does not apply to you English readers)(P/R: Unfortunately)
  4. I still have a lot I want to say, but I'll do the rest in the afterword!

Translator's notes

That's it! Main story's finished

There are 4 side stories (Go to index page to read the titles)

Thanks for every—

okay, I'll do it properly later when I translate author's afterword.

P/R: me too!

Extra Chapter 1: Graduating Lonership, Entering Marriage

The multiverse simply cannot be observed in its entirety. Worlds are continuously being created and destroyed even at this very moment.

There were numerous worlds that did not evolve and were thus unable to come into contact with the Akashic Record, leaving them unable to produce mana. There were also plenty of worlds that grew smoothly but had no special characteristics or traits that caught the eye of higher existences and consequently, were not allowed to become higher worlds.

And the Traps of Restoration that Yu IlHan had made, proliferated even to these worlds through other nearby worlds, and forcibly fused them with Earth.

“Just what is happening.....”

“M, mana is.”

It wasn't like Yu IlHan recklessly lumped them all together. He formed regions that separated less evolved worlds, more evolved worlds and higher worlds through the usage of mountain ranges and large bodies of water as boundaries.

Since the density of mana would change according to these regions, the monsters living inside them also differed.

“IlHan is now just straight-out doing Creation work.....”

“I don't like that. Don't you have to work for 6 days and get only one day of rest at first? My future life motto is 6 days of rest a week.”

“At that point, I wonder what you'll end up doing in that single day of work!”

The world Yu IlHan was creating was quite similar to the past multiverse. Looking at the world, it didn't seem so wide, but the only one that could observe Earth as a whole was Yu IlHan alone.

Even the elite members of Dragon's Nest weren't exceptions, and after they focused their attention on one corner of the world that was being made, the moment they raised their head, they would not know where exactly that corner of the world ended up settling down at.

“Amazing. All the truths about magic that I have learnt until now..... all of them are so naturally being sublimed into this world.”

“Even if I can fuse all worlds into one, it will only become an endless expanse of chaos if I just recklessly lump them together. The ideal would be eventually becoming one after harmonizing piece by piece.”

Like that, Yu IlHan was working on the natural fusion of the worlds, but how was it natural to the others? The people of Earth scattered across multiple worlds as well as the residents of other worlds were repeatedly summoned to Earth, and all of them had to go through a period of confusion.

However, wherever they were summoned to, they could still observe the aerial city where Yu IlHan resided in. To them, Yu IlHan would seem like an omnipotent, omniscient God. And this was also what Yu IlHan intended to showcase himself as.

“The people are looking up to us!”

“They’re shouting something but I can’t hear it properly.”

“If they wish for me to, I will answer, but unless that’s the case, I don’t plan on enforcing any communication with them.”

What Yu IlHan aimed for was the fusion of worlds and the concentration of all energy. He was planning to erase the cycle of birth and death of worlds by fusing not only the existing worlds, but all potential worlds as well.

And since he had succeeded already, there was no need for him to keep interfering with the residents.

“Ah, look at those children. It looks like they’re safely going back to their parents.”

“I set it that way.....The children whose parents are dead, will have to be taken care of by me.”

Said Yu IlHan in a bitter voice before extending his hand. A huge mansion suddenly rose up in one corner of the aerial city that was descending. In the future, the children that have lost their parents will live there under Yu IlHan's protection.

Liera, who watched that, asked carefully.

"IlHan, this maybe a simple question for you but..... don't you have any thoughts about resurrecting the others and not just the children expelled from the Great Expulsion?"

"I thought someone might ask that."

To Yu IlHan who was now capable of doing anything as he was in management of both souls and matter, the biggest problem for him was to decide on who to resurrect and who to leave alone.

When he was still a human, there was a path of retreat and a bunch of excuses since he wasn't suited to manipulating souls, but that wasn't the case right now.

He was the sole God, and all body and soul were within his dominion. So, he could be overbearing and not care about any voices and cries of injustice that may rise from the others. There was no one that could do anything to him after all.

That was precisely why Yu IlHan had to be more serious in his consideration pertaining to the matter.

"But look, all worlds are one now. The origin of souls all became one as well, so even if I don't resurrect them to their former states, they will be born back into this world not too far in the future. Do I really need to interfere with that? Do I really need to interfere with the single chance life at that is given to the people, of which if I were to interfere, would be rather sacrilegious and make their value decrease as a whole?"

"But Your Majesty."

Paté was waiting for this moment and spoke. Ironically, he was the second closest to death and souls in this group, and could understand Yu IlHan's worries the most as well.

"I think that Phiria wishes to return to Your Majesty's side. If she was of any help in Your Majesty reaching this place, wouldn't it be fine to return her to her position as a reward?"

".....Reward those that helped me in the process of reaching divinity? In other words, have an exception to those that are in Dragon's Nest and differentiate them from the common people? Is that what you're saying?"

"Please excuse my words but..... yes. To her, who longed to be of use to Your Majesty, even at the very end of her life, could you not bestow your grace unto her?"

Yu IlHan glared at Paté. Paté, who loathed being hated by Yu IlHan worse than choosing death, twisted his body in agony, but did not plan to back down. Such a state continued for quite a while before Yu IlHan heaved a sigh and finally nodded his head.

"Fine, I'll let it go just this once."

"Your Majesty!"

"Thank you, Your Majesty!"

The three elves jumped around in joy. Since he was here, Yu IlHan said to the others as well.

"Since I decided to differentiate between our members and the general populace, I may as well take it a step further. Paté's words aren't that wrong either. Everyone helped me out a lot in my reaching of divinity, so I shall give you all one chance to 'cheat'. Please speak if you want anything right now. I won't allow this after the fusion of worlds is completed."

"If, if our parents have died then please....."

"Oh, the parents of both of you Smithson couple have already returned safely. You two can just prepare your marriage ceremony."

"I want to have your child!!! kehhhhhhhhhk."

Na YuNa was shot down quickly. However, Liera, who shot her down, made a slightly difficult expression. Everything was too different from before.

When she was an angel and when Yu IlHan was still a human, or when both of them were momentarily human, they could hold each other's hands at their leisure..... but right now, Yu IlHan was the God that had to look after the entire world.

Liera also knew that his ego had undergone a series of great cataclysm just as the worlds had.

“Am I being too greedy if I still want to monopolize IlHan.....”

“Liera, if you wish for me to do so, I will only look at you.”

Spoke Yu IlHan. These words were the truth.

“However..... yes, I’m sorry. I think my vision is different from before. Even if I want to look at you alone, the others still end up entering my train of thought as well. Perhaps it’s a backlash after being a loner for so long, I want to keep them all within an arm’s reach. I want to grab them tightly so that they can’t run away.”

“Ah.”

“Uuu.”

He was probably the biggest jerk in the world right now. However, Liera only made a bitter smile as if she had known that this was coming. She had realized this early on, after Yu IlHan, who was initially like an iron wall to everyone else other than her, started smiling at other women some time ago.

She did not doubt that he loved her the most. It was fine monopolizing him until now. She was God’s first woman, and will remain as his very first woman in the future as well.

“You can’t do anything to your emotions just because you want to, right? They say the first one to fall in love is the loser..... so, I wish you’d accept all of your feelings. I like you that way.”

“Unni.....ugyagyak.”

Liera stopped Na YuNa from speaking. Physically, that is.

Then, she spoke in a grave voice.

“Instead, I’m going to be the first one to have the marriage ceremony. Grandly, so that everyone in the world knows that I’m the main wife!!!!!!”

“Unni!”

“Liera.....!”

“Liera, I love you!”

The ones that were left quaking in nervousness after Yu IlHan left the decision to Liera, all cheered.

“Liera..... thanks.”

“You’re such a bad guy. But I still love you.”

Countless gazes were exchanged between Yu IlHan and Liera, some had been bashful while others were filled with passion. Just that was enough for the two to completely understand each other, and finally settled on a consensus with regards to their relationship.

Orochi, who was watching quietly all this time, added.

“Since you are loved by so many, it will be hard to become a loner again, master.”

“Orochi, you don’t even dream of it.”

Mystic’s sharp words made Orochi tilt his head in confusion. His expression was very clueless and looked as if he had mastered the acting skill.

“Of what?”

“Ugh.”

The Great Fusion was finished. Finally, The aerial city settled down in the middle of the Pacific, and synchronized with Earth. Now, all worlds were perfectly one.

“Wow, look at the density of mana.”

“Perhaps there may be naturally-occurring higher existences.”

“Ah, around this area, there may actually be natural-born true dragons.”

“I was joking though, but for real!?”

After Yu IlHan finished his work, he inhaled a deep breath of air. Then, he raised his voice for all on Earth to hear and spoke.

[Hello, ladies and gentlemen.....]

***

Yu IlHan and Liera's marriage was planned for the very next day, but it ended up having to be delayed for a whole month.

It was impossible to physically bring all humans into one place, so Yu IlHan had to construct a venue with clouds in the skies and cast magic for everyone to watch God's marriage. This was his negotiation with Liera.

"I still don't get why I have to be the wedding officiator."

Lucifer seemed to be uncomfortable wearing a suit, but Lazière straightened his sleeves and smiled brightly.

"Only someone of your caliber should officiate Lord Yu IlHan's wedding."

"You're smiling too much, Lazière."

"It's because your figure in a suit is too cool."

Lucifer snorted at her words. However, Lazière's smile only became brighter. She was happy that she could continue serving Satan by his side as well.

"Just how was this place constructed?"

"It's God's power. It's something we can't understand."

"And that same God has human emotions and is marrying someone?"

"Perhaps we're witnessing a moment of a myth or a legend."

Even though the wedding venue was very large, there were countless people in it. It was natural since representatives from countless worlds wished to participate in God's wedding, and there were hundreds of representatives of each world under Yu IlHan's subordination!

"Honey, what are you thinking about?"

Gabriel, Yu YongHan, lightly tapped on Kim YeSeul who was wordlessly sitting in one corner. She finally looked back to her husband and laughed while shrugging his shoulders.

"I'm thinking about our son's past. I was worried that he might not even date a single woman in his entire life, but it's so funny now. So many people are interested in him, and love him."

"You were also very popular with men in the past. Heck, sometimes, I even wonder why you married me."

"Oh, my."

Kim YeSeul's eyes narrowed. She chuckled and spoke.

"You were the only one for me ever since I met you."

"Nothing would come out of flattering me."

"But it's the truth. That is why it was more frustrating. I wanted to see you so much, but you were really so hard to find."

"Gabriel was always a man who didn't know his own worth. He believed that everyone would not look for him and was always absorbed in whatever he was doing. That's what makes him more attractive though."

Uriel, who was quietly sitting by the side, added. Kim YeSeul sulked, and Gabriel, who wasn't used to such a situation like his son was in, suddenly felt his stomach aching.

"Ehem, I'll go somewhere else for now....."

"Where do you think you're going, the ceremony will begin soon."

Kim YeSeul pinched his arm. Uriel looked at Kim YeSeul still with a smile.

"Isn't it about time we talked seriously about this? YeSeul, the couple that's being married may have waited centuries, but I have waited tens of thousands of millennia for this."

".....Let's do it later, please."

As all the guests sat down, and the scene inside the wedding venue could be seen by all places around the world, the ceremony finally began. Since no one there was particularly concerned about the formality of the procedure, the bride and the groom entered together.

"Wow."

"So pretty....."

“Huh, but I can’t see the groom properly.”

“No way, master, he’s actually concealing himself at this time.....?”

Yu IlHan lightly concealed himself to emphasize the beauty of his bride! His little scheme worked wonders and Liera, who entered whilst wearing a pure white dress, attracted the attention of all the guests as the most beautiful woman in the world, without any form of exaggeration involved.

The gently brushed golden hair and her sparkling ruby-red eyes, her slightly blushed cheeks that were tinged a shade of light pink stole everyone’s attention. Her dress emphasized her perfect figure without adding anything superficial. Now that she had become the goddess of love and gained what was considered as victory in her quest for love, her magic power lightly radiated from her skin and formed a translucent veil that paired perfectly with her dress and further reinforced her transcendent beauty.

“She can’t hold back her joy.”

“Ugh, I’m jealous..... I’m so envious of Liera and I can’t hold myself back.”

“Me too, me too, I want to marry godfather!”

““Not you,””

Everyone was enchanted by the bride’s beauty, and there were increasingly more and more attendees that couldn’t find the groom. After a brief period of time that felt like an eternity, the groom revealed himself and the pair finally stepped onto the platform.

Lucifer, the officiator, looked at the two and spoke.

“Love is infinitely beautiful, while simultaneously dirty and murky. Marriage is the most sacred oath and ritual, but at the same time, it’s also an event likely to be filled with lies, deceit and hypocrisy. Heck, the groom in front of me right now is going to welcome numerous more brides in the future.”

“Hey, change the officiator.”

Yu IlHan objected, but unfortunately, there was no backup officiator. Lucifer’s words continued.

“Despite that, you two have stood here knowing that. I praise the bride’s generosity, as well as the groom's shamelessness and capability."

"You! Come and see me after the ceremony."

"The bride and the groom are so strongly connected that even if the two wished to, even if others wished for them to, the two cannot be taken apart. So anyone who has complaints about the union of the two should either eternally shut up or take your own life before it gets any harder for you."

No one took their life. It looks like they chose to eternally shut up. After that, the bride and the groom greeted the guests. After the ironic scene of the residents of the world giving their blessings and good wishes to their God, Lucifer finally went on to the climax.

"It's the monumental event of the marriage of the sole God. God, Yu IlHan, should realize the weight of the matter, and shall now present the wedding gift to his first bride."

".....Fuu."

Yu IlHan took out a small ring holder from his bosom as his hands trembled ever so slightly in nervousness. A pair of sophisticated rings made of a metal that harbored a deep and profound red aura was inside. Looking at the rings, Liera's eyes widened.

"IlHan, you....."

"The marriage ceremony was delayed because I was busy with making this. I had to put inside all the different metals in the world as well as the hearts of all existences."

Its value couldn't be measured. The marriage ring that he completed after a month of manual labor from himself. The entire world was embodied within the ring.

Yu IlHan felt embarrassed as well and he scratched his head while speaking to her.

"You will be my number one forever, Liera. If you wish it so, I'm going to stay next to you forever. I love you."

"Ah....."

The ring fit each of their ring fingers perfectly. This basically meant that Yu IlHan had publicly announced that Liera would stay by his side as his equal. Stroking the ring on her finger, Liera's eyes welled up in tears.

"I love you too!"

"Well, then..... hey, hey, do it after I say it."

Liera couldn't hold back her emotions and assaulted Yu IlHan with kisses, and thanks to that the ceremony became a mess. Lucifer shouted in annoyance.

"The two have become God and his wife respectively, so all beings in this world shall obey and submit to the two! The beginning of a new myth has started right here right now! Hey! Throw the bouquet! Dammit, throw the f**king bouquet already!"

Liera, who was triggered by Lucifer's attitude, threw the bouquet behind her and focused on assaulting Yu IlHan again. Yu IlHan came to a quick decision and teleported them to his own room within the Flying fortress.

Although no one who was in the know of things had expected that the ceremony would go well, the wedding ceremony ended in such a mess, and the only trace left of the groom and his bride was the bouquet that was flung into the air.

"Well, then."

The bouquet suddenly stopped in midair. The one who did that was none other than Erta. A murderous aura was coming out of her.

"Should we decide who's next then?"

"..... I'm sorry but I can't let the second place go."

Kang MiRae stood up with a look of firm resolution on her face. Na YuNa was laughing, but her hands were full of sparks generated with holy power.

"It was me who shotgunned after Liera-unni."

"No, it's me."

"I think it's me who understood darling's true value first."

Helièna's lips had a murderous smile as well. She did not care how many wives Yu IlHan had, but she wanted to set the hierarchy straight!

The ones that could participate in the battle were actually quite well-off already. In the case of Phiria or Ericia that couldn't even stand on the stage due to their lack of power, they could only swallow their bloodied tears. Paté was just crying by himself in one corner. Reality was always harsh, cruel and cold.

“Good, we’re entering the next event very smoothly.”

Lucifer, who somehow had a much better expression than before, picked up the microphone again.

“The clash for the position of God’s second wife! Who will become the second? Let’s start the betting!”

“Hey, you, Lucifer!”

Regardless of whoever took 2nd place, this thing was for sure.

Yu IlHan was never going to be called a loner again.

Author’s notes

1. Why does this feel like the true epilogue and not just a side story.
  2. I had a lot of worries while writing this one. There were many of you who wanted one-way-Liera, and many others who wanted him to accept everyone. That’s why I also wished to leave it as an open ending as well. I just showed you the marriage scene like this because I thought that Yu IlHan could truly escape his loner days by understand the hearts of all heroines and love them after becoming someone higher than human, God, and having a wider view than before. I, as a human, do not dare describe how a God feels, but I wondered that someone who was reborn into God after starting off as a human might make such choices.
  3. I wanted to write the afterword right after the epilogue, but it got delayed because of the side stories. I’ll write two or so more side stories and immediately upload the afterword.

Damn, my favorite character in this series has to go to Satan.

Extra Chapter 2: My Subordinate Love Comedy is Wrong as I Expected

“Fuu.”

Mystic had a lot of worries nowadays. After Yu IlHan had entered the realm of perfect Godhood, there was no need for her head to ache while managing Earth anymore, but now that her workload had decreased, just as many miscellaneous thoughts had entered her mind.

Why was she born, for what purpose did she live for, such middle school-like thoughts entered her mind and did not let her go about her daily business in peace.

“Lord Earth, why was I born?”

[You were a being born in order to kill Yu IlHan who ruined Earth. There were no other objectives or motives behind your conception.]

Answered Earth. Although he didn’t talk much to others save Yu IlHan or Kim YeSeul, he had slight feelings of partnership towards Mystic, who originated from itself, and couldn’t completely ignore her when she was worried like this.

“Then you really did make me without thinking further.”

[I had one clear objective, but I did not wish anything of you after that whether you succeeded or failed. Now that everything is solved, you just need to live on in whatever fashion that you deem suitable.]

“I don’t really get what living is.”

As Earth had replied, she was born solely to kill Yu IlHan. She was killed by Yu IlHan without being able to do anything, and after that, she was revived by Yu IlHan and lived a new life, but she could only support Yu IlHan’s life, and did not have any other things to do. So, perhaps she was like a newborn babe in this regard.

[No one knows what life is about. Even if you ask master Yu IlHan, you would not get anything useful out of his reply.]

“I can’t even approach master now. Master really cherishes me. Although he denies it himself, he really loves all of creation after he became God. Honestly, it’s a little awkward.”

[Are you afraid that you will fall in love with him?]

“I don’t get what love is. And also.....”

There was someone else that came to her mind when it came to love. At first, she just enjoyed fooling around by exchanging words with him since they were in similar situation, but from some time, her emotions changed to something still similar, but fatally different.

“It’s like..... my heart pounds whenever I see him, and I get annoyed at him for no reason. I know that this is not ordinary. Why is it? We weren’t in such a relationship. Isn’t it too sudden?”

[What are you saying.]

Earth mocked her.

[There is nothing that can be properly explained in this world. Are you trying to explain the world? We only have to accept. We only have to be swept away by the currents. We only proceed forward. .... And that is life.]

She did not know why she was born. She did not know where she had to go. So, she just had to go wherever she wants, and do whatever she wants. It would be an embarrassment if she didn’t know what that was about or what it entailed. Didn’t Mystic have that right now?

[The reason you’re all acting serious is because of that snake, no? Just don’t uselessly deny your own feelings and try to escape. Just accept it as it is.]

“If Lord Earth was me.....”

[I am not you.]

Earth mercilessly cut her question. Then it added.

[I cannot give you any help, so why don’t you ask for help from someone who’s suffering from similar emotions?]

“.....That’s true. Okay, I’ll ask them.”

Mystic stood up. She pressed down the straw hat she received from Yu IlHan on her head, and went to someone that might help her out.

***

“Mm, that’s a difficult question.”

Being questioned, Carina Smithson groaned. A handsome boy was grabbing Mystic’s finger with his twig-like fingers in her arm.

“Kyauuuu!”

“Do you know about love, Nick?”

“Our child doesn’t know something like that yet, probably.”

Carina stroked Nick’s hair and started speaking.

“This will be a very subjective story. Will that be fine with you, Mystic?”

“Sure. I want to get as much data as possible.”

“Then..... actually, when I first saw that man, I thought he was the cheekiest bastard in existence.”

Michael Smithson was a man full of stubbornness and greed. He was full of himself, his clan, and his country, and he even felt that everything other than his own objectives were wrong.

“However, the passage of time and the environment started to change him. At first, we only entered an alliance because we had the same enemy. But he was desperate to keep the alliance, and albeit arrogant, he still had a gentleman-like side of him. He cherished the ones within his perimeter as much as he did the opposite to the others, and later, that perimeter started being widened.”

The trigger of that change, though frustrating, was probably when his love for Kang MiRae sprouted – thought Carina. His realm of recognition had started to widen after someone outside his perimeter had entered.

“Since he wished to see others, he had to accept himself that was in the eyes of others, and as a result of that, he became a little humbler. I think I was the one who watched the process while closest to him. I think he was a truly foolish man, but was disappointed in myself since I realized that I was similar to him, and was also quite proud to see his growth..... and when I came to it, I was stuck in a cycle of only looking at him, and thinking only about him.”

“Mm.”

Hearing her words, Mystic naturally compared her own situation with hers. Carina smiled and finished her story.

“I saw myself in him, and that is precisely why I felt more emotional as I saw him changing. Mystic, aren’t you the same?”

“I, I.”

Thinking about Orochi, she felt fluffy on the inside. Orochi and Mystic did indeed experience many changes while acting with Yu IlHan. They mocked each other, sometimes relied on each other..... and in that process, Mystic must have sprouted new feelings.

“Thanks for the answer. I think it will be a good reference.”

“Mystic.”

“Yeah?”

“When it comes down to it.....”

Carina blocked Nick’s two ears and whispered to Mystic. After hearing that, Mystic’s face reddened like a tomato.

“Okay?”

“Y, yeah.”

Like a rusted robot that hadn’t been oiled in centuries, Mystic left the room as stiff as she could be, without even bending her knees and simply trudging from the left leg to the right like the little nutcracker. Carina giggled while looking at her fading back and stroked Nick. He looked so much like Michael Smithson and couldn’t be any more adorable.

The one Mystic looked for next was none other than Uriel. Coincidentally, she was with Gabriel.

“Where’s Kim YeSeul?”

“She went to see IlHan with two pieces of big news.”

“Big news?”

When Mystic tilted her head, Gabriel nodded his head and spoke.

“IlHan will get a little sibling.”

“And the other one?”

“IlHan will get another little sibling.....”

“.....”

Mystic narrowed her eyes and glared at Gabriel. Uriel, by their side, was stroking her belly with the most pleasant face she could make.

“You’re the worst.....”

“You’re misunderstanding, Mystic. We’ll go through the wedding together soon.”

Kim YeSeul had already done the marriage ceremony waaaay back. Despite that, they were going to have another wedding this time with Uriel included as well. She wanted to wear the wedding dress again or something.

Of course, Gabriel did not have the right to object, and Uriel was satisfied with just standing by his side.

“What was his proposal line?”

“You are my wings..... sorry, that was a joke. I said sorry.”

“Uriel.”

Mystic classified Gabriel as a potential Yu IlHan and ignored him before turning her gaze to Uriel.

“Why did you fall in love with such a man?”

“Is there really a reason needed before someone can fall in love?”

Answered Uriel, the sole conscience of the former Five Great Angels, with an angelic smile.

“I just liked him so much. Whenever he pranked me in Heaven, whenever he was agonized due to a future he had seen, whenever he sighed due to Luciel and Michael's twisted logic, and whenever he gave orders to the humans while taking care of them....."

"Don't say such things in front of the person himself, Uriel."

Gabriel was embarrassed, but Uriel's smile only became thicker.

"I can say this any time. Love is not an embarrassing emotion after all. It's the most bless-worthy, bright and beautiful emotion. It came to me without my knowledge and when I realized it, it was already ruling over me. Of course, there are people who escape those emotions, but I wished to continue loving him and it finally became true."

"For tens of millennia?"

"There was not even one moment that I didn't. But..... yes, even if my feelings changed, I will not regret at that time. Never was I unhappy even while I waited for him."

"....."

"So don't be afraid, Mystic."

Uriel extended her hand and rubbed her cheeks to tease her and at the same time, provide reassurance.

"Your feelings aren't something that's supposed to be hidden, but something you need to show off. Don't be afraid of the future, don't lose faith in yourself, and accept yourself as it is. That is enough."

"Accept, myself....."

Mystic stiffly nodded her head. Although she couldn't quite sympathize because Uriel had lived for countless more years than her, it was true that her truthful words hit her heart at the right spot.

"Thanks for the help. I'll go now. Oh, congratulations on your pregnancy."

"I want a daughter this time. I've had more than enough with one son."

"I want a son, Gabriel. A son that's exactly like you."

"Hiiik, I don't want another IlHan!"

Thinking that she should tell Yu IlHan exactly what Gabriel said, Mystic exited that place and headed to the garden. She was going to calm down and organize her thoughts, but well, there was someone who got there before her.

“Oh, Mystic.”

“Kang HaJin.”

Kang HaJin made a bitter smile. Mystic only snorted.

“You didn’t have your share of the limelight until the end.”

“Yeah, I somehow managed to reach higher existence, but I don’t have any talent in this regard.”

Kang HaJin honestly confessed. As he had just spoken, he was currently living a life that had nothing to do with battle.

As he was with Yu IlHan when the worlds united into one, he cleverly started a new business when the others were having a hard time adapting to this new world. He started a railway business that connected all the regions of Earth.

The word was ‘railway’ but in fact, with the help from Yu IlHan, the rails were incredibly sturdy and were pretty much unaffected by the surrounding environment, and created a train that ran on top of it to go anywhere within this world! Naturally, Yu IlHan’s share of the work was a big help in this, and his business had been completely successful.

Perfect safety and ideal speed, as well as the title of ‘cooperation with God’! He became the leader of a massive corporation that even his father Kang Chan couldn’t hold a candle to, after he returned to Earth safely.

Yu IlHan was a co-CEO as well, but he didn’t do anything publicly, so Kang HaJin was practically the leader.

“Though not in our opinion, you are nearly as famous as master on Earth, aren’t you?”

“I’ll be marrying soon too. Father wanted me to marry a Korean woman, but it didn’t really go as I wish to.”

Lepina was a world that had experienced the 3rd Great Cataclysm, and they were one of those that was dragged to Earth due to the Trap of Restoration after living their own lives quite well. Kang HaJin's fiancée was the only daughter of the Lepina Empire's emperor.

"Of course, it's a political marriage. This won't be the only marriage either, probably."

"You..... loved Na YuNa, didn't you?"

"Yes."

Kang HaJin admitted. Mystic asked.

"Does it hurt?"

"It did. However, when I realized, it was too late to do anything. That's why I organized my feelings. It looks like there are people who can easily do that while others have difficulty doing that, but fortunately, I seem to be part of the former."

He looked quite bitter for that to be true. She wasn't in a position to console him, so she stayed quiet, but Kang HaJin spoke of his story anyway.

"I think I had an opportunity to get her. However, I was too leisurely, and was arrogant, and in the end, I lost her. No, perhaps even this is just me being arrogant. I was the only man who was close to YuNa, but perhaps YuNa thought of me as a tagalong for MiRae in the first place."

"Mm....."

After her marriage with Yu IlHan, Na YuNa became even prettier. It wasn't because her smile never left her face, but rather, because Liera and Na YuNa were goddesses whose dominions were over love and beauty respectively, and were gradually becoming more beautiful the more time they spent with him.

Mystic thought about the case where Na YuNa ended up with Kang HaJin, but all of that was meaningless since it was no longer possible.

"So Mystic."

"Yeah?"

"When you think it's time, charge ahead so that you aren't left with any regrets.”

Spoke Kang HaJin. His words were heartfelt.

“Before it’s too late, regardless of whatever the other thinks of you, charge ahead with your true feelings and get a proper answer. Even if it’s a loss waiting at the end, you will at least feel better.”

Mystic accepted his advice.

“Yeah, okay. .... and Na YuNa probably didn’t like you even for one moment! So you should rest easy too!”

“I know, you idiot. I only wanted to boast a little bit.”

Kang HaJin snorted as he turned around. Having acquired an answer, Mystic rushed out without hesitation. The place she was heading to was the not-so-aerial-anymore aerial city, where children who lost their parents in the Great Expulsion resided in.

“Over there, faster!”

“Yes, great master!”

Orochi was looking after the children in that place. He was in charge of education and training of the children along with others, and was being called the ‘great master’ by the children.

“Orochi!”

“Mm?”

Orochi noticed Mystic’s presence mid-training and turned around with a vexed expression. His expression turned to one that exuded even more annoyance after looking at the smile on Mystic’s face.

“The common point in those related to master is that matters will get more annoying the brighter the smile they have.....”

“Orochiiiiiiii!”

Mystic threw away her straw hat. The world’s operation momentarily stopped, but believing that Yu IlHan would take care of that for a moment, she focused all of her magic power on her legs and kicked off the ground.

“You idiot, the children can’t endure the mana waves well yet.....!!!!?”

Then she knocked Orochi over to the ground without stopping, and smashed her lips against his. It was the method Carina taught her! She drained Orochi’s soul out with a violent kiss that lacked any technique or time for breathing, and shouted while looking down at him after a loooong kiss.

“I love you!”

“Th, this idiotic woman. What the heck are you saying so suddenl.....hhp!?”

“Kyaaak!”

“He’s smooching! Great master is smooching!”

An uproar broke out. Not to mention the children who were training, even the children in their homes rushed out and watched that spectacle. Orochi tried to resist, but Mystic had completely restrained him with her magic power so that was impossible as well.

“Let’s get married!”

“Keep the order of things properly! There’s a limit to being so sudden.....!”

“Let’s get married!”

“Kyaaaak!”

“whistle! So cool!”

Orochi desperately used his magic power in an attempt to escape from Mystic. However, Mystic had already set her eyes on a target and didn’t seem like she would back off that easily.

“Don’t run away anymore and answer me, you damned snake-head!”

“Just what did this woman eat wrong..... haah, sheesh.”

Looking at her serious expression, Orochi scratched his head. Although he knew about this before, she was completely unable to read the mood. At this point, it was refreshing instead.

“Orochi, please?”

“.....Fuu.”

Despite that, he didn't hate her. Love was quite the strange emotion. Perhaps even God would not be able to explain it properly. Oh yeah, God was Yu IlHan wasn't it, shit. Orochi put his thoughts into his speech.

"I don't want to."

"What!?"

Mystic despaired as if she was the leader who had accidentally ruined an entire country. Orochi added.

"I still don't get what love is. So..... why don't we start off by dating."

".....you idiot! IDIOT!"

Mystic sobbed and assaulted Orochi again. Orochi, barely able to receive her properly, felt the gazes around them and heaved a deep sigh.

In time to come, they would come to accept each other's feelings.

It was at that moment that the Snake x Mansion couple was born.

Extra Chapter 3: Demigod Eleven

“I’m sorry, mom.”

Yu IlHan scratched his head and apologized to his mother.

“I think a baseball league is still a little too much right now.”

“How long would it take?”

“Perhaps another 20 years.”

“Yes, my son, you worked hard.”

Kim YeSeul nodded her head in satisfaction and turned around.

“I’ll make do with a soccer team for now.”

A vast soccer field came into their view. The venue looked like it would require a hundred soccer teams in order to play a proper match, but no one retorted to the scale of the field. Since it was made by Yu IlHan, there was no way anyone would have the courage to retort to that.

“Isn’t it too small for our children to play around in~?”

In fact, Na YuNa was worried that it was too small! Yu IlHan laughed and relieved her of her worries.

“There’s spatial expansion magic cast on it so don’t worry.”

“Aha!”

At that moment, a loud voice that resounded across the entire stadium could be heard from the broadcast center.

[You have waited long enough, ladies and gentlemen! The big match of the century, the soccer match between God’s descendants versus the descendants of his subordinates! It will start now!]

[Please look forward to it! The main point of this match is the cowardly inferiority complex of God’s subordinates showing out during a match between the descendants since they can’t win directly against God..... no wait, someone explain why I have to be the commentator again!]

[Nowadays, Lord Lucifer's reputation is far and wide. And for that reason, today's commentary will be handled by me, Lazière, and Lord Lucifer.]

The audience seats that could house tens of millions was already full. The rulers of countless small worlds that made up Earth overcame a lottery with odds of almost a billion to one chance in order to acquire the ticket for the match that God was watching, but unfortunately, Yu IlHan and his family were in special seats, so they could not meet them in person.

"Power is everything."

"You know, it's scary when you say it, IlHan."

[Just as we speak! The players are entering!]

[Where did the referee go and why are the players entering first?]

Since Yu IlHan's wives didn't give birth only to sons, the match was naturally a mixed-gender match. Well, at Yu IlHan or his subordinates' level, the gender they were born with didn't really matter that much!

"Kyaaaaaak!"

"It's Yu Ara-nim!"

Yu IlHan and Liera's first daughter, Yu Ara, showed up first. She boasted brilliant golden hair from her mother and the crimson red eyes from her father as she entered.

[That one is the greatest Godspoon of the century, Yu Ara. There's a rumor that you need to defeat God before you can take her as your wife. Hm, she'll die a virgin.]

[Lord Lucifer!]

These children seemed to think that players entering was some kind of fashion show as they received a spotlight for each and every one of their entrances!

"Ooh, so beautiful."

"It's natural since she's the daughter of the goddess of love. Her beauty is so high at such a young age.”

Praises flowed out from the audience. Yu Ara, who was merely 7 years old right now, had matured early and looked to be around 15 years of age, but this was naturally due to her traits as a dragon. Levelling up fast would mean growing up fast externally as well!

“Ara-nim, please marry me!”

“Hm, bring that guy to me later.”

Yu IlHan ordered a true dragon under him with a short sentence and focused on the soccer field again. Following her, Na YuNa’s fraternal boy-girl twins, Ian and Ina, entered the pitch.

Since they inherited Na YuNa’s beauty, they were both very beautiful, the most surprising fact about them was that unlike their mother who seem to have a screw loose in her head, they were very dignified and for the most part, normal.

[These two also... I’ll omit the rest. As far as I know, there’s a bet going on about who will grow into the biggest beauty among the daughters of God, but that’s a warp gate high up in the sky for you guys, so you better stop dreaming.]

[Ah, the next contestants are entering as well!]

The son of Yu IlHan and Helièna, Yu Jin was next. Although many people had different opinions about who the prettiest daughter was, but there was no objection to who was the most handsome son was. Surprisingly, Yu Jin won against Na YuNa’s son and had the most amount of votes.

[Even though he’s supposed to inherit half of his features from the sole God, but how is he so handsome... that is the greatest mystery of this century. His growth is also just second to the eldest daughter Yu Ara, so I’m already wondering who the next God will be..... Oh, Yu IlHan won’t back down, ever? I know. I’ve had experience with another old man for tens of millennia already.]

[Next is Yu Se-ah and Yu Sira!]

Kang MiRae and Erta both had daughters, and as the two hung out frequently while researching magic, their daughters had great relationship as well. It was to the point that they looked like they would cross the line someday, and they even held each other's hand on the way in during their entrance as well.

[That looks dangerous. Isn't that a two-out?]

[Don't worry, Lord Lucifer. Even though they look that close, they seem to be competing for their father's affection.]

[Good, it's one-out.]

Next was Ericia's identical triplet sons: Yu Ilwoo, Yu Ijoon and Yu Samyul. Perhaps due to her origins of being a wolf, or perhaps due to her desire of propagation was the highest, she ended up giving birth to three at once.

They had the most aggressive personalities among Yu IlHan's children, and their early growth was impressive due to the blessings from the moon goddess Ericia.

[All three of them would cause an endless amount of problems if they were set free outside God's city..... hey, wolf form is forbidden.]

Their strong points that only they had was that they could transform into wolves! At the same time, they could transform into dragons again, and later, they would probably be able to transform into a battle-chimera containing the advantages of both wolves and dragons, like their mother.

"Why, old man Lucifer! We're all gonna use our abilities anyway!"

[Didn't you watch Narut*'s chuunin exam? You need to do such things in secret.]

"Boo! That's racist!"

"It will become a mess anyway! I inherited grandpa's prophecy so I know everything!"

[Don't lie and shut up.]

Next was Phiria's daughter, Yu Jia. Taking after her mother's trait of quietly serving Yu IlHan by his side, she was very reserved. Everything was splendid about her other than the fact that she did not want to get off Yu IlHan, much like her mother.

[It's unbelievable that she's only five this year. In fact, I thought that this girl might grow up to be the prettiest since she inherited the bloodline of elves, but she was the least well known since she usually clung to her father until now. The sons are alright, but why are all the daughters making their father out to be a potential love partner?]

[There has been research on that until now, Lord Lucifer. The sole God has been reborn into a dragon, so their descendants are naturally dragons. But the innate instinct of dragons is the pursuit of power. His sons harbor feelings similar to worship towards him, and so his daughters' obsessions with their father, who is a man before he is their father, is not so surprising.]

[Don't you have to say he's a father before he's a man? Well, regardless of any myth and legend, God's family tree is all messed up, so let's leave that here! Well then, let's bring in the last player!]

The last player and goalkeeper was Yu Arang, the second son between Yu IlHan and Liera! He was four this year, and although he had a fast rate of growth, he was the shortest amongst the players here.

"Kyaaaaaaaaaak!"

"So cute!"

"Arang, come to unni!" (T/N: Why unni, not noona...I do not know)

And with the cutest impression among Yu IlHan's children, he had a different kind of appeal to Yu Jin. Yu IlHan ordered his secret service to gather information about the girl who dared to try to take away his adorable son.

[Yu Arang..... hm, such a cute guy.]

[He indeed is. I want to make him our son.]

[But would he do well as a goalkeeper?]

[According to what Lord Gabriel has told us, the most frightening of those children is Arang.]

[He is indeed frightening – frighteningly cute, that is.]

Not to mention ordinary humans (and other intelligent species) his charm even bewitched Yu IlHan's own subordinates! The commentators Lucifer and Lazière, watched as he shyly met up with his older siblings with a dainty smile before they got it together.

[Well, then. Here comes their opponents, we don't have much more space so let's get over with it qui..... dammit these guys don't listen at all.]

[The big sister of the subordinate team! Yuni Smithson is here!]

[She's grown up well. She's the first child to receive a blessing from God. Since she's treated with the utmost priority by the Akashic Record as well, you can say that she reserved a spot for becoming a true dragon.]

Yuni Smithson was 19 years old this year, and did not hesitate at all to spent time with children that were at least 10 years younger than her. She had a clear objective after all.

"Allow me to marry godfather if I win!"

".....You're being greedy, unni."

"I think it's very 'realistic' though?"

"Urgh.....!"

Yu Ara and Yuni Smithson exchanged fierce glances. Both of them had golden hair, but one had green eye while the other red, which contrasted with each other. Although Yu Ara was lacking in height since she was younger, she didn't back down in terms of might.

"My sisters and brothers, do you want to hand father to Yuni-unni?"

"Nope."

"Never."

"To Yuni-unni? Pfft."

"No way."

Yuni's declaration basically fired up all of Yu IlHan's children! Despite that, Yuni didn't back off. Dragon's desire wasn't something that could be hidden. She wanted to be up front about everything all the time if possible.

"After this match you will have to call me mother instead of unni!"

“How dare you..... my father.....!”

Yu Ara’s will to fight boiled. The atmosphere around her was being distorted. What was there to hide, she was the one who inherited Yu IlHan’s power of fire.

The others also loaded their specialties and glared at Yuni Smithson. Lucifer, who was watching, rubbed his nose and uttered in satisfaction.

[Haha, this will be a dogfight.]

[Next player! Likewise the child of the Smithson pair, Nick Smithson!]

Unlike Yuni who took after her mother, Nick took after his father more. Although he looked slightly cheeky, he still had a sharp demeanor with a handsome face, so he was already working as a fashion model on Earth.

“My aim is you, Ara.”

“Shut up. I’ll send you both to the depths of hell.”

Yu Ara’s will to fight was even more fanned! Nick was slightly scared at her heartfelt hostility and went next to his sister, when the next players entered.

[Next is the two daughters of Gabriel. Yu Nayeon and Yu Isu. They are the little sisters of the sole God and should be the aunts of the opposing team. The interesting fact here is that.....]

[Those children are universally reputed as having brother complex. Lord Yu IlHan is really a sinful man.]

Kim YeSeul’s daughter Yu Nayeon, Uriel’s daughter Yu Isu. Both of them had warm and gentle smiles, but their talents in magic was comparable to Yu Se-ah and Yu Sira. So, these four were considered to be the next generation’s talents in magic.

“I would hate to see my brother sad so I’ll go easy on you.”

“Yep, let’s all play together.”

“Aunt, you just used magic! You cheater!”

[It’s soccer for now, but I think there will be a galactic war in the future. Hm, perhaps I should start the betting pool on that one as well.]

[Lord Lucifer.....?]

Following that were Mirey and Jirl's son Hessian, Orochi and Mystics three siblings Fenia, Fate, and Fenadin, Paté and Mirfa's daughter Irena.

[We won't need to talk about the talents of the children of Mystic and Orochi, the closest subordinates to Yu IlHan, and Irena, who inherited the god of death's mana, who I think would even surpass me in the future. Hessian is objectively the weakest here. Do your best, Hessian. Your inferiority complex and self-loathing will make you grow!]

[Lord Lucifer!]

[And finally.]

A boy and a girl walked out. They were the youngest of the bunch, but the aura in their eyes were not ordinary at all. That was natural, since they inherited the genes of those who were once the strongest and the second strongest of a faction.

[It's our kids. They take after me and are rude little runts.]

[They fought each other over who will take the role of the goalkeeper.]

They were the children between Lucifer and Lazière, Adrian and Ariel. Although they were quiet on the outside, they were very passionate on the inside, perhaps they suited the race of dragons the most among the ones here, and they also possessed a sense of worship for the strong while at the same time a strong desire to surpass them.

"I know that Yuni-unni is hopeless but....."

"We can't lose just because of that. Sorry, this will be our victory."

Both sides burned in fighting spirit as time went by. The God's children team fought(?) to protect the reputation of their father, as well as their chastity, versus the subordinates' children team that were true to their desires like dragons! With Yu Ara and Yuni at their heads respectively, they bared their fangs at each other and were making their violent tendencies go wild.

[With that, the players managed to enter, but.....]

[Lord Lucifer, would it be fine to go with the match as it is? I think there will be a murder soon.]

[Hm..... oh.]

At that time, Yu IlHan, who was watching quietly all this time, made his fingers into a circle. Having caught his gesture, Lucifer laughed and nodded his head.

[Ah, is that an okay sign? Okay, you can kill. Kill to your heart's content.]

[Ah! Hey, don't transform! At least start off in human form.....Ah!?]

Just as the soccer field was about to become a mess before it even started, an overwhelming mana wave spread out and bound all the children. All polymorph, magic, and skills were forcibly cancelled, and they were disarmed! That power stopped the breaths of not only the children but the audiences as well!

[.....When did this guy become so strong? Yu IlHan, that damn guy, he didn't mean that it was okay to kill, but that they wouldn't be able to kill each other no matter how they hard tried.]

[That's true..... looks like he concealed his own power quite well.]

Just as Lucifer and Lazière was trying desperately to hide the fact that they were shocked, a young man appeared in the center of the two teams as though he was there all this time.

His looks were the most similar to Yu IlHan, a completely grown up true dragon, and the strongest one at that.

“The balance of power must be maintained, all players.”

It was Yumir.

“Kyaaaaaaaaaaaaaak!”

“Mir-niiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiim!”

A loud cheer broke out in the audience seats. There may be people who did not know Yu IlHan's face but as his envoy who acted in public the most, there was no one on Earth who did not know his first son Yumir .

Number one in rankings of “The one you want to be hugged by”, number one in rankings of “Happy if you just see his face”, the trend of the era! The only bad point about him was that no one can see his face other than Yu IlHan unless he shows it.

[He had concealed himself all this time. That guy's the referee, Yumir.]

[He doesn't need any assistant referees.]

[.....Hey, Lazière. I'm kinda confused, but has that guy achieved 9th class already?]

[.....You're right.]

There was a limit to insane growth speed, 9th class meant that no one other than Gabriel and Lucifer or someone on par with their caliber could go against him! There weren't that many things to fight in this world, it was a wonder as to how he grew up at all!

However, Yumir ignored the shocks and fears of everyone present and warned the players.

"It's forbidden to transform. If you use a skill or a spell and get found out by me, then it will be a yellow card. Of course, if you have the confidence to escape my sight, then you can use it all you want."

"Yes, brother!"

"It's really the chuun*n exam rules....."

"Brother Mir....."

Mir's charisma reigned supreme and even Nick and the three wolf brothers became calm.

He sent all the players to their respective places, and laughed after looking at Yu Arang, who was moving towards the goalpost with carefree smile.

"Arang, do your best."

"Okay, bro!"

Yu Arang smiled brightly. The next moment, his figure melted into thin air. Everyone watching was shocked, but Yu IlHan, who was watching down from the top, chuckled.

It seemed that the lineage of the concealment master was being inherited without a problem.

Extra Chapter 4: I am the Destroyer of All Foreshadows

All records were being observed. The Akashic Record provided records to anyone that was qualified, and all beings grew with those records as the foundation while creating new records that are once again recorded on the Akashic Record. Like that, the multiverse was in a constant state of evolution.

“However, I have already surpassed the Akashic Record.”

“Not completely though, darling, right?”

Yu IlHan nodded his head in confirmation when Helièna said that.

“Even if I surpassed it, everything related to me is still connected to the Akashic Record. There’s no way I can just leave, can I?”

“Ufufu, darling.....”

When he stroked Helièna’s hair softly, she purred like a cat with her eyes closed. However, Yu IlHan pushed her back when she tried to lean on him and touch his body.

“Ah, why.”

“Reasons, later. Not now.”

“Yes, not now.”

Liera, who never missed it when other women approached her man, appeared like lightning and stopped her with a cold voice. She was holding a sharp spear in one hand.

“Tonight’s my turn. The punishment for pushing your way into the queue..... is death.”

“But Liera, wouldn’t it be sometimes good with the three of us? How about..... we both make our second child today, please? Pleaaase?”

“Liera, not you either.”

“No way!”

Liera was shocked as if everything until now was a dream. Yu IlHan sighed and smacked her on her forehead.

“I’ve almost grasped it. Tonight’s battle will not be on bed but in space.”

“Grasped what……. Ah?”

Helièna, who remembered what they were talking about until now, widened her eyes.

“Darling, did you really discover the foundation of the Akashic Record!?”

“I’ll say this again, but the Akashic Record is only a system and a concept. What I need to grasp is something other than the Akashic Record.”

There were some words that he heard from Na YuNa before the final battle with God. The goddess of beauty left her power, that is, her records all onto Na YuNa and spoke to her for one final time before she left.

Once Yu IlHan becomes able to recognize records that are not recorded, they may be able to reunite again at that time.

“The ones that have surpassed records have already thrown away the concept of body and soul. Then did those beings meet complete annihilation? That does not make sense. Even mortals receive the benefit of reincarnation. But the ones who transcended the Akashic Record will be annihilated and return to nothingness instead? That doesn’t make sense at all.”

“IlHan, I don’t get it.”

“I think of it like this.”

Yu IlHan spoke as he looked at the new goddess of love.

“By accepting new gods, they have completely thrown away their own records. We deem that as ‘annihilation’, but perhaps that is precisely what makes them go beyond the realm of the Akashic Record. If not, then there was no way the former goddess of beauty would have mentioned that there was a chance of reunion.”

“Then do you mean that they are stronger than you, IlHan?”

“It’s not about being strong or weak.”

Yu IlHan decided to remain within the Akashic Record and became the God of the world, while they had entered a new realm that surpassed records. In terms of physical might, Yu IlHan would dominate them all, but physical might wasn’t the important concept here.

They chose a different path from Yu IlHan, it was just that.

“Darling can surpass records whenever he wishes to. Then..... are you saying that you’ll throw away everything and go beyond?”

Helièna’s eyes shook. She imagined the worst possible outcome and shook her head while grabbing tightly onto Yu IlHan’s sleeves.

“No, darling. Don’t go. You can’t go. I’ll die without you!”

“.....Eh? IlHan is going somewhere!?”

Liera, who finally understood what was happening, grabbed Yu IlHan as well.

“You are not going anywhere! You said you’ll be my side forever! I thought I was the one who would get to be by your side all the time!”

“I’m not going anywhere. I’ll stay until death do us part, so don’t worry about it. The ring on your finger is still sturdy and still has many, many millennia to last.”

“Then why are you making such worrying comments!”

“That is because.”

Yu IlHan took out something similar to a large telescope from his bosom.

“With this Eternal-ranked ‘Realiscope’ I’ve invented; I can now observe locations beyond records!”

“Ah, that’s good. It’s you boasting like always.....”

“Realiscope is that thing that brings the observed things into reality, right?”

Ever since Yu IlHan decided to work for one day a week, he came up with ideas, materials and foundations in the remaining 6 days and worked hard on that single day, and as a result, was producing an average of one Eternal-ranked artifact every week, or God-ranked artifact at the minimum.

Of course, there were differences within God and Eternal as well, so the majority went to his wives or children, or to his subordinates or their children, but outclassed items like the Hourglass of Eternity and the Realiscope were always with him due to safety reasons.

“I’ve gained a hint from what the goddess of beauty said. She mentioned the word ‘recognize’. If it’s possible for even me, someone who haven’t completely thrown away his records, to recognize the realm beyond records, wouldn’t it be possibly to forcefully drag them back to reality?”

“So you’re calling them onto your own field.”

“Yes. In the realm of records, I’m invincible.”

It was a twisted logic as always, but the two women accepted that.

“Then how does the observation work?”

“It’s space. The bridge is in somewhere where my dominion does not reach. In fact, I’m almost done scouting it, and even found signs of it. Now, I just need to look through the Realiscope and observe it.”

Space was a realm of mystery that changed according to observation and recognition. If a flow was outside the influence of the Akashic Record, it could only be floating around somewhere in space.

Even Yu IlHan would have a hard time observing all of space, so it took a little time. However, that was over now.

“You might not now, but I was observing space within the Hourglass of Eternity every month.”

“I got to admit that you’re tenacious, darling.”

“Then should we gather the others?”

Yu IlHan hesitated for a moment, but eventually shook his head.

“Actually no. I think I’ll have to go by myself for this one.”

“You’re going to do it alone again!?”

“I can’t help it since it’s a complete mystery even for me. I’ll be back soon. Well, if I actually get killed, then I’ll return as a soul. Although my level might drop a little, it's not completely impossible to revive me."

Yu IlHan was uttering nonsensical words like it was nothing. Of course, both Helièna and Liera believed that no one could annihilate Yu IlHan, but this and that were different matters.

"I'll kill you if you really come back dead."

"Darling is so evil. You make me so worried right after I felt relieved. So evil!"

"I said it's not a big deal. It's only a possibility. I'm telling you two just in case, so tell the others for me."

"I heard YuNi was coming to have a showdown soon, you aren't running away from that ,right?"

"Urgh."

Yuni, armed with a superhuman, no, superdraconic will to acquire Yu IlHan's affection had trained for several decades and now she was a 6th class true dragon.

She was the fastest if you exclude the ones that have inherited Yu IlHan's bloodline, and with her talent and tenacity, perhaps Yu IlHan's own children may be left behind in the dust.

Carina and Michael were proud of their daughter's talent, but still felt complex about how her aim was Yu IlHan. They were still 5th class but their daughter had surpassed the two with pure tenacity!

"Personally, I wish that Yuni would go with Mir."

"Mir is no good. The Dragon's Army kids are so scary that no other girls can approach Mir."

The Dragon's Army, that is, the children under Yumir's rule, was a group that followed Yumir to the extreme, regardless of gender or past identity. The nearly 8 thousand children were all true dragons right now, and they served with Yu IlHan as their captain, and Yumir as their master.

Of course, they did reunite with their parents, but they chose Yumir over them. Perhaps it's a natural thing, but it was very pitiful, so Yumir divided them into groups and made them spend time with their parents at least once a week.

“So why don’t you just receive Yuni?”

“..... I’ll think about it a little more.”

Too many would follow suit if he accepted Yuni. Not to mention his father Gabriel, he himself and Yumir didn’t even know who they would be trouble with this. They could only sigh at the turn of incidents.

“Let’s talk about Yuni later. I’ll be back quick.”

“I don’t think you need to go there.....”

However, with Yu IlHan’s personality, he would not stop until everything in the world was under his control; and the two women knew that. It was also an element that made the two love him even more.

So what could they do? They could only send him off with smiles.

“Buy me some ice cream on the way back.”

“Gotcha.”

Yu IlHan shared a short kiss with the two wives and left the Flying fortress.

However, as though she knew he was about to leave, Na YuNa was waiting for him with a serious expression. Leaving aside how she knew it, her aura was definitely serious, and Yu IlHan ended up asking.

“Wait, do I actually have to go through all of my wives one by one before I can actually go?”

“No~? I thought you might kiss me too if I stayed like this!”

Replied Na YuNa nonchalantly and giggled. Seeing that, Yu IlHan laughed.

“How much time would you need in order for you to grow up, YuNa.....”

“Well~, around three more millennia.....?”

Even though she gave the ballpark figure of 3 millennia, she titled her head, which was very much like her. Yu IlHan gave her a light smack on the forehead, but ended up giving her what she wanted.

“Come here.”

“Okay.”

However, the moment they kissed, her mana became a strong blessing and enveloped Yu IlHan.

He did think that it was too easy, but she pulled off a trick like this... That was an academy award-worthy acting. She gave him a light kiss on his cheek as well and smiled.

“Honey, don’t get hurt, okay?”

Even after blessing him, she didn’t seem to be relieved as she told Yu IlHan while stroking his face. After living together for so long, it’s about time they realize that they can’t do anything about him once he sets his mind to it, but each and every one of these girls were still worried sick.

“I said there’s no need for you to worry.”

He didn’t drag this on. He lightly stroked Na YuNa’s cheeks before leaving.

“I’ll be off then.”

“Okay.”

Yu IlHan spread his wings and shot up vertically. He had already prepared a place. The Realiscope was something that dragged the observed being into reality, so he needed enough space so that all the beings beyond records could fit in it.

The surroundings were dark. Stars were shining and they illuminated space like lamp posts. Yu IlHan didn’t really have a battle in space, but after knowing that this place was full of mana as well, it wasn’t that much different from when he was on land. Screw science.

“Wouldn’t they get angry if you drag them here?”

“If they still get angry after I tell them that I’ll send them back, then I’ll just need to beat them up.”

“You are the worst.”

Kang MiRae and Erta were waiting in the space waiting zone. He couldn’t do this without their help as this was something that had to do with manipulating space, so he brought them here as he couldn’t do anything about it. And there were two others that were waiting here as well.

“Once the magic activates and the dimension settles, Mir, you need to take your mothers and retreat, okay?”

“It’s fine, I practiced a lot, dad.”

Yumir’s role was to take Kang MiRae and Erta and retreat safely. Yu IlHan wouldn’t try anything until he figured out and prepared for all scenarios! He warned Yumir once again and turned his head around.

The final person here was.....

“Spiera, are you ready?”

It was the dragon Spiera with four pairs of white dragon wings. In her hand was a pure white spear, but the pitch-black aura that leaked out of it looked very creepy.

“Sure. I want to let go of this already.”

[Kh.....hur.....]

The two both creased their faces when they heard the voice that only the two could hear. What was there to hide, it was none other than the soul of the former God of Heaven. Since Yu IlHan reaped everyone’s souls, he couldn’t miss the God of Heaven’s!

However, it was too unsettling to return him to the cycle of reincarnation, and even Yu IlHan had found it extremely difficult to annihilate it completely.

It was possible to restrain him by Declaration, Rule and all other skills and spells together, but annihilating the soul of the previous Supreme being cleanly couldn’t be done by him alone, so the method he looked for was the realm beyond records.

He didn’t know about the others, but the former gods that were bullied by God of Heaven would at least help him out in this regard, probably!

“You’re suffering quite a lot, Spiera.”

“Yu IlHan, you made this spear in order to reap his soul from the very beginning, didn’t you?”

“And I used you as the keeper to protect him.”

“.....”

Spiera wanted to reap Yu IlHan's soul as well with the spear, but she held it in.

“You'll pay the price after we get back, Yu IlHan.”

“I'll do everything that you want so don't worry about it.”

“Oho.”

Spiera made a smirk.

“Actually, I have two dreams. One is for me to become the strongest, but ever since I realized that it was impossible, my dream then became to train the strongest being in existence.”

“You achieved your second dream through me, then?”

Spiera seriously nodded. Yu IlHan was the strongest, and Spiera's role in putting him there was not small. This could not be denied.

However, there was still one more dream left.

“So I'm planning to achieve my second dream through you as well. Actually, my second dream is becoming a gentle housewife.”

“Don't the two dreams differ too drastically!?”

Yu IlHan was shocked, but Spiera threatened him with the spear in her hand.

“Speak now if you don't like it.”

“You're giving me a threat as your proposal, and you want to become a 'gentle' housewife? Yeah sure!”

However, it was a very effective threat, and Yu IlHan had no options! When he nodded his head in defeat, Spiera's expression became a rare warm smile as well.

“Then I should make my next dream to give birth to the next strongest between us? Fufu, that sounds fun.”

“You have a fun life..... tch.”

Yu IlHan raised the Realiscope. He had already set on a location as well. He had to observe, call, and clean that damn God's soul perfectly so that there wouldn't be any troubles for quite a while.

“But who knows, perhaps some other monstrous creature will be born naturally as a higher existence and rampage around while wanting to become God.”

“Please don't leave a foreshadow for act 2, Yu IlHan. Can't we just 'live happily ever after'?”

“My wives know me too well.....”

He grumbled and put his eyes on the Realiscope and glanced at the extremely minor region that hid from his vision.

The scene beyond the world he recognized entered his eyes.

“Everyone get ready.”

Thinking that he would encounter the last remaining mystery, Yu IlHan ended up laughing even though he knew the potential dangers.

Then he spoke out in a joyous tone.

“Looks like we're going to cleanly get rid of the final piece of foreshadow.”

Author's notes

- 1. This is it! It's actually the end!
- 2. Perhaps I might want to write another side story waaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaay later, but not now! But I'll tell you who won the soccer match, it was the Demigod team!
- 3. The afterword will go up soon. Actually, I received a fan art as a commemoration for finishing today. If you want to see the fan art then you must read the afterword too!

Afterword

Hello, it's Toika, swooshing around as always.

Everyone Else is a Returnee, actually came to an end. Actually I already wrote the ending waay back, so I felt all the emotions at that time, but adding the side stories recently made my heart feel weird all over again.

This piece started on the 26th of June 2016. Wow, it's been 9 months already.

All pieces that were with me until now were already quite special, but this piece was even more so. The fact that I can laugh with you readers while writing something that I want to write – I realized once again how happy such a thing is.

I wrote a few side stories since I felt it's a pity to let IlHan and his family go with just the epilogue, but now I did it, I feel even more pity. But I think I wrote everything that needs to be written. Personally, I'm very satisfied with everything.

Did you have a joyful time with this writing as a reader? Of course, there may be times where I have disappointed you. However, I do wish that you are more happy than disappointed since you are reading this afterword.

My next writing contains more of my preferences and desires in a more shameless way. I am aware that the likes and dislikes may drastically differ, but I will introduce it again for those that ran all the way here, in hopes that you will be able to enjoy it.

‘I Shouldn’t Have Reincarnated’ – It’s a story about two selected heroes, where only one of them was supposed to appear, and their adventures of somehow ending up in the demon king’s castle. Please go look it up right away if you are curious.

And finally, I'll retreat by uploading the fan-art I've received from the user "Warpic". It's a very very very very very very very very pretty picture! Mr. Warpip. Thank you much!!!

PS – Personally, there was something that made me spit my drink out. If you are an EER enthusiast, then you will probably notice so go look for it!

나.썸.귀
완전 축하드립니다!
Congratz on finishing EER!

Afterword from translator (this is gonna be long)

TL;DR – Chamber is retiring from translation

Okay, before I start, I'll get a couple of things out of the way. First, the picture. Yes. the text translation at the bottom right of the picture is INDEED COMIC SANS. I don't know any other font that fits... I never edited manga after all. Also, Erta's hair was described as 'long black' somewhere early on in the story (I'm guessing the green winged fairy-like girl is Erta cuz she looks obviously tsundere)

Secondly, there are three novels by 토이카/Toika/Toy Car that have NOT been translated. (There's actually another one but he dropped that one)

Here they are:

Devil King – written before the author wrote the dropped one. I personally think this is meh, since MC has no personality. It's story about two worlds that get connected to each other, and every human on Earth has a counterpart 'being' (humans or monsters) in the other. One day, the two worlds suddenly fuse and MC becomes a goblin.

I shouldn't have reincarnated – written after he wrote EER. This is actually pretty fun. I won't spoil, go ask NaughtyOtter/CalifornianOtter from Otterspace/Wuxiaworld to translate it. He seems interested in this one. Finished with 206 chapters. It's pretty fun though.

Only I can log in – I haven't read this novel yet since it does not serialize on Munpia but Kakaopage. It's currently ongoing.

Now onto my real afterword.

At first, I didn't even know I would take this series, much less finish it. At first, I just had some donation money lying around (from God of Music I believe), and just clicked on the rank 1 novel on Munpia, which was this. I immediately got hooked, and started translating because it was fun to do as well. But then, Rainbowturtle told me that it was already being translated at NovelsnChill (who seem to be inactive nowadays). Bingryong (translator of the prologue) had already done the prologue before I even started reading the novel! However, I only discovered that when I translated around 12 chapters. So, I just straight up gave them (NNC) my google drive and told them to do whatever with it. Heck, then, JohnSmith (Admin at NNC) approached me and said “Hey, don’t you wanna do it? Come and do it here!” And that was the start of me actually translating EER.

Various things happened mid way throughout translation. First, my grades dropped (Urgh), translating is so fun that I actually became loose with my studies... Second, I got to know a bunch of people and their personalities (AKA admin at NNC and admin at kobatochandaisuki, I’ll keep quiet about their personalities though). Third, Coder Lee YongHo got a takedown notice from the original publisher (such a pity, I want to finish what I started). And fourth, I ended up dropping God of Music. Personally, I really like God of Music, as much as it is painful to translate, though, author’s releases have been becoming quite sporadic as of late. A few people have approached me saying they want to translate God of Music, but I’ve yet to hear news from them. I even gave them full permission to utilize my translations and even get help from me if they wished to. But, oh well. At least I got to focus on EER. God of Music will NOT be resumed (at least not by me).

My future plans? I actually have to serve the Korean military for nearly two years mandatorily, and it’s about time I do it. So, I will not take up any translation work and apply for the military (Although, the competition for the military is so fierce nowadays so I doubt I’d get in soon). So yeah, I’m going to halt translating. I will hang out on the novel community though, so if you want to see me, then come to r/noveltranslations discord server or kobatoland discord server. I’ll also join a bunch of other servers as well like NUF, Wuxiaworld and Volare.

After my military service... I probably still won’t start translating. I actually do need to study (Remember how my grades dropped?), so tough luck.

It’s been a blast reading through all of your comments throughout this series and thanks to all the supporters and readers that have supported me until now.

Ahh how could I forget, give a big round of applause to Koukouseidesu, who has been with me through the majority of this novel with editing. I didn’t actually pay him much too (kobatochandaisuki does not pay editors, so I pay mine). He had a lot of schoolwork to do, but still stuck through with me and the hard schedule of more than two chapters per day on some days, until the very end of this novel. Thanks Koukouseidesu.

Alright, that's it from me. Perhaps Koukouseidesu wants his own afterword as well.

PS – there's no event or anything to commemorate the end of the novel.

P.P.S – if you want to donate, please do so here, since I will be closing the support button. shamelessly asking for money.

Oh yeah, remember how I mentioned about the 'generous people that still want to donate'? Too bad no one did, I guess.

高校生です(Koukouseidesu) here!~

Yea I wanted my own afterword too! :^)

I officially joined KCDS and started proofreading for EER at chapter 83, heck that was a long time ago, we've come really far since then! I was motivated to give back to the novel community after having binge read thousands upon thousands of chapters over the past few years.

Well, was it worth it? Of course it was! I had a blast getting to know Chamber-nim (still remember making jokes about him being robot unni, heh) and getting early access to all the chapters that I wanted to read, browsing through them comments (constructive or appreciative, toxic or not, it didn't matter! I had fun reading through most of them.) and interacting with fans on the discord channel. It was tiring and demanding at times, heck I made quite a lot of mistakes early on (still do, but not as terrible and not as often!) so I'm really glad and appreciate the fact that you guys stuck through with us this year or so 😊

Similar to Chamber, I'm going to have to go into the singapore army for a period of two years sometime next year, so you guys won't be seeing me post anything regularly for quite a while! I'll hang around on the discord channels so feel free to come and chat with me and chamber~

Signing off and behalf of everyone at KCDS, Thank you very much for your support! please continue to browse the site (without ad blockers) and read some of our other novels!

It was a pleasure proofreading for Everyone Else is A Returnee, though you might have found the ending slightly anticlimactic, the afterstories should make up for that.

Regards,

Koukouseidesu
